Collegians

Everyone enrolled at Kansas State as a regular or special student who paid the activity fee and received an activity book is entitled to a copy of The Collegian.

This and the following several issues will be distributed from stacks in the College Post Office. As soon as the mailing list can be compiled, individuals will be mailed their copy through their regular boxes at the P. O.

Anyone who is interested in writing for and reporting on The Collegian is urged to meet with Mary Jane Jones, editor, and the staff in the Collegian office in Kedzie Hall at 4 p. m. Friday.

K-Staters Mix At Y Parties Here Tonight

Tonight opens the College year's activities for YWCA and YMCA. YW is entertaining all freshmen and upper class women at the College Sister Party in Nichols Gym at 7:30. For men students there will be the Kick-off at Recreation Center in Anderson Hall at 7:30.

This is the first Kick-off since 1942, according to Dr. Holtz, YMCA secretary, and all College men are invited. Dr. Howard T. Hill will preside. The entire coaching staff and George Wreath, president of YMCA will be presented. Song leaders and cheer leaders will be there to teach the men college songs and yells.

Annual Sister Party

The College Sister Party is an annual event. Each new woman, freshman or transfer, has been given the name of an upperclassman who acts as her big sister. The big sisters are to take their little sisters to the party tonight and help them get acquainted. Even if new students are not contacted by their big sisters they are urged to attend.

After a short session of get-acquainted games, Roberta Townley and Judy Doryland will introduce the YWCA Advisory Board and other prominent women on the campus. Lois Johnson will lead the group in singing.

Trio To Sing

The College trio consisting of Ruth Fenton, Joyce Crippen and Pat Fairman will present several numbers, and Beverly Hunt of Manhattan High School will tap dance. After the program there will be group dancing and refreshments will be served.

In the receiving line will be Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. Mary Van Zile, dean emerita, Mrs. Milton Eisenhower and Roberta Townley, YW president. All the YWCA cabinet members will act as hostesses.

Big-Sister co-chairmen are Lois Johnson and Judy Doryland, and Dean Helen Moore is the sponsor. Maurine Pence has been in charge of arrangements, and Ruth Hodgson worked on invitations. Frances Ewart was in charge of publicity. Dorothy Cochran is in charge of the games and Ruth Fenton will supervise the refreshments.

German Journalist To Speak Wednesday

Martin Hall, German-born journalist, lecturer and teacher, now on the faculty of the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif., will speak at an assembly in the Auditorium Wednesday at 3 p. m. Mr. Hall will discuss "Re-education of Nazi Youth—How Can It Be Done?"

Mr. Hall is being brought to Manhattan under the auspices of the Kansas Institute of International Relations. In addition to his talk at the College, he will speak to Manhattan high school students and again at a public meeting at 8 p. m. at the high school. At the night meeting he will discuss "Can Europe Live With Germany?"

Tryouts

For cheer leaders will be Friday at 5 p. m. in Nichols Gymnasium, room 303, according to Mike Ahearn, athletic director, and Pauline Flook, Purple Peppercorn president.

President Eisenhower

I extend to every new and every returning student warm personal greetings.

This may be, certainly we hope it is, the last school year of the war. Without diminishing at all the work we do toward military victory, it is now imperative that we focus our minds on the future and decide what kind of world we want to build on the ashes of this war. Of one thing we are all certain: We want a free, peaceful world. And we are prepared to do whatever may be required of us to gain that goal. We will train our minds broadly, we will learn to think deeply and clearly, and we will develop those precious qualities of tolerance and kindness, for we know that the freedom and the peace we want can spring only from our minds and our hearts, not from mere devices and organizations.

Kansas State College is a democratic instrument of a democratic people. Its staff and its students have faith in the American system. Staff and students alike are determined that our educational program—technical competence, cultural attainment, faith in democracy, and ability to deal wisely with all the problems confronting our democracy—shall be fulfilled in every particular.

There is plenty of fun to be had and there are joyous associations to be developed without diverting us from our great purpose.

So, welcome to the campus for this fall term. All of the doors of the College are open to you. Every member of the staff who can help you resolve any uncertainties that may develop in your minds stands ready to do what he can.

Sincerely,
Milton S. Eisenhower

First Convocation Today At 11 O'clock

Lester McCoy, chairman of the state board of regents, will give the annual regents' address at the opening convocation this morning at 11 o'clock. President Milton S. Eisenhower will introduce Mr. McCoy at the assembly in the College Auditorium.

After an organ prelude by Richard Jenson, assistant professor of music education, Reverend Charles Davies of the Episcopal Church, will give the invocation.

Other numbers will include the singing of "Star Spangled Banner" and "Alma Mater" under the direction of Prof. William Lindquist, head of the Department of Music; and a piano solo, played by Charles Stratton, associate professor of music.

'Church Night'

The Manhattan churches are holding open house for Kansas State students Monday night. Each church will be open and will have a mixer. Students may go to the church of their choice.

Theme of the Methodist students' party will be airplanes. Betty Sue Hannah will be in charge of general arrangements. Assisting her will be Ruth Wilkins, Neva Wilkins and Dorothy English. Their mixer is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the Methodist Church basement.

Representatives of other Manhattan churches could not be reached, but each church will be having special entertainment.

Closing hours Monday night will be 11 o'clock.

Enrollment Figures Climb Toward Last Year's Mark

479 Freshmen Engage In Induction Activities Including Tests, Lectures, Campus Tours; Veterans Enroll Under Rehabilitation Program

Enrollment figures reached a total of 1,002 Tuesday night, three less than figures at the same time last year, with indications that the civilian total will be about the same as in 1943. Four hundred and seventy-nine freshmen enrolled Monday—300 women and 179 men. The upperclass registration ended late yesterday afternoon.

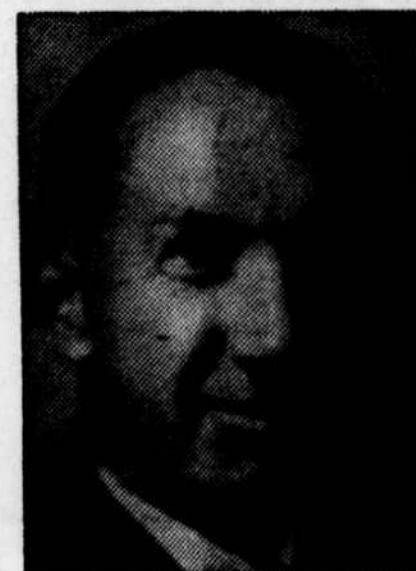

Dean R. A. Seaton has announced that 35 certifications have been received for training of disabled veterans under the vocational rehabilitation training program of the Veterans' Administration. He stated that at least 30 other veterans would enroll this semester in the rehabilitation program, and that 10 men have enrolled for rehabilitation training under the programs of the state boards for vocational education.

President Eisenhower addressed the freshmen at their first assembly Monday morning, after which by alphabetical groups the incoming freshmen enrolled, took physical examinations and toured the campus.

The tour for transfer students was held yesterday afternoon and conducted by Mortar Board members. Aptitude tests were given Tuesday and Wednesday mornings in the college auditorium as a part of the regular freshman induction program, and all freshmen women attended lectures by Dean Helen Moore both those afternoons while the freshmen men heard Dr. A. A. Holtz.

Appoint Thackrey Administration Dean

The first of a series of changes designed to prepare the College for heavy postwar responsibilities was made recently when Russell I. Thackrey was appointed Dean of Administration. Dean Thackrey will aid President Eisenhower in correlating curriculum changes to meet postwar needs, in coordinating rehabilitation and other federally-sponsored programs and in planning and administering the Kansas State College summer schools.

Effective Now

Effective October 1, Dean Thackrey will take over the summer school duties heretofore assigned to Dr. E. L. Holton, who for many years has been dean of summer school as well as head of the Department of Education. Dr. Holton will continue in the latter capacity for the time being, although under regulations of the Board of Regents, Dr. Holton must be relieved of all administrative work by the end of the 1944-45 school year.

The post of vice-president has been discontinued and Dr. S. A. Nock has been designated director of admissions. The director of admissions will, in addition to supervising the work of the Registrar's office, have charge of all admissions to the College, both regular and irregular, and will have charge of the granting of credit, a problem which in the immediate postwar period will have many complex aspects.

Present Conclusions

During the early part of September, the Committee on Postwar Educational Adjustments presented, after seven months' study, its tentative

Volker Gives K.S.C. $200,000

Kansas State College has been granted a private endowment of $200,000 to be spread over a five-year period for the support of an Institute of American Citizenship.

"The Institute of American Citizenship will be a vital part of the post-war educational program of Kansas State," President Milton S. Eisenhower said in announcing the grant. "Its broad purpose will be to help students develop an abiding faith in American institutions and ways of life. Its program will be designed to inspire and inform students regarding the significance, the organization, and the functioning of effective citizenship at the local, State and national levels. It will equip students especially with an understanding of American history, institutions, spiritual springs of American action, and practical democratic methods. It also will help them learn the methods by which they may teach these fundamentals in schools below the college level, particularly in our high schools."

A Three-Fold Program

The Institute of American Citizenship will be directly responsible to the President of the College and will have a three-fold program of resident instruction, adult extension, and research, President Eisenhower said.

The exact nature of the resident instruction program will not be developed until the Director of the Institute has been appointed, but in general at least four courses will be offered for both graduate and undergraduate credit. One will be a comprehensive course on the development of American life and American government, bringing together into a complete whole the economic, historical, sociological, literary, and general cultural development of America and the American way of life, with emphasis on individual-citizen and group responsibility in the conception, development, and maintenance of our free system.

Second Course Practical

A second course will be a very practical one in municipal and State democratic procedures. This course will emphasize methods that have been used in various cities and States to bring about greater citizen participation and to achieve improvement in basic democratic procedures.

A third course will deal with the Federal government, examining the legislative, executive, and judicial procedures, not as they are normally described in textbooks, but as they actually are—ranging from policy-making by executive officers to the practical working relations between executive establishments and Congress and the influence of pressure groups on both.

Course for Teachers

A fourth course will deal with methods that can best be used by teachers, especially high school teachers, to make the study of history, civics, and citizen participation an exciting adventure for young students.

The adult extension program of the Institute will include radio programs to the people of the State and forum and discussion meetings with the College faculty, Farm and Home Week audiences, 4-H Club groups, and various educational, civic, and religious groups throughout the State.

The research program of the Institute will include studies of the most effective methods used in citizen education at other colleges and universities, practical studies of good and bad practices in the governmental functioning of selected cities, and studies in other significant aspects of the functioning of democracy. The results of these research studies will be incorporated in the courses taught by the Institute.

Another Welcome . . . It's Your K-State

When (and if) the freshman's probably thoroughly confused by now eye rests on this column, he may be rather weary of welcomes and introductions, but we'd still like to add our bit. The Collegian as an all-school paper is now HIS paper too, and we want him to regard it as just that.

His enthusiasm, energy, and healthy curiosity goes a long way to make Kansas State "tick," whether he realizes it or not. And this year, as every year, we want him to know that we appreciate it.

What college means has been expressed many times so eloquently that we will not attempt to compete here, but from our experience, now as upperclassmen, we give our word that every word of those glowing promises is true, and in four years the freshmen of 1944 will know what we mean.

We're Glad To See You

In short, freshmen, you'll have a grand time at K-State, you're glad to be here, and The Collegian, as the official student publication, speaking for the student body, is glad to have you here.

To upperclassmen and freshmen alike, the Collegian renews its pledge to try to print ALL your news, and in the manner YOU want to read it. Our policy remains impartiality in an accurate and complete coverage of the departments, schools, and extracurricular activities.

And though freshmen won't notice the difference, old students will note the complete change of format, including, size, type, and some style changes, from the larger Collegian of last year and several years before.

The new Collegian is more modern in size and style according to typographical standards, and our aim is to print the news the same way.

A Big Year Ahead

It's going to be a big year in Kansas State history. The air this week has been full of enthusiasm and promise. Even if the enrollment doesn't reach the mark of the pre-war days, those of us that are here fully realize our purpose, and appreciate our opportunity, perhaps more than those fellow K-Staters who went before us in the more carefree days of peace.

And so, The Collegian, fresh in its new format, joins the ranks of you all who are looking ahead and planning bigger and better things, not only for post-war, but for this year, here, now.

As before, we will welcome student opinions for publication in our "Letter to the Editor" column. We will print letters of both criticism and praise, both sides of matters of controversy, and be glad to receive suggestions of any kind at all times.

Then, with the help of everyone, here's to a "better-than-ever" Kansas State during the 1944-45 school year.

What would you like to see in this corner? Would your eyes rather rove over "Glib Clippings" of the humorous type—"Outside the Ivy Walls" telling of national news events—"Damfino," the so-called "dirt" column edging on the campus gossip side—"Over the Ivy Walls" made up of famous sayings and clippings from other newspapers—or some other type of column not heretofore printed in The Collegian?

Last year was the first in which students opened their Collegians to this spot and found no gossip column. We want to know if you missed it or would you rather we continue with the "stolen joke" Glib Clipping idea?

Drop a note in the Collegian college post office box stating your preference. We want to print what our readers want to read.

It's Your K-State

So you've come to college. Maybe it's your first visit to our ivy-covered buildings. Or perhaps you're an old-timer here. But whether this is the first or last semester you'll be walking down the campus walks as a college student, didn't you get a little thrill as you walked up the steps to Anderson Hall? Wasn't there a feeling of pride as you wandered about the campus or paused for a moment in the quiet halls of the library?

Kansas State is your college. It is a school rich with traditions and a glorious past. Its present and future depends on us, the student body and the faculty. Be proud of Kansas State. It deserves your pride.

School spirit is off to a good start. There has been plenty of pep and enthusiasm displayed this week of enrolling. But don't let it stop with this week. Let's get behind the football and basketball team. Come to the games and "cheer with all your might for our side." Learn our Alma Mater and the fight song. Participate in and support all the college activities. Talk up your school when you go home.

Kansas State is an old school, but it has young ideas. This post-war planning isn't going to be just a myth. In the meantime, whether you are looking up references in the library, studying planaria in zoology lab or just guzzling a coke in the "Can," remember it's a privilege to come to Kansas State.—J. W.

117 Receive Degrees During Summer

Sixty-eight students were granted degrees at summer school commencement exercises in the College Auditorium, September 16. This brought the total of degrees granted by the College during the 1943-44 school year to 418.

Charles M. Harger, editor of the Abilene Reflector-Chronicle and former chairman of the State Board of Regents, gave the commencement address. Degrees of bachelor of science, master of science and doctor of veterinary medicine were conferred by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

At the close of the first session of summer school 49 students were granted degrees on July 25. There were no formal commencement exercises. The President conferred the degrees after an informal dinner in Thompson Hall.

★ Bars and Stripes ★

While the campus is humming with the activity of freshman induction and enrollment former Kansas State men and women are still showing that they have what it takes to help bring the war to an end in all theatres of action. If you have any news of Wildcats in the service, we'll be glad to pass it on for you.

News releases from the Army Air forces reveal that among the young "hell from heaven" men who have won their wings recently were 2nd Lt. Oakley W. McIntosh f. s. '41-42. Lieutenant McIntosh received his commission and wings from the Bombardier school at Big Spring, Texas. Saul Gorin, another former student, received his wings and rating of flight officer at the twin-engine school in Williams Field, Chandler, Ariz.

Cadet Russell D. Osterhout, f. s. from Wichita, has reported at Carlisle, N. M., Army Air Field, where he will receive advanced flight training in high-level bombardiering and dead-reckoning navigation.

Everett E. Avers f. s. '38-'40 of Manhattan is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the pre-flight school at Maxwell Field, Ala.

From the Navy comes news that Leroy E. Bennett, former student, was commissioned an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve when he graduated recently from the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Abbott Hall, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

More from the Navy . . . A letter from Ens. Arthur Pryor, Ch. E. '43 says "I was quite surprised to meet Ens. Glen Alleman, USNR, Ch. E. '44, here—the day after reporting aboard for duty. Ensign Alleman will report to Massachusetts Institute of Technology soon for advanced training in radar before going with the Fleet." Ensign Pryor is now with NTS (Pre-Radar) Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine.

Word has been received recently that citations for bravery in action have been awarded several former students. From an 8th Air Force Bomber Station in England comes word that 1st Lt. Glen J. Thomas f. s. '42, pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress, has been awarded the Air Medal. The award was for "meritorious achievement" during bombing attacks on Nazi war industries and on military targets in France in support of Allied ground forces.

Can You Picture KANSAS without Intercity Buses?

This state's highways are doing their part for Victory. Last year bus lines carried over half of all the passengers that rode on public carriers. People in many communities must travel on buses because there is no other public transportation.

These people are not traveling for pleasure. Most of them are selectees, military personnel, and war workers. Others are farmers, nurses, teachers—people in nearly every walk of life whose trips are essential to the national welfare.

Overland Greyhound is putting all its efforts, experience and resources into helping perform the biggest transportation job of all time. That is why our service to you now cannot always be what we would like to give, or what you have come to expect of Overland Greyhound. We salute this state for its patriotic consideration of the conditions created by war.

After Victory—look to Overland Greyhound for a new chapter in comfortable, convenient, highway transportation.

[When traveling, be sure to put identification stickers on your baggage. We supply them free.]

"Spirit of Victory"

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, its twenty-one associated operating telephone companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, and Western Electric Company, continue to face unprecedented demands for telephone communication.

Never before in the country's history has there been so much evidence of the indispensable part telephone service plays in the life of the nation. It makes a direct contribution to the effectiveness of every part of the war effort.

The sense of responsibility which telephone people call the "spirit of service" is in this war the "spirit of victory." The men and women of the Bell System, in whom this spirit lives, may be relied upon to do their utmost.

Freshmen, Seniors Alike Find K-State Facts In '44-'45 K-Book

Are you worried about what to do with your money? What are you going to eat at college? Do you need some telephone numbers? These and many other interesting topics are all solved for you in that slick little white book with the spire of Anderson Hall depicted on the front—the 1944-45 K-Book.

Published annually by the Student Governing Association, the YMCA and the YWCA, this volume is a veritable encyclopedia of knowledge regarding Kansas State College, its officials, its activities and its traditions. Everything from a map to direct weary footsteps to a greeting from President Eisenhower and a church index can be found in it.

Facts For Seniors Too

This guide to campus affairs can also tell many an upperclassman a few things. You, Jim Senior, did you know that the college library has over 130,000 bound volumes for your perusal, besides offering a wonderful place to meet your campus cutie? BWOC, could you tell me that the third verse of our alma mater begins, "Bright beams a beacon across life's sea," and that all Kansas State students call at the post office daily for mail?

The K-Book can direct a new student in the best way to stumble through the enrollment process. It introduces President Eisenhower, Dean Helen Moore, "Doc" Holtz, Mrs. Dorothy Downey, members of the Student Council, and cabinets and advisory boards of the YM and the YW.

Comments On Football

In regard to "big time" football games (such as are held at Kansas State) it "sez" here: "Freshmen with their bright caps, cars gaily trimmed with bunting, flags flying, with everybody in a hurry and a state of excitement seem to have fallen over the town," and "Thousands of persons attend these games to witness some of the best teams in the nation battle and match wits with our own aggregation."

The wonder book may act as a temporary telephone directory, for it lists the sundry sororities and independent women's houses. It translates Greek alphabets into honorary and professional fraternities and tells you what other organizations stand for.

All of this needed information may be obtained at no cost to you—if you didn't get one as you enrolled, call at either Y office and get your copy of the K-Book and you'll have no excuse for not knowing everything about Kansas State College.

Being a Board member means completing four assignments a year which, in toto, give a rounded portrait of the college—its activities, new courses, new trends, social aspects, EVERYTHING that's NEW.

Everything submitted during the year counts toward that final plum, the Guest Editorship. And fourteen girls are chosen each year to enjoy that month in New York.

On application to Mademoiselle, would-be Board members will be invited to send a brief report spotlighting anything new on the campus, a snapshot of themselves, their college address and home address, class year, and an idea of their extracurricular activities and interests.

Grad To Give Annual Dinner

A unique and helpful gift has been received by the College from Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Anderson, Ag. '16 and '23 and M. S. '28, is secretary of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will sponsor on the College campus an annual dinner honoring the presidents of all organizations connected with K-State. There are 95 such organizations on the campus.

Plans Being Made

In making preliminary plans for the first dinner with Kenney L. Ford, alumni executive secretary, Mr. Anderson said, "Mrs. Anderson and I are happy to sponsor this dinner for the presidents of all student organizations and such other organizations as the Alumni Association, the Endowment Association, the Research Foundation and the Building Foundation because we feel that out of such a program will come unity of purpose among the various organizations and a greater, more effective loyalty to Kansas State."

Ford In Charge

Mr. Anderson requested that Mr. Ford have charge of the arrangements for the annual dinner. He specified that his financial donation for the cost of the dinners would be given to the Kansas State College Endowment Association. He suggested that President Eisenhower be the speaker and Dr. A. D. Weber the toastmaster at the first dinner to be held this year. Doctor Weber, newly appointed head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, is a former student of Anderson.

President Eisenhower, in accepting the gift, stated that the annual dinner would constitute a highly worthwhile phase of the total College program and that it would be called "The Anderson Dinner."

"THE BEST-KNOWN VEHICLES IN AMERICA"

What's the best known vehicle on your college campus? You will probably agree it's the Railway Express truck. And one of the best-known men is the dependable Expressman who drives that truck.

There's a good reason why these trucks are on the campus so frequently. It's to serve your shipping needs. Express Service is a strong, direct link with home.

Railway Express and its coordinated Air Express Division are carrying a substantial shipping load these busy days. You can help the Expressman and his vehicle do their job quicker and better by observing three simple steps: Wrap your laundry or other packages securely ... address each clearly ... ship them early. New Wildcat Squad Meets Wichita Here Saturday

By Bob Jackson

The 1944 edition of the Kansas State Wildcat gridiron warriors will rear into action against the Wichita Shockers at Memorial Stadium at 2 o'clock Saturday.

Ward Haylett, with Fritz Knorr and Charles Socolofsky as his assistants, has been greeted with a good crop of hopefuls this year, and the prospects are a little brighter than at this time last season.

K-Men On Team

Earl Haury and Dale Cowan, two bruising tackles, and Marvin Norby are the holdovers from last year. Added to this Haylett finds some promising freshman and deferred vets.

Running from a T formation and a single wing, the first team looked good last Saturday in their first intra-squad game as they stopped the gold team, 13-0.

In addition to the regulars back from last season, Haylett will send Dave Weatherby, six-foot four-inch pass-snatcher and Jack Newell against the visitors at the end spots. At the guard opposite Norby will be Russell Hardin, vet, and former Purdue footballer.

Dale Morss will hold down the center slot, while the backfield will have such speedsters as Dana Atkins, Jean Smith and Ronnie Webster. All-State back from Manhattan High last year. At the fullback will be big Max Harvey, with Bill Clary in the blocking spot.

Other boys that will probably see plenty of action will be Harold Kinnard at center, Joe Pollom, a guard from Seaman High, Ben Hebert, a center, Jack Bell, a big rangy end from Salina and Elmer Boxler, a deadeye on the passing line.

The Wichita club will bring plenty of speed in the form of Linwood Sexton, flashy Negro ball-lugger. The Shockers opened the season last Saturday against the undermanned Rockhurst club and came out on the long end of a 22-0 count.

Probable starting lineups for the Wichita game are:

KANSAS STATE	WICHITA
Weatherby	L. E.
Norby	L. G.
Morss	C.
Hardin	R. G.
Cowan	R. T.
Newell	R. E.
Harvey	Q. B.
Webster	L. H.
Smith	F. B.
Clary	F. B.

Officials: Referee, Mike Oberhelman, Kansas State; Umpire, Karl Kopelk, Emporia State Teachers; Head Linesman, Pierce Astle, Emporia State Teachers.

Haylett Sees Better Team This Year

By Joy Talbot

With the outlook definitely brighter than last year, when Coach Ward Haylett's Wildcat gridsters landed in the conference cellar, the 1944 team swings into action Saturday.

"The squad is stronger than last season's, we have a larger number and the age average is older," Haylett said, looking rather pleased with it all. "The weight average is heavier, too, especially the starting lineup which averages 185 pounds."

Two Lettermen Back

Although only two lettermen are returning this fall, several men have had a little college grid experience or good high school experience.

"But in spite of these improvements, which are encouraging, we still do not know how nearly we can hope to compete on an even basis with Navy schools," the coach warned.

K-men back in it are tackles Dale Cowan and Earl Haury, big strong and dependable, who were regulars at the end of last season. Marvin Norby, guard is the only other last year's squad member. He was unable to letter as a result of injuries.

Vets On Team

The release of veterinary students from the army did a lot for '44 hopes in the persons of Russell Hardin, 190-pound monogram transfer from Purdue and 200-pound quarterback Max Harvey.

Halfbacks Jean Smith and Max Ungles, fast rugged Satanta product, have had junior college experience which should put them in good stead.

Some With Experience

Ralph Steusser, listed at end, is another recently released AST who has been on the campus. Dean Hopple, 160-pound halfback from Menlo; Clarence Fellman, Osage City blocking back; Tackle Bill Frichard, 190-pounder, of Randolph, Wis., and Bob Jackson, local center, complete the list.

The remainder of the Wildcat fighting spirit is placed on frosh, most of whom rate well with their draft board. Dana Atkins, high-ranking runner and kicker from Junction City, lines up as a fair passer as well. Berton "Zip" Barnes, who tips the scales at 165, was a Phillipsburg high halfback.

Former High School Stars

One of the best pass receivers on the squad is the 185-pound end from Salina, Jack Bell. Augie Bogenia is a 185-pound charger from Arma, playing guard position. Elmer Boxler, a passer of note, from Hoxie High, will spell Harvey at quarterback. Six-footer Harold Cary is another lad who will help make end position strong. Outstanding blocking back on the squad is Bill Clary, 185-pound halfback from Kansas City. Clarence Dietzman, Kansas Citian, is another guard of the line.

Valuable in the backfield will be Earl Elliot, Marysville product who was state high hurdles champion last year. Forris Frick, although little and light, has proved to be the best pass receiver on the squad so far. Harvey Haas, light end, is a be-goggled Junction City lad.

Heathman Hardhitting Back

Stanley Heathman, a small hard-hitting blocking back, who, in spite of his size, is one of the best defensive players on the squad. Harold Kinnard, a chubby but solid 230 pounds of center, is the lone pivot prospect. James McKittrick, small at 160, makes up for size with aggressiveness. Wichita has contributed Dale Morss, badly needed center.

Jack Newell, another end, was a Phillipsburg high ace. One hundred seventy-five pound Jay Payton, from Emporia, will bolster the backfield as halfback. Seaman high school, Topeka, sends Joe Pollom, guard. Delbert Torkelson, end from Everest, owns no experience but is picking the fundamentals up rapidly. As the aggression is short on tackles he may be shifted.

A Former All-Stater

Six-foot, four-inch Dave Weatherby, end from Neodosha, has the title of one of the outstanding pass catchers. All-State Manhattan halfback Ronnie Webster has been living up to his football reputation although light at 155 pounds from a summer of work.

George Young is an end out of Woodston whose experience has been gained in six-man football. On account of the oversupply of ends Young may be shifted.

Out recently and for the most part unclassified are the following: Bob Mooney, 180-pound Mankato blocking back; James Harrison, of Mulvane, starting at right tackle; Ken Whitney, blocking back regular from Manhattan high school; Jim Drown, Manhattan, starting at guard; Bill Schleety, tackle, Geneva, Neb., and J. H. Petticord, fullback on last year's undefeated Wamego team.

Give Scholarship

A Borden Agricultural Scholarship Award Fund of $1,500 has been established at Kansas State by the Borden Company of New York City, President Eisenhower has announced.

An award of $300 will be made annually for five years to students at the close of their junior year. The award will go to the senior in the School of Agriculture who has the highest scholastic average for all college work and who has taken at least two or more courses in dairying in the School.

The first in the series of five scholarships probably will be awarded for the school year, 1945-46.

Preferential Luncheons Climax Rush Activities

Friday noon's preferential luncheons depicting individual sorority themes marked the close of Rush Week activities this year. Tuesday each house entertained with tea, Wednesday morning the rushees were guests at breakfasts, and Thursday's entertainment was breakfast, afternoon tea, and at night, formal desserts.

Preferential luncheon theme at the Alpha Delta Pi house was The Black Diamond. Black Diamond centerpieces and individual place cards were on each table. Yellow and bronze chrysanthemums were also used as decoration in the dining room and on each table. All the sorority members wore black dresses to further the decorative theme.

Alpha Xi's Pink Rose

Alpha Xi Delta had their Pink Rose luncheon. Pink roses and flowers of double blue and gold were in the dining room and on the tables.

Chi Omega's theme was a Wishing Well into which each guest dropped a white carnation as she made a wish. Cardinal and straw mums carried out the Chi Omega colors in the dining room. Place cards were small wishing wells at each place. "Wishing" was sung by a trio, Betty Brown Burton, Thelma Dahl, and Amy Griswold.

Tri Deltas' luncheon tables were decorated with their colors of silver, gold, and blue. Blue asters and white tapers centered each table.

White Rose Ceremony

The Kappa Delta national white rose friendship ceremony was featured at their luncheon. Green and white, their colors, were used decoratively.

Kappa Kappa Gamma's blue and gold was used for their luncheon color scheme. Blue asters in large gold keys were table centerpieces, while the individual place cards were small keys attached to the centerpiece with blue ribbons.

Pi Beta Phis went South of the Border with a Spanish theme. Small figures in Spanish costume and summer flowers decorated the tables and dining room.

Jackie Rockne, youngest child of the immortal Knute Rockne and the sensation of Wisconsin's prep grid circles last fall, will not carry on at Notre Dame. Jackie has entered a Franciscan Monastery near Detroit to study for the priesthood. His brother, Knute Jr., is with the army in Alaska.

The dahlia was named after Professor Andreas Dahl, an eighteenth-century Swedish botanist.

Pepsters

Purple Pepsters are to meet in the stadium in their usual section at 2:30 p. m. for the game with Wichita University Saturday. Members are requested to wear their uniforms, according to Pauline Flook, president.

K-State Student Wins Mlle. Prize

Ruth Wilson Scott, f. s. '42, was awarded a $100 War Bond plus a dress of her own design as first prize in Mademoiselle's Design Contest. The winners were announced in the August issue of that magazine.

The campus uniform designed by Ruth Wilson Scott includes a wool jersey shirt and Cohama wool plaid skirt. The skirt and shirt are made by Dutchess Royal and sell at $10.95 each.

Ruth Wilson Scott, Parsons, was a student in Industrial Journalism and a member of Alpha Delta Phi sorority.

Second prize, a $50 War Bond and dress, was awarded to Jeanne Hawley of Iowa State Teachers College and third prize, a $25 War Bond, was awarded to Shirley Spackey, University of Illinois.

First Y Meeting

The first YWCA meeting of the college year will be Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 in Willard, room 115. The speaker will be Miss Lois Crozier, regional YWCA secretary from Topeka. Her subject is to be "The Woman of the Hour."

Miss Crozier attended college in California where she was editor of her school paper, a member of the Student Council and YW cabinet, and was active in other campus organizations. Old students may remember her visit on the campus last year when she was traveling in this region for the World Service Student Fund. The first cabinet meeting for YW will be Monday.

Buy War Bonds and help assure the future of the colleges.

'Having A Wonderful Time'

This week begins a new semester—a new column—and lots and lots of engagements and marriages. . . .

Kappa Kappa started off the social news with roses and chocolates—chocolates from Mary Charlson and Lt. Jack Pierce former Kansas Stater and Sig Alph. . . The roses announced the wedding of former president Martha Peterson to Lt. Max Houston ATO. . . The wedding was Saturday in Kansas City.

Alpha Delta Pis topped off preferential luncheon with 15 pounds of the traditional sweets. . . Mary Kassner revealed her engagement when she donned the TKE pin of Lt. Kenneth Griffith former Kansas State student. . . Mary Dressel is wearing the diamond of A. C. Dick Hoffman who was an Aviation Student on this campus last year. . . Third engagement was that of Grace Irma Coldwell and Bill Cook from Coffeyville.

More of the same. . . This time it was preferential luncheon at the Pi Phi house. . . Mildred Houseworth told of her engagement to Beta Martin Howell of the Navy Air Corps with both his pin and a diamond. . . Marianna Snair passed the traditional 5 pounds of candy to announce her engagement to Ensign James A. Wilson former student and SAE. . . Alum Vivian Marlow sent roses announcing her marriage August 29 to Don Moss. . . Virginia Wyman was married Saturday to Ensign Kenneth Schafer. She also sent roses to her Pi Phi sisters.

A break from engagements now with the news that the Delta Tau Deltas, Alpha Gamma Rhos, and Tau Kappa Epsilons are living in their houses this fall. The Phi Delta house is being occupied by the Phi Deltas, Sig Alphas and Sigma Nus. . . And rumor has it that the Kappa Sigs may reopen their house too.

Kappa Delt Eleanor Allison passed chocolates announcing her engagement to Lt. Carl J. Dye of Chillicothe, Mo. Laurel McLeod Kappa Delt grad of '44 told of her engagement to Sgt. Vito Percival.

ADPi Ella Mae Stinson is now wearing the SAE pin of Lt. Don Parker from Massachusetts now stationed at Fort Riley.

Still in the engagement league the Delta Delta Deltas had 15 pounds of chocolates at their preferential dinner. . . First on the list was the engagement of Pat Mossman to Lt. Clay Brassfield who is an instructor at Alamogordo, N. M. . . Billie Hazelton is now wearing the ring of Ensign Kenneth Keast stationed in Florida. . . Tri Delt president Virginia Stoecker announced her engagement to Ernest Jackson who was on this campus in the ASTP last year.

pha Xi president to John Bishop AGR from Kansas State.

New officers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon are Morley Cook, President; Joe Ridgeway, vice-president; Jake Mosier, treasurer; and Leonard Great-house, secretary.

Saturday was also the wedding day of Sig Alph Joe Ridgeway, vet student, and Jean Grossnickle of Topeka.

Eight new initiates are wearing the quill of Alpha Xi Delta since initiation September 16. They are Helen Clegg, Kathleen Peterson, Helen Grippman, Shirley Jordan, Mary Ann Reeves, Martha Adams, Barbara Erwin, and Muriel Becker.

We'd welcome any news of independent houses and fraternities. . . News may be turned in to The Collegian office in Kedzie Hall or sent in by Monday morning through the College P. O.

First big event of the school year is the YWCA college sister party tonight at 7:30 in Recreation Center. . . And Just a tip. . . watch The Collegian for news of the big all-school mixer next week end. So long till then.

State Rules For Smoking

Effective July 1 of this year, the "no smoking on the campus" tradition, as old as the school itself, was abolished.

The President's proclamation concerning new rules for smoking on the campus was published in the Summer school Collegian at that time. However, for new students and old students not at K-State at that time, we are reprinting the campus smoking rules.

According to the President, the rules were kept by students and faculty alike during the summer session, and the results have been "very satisfactory."

To All Students, Faculty Members, and Employees of Kansas State College:

(1) On May 9, 1944, the Student Council, in response to a 75 percent favorable vote of the members of the Student Governing association, recommended to me that smoking privileges on the campus be extended. The Council called my attention to the fact that about 63 percent of all students voting for such extension of the privileges favored "smoking anywhere on the campus, except in buildings or areas which according to the President constitute a fire hazard."

(2) On June 16, 1944, the Council of Deans voted unanimously (a) that the recommendation of the Student Council should be approved, (b) that all rules and regulations on smoking should apply to faculty members and employees, as well as to students, but not to visitors, and (c) that, in the judgment of the Council, all but the following buildings, because of type of construction or nature of use, constitute a fire hazard: Thompson Hall, Van Zile Hall, Student Hospital, Military Science Building, and the President's House. Campus areas in the vicinity of frame buildings and oil storage tanks were also declared to constitute fire hazards.

(3) Hence, for the time being, smoking is authorized: (a) Outdoors on the campus, except in posted areas; (b) in Thompson Hall, Van Zile Hall, Student Hospital, Military Science Building, and President's House; (c) later when adequate fire protection equipment can be obtained, one or two rooms inside other buildings, may be provided.

(4) Smoking is prohibited in all other buildings and on all steps and immediate approaches to buildings.

(5) In buildings authorized for smoking, ashes and discarded portions of cigarettes and cigars must be placed in appropriate containers.

(6) Outside buildings, cigarette butts should be torn apart, the unused tobacco thrown away and the paper wadded before it is discarded. (I hope this will become the new tradition at Kansas State—the tradition of cleanliness).

(7) The enforcement of this order among students is, of course, entrusted to the Student Council. Regular administrative officers of the College will handle non-student problems.

(8) Violation of this order, causing fire hazards or unsightly appearance on the campus, will result in the elimination of smoking privileges.

M. S. Eisenhower,
President.

Men are not disturbed by things, but by the views they take of things.

Fraternity Houses Now Dorm Annexes

An enlargement of College housing facilities for women has been made necessary because of an increase in enrollment of women this fall. Two fraternity houses, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the Sigma Nu houses, have been taken over by the College to be operated as annexes to Van Zile Hall.

Even though Van Zile Hall was restored for occupancy by women this fall, Dean Moore explained that the waiting list was so great and attendance at rush week so much larger than usual that it was necessary to provide additional houses. The College has planned construction of several additional women's residence halls after the war.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon house will house approximately 45 women while the Sigma Nu will provide rooms for about 40 women.

Both houses will be operated in the same fashion as Van Zile Hall except that there will be no cooperative plan. Meal service will be supervised by the Department of Institutional Management at the College. Housemothers have been hired by Kansas State to supervise the annexes.

Sayre On Leave

Edwin D. Sayre, associate professor of voice, has been awarded a fellowship at the Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J.

Professor Sayre has been granted a leave of absence for the 1944-45 school year.

The choir, which is recognized as one of the finest in the country, makes 20 appearances during the season with the New York Philharmonic orchestra in Carnegie Hall and with the Philadelphia orchestra. An annual concert tour is made in the mid-western and northern states during the month of February.

Books To Russia

Two books on cereal chemistry written by Dr. C. O. Swanson, Kansas State professor and nationally known cereal chemist, are being sent to Russia. The request for these books was received recently from Prof. N. I. Proskuriakov, a Russian scientist.

Dr. Swanson in return has received a volume of a periodical Russian publication, "Biochemistry of Bread Making" published by the Biochemistry Institute of the Academy of Sciences of the U. S. S. R. He will give this volume to the Kansas State College Library.

Helen Jacobs, former tennis star, is now serving in the WAVES.

Dramatics

The Kansas State Players, formerly the Manhattan Theater, will hold their first meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in G-206. All students who are interested in any phase of dramatic production are urged to attend.

At this meeting officers for the coming year will be chosen, and tentative plans made for future productions. Among the plays now under consideration are "Blithe Spirit," "Kiss and Tell," "Angel Street," "Ladies in Retirement," and "Claudia."

16 Receive Sears Awards

Scholarships totaling $2500 have been awarded by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation to 16 women who are freshmen in home economics.

Although the foundation has for several years awarded scholarships to men in Schools of Agriculture, this is the first award to a School of Home Economics. Nine scholarships of $200 each and seven of $100 each are to be awarded each year upon the final recommendation of a state selection committee. The awards are for freshman home economics students only. The women received half the amount upon enrolling and will receive the second half after enrolling for the spring semester.

Winners were selected on the basis of ability, promise, need and personality. The 16 were chosen from nearly 50 applicants.

Wins Oak Leaf Cluster

Capt. Robert O. Baber of Dodge City, who was graduated from Kansas State College with a degree in milling industry in 1939, has been presented an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal, according to a report from the Eighth Army Air Force in England. Captain Baber received the award for "meritorious achievement" while participating in heavy bombing assaults on vital Nazi targets in Germany and the occupied countries of Europe.

Award To Briles

Mary Frances Briles, a senior in dietetics and institutional management, has been designated as the first recipient of the newly established Borden Home Economics scholarship of $300 here.

The Borden Company has given the College $1,500 to provide five scholarships of $300 each to be awarded outstanding home economics seniors who have included at least two courses in foods and nutrition in their curriculums. Only one scholarship was awarded this year.

Hudiburg Physics Head

L. E. Hudiburg, associate professor of physics, is acting as head of the Department of Physics during the leave of absence of Dr. A. B. Cardwell. Professor Hudiburg is continuing his duties as assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Cardwell will be on leave during the fiscal year of 1944-45. He is doing war research work at the Clinton Engineer Works, Knoxville, Tenn.

Prof. E. K. Chapin, also of the Department of Physics, has been granted a year's leave of absence to accept temporary war-time employment with Shure Brothers of Chicago.

Electronic air cleaners which trap the smallest of dust particles—down to 1/250,000th of an inch in diameter—are among means making possible the production of penicillin.

Wanted

A dance manager for Student Government Association varieties. Information concerning this position may be obtained from Margaret McNamee. Applications should be mailed as soon as possible to P. O. box 246.

Maj. Gen. William E. Lynd, now commanding the Fourth Air Force, in praising the exploits of Brig. Gen. "Blondie" Saunders, West Point grid great of 20 years ago, points out that West Point officers with football experience made the best fighting air commanders.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE, OCTOBER 5, 1944

United Fund Drive Starts Here Monday

With 100 percent participation as the aim, the Kansas United War Fund in conjunction with the Manhattan Community Chest drive will swing into action Monday and last through October 14. These dates coincide with the National War Fund drive. The student goal for Kansas State College this year is $1200, and the total for the entire campus is $4490. Presidents of all campus organizations are responsible for working out plans to reach every member of their groups in the hopes that every student will be contacted.

Booth In Anderson

There will also be a booth in Anderson Hall all week for donations. Two thermometers in Anderson Hall, one representing comparative student contributions, and the other for recording corresponding gains of the faculty goal, will be kept up-to-date throughout the drive.

The suggested amount for each student to contribute this year is $1.00 for the War Fund which includes USO, War Prisoners Aid, United China Relief, U. S. Committee for Care of European Children, Russian War Relief and 14 other such needy groups, and $1.00 for the local community chest.

Only Drive This Year

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon of the leaders of all campus groups David Neiswanger, Topeka civic leader, explained that this Kansas United War Fund will be the only drive for funds throughout the year, except for the annual Red Cross drive in March. "The total goal for the National War Fund this year is $115,000,000 as compared to last year's $125,000,000; of this total the Kansas quota is $1,225,000," he stated. "Over half of the $115,000,000 which will be contributed this year will be used for the benefit of U. S. men and women in uniform."

Crozier Speaks

Miss Lois Crozier, regional Student Christian Association secretary from Topeka, and Frank L. Bynum of Emporia, state director of the Kansas United War Fund, also attended the meeting, and Miss Crozier spoke on the importance of reaching every student.

The local Community Chest portion of the drive will cover such worthy groups as the YMCA, the YMCA, the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts. Each contributor will be given a receipt for the gift, and if membership in either the college YMCA or the YWCA is desired, the student should take the receipt to the Y office and he will be given a membership card. Unless specifically earmarked, all donations will be put into the common pot and allocated as has been decided upon by officials.

Campus Goal $4490

The entire Riley county quota of the War Fund is $16,122 and the portion for the campus is $2415. The total quota for the Manhattan Community Chest is $5800—the campus quota of this being $2,075, making a total campus quota of $4490. Of the $5800 in the Manhattan Community Chest, Girl Scouts will receive $1100; Boy Scouts $1400; College YMCA $1000; and College YWCA $1300.

Band Tryouts

Band tryouts will continue until the end of the week when at that time the organization will be completed. More players are needed on all instruments. Previous to last year women were not admitted to the marching band, but this year both women and men will be accepted. Proper forms to be filled out by members may be secured from Professor Downey at the Band office or from the Music office.

Radio . . .

Auditions for actors, speakers, and musicians for student shows on KSAC, College radio station, will be held from 4 to 5 p. m. today and tomorrow in Nichols gymnasium, room 303, according to H. Miles Heberer. Those trying out for speaking parts are requested to bring something to read.

Pep Rally . . .

A pep rally will be held in the Auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The new cheerleaders and team will be introduced. The rally will be followed by a snake dance.

Mendenhall '43, Navy Casualty

Ens. George Mendenhall Jr., 23, former Kansas State three-sports star and outstanding student, has been killed aboard a Navy destroyer in the South Pacific, it has been reported here. His home was in Belleville. Mendenhall, who was graduated from the College in 1943 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering, played three years on the Kansas State basketball teams and was honorary captain in his senior year. Although he had never played high school football, he went out for the College varsity during his last year in school and won a first team place at end. Mendenhall's great defensive play was one of the highlights in Kansas State's 19 to 0 upset of Nebraska in 1942. He competed in track only one year, 1941.

In addition to his athletic ability, Ensign Mendenhall was a campus leader and high-ranking student. His name was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He was a member of the College Engineering Council; Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity; Blue Key, senior men's honorary society; K Club, organization of Kansas State varsity athletes; and Sigma Phi Epsilon, social fraternity. He also was president of the senior class in 1943.

Name Lashbrook Journalism Head

Ralph R. Lashbrook has been appointed head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing to succeed Russell I. Thackrey who became dean of administration of the College September 1.

Mr. Lashbrook has been a member of the staff of the journalism department 10 years. He joined the staff September 1, 1934, as a temporary instructor, became an assistant professor in 1936, an associate professor and director of the Kansas State College News Bureau in 1938, and professor and acting head of the department in May, 1943.

The new head received his bachelor of science degree in industrial journalism from the College in 1929. During the school year, 1941-42, he was on sabbatical leave from the College while a lecturer in agricultural journalism at the University of Wisconsin where he received his master of science degree in 1942.

Before joining the College staff, Mr. Lashbrook had been a member of the staff of several daily newspapers, including the Kansas City Star.

Mr. Lashbrook is a member of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, the American College Publicity Association and the American Institute of Public Relations. He is chairman of the Board of Publications, a member of the Faculty Council on Student Affairs and chairman of the Kansas Magazine Publishing Association.

Orchestra tryouts began Tuesday. Students may secure Orchestra cards from the band office or the music office. String players are badly needed. The first rehearsal will be in the Auditorium Tuesday night at 7:30.

School Mixer Saturday Night

The first all-school mixer will be held Saturday night from 8 to 12 p. m. in the Auditorium and Nichols gymnasium. From 8 to 9 p. m. a variety show will be presented in the Auditorium, with H. Miles Heberer, professor in the speech department, acting as the master of ceremonies. From 9 to 12 there will be dancing in the gymnasium. Admission to the party will be gained by presenting your student activity book.

One of the highlights of the program will be a hula dance given by Mrs. Hugh Harlin. Mrs. Harlin, whose husband is now overseas, lived with her husband for some time in the Hawaiian Islands. She will interpret the dance for the enjoyment and information of those attending the program.

Phyllis Fredrickson will "beat me Daddy, ten to the bar," with some piano selections of boogie-woogie music. A barbershop quartet, consisting of Charles Eslinger, Ted Grimes, Gene Walters, and Keith Inskeep, will do some harmonizing, and Billie Davis will give a demonstration of acrobatic twirling. Glen Vall of Zeandale will give a comedy act with a surprise ending that promises to keep his audience in laughter.

Prof. Merton Otto of the economics department is the faculty chairman of the committee for all-school mixers. Betty Jean Yapp, who is in charge of the program for the mixer, is the representative on the committee for the YWCA. Phyllis Johansen represents the S. G. A., and Embert Coles is the representative of the YMCA on this committee.

YM-YW Forums Begin Tuesday

Open for questions on his personal stand on subjects of national and international interest, State Sen. Albert Cole of Holton will be the first speaker on a series of political forums being sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA organizations.

The first of this series will be held in Recreation Center from 4 to 5 p. m. Tuesday. Students, faculty members, and townspeople are welcome and urged to attend any one or all of the four forums.

Senator Cole, who is running on the Republican ticket for Congress in this district, will speak on the subject, "Why Vote the Republican Ticket?" Senator Cole is a well-known lawyer by profession, and has served on the legislative council of Kansas.

The second forum speaker, who will be here October 17, will be Ralph Ulm, county commissioner in Shawnee county. His subject will be "Why Vote the Democratic Ticket?"

Following Mr. Ulm, October 24, Arthur Peine, business man and recognized community leader of Manhattan and former professor in the history department of K. S. C., will speak on "The Great Issues Behind the Campaign."

For the fourth and final political forum speaker, W. R. Purkayle, teacher of social science in the Manhattan high school, will present the topic "Political Effectiveness in Democracy."

War Course To Open

A course in Engineering Science Management War Training will be offered this fall if enough people enroll, according to Prof. W. W. Carlson.

The main objective of this course is to provide pre-employment training for future war plant employees. Anyone is eligible to enter who has completed his high school curriculum with at least two years in mathematics, or its equivalent in trade experience.

Additional information concerning enrollment in the course may be obtained from Professor Carlson.

Presidents . . .

Presidents of all campus organizations must have complete plans for canvassing of the entire group ready to begin Monday, according to Ethelinda Parrish, president of the Student Council. Receipts may be obtained in the Alumni office, A116, from Kenney Ford, secretary. This is also where the collected amounts should be turned in.

1944 Royal Purple Rates All-American Award

Book Receives Honor for 9th Consecutive Year, According to Judge Has 'Personality Plus'; Montgomery Editor of Winning Annual

The 1944 Royal Purple, Kansas State's yearbook, has been awarded the All-American Honor Rating. A yearbook with "personality plus" is the judge's description of the book. There were 518 yearbooks entered in the 1944 contest, and four in the K-State class made All-American. This is the ninth consecutive year for the honor to go to Kansas State's yearbook.

R. P. Workers . . .

A meeting for all students wanting to work on the 1945 Royal Purple will be held in room 211 in Kedzie Hall this afternoon at 5.

"Editorial, business and office jobs are open, so come and give your preference, experience, if any, and a schedule of when you can work," said Elizabeth Crandall, editor.

Enrollment in the journalism department is not a prerequisite. If you can't attend the meeting, leave the above information in K-105 D.

Registration Totals 1,488; 136 Increase

An increase of 136 over the civilian registration of a year ago was recorded for the fall semester with 1,488 students enrolled. Freshman enrollment was up with 63 more students enrolled this year than last. Of the freshmen, 300 were women and 179 were men.

A preliminary breakdown at the end of the three-day registration period revealed that 978 women and 493 men had registered. Latecomers boosted the figure to 1,488. Increases were shown in the Schools of Agriculture, Home Economics and Arts and Sciences.

Home Ec's High

The enrollment for the School of Home Economics was 552 as compared with 535 of last year. The School of Arts and Sciences topped last year's figure of 429 by 65 students. The School of Agriculture's enrollment of 55 was an increase of seven over the 1943 figure.

146 Engineers

The School of Engineering and Architecture has only 146 students enrolled this year as compared to 271 for the fall semester of 1943. Veterinary Medicine had a slight decrease with 182 enrolled this year. Forty-seven in the Graduate School enrolled during the regular registration period. Last year 55 students enrolled in the school.

The tabulation of men and women by schools shows the School of Agriculture with 53 men and 2 women; Arts and Sciences, 107 men and 384 women; Engineering and Architecture, 134 men and 12 women; Home Economics, 552 women; Veterinary Medicine, 177 men and 5 women; and the Graduate School, 22 men and 25 women.

Rain, Plaster, Fall

"When and if any of you ever get in the Kansas legislature you can say that you actually saw buildings on the Kansas State campus fall to pieces," remarked Dr. M. C. Moggie to his class Monday morning as pieces of plaster fell from the ceiling.

Earlier in the morning during the hard rain when the leak had begun, Dr. Moggie had found a washtub which he placed in the middle of the room beneath the leak. The water soon loosened the plaster and large pieces fell into the metal tub at intervals during the general psychology recitation.

Scene of the action was room 202 in Education Hall.

Zoology Seminar

The Entomology-Zoology Seminar will hold its second meeting of the fall semester today at 4 p. m. in F202. The program will consist of a report on the Cleveland meetings by Dr. Donald Ameel, Dr. E. H. Herrick, and Dean J. E. Ackert.

There were five divisions in the contest. The Royal Purple was in the second division which consisted of schools with an enrollment of 2500 to 4999 students. To rate the All-American honor each yearbook must score at least 1250 points. The Royal Purple scored 1505 points.

Judges Enthusiastic

The judges were especially enthusiastic about the way the military section of the book was handled. This section included action pictures of life on the campus, as well as group pictures of the Army Specialized Training students then stationed at Kansas State and pictures of the Army Air Force detachment stationed here at that time.

In writing his criticism of the Royal Purple the judge stated, "War-time Kansas State" is one of the best school life sections your judge has seen this year, if not the best. You do the right kind of a job for a war school year. Good Work!"

Montgomery Editor

Mary Ann Montgomery, news editor of the Belleville Telescope, edited the 1944 Royal Purple. Miss Montgomery was telephoned the news of the All-American award. When asked what she had to say she answered, "I'm very happy to hear the news. Thanks go to all the people on the staff. They deserve the credit. I'm glad we didn't break the 'All-American tradition' at Kansas State."

The assistant editor of the 1944 Royal Purple was Elizabeth Crandall. Picture-taking for the book was done by Floyd J. Hanna, Lester Oborny and Prof. E. T. Keith. Professor Keith both made and processed many of the pictures.

Staff Members

Other staff members were Mary Ann Luhnaw, Alice Roelfs Roper, June Fredrickson Schneider, Peggy Phelan, Kay Hosmer, Phyllis Johansen, Marjorie McInteer, Ann Allison, Marjorie Bernard Allen, Marjorie Setter, Arleta Boyer, Norma Kay Bryan, Lucille Shoemaker, Mary Jane Jones, Mary Louise Carl, Betty Gail Parker, Annette Hoffman, Alice Dillard, Nancy Heberer, Betty Jean Yapp, Tess Montgomery, Leroy Teeter, Arma Jo Smith, Joan Holscher, and Athol Furman.

Collegiate 4-H Club

The first meeting of the Collegiate 4-H Club will be held tonight at 7:30 in Rec Center. Plans will be made at that time for the Collegiate 4-H Club membership drive for the coming year. This is the largest social organization on the campus.

The 4-H Club sponsors radio broadcasts every Saturday from 1 to 1:30. A publication called "Who's Who?" is edited and published annually by the club. Many parties and picnics are held during the year. A party for new and old members will be held Monday at 7:30 in Rec Center.

The officers include the following: president, Louise Parcel; vice-president, Mary Alice Doll; secretary and treasurer, Athol Furman; reporter, Georganne Bacon; marshal, Warren Scott; corresponding secretaries, Jean Kays and Margaret Ramsdale; song leader, Barbara Rogers; pianist, Roberta Vogt; "Who's Who?" editor, Mary Alice Streater; "Who's Who?" business manager, Hope Leland.

K-Books . . .

A new supply of K-Books have been received, and can be obtained upon request from either the YMCA office in Rec Center, or from the YWCA office on the second floor of Anderson Hall.

Congratulations . . .

Congrats, student body on the pep and enthusiasm exhibited at the first game of the season Saturday afternoon. It is our opinion that if the percentages were figured, the student turnout was much better than years past of bigger enrollments and stronger teams.

And it was a noisy crowd too. In spite of the inexperienced cheer leaders and the newness of the yells to the freshmen, the echo was stronger than yells we've heard in previous seasons . . . or was that the vets? At any rate the cooperation of the students with aid for the team was admirable and deserves praise.

But Watch Out!

But since most editorials point out a moral or lean to preaching, this cannot be an exception, so here goes. It was easy to be enthusiastic Saturday. The weather was practically perfect; there was the first-game-of-the-season novelty and curiosity about the '44 squad; it was untied and ready for action; and the teams were fairly evenly matched, leading to a close game, and several thrills.

The real test of school spirit will be in the four home games coming up. If the team starts to lose, or the weather becomes a little unpleasant, how many of you will "show up" and "stick it out" then?

A Challenge To All

That's a challenge each of us should take upon ourselves. If we can have the same kind of crowd at each game, exhibiting the same spirit, no matter what the final standing of the Kansas State team in the Big Six, it's been a successful season.

And one thing more, directed primarily at new students and freshmen, but perhaps a reminder to experienced Wildcats—K-Staters do not leave the stadium and remove their team's moral support two or three or five minutes before the closing gun, or whenever the score is fairly well assured. They stay until the completion of the last play and sing the Alma Mater.

Church News

Kansas State students got-acquainted Monday evening at the open houses and mixers held by the various Manhattan churches. President and Mrs. Eisenhower visited the functions of each church during the evening.

Dean Mary Van Zile was guest speaker at the Kappa Beta meeting Tuesday evening for Christian women students.

The Assembly Hour Bible School at 9:45 at the Christian Church will be conducted by students this Sunday morning.

Christian Fellowship Hour will be at 5 on Sunday evening followed by vesper services at 6:45. The College Forum will be held at 7:45.

The Lutheran Student Association will hold its first meeting of the school year Sunday afternoon at 3. Dean Tieman is president of this association while Inez Ekdahl and Dr. Verne Sweedlun are sponsors.

Congregational young people are urged to attend that church's Bible school Sunday morning at 9:45, followed by church services at 11.

The first Kappa Phi meeting of the school year was held Tuesday evening at Wesley Hall. "Music, the Hinges of the World" was the theme. Methodist Church activities offer a full week with the first meeting of Wesley Singers this evening at 7:30 at Wesley Hall. Elizabeth Flippo is the leader. The Saturday Niter has as its theme this week "Radio Party." Those planning the party are Alta McClaren, Ruth Kimball and Otis

"The College of Tomorrow" will be the theme of the 1945 Royal Purple according to the tentative plans made this summer for the yearbook by Elizabeth Crandall, editor.

President Eisenhower and Paul Weigel, head of the Department of Architecture, have assured their cooperation in portraying postwar Kansas State College. The editor and C. J. Medlin, graduate manager, met with the engraver in Kansas City this summer and discussed plans for the opening and division pages.

Rush week, enrollment and freshman induction activities started picture taking. Dee Preusch, photographer, is now getting campus pictures for the view section of the yearbook before the frost kills the foliage and will continue to record student activities throughout the year.

Picture taking for the class section began yesterday. Miss Crandall asks that presidents or secretary-treasurers of all sororities and fraternities desiring pages in the Royal Purple make arrangements with her by October 10 for their date at the Studio Royal.

Cole, Maurice Hull has arranged the church school program for Sunday. His theme is "The World and I." Ruth Hodgson will play a piano solo. Fellowship Hour at 5 Sunday evening in Wesley Hall will have Phyllis Hickney as speaker. Miss Hickney is a graduate of Vassar and is studying veterinary medicine at Kansas State. "The Church and My College Life" is the topic Dr. Fred L. Parrish will discuss at Wesley League at 6:30 Sunday evening in Wesley Hall.

The Presbyterian student's Westminster Cabinet will meet at Westminster House this evening at 7:30.

The Student's Bible Class Sunday morning at 9:45 will be followed by church service at 11:00. Rev. Guerant will use as his topic "Isn't Life Wonderful."

At 6:30 Sunday evening Jean Hadley will be in charge of the Presbyterian World Fellowship Hour. The theme for the evening is "Be Aware."

The Newman Club held its first meeting last Monday evening. Future meetings will be held the first Monday evening of each month.

Mass for Catholic students will be held Sunday, at 8:00, 9:30 and 11:00.

Baptist young people are invited to attend the Church of Study at 9:45 and the Church of Worship at 11 on Sunday morning at the Baptist Church.

Baptist Student's Fellowship will meet at 5:15 p. m. Evening worship will be at 7:45 p. m.

Students and friends of the Saint Paul's Episcopal Church are invited to the first Corporate Communion service of the school year at 8 a. m. Sunday. Immediately following the communion service will be the Fellowship Breakfast in the students' rooms of the Parish Hall. Sarah Ulrich is in charge of the breakfast. The Canterbury Club with Elizabeth Crandall as president will meet after the breakfast.

Coming home on furlough from Italy in the near future is Capt. William D. Paske, Ag graduate in '39. Captain Paske holds the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Legion of Merit for outstanding service during the Tunisian campaign. Overseas since January '42, he is a regimental communications officer with the 34th "Red Bull" Division of the Fifth Army.

Pvt. James A. Dunbar, former student in the School of Architecture, has been overseas for six months. He has been serving as radio compass repairman with a Signal Company of the 13th AAF Service Command operating in the South and Southwest Pacific.

Lt. Sanford K. Moats, who flies the P-51, Mustang "K" in an Eighth Fighter Command group, was flying over Kiel recently when the rudder on his plane broke loose. Discovering the canopy stuck and no possible way to bail out, he managed to level his plane off at zero altitude. Lieutenant Moats, f. s. in mechanical engineering, wears the Air Medal with an Oak Leaf Cluster.

A recent letter brings the information that Lt. Donald R. Kimball, '43, is stationed at Camp Rucker, Ala., in an infantry division.

Clair Mauch, civil engineering grad of May '44, is now an ensign in the USNR and is stationed at Hollywood Beach, Fla.

Lt. Donald Fleming '42, recently passed the 50-mission mark as a navigator in a B-24 Liberator, according to a release from the AAF in Italy. Lieutenant Fleming has been overseas since February of this year, and has been awarded the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters "for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy."

The 15th AAF Headquarters announce that former student Raymond L. Kieffer has received a commission of second lieutenant and is now a navigator on a B-24 Liberator.

After a bomb run over Halberstadt Airfield deep in Germany, Lt. Edward Brann, bombardier on a B-24 Liberator, stood on the catwalk of an open bomb bay, 22,000 feet above Nazi ground, and safetied two dangling incendiaries that had stuck on the bomb rack of his plane. Lieutenant Brann is a former student in electrical engineering at K. S. C. A release from an Eighth Air Force Bomber Station in England said, "His courageous act saved the plane and avoided the possible bombing of the Eighth Air Force Another recently commissioned ensign in the USNR is Paul O. Larson, '44 graduate and a member of Steel Ring, Pi Tau Sigma, and K. S. Engineers.

It's an APO address from New York for Lt. Maynard L. Abrahams (Bomb Squadron) and Lt. Joseph E. Jagger (Infantry); while Major E. J. Cook, USMC, has a Fleet P. O. address out of San Francisco.

Visiting the alma mater is Dale Anstine, '44, after receiving his commission as Ensign at Fort Schuyler, N. Y. In his graduating class at Fort Schuyler were former Kansas State students John Manglesdorf and Paul Newcomer.

Charles Vavrock, K-State wrestler now in the Marines, recently received a Marine Corps citation "For courageous conduct and outstanding performance of duty while serving with Company "E" Second Battalion, Fifth Marines, in action against the enemy at Waru Village, New Britain." Vavrock is a Pharmacists Mate 1st Class and is now back in the States for a 30 day furlough.

From Maxwell Field, Ala., comes word that Donald E. Leavitt f. s. from Iola, Kans., is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the pre-flight school there.

Lt. Howard Whiteside, f. s. '42, visited the Department of Chemical Engineering recently. He was on his way to attend radar school at Ft. Bliss, Texas. Lieutenant Whiteside taught radio at Camp Davis, N. C., for two years.

'Cats Play First Big Six Game Here At 2 Saturday

Rolling into their first conference game, the Wildcats come up against Missouri at 2 o'clock Saturday, in Memorial stadium here. The Tigers will be out with blood in their eye to compensate for their 54-0 defeat by Ohio State last weekend.

Coach Ward Haylett's lads got their first workout last Saturday with the Wichita Wheatshockers. Although the Purple and White clads crushed their opponents against the Wichita goal all during the fourth period, fumbles permitted the 'Cats to do no more than tie the score at 6 all.

Pitted against the stronger Tigers will be Dave Weatherby and Jack Newell, pass-snatchers de luxe. Earl Haury will be at left tackle paired with Bob King. Dale Cowan held the spot last week until going out with a hurt knee. Marvin Norby and Russ Hardin are set for guard position. Joe Pollom will be in snapper-back position if his shoulder, which he bruised in practice this week, proves not to be serious. Elmer Boxler will play quarterback. Bob Mooney, Man-kato blocking back is set for full-back with Jim Ungles and Jean Smith paired at halfback.

Bill Faubion, recently returned letterman, is expected to see some service. Faubion, last season's star halfback, has been shifted to quarter-back.

Against the 'Cats will be a team which has been conference champs or near champs for the last five years. Bill Dellastatious and Paul Collins, veterans of the 1943 battles, will be the backfield threat. Collins, quarterback, calls the plays and is a good ball carrier and blocker. Dellastatious is the punter, passer and leading ball carrier. Three outstanding tackles, James Keckeris, Robert Stone and "Mac" Janson, can be expected to hold the line.

Things might have been different if Coach Ward Haylett's young football team hadn't had a case of the jitters last Saturday afternoon. As it was, the all-civilian Kansas State grid-ers had to content themselves with a 6-all tie in the season's opener against the Wichita Wheatshockers in Memorial Stadium.

Four times the wartime Wildcats drove inside the Shockers' 20-yard line, but only once did they cash in on the golden scoring opportunities. That sole score came early in the fourth quarter when Jean Smith, a slippery runner from Mapleton, raced 22 yards to tally after taking a lateral from Quarterback Max Harvey, Greensburg. Two fumbles and an intercepted pass stopped three other scoring threats.

Wichita had scored in the second period on a 36-yard pass play, Linwood Sexton to Buddy Coffey.

But, even though the Haylett team did fumble away its chances for a first-game victory, all was not dark Saturday afternoon. In fact, many who saw the contest left the stadium Saturday afternoon with bright hopes for things to come. The reason? The young Wildcats had shown power.

During the afternoon, Haylett's boys amassed gains totaling 207 yards while their defense checked Wichita at 66 yards. Fewer than half a dozen plays took place in Wildcat territory during the second half.

Earl Haury, one of two lettermen on the 1944 squad, played an outstanding game at his tackle position. Several times the 225-pounder from Newton spilled Wichita backs behind the scrimmage line. In the backfield, Halfback Jean Smith; Jim Ungles,

Intramurals...

Professor L. P. Washburn of the Physical Education Department has announced plans for an intramural meeting to be held today at five o'clock in N207. This meeting is for any individual or representative of a group who is interested in men's intramural activities for the coming semester. It will be decided whether the season will be started by touch football or some other sport. Those men with previous intramural experience are urged to attend in order to insure the success of the meeting.

Glee Club Tryouts

College women wishing to try out for the Women's Glee Club may come to the next rehearsal today at 5 p. m. in Calvin Hall room 101. The glee club will meet every Monday evening at 7:20 and every Thursday afternoon at 5.

Over 100 attended the first rehearsal last Monday. The majority of the women were from independent organized houses. Professor Stratton, director, announces that the glee club will present a Christmas concert and a spring concert. They will make radio appearances which will consist of a smaller group than the regular glee club. Members for radio appearances will be selected from those who attend regularly and show interest in their work. The glee club will take part in chapel programs, Farm and Home week and Y-Orphum. The pianist is Miss Clarice Painter.

Cornell established the first electrical engineering course in 1883.

Y Sister Party Draws Crowd

YWCA members and their college sisters, over 600 strong, got acquainted at their annual party Thursday night in the gym. Each new woman, freshman or transfer, was given the name of an upperclassman who acted as her college sister, took her to the party, and helped acquaint her with YWCA and other students.

Guests met Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. Mary Van Zile, dean emeritus, Mrs. Milton Eisenhower, and YW president, Roberta Townley, as they went down the receiving line.

The first feature of the evening was get-acquainted games led by the 26 group captains and in charge of Dorothy Cochran. Following the games Lois Johnson led the women in group singing. The college trio, Joyce Crippen, Ruth Fenton, and Pat Fairman sang several numbers and president Roberta Townley gave a short speech of welcome to the new students. Beverly Hunt of Manhattan High School entertained with several tap dance numbers.

After the program "cokes" were served and dancing followed.

Aloha Tea Sunday

Aloha Cottage will be hostess to all women from independent organized houses at a tea Sunday afternoon. Honored guests will be Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. Mary Van Zile, dean emeritus, Miss Dorothy Hamer, Van Zile Hall Director of Residence, and Mrs. Milton Eisenhower.

Betty Mertz of Aloha cottage will be hostess at the tea. A Hallowe'en theme will be carried out with autumn leaves, fall flowers, and Hallowe'en decorations.

103 Freshmen Receive Honors During 1943-44

One hundred three students, freshmen during the school year 1943-44, received a grade average of not less than "B", according to Reed F. Morse, associate professor and chairman of the Committee on Student Honors. The School of Arts and Sciences led the list with 39 honor students. The home economics school was second with 34. The other schools and the number of freshman honors awarded in each are: School of Agriculture, 2; School of Engineering and Architecture, 10; and School of Veterinary Medicine, 18.

The high-ranking freshmen listed by schools and home towns are:

Debate . . .

There will be a meeting in Education Hall, room 206, Monday at 5 p. m. for all those interested in intercollegiate debate, according to Dr. Howard T. Hill, K-State debate coach.

No experience is necessary, but former participation in high school debating activities will prove useful, Dr. Hill has announced.

At the present time plans have been made to enter the Missouri Valley Forensic Tournament at the University of Wichita in March, as well as several other tournaments, radio debates, etc.

It is hoped that there will be a large turnout for this activity. Both men and women are eligible and urged to attend this organization meeting.

The percussion section includes Marion Ober, Billie Davis, Ivy Dickson, Dale Dugan, Norene Francis, Carol Halbower, Irene Gehrke, Naomi Frolick. The drum major and twirlers are Darlene Hague, Billie Davis, Phyllis Fredrickson, Eleanor Striegel and Rowena Fleming.

Vets Wear V, Bones

That conspicuous V seen on the backs of about 60 freshmen the earlier part of the week did not signify their earnest hopes for an early victory—nor did the bones that hung about their necks denote carnivorous appetites or doghouse status—they were merely freshmen vets becoming hardened to the rigorous life of a freshman vet during his initiation into the Junior Veterinary Medical Association.

The fledglings, which this year include five aspiring lady veterinarians, were "informally" initiated Tuesday night. All reports emanating from the vet school regarding escapades of said initiation are unconfirmed by all loyal horse doctors who claim that the solemnities are a secret part of the organization; nevertheless, authorities on the subject state that if an individual should yearn for an initiation ceremony he should by all means choose to join a bird lovers' club or a Knit-for-Britain society.

Y Membership Drive

YW and YM membership drives are being held in connection with the National War Fund and Community Chest drive. These drives started Monday.

All college students will be contacted for donations to the fund. Anyone making a donation will automatically become a member of YM or YW if he so desires. Students in charge of the drive will have membership cards.

Talk Politics At Y Forum

In a speech at the Y-Forum Tuesday afternoon Senator Albert Cole of Holton, Republican candidate for Congress from this district, said in answer to the question, "Why vote the Republican ticket?" that it is the normal, sane thing to do.

Mr. Cole said that there are three main reasons for voting Republican this year, and these reasons have been called the three issues of the campaign. These issues are jobs and economic system after the war, better presented and better preserved plans for peace, and "It's time for a change." Thomas Dewey, with his courage, vigor and youth, both in years and viewpoint, can easily step into the position as president. He went on to say that the various schemes of unemployment compensation of the present administration have taken initiative and individual enterprise away, and have set up in its place a paternalistic attitude.

There will be another Forum Tuesday when Ralph Elm of Topeka, Democratic candidate for Congress, will talk on "Why vote the Democratic ticket?"

Novelist To Speak At Next Assembly

At assembly Thursday at 10:00 a. m., Mrs. Willie Snow Ethridge, Prospect, Ky., will be the featured speaker.

Mrs. Ethridge is the Kentucky chairman of Russian War Relief; chairman of the Speakers Bureau of Kentucky for the National War Fund; a trustee of Wesleyan College and of Lincoln Institute, and a worker for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Ethridge also has four books to her credit: As I Live and Breathe; I'll Sing One Song, and This Little Pig Stayed Home. These three are of the biographical-informal essay type. Her fourth book, Muddled Yarn, is a novel.

Mark Ethridge, her husband, is publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal and the Louisville Times.

Laves Explains World Peace Plan

"A statement of the ideas for an International Peace Organization is all that is needed at present," Walter H. C. Laves told those attending the assembly Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Laves, now a member of the Bureau of the Budget in Washington, D. C., formerly worked with President Eisenhower there. He talked on "American Foreign Relations," explaining the recent Dunbarton-Oakes conference plan. He feels that the details can be worked out later, but right now the fundamental issues must be decided. The plan calls for an assembly of the peaceful nations which will have a security council, a secretariat, a coordinating body, a world court, and an economic and social council. It would have no army of its own to enforce its decisions, but rather the power to use the armies of the member countries.

He believes that the United States will have to be willing to compromise to the same extent that it expects other countries to if an international governing body is to succeed.

Richards Wounded

Donald P. Richards, I. J. '43, was reported wounded in France, Sept. 20, according to word received by his parents. He is now in a hospital in England.

Lieutenant Richards completed officers training at Ft. Benning, Ga., in April, 1944. He was sent overseas July 1.

Lieutenant Richards is a former editor of the Collegian. He is a member of Phi Kappa fraternity.

Good lighting generally aids defective eyes even more than it helps normal eyes.

Boys Glee Club . . .

Tryouts for Boys Glee Club will continue the rest of the week. Freshmen boys are particularly urged to tryout. Appointments may be made at the music department in the Auditorium.

Independents . . .

Independent students should make arrangements before November 1 to have their pictures taken for the class section of the Royal Purple announces Elizabeth Crandall, editor. After that date an additional charge will be made.

Each individual is responsible for obtaining his receipt at the publication's business office, Kedzie 105-D. This receipt will entitle him to have his picture taken at the Studio Royal at a time arranged for by himself at the studio.

Crowd Attends School Mixer

Approximately 500 students attended the all school mixer held in the gymnasium Saturday night. Music for dancing was furnished by recordings.

A variety show in the Auditorium preceded the dance. Master of ceremonies at the program was Prof. H. Miles Heberer of the speech department. The show opened with "boogie-woogie" selections played on the piano by Phyllis Fredrickson.

Harmonizing in barbershop quartet style were Charles Essinger, Ted Grimes, Gene Walters and Keith Inskip. They sang "There is a Tavern in the Town" and "He Found It."

A hula dance given by Mrs. Hugh Harlin was the final number. The program was under the direction of Betty Jean Yapp who represented the YWCA on the mixer committee.

KS Players Elect Bracken President

Over 100 Kansas State students attended the first meeting of the Kansas State Players, formerly the Manhattan Theatre, last week.

The constitution of the organization was read, followed by election of officers. Those elected are Craig Bracken, president; Pauline Flook, vice-president; Carol Halbower, secretary; Marion Hobbs, treasurer and business manager; Betty Caldwell, assistant secretary and business manager; Betty Carr, publicity manager.

Hoover Faculty Sponsor

E. G. Hoover, faculty sponsor and director for the group, outlined four projects on which the organization will work this year.

The first project is the production of "Porgy and Bess," the all negro Broadway hit which will be brought to the Kansas State campus November 20. Chairman of the executive committee for this project is Craig Bracken with Dean Tieman as his assistant.

Several Projects

The second project is to admit the Kansas State Players into the national dramatic fraternity, Pi Epsilon Delta. Betty Caldwell is chairman of the committee in charge with Betty Russell, Roxanne Mickey and Barbara Howe as her assistants.

The formation and production of one act plays, programs and variety acts for men's service groups is one of the important projects of the year. Chairman of this project is Pat Williams with assistants Betty Caldwell, Phyllis Fredrickson, Jeanette Putnam, Betty Russell, Pat Martin, Elaine Earhart, Barbara Dial, Pauline Flook, Bob Eschenburg, Craig Bracken and Shirley Frey.

The production of at least two plays during the school year is the fourth project.

Engineer Staff

At a meeting of the engineering students last week, Jene Wise was elected editor of The Engineer and Harold Cook was elected business manager. Other staff members include Marshall Walker, illustration manager, Charles Schwab, feature editor, and Don Ramson, circulation manager.

The Engineer will be published every other month for all engineering students. The first issue will be published the second week of November.

The Engineer is published entirely by students in the engineering department.

Home Ec Staff Meets

The School of Home Economics staff dinner was held in the cafeteria Wednesday evening. The staff will meet twice a month this year.

Fund Drive In Full Swing On Campus Now

The National War Fund-Campus Community Chest drive at K-State is progressing according to schedule. By working through existing campus organizations the Student Council hopes that every student, faculty member and worker will be contacted and that the contributions be 100 percent this week.

Two thermometers have been set up in Anderson Hall and are kept up-to-date on the relative progress in the race between the $1200 goal of the students and the faculty quota of $3300. By 5 p. m. Tuesday $70.25 had been turned in by student groups and $679.50 by the faculty members and campus workers.

Presidents Collect

Organization presidents are urged to turn in the money from their groups as soon as it is collected. David Neher, representing the Student Council, will receive the contributions at any time this afternoon or Friday afternoon between 4 and 5 p. m., or on Saturday morning from 9 to 12 a. m. in the office of Kenney L. Ford, Alumni secretary, in A116. More receipts or tags may be obtained at these times.

At least two groups, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Chi Omega sorority, are sponsoring the sale of war bonds by selling chances on a bond. The amount collected will be turned into the War Fund.

Includes Y Membership

YMCA and YWCA membership is included in any contribution of one dollar or more to the drive if the donor wishes it. Groups of YW members have been active in contacting both students in organized houses and those living in other rooming houses in the town. Anyone who contributed to the War Fund-Community Chest and wishes to join either association but who did not receive a membership card can obtain the card from the Y office.

'Porgy And Bess' Here November 20

"Porgy and Bess," George Gershwin and Dubose Heyward's well-known operetta will be presented at Kansas State November 20 by the Broadway cast headed by William Franklin and Etta Moten.

The performance is being sponsored by the newly organized Kansas State Players.

This Gershwin musical success has just completed five return engagements by popular demand on Broadway, and is now on its third nationwide tour.

Cheryl Crawford in association with John Wildberg is producer of the show which features the Eva Jessye Choir and Alexander Smallens conducting the symphonic orchestra.

Blevins To Meet

Vernelle Blevins, K-State YW member and regional co-chairman of the Student Christian Movement, was one of four students chosen to represent this region at the National Student Consultative Conference which is to be held December 27 to 30 in Ohio. The region includes New Mexico, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Utah.

Other students selected from this region are Anne Wellingsley and Bill Miller from the University of Nebraska and Franzina Jackson of Kansas University.

These selections were made at a meeting of the executive council of the Rocky Mountain region which Vernelle Blevins and Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YWCA secretary, attended in Topeka recently.

Headed by Vernelle Blevins and Dick Covington who is from Doane College, Crete, Nebraska, as co-chairmen of the meet, plans were formulated for the creation of six student-faculty commissions whose aim is to help youth meet future crises and to "learn by doing."

Independents . . .

An independent political meeting will be held in Recreation Center at 5 p. m. today. Amidst will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Calvin Lounge.

It's A Privilege . . .

The booth in Anderson Hall and organization presidents are offering Kansas State students and faculty members the opportunity of the year this week. There it is our privilege to give as much as we can to ease the suffering of the peoples of the war-torn countries of the world; to do our bit for those fighting for this very privilege of being able to give; and to help those in our own community who are less fortunate than ourselves.

By now, most of us have been contacted and we are acquainted with the technicalities and the purpose of the drive for funds now underway. With 100 percent participation as the aim, the Kansas United War Fund in conjunction with the Manhattan Community Chest drive is in full swing.

Eisenhower Comments

As President Milton Eisenhower in a radio talk Monday expressed it:

"Several million American young men are fighting on distant battle fronts, many are suffering in hospitals, and still others are living behind the barbed wire of prison camps in order that the American concept of freedom and democratic principles of living may be continued—now and in the future.

"Through contributions to the National War Fund, we on the home front have an opportunity to express our gratitude for these sacrifices. This war may seem long to you and me. Surely, then, it must seem like a lifetime to the men at the front. Giving now, for them, is the privilege rather than the obligation of every American.

Contributions Save Lives

"Our contributions are saving lives and are making lasting friends for America among the youth of China, Belgium, Holland, and Greece—and among the homeless families of London, too. Our gifts, offered in the spirit of brotherhood and common sacrifice, demonstrate in a practical manner the philosophy and spirit of a free democratic people.

"The National War Fund is carefully planned and supervised each year. We can therefore have confidence that our contributions are for worthy causes, and that our dollars are spent efficiently and effectively."

Only Drive This Year

This will be the only drive for funds throughout the year, except the annual Red Cross drive in March, so take the full advantage of this opportunity at once, if you haven't already done so. It is not only a gift, but also an investment in community well-being, in helping our own Allies, in international good-will and personal and national self-respect.

So make the largest contribution you can. Do it without grumbling or counting the cost of the personal pleasures that the money would buy. For remember it's a privilege and an opportunity that you cannot afford to let slip by. Give "till it hurts," and be grateful that you are able to do so.

Hemmer Killed

Word was received Saturday of the death of Dennis A. Hemmer, former K-State student, while on a bombing mission over Italy. The actual details of the incident are not available at this time. His home was in Bush-ton.

Hemmer, a transfer student from Fort Hays Teachers College, enrolled in engineering and architecture in September, 1940. In January, 1943, he changed his course from engineering to general science.

During his college life Hemmer was active in several organizations. He was a member of PAX, the Society of American Road Builders, the Society of American Engineers and also of the Alpha Kappa Lambda social fraternity. Hemmer withdrew from Kansas State in February, 1943 to enlist in the Air Corps.

Announce Recent Faculty Changes

Recent faculty changes as announced by the President's office and approved by the State Board of Regents include resignations, leaves and appointments. Several faculty members have been granted leaves for war-time work.

Prof. O. D. Hunt of the Department of Electrical Engineering, has been given a year's leave to do industrial work.

McCormick To Omaha

In war service employment with the Glen L. Martin-Nebraska Company of Omaha is Frank J. McCormick, associate professor in the Department of Applied Mechanics. Professor McCormick has been granted a leave of absence for the fiscal year 1944-45.

Dr. H. C. Fryer, associate professor of mathematics, is engaged in war-time industrial work for the fiscal year 1944-45 and has been granted a leave for this period.

Red Cross Work

A leave of absence for Miss Carolyn Wagner, instructor in the Department of Art, has been approved. Miss Wagner is working with the American Red Cross.

Miss Inez Alsop, associate professor of history and government, will be on sabbatical leave for the academic year 1944-45 to do graduate work at the University of Texas.

Dr. R. R. Snook has been promoted to acting head of the Department of Student Health during the leave of absence granted to Dr. M. W. Husband, head of the department.

Bechtel Resigns

The resignation of W. J. Caulfield, associate professor in the Department of Dairy Husbandry, effective August 31, 1944, has been announced. Dr. H. E. Bechtel, also associate professor in the dairy husbandry department, has resigned. Dr. George H. Wise has been appointed to succeed Dr. Bechtel.

The Board of Regents has accepted the resignation of W. Lowell Treaster, instructor and assistant extension editor in the Division of Extension and that of J. E. Anderson, instructor in the Department of Milling Industry.

Améel Returns

Dr. Donald Améel, assistant professor of zoology, has returned to the K-State campus after spending three months working for the Stream Control Commission, a part of the Conservation Department of Michigan.

Larval themotoids which develop from certain kinds of snails penetrate the human skin and cause lesions which are commonly called "swimmers' itch." The work which was carried on in northern Michigan, dealt with the possibility of eliminating these snails on the beaches.

Prix Plans Party

Prix held a luncheon meeting at the cafeteria on October 10. Publicity for the war fund drive was discussed, and it was decided to meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Plans were made to have a party the later part of this month for last year's members of Prix. The committee appointed for the party is under the chairmanship of Eunice Stoltenberg. Virginia Stoecker, Hope Watts, and Mary Louise Markley are the committee members.

Choose New Members

Student Council chose two new members at a meeting, October 2, in Thompson Hall. They are Maurine Pence, representative from the School of Arts and Science, and Charles Schwab from the School of Engineering. These members will sit on the governing body for the remainder of the school year.

Eisenhowers Here

Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and son, Lt. John Eisenhower, were guests of President and Mrs. Eisenhower last week-end. While here Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower attended the Kansas State-Missouri University football game.

Prof. F. W. Bell, animal husbandry, is in Oklahoma City this week. He is judging horses and mules at the Oklahoma State Fair.

Bus. Students . . .

Business students' picnic is tonight at Sunset Park. All students meet at 6 p. m. at the watertower near Sunset Cemetery.

Ens. Robert Ekblad (USNR) is expected home on a short visit in about two weeks. He received his commission last summer and is now stationed at Princeton University in New Jersey.

From the Naval Air Training Center at Corpus Christi, Texas, comes word that Clyde Quintin Murphy has been commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Naval aviators fly carrier-based or land-based planes in combat zones, or at Naval Air Stations at home and abroad. Whether in the Marine Corps or in the Navy, they wear the famous "Wings of Gold."

Ens. Robert Rathbone, Industrial Journalism graduate, has been visiting in Manhattan recently. Before coming to Manhattan, Ensign Rathbone arrived in Boston from sea duty.

Graduated from Officers' Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Ga., with a second lieutenant's commission is William Bradley Gerlach, 1944 graduate. Lieutenant Gerlach was inducted into the army May 28, 1943.

Capt. John R. Brock, a graduate of Kansas State in 1941, is now stationed at the AAF Overseas Replacement Depot at Kearns, Utah. Captain Brock was formerly stationed at the Army Air Field in Independence.

Testing Mica Sheets

Mica's special insulating qualities are mighty important in communications equipment. No equivalent exists, so war's huge demands caused a critical shortage.

Bell Telephone Laboratories' scientists were assigned the task of somehow finding more mica. They found it—in the very considerable amounts of raw mica which visual inspection had rejected. By developing electrical apparatus to test the two most important electrical properties, they increased the usable amount of mica by half and so stretched current supplies of mica to fill all military needs.

In many such ways the Bell System is serving the nation, constantly meeting the needs of our fighting forces for dependable communications.

Squad Goes To Michigan For Tilt With Spartans

Boxler, Harvey Suffering Knee Injuries, Bell Out For Remainder Of Season From MU Fracas; Faubion Starter At Quarterback

Seeking their first win of the current campaign, the Kansas State pigskinners tangle with the highly touted Michigan State gridders at East Lansing Saturday afternoon. This game will mark the third meeting of the two teams.

In 1933 the local boys fought the Spartans to 0-0 standstill, while in the last meeting the Spartans emerged victorious 32-0.

Wildcats Injured

The Wildcats will be hard hit by injuries in Saturday's game with Cowen, Boxler, and Harvey as doubtful starters and Bell definitely out for the season. Cowen, Boxler, and Harvey are all suffering from knee injuries while Bell is out with a complete dislocation of the elbow.

Michigan State Is Undeclared

In the opening game of the Michigan State campaign the Spartans downed the University of Scranton 40-12, and last week beat the University of Kentucky 2-0.

Starting Line-Up

Coach Ward Haylett is planning on starting a backfield consisting of Faubion, Webster, Smith, and Clary. In Saturday's game Faubion looked good and should cause the Spartans plenty of trouble before the day is over. Webster, Smith, and Clary have been showing up well this season and should really get in the Spartans' hair.

At ends Coach Haylett is starting Weatherby and Newell, while at the tackle positions Haury and King will probably start. Norby and Hardin will take over the guard positions, and Pollom will start at center.

Spartan Task Force

Leading the Spartan attack will be Bob Bruegger and Jack Breslin. Bruegger is a speed burner, and a break away runner. In the Scranton game Bruegger raced 63 yards for a touchdown through the entire Scranton team. Breslin is a passer deluxe. In the Kentucky game he completed four out of twelve passes for 118 yards. He is also a line plunger.

The boys from up Michigan way will have the locals outweighed a little better than twelve pounds per man. But despite the difference in weight Kansas State's rock-ribbed forward wall should give the Spartans plenty of worry and a run for their money.

Michigan State will operate from the Notre Dame "T" formation shifting into the box. Coach Charlie Bachman, Michigan State mentor, is a former coach at Kansas State who learned his football under Knute Rockne. Like the Wildcats, the Spartans have an all civilian team.

Probably starting lineup:

GYM SHORTS...

Although the major leagues' world series is completed and the St. Louis Cards have won another championship, the women's softball intramurals at K-State are just getting under way.

Representatives of the different houses met Monday night and planned the practice schedule of this week and next; the tournament starts October 23. Every girl who wants to play must practice two out of three times.

The houses and their representatives are: Joan Young, Pi Beta Phi; Florence Merriam, Alpha Delta Pi; Marie Rock, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Evelyn Wood, Arcadia; Beryl Wesshe, Chi Omega; Iantha Terrill, Clovia and Barbara Morris, Delta Delta Delta.

These girls decided that the "point" system of the past years would be discontinued because no plaques could be obtained. The names of the winning team will be placed on a chart in the gym, which will continue over a five-year period.

later when Max Riley, a sub halfback, fumbled for Missouri on the Tiger 17. Another Max, Quarterback Harvey, recovered for Kansas State, but the Wildcat threat was short-lived as Jack O'Connell of Missouri snared one of Harvey's forwards.

Bob King, right tackle, gave the Wildcats their third big chance a few minutes later when he pounced on a Tiger fumble on the Mizzou 18. A forward pass, Elmer Boxler to Dave Weatherby, end, put the pigskin on the Columbia team's five, but the Haylettmen could get no farther than the two yard line in four tries.

The power of the under-estimated Missouri team is shown in the statistics. The Tigers reeled off 370 1/2 yards for 15 first downs, while the Wildcats were held to 124 yards and two first downs.

Gants Of SVM To Visit Here

Miss Eleanor V. Gants who was the Danforth Foundation Graduate Fellow on campus last year will visit Kansas State Sunday and Monday as a regional traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. She will speak at the Congregational Church during Sunday morning's worship service, and will address Methodist students at 5 p. m. in Wesley Hall. At 6:30 p. m. she will be the speaker at a union meeting of several student religious groups at Kohler Hall of the Christian church.

Monday she will be in the YWCA Lounge for personal conference with any student interested in either home or foreign missionary work. Miss Gants' schedule still has a few openings for groups who are interested in talking with her. She will speak to the YWCA Cabinet Monday evening. Any student desiring a personal conference should contact the YWCA office.

The Student Volunteer Movement is an organization of the student Christian movements of North America in cooperation with the denominational boards of missions. Its primary purpose is the enlistment of missionaries. Miss Gants is a 1943 graduate of New Jersey College for Women where she majored in psychology. During the past summer she studied at the Temple University School of Theology. She is a candidate of the Methodist Board of Missions and plans to do student work in the Orient.

Politician Speaks At Second Y-Forum

At the second Y forum this year, Ralph Elm, Democratic candidate for representative, spoke to a group of college students, faculty members, and townspeople about his personal beliefs on many of the national and political questions of the day. Following his speech he answered questions presented to him by some of the members of the audience.

Arthur Peine, former professor in the history department at Kansas State and business man of Manhattan, will speak next Tuesday on "The Great Issues Behind the Campaign". This third forum meeting will be held at 4 p. m. in Recreational Center of Anderson hall.

12 Juniors Receive Cut Privileges

Twelve junior students who maintained a "B" grade average in the 16-week summer session are entitled to the privilege of optional class attendance this year, according to Miss Mary Kimball, registrar. The names of 29 juniors who earlier were granted this privilege were announced during the summer session.

The twelve listed by schools and home towns:

School of Arts and Sciences: Joe Lundholm Jr., Osage City.

School of Engineering and Architecture: Paul Sanders Giovagnoli, Girard.

School of Home Economics: Bonabelle May Bailey, Galva; and Theodora Ida Ellison, Kansas City, Mo.

School of Veterinary Medicine: August Russell Borgmann, and Garold Orlando Sigars, Manhattan; Myron Clair Krommings, Lennox, S. D.; Jacob Lawrence, Bronx, N. Y.; Isaac Levine, Willimantic, Conn.; James Nelson Shively, Moran; Joseph Simon, Duaneburg, N. Y.; and George Theodore Woods, Caney.

Atkeson In Salina

Prof. F. W. Atkeson, head of Department of Dairy Husbandry, is in Abilene attending the state Holstein sale.

Independents . . .

Jack Lawrence was elected president of the Independent Student Party Tuesday evening upon the resignation of Maurine Pence. Other officers elected were Soterea Maduros, vice president, and Carol Shields, treasurer. Betty Payne is the secretary.

Plans were begun for an independent pep rally which will be held soon. Also under discussion were preparations for class elections.

No Assembly . . .

The assembly scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning has been cancelled, so classes will be held as usual. It is hoped that Mrs. Willie Snow Ethridge, the scheduled speaker, will be able to come to the campus at a future date.

Gifts Amount To $353,000

An incomplete survey of the campus reveals that more than $353,000 has been made available to the College since July 1 by business and commercial firms and individual friends of the school in the form of gifts, endowments and grants. This money, much of which has been handled by the Kansas State College Endowment Association, is to be used for scholarships, financing research and campus improvements.

The largest gift received is $200,000 from the William Volker Charities Fund, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo., for the establishment of an Institute of American Citizenship. The endowment is for use over a five year period. The Institute will include resident instruction, adult extension and research. Another gift made only recently was the financing of an annual dinner for presidents of all campus organizations. This unusual donation has been made by Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo. The annual event will be known as the Anderson Dinner.

One hundred four scholarships, fellowships and graduate and research assistantships totaling approximately $13,300 annually, are available at Kansas State.

Contributions to the Kansas State College Endowment Association also include $35 from the Home Economics Advisory Committee of Labette County, $60 from the Grinter Heights Home Demonstration Unit of Wyandotte County for the residence hall fund, and $75 from an anonymous donor.

Quill Drive Opens

Quill Club, all-school creative writers' organization, announces that its membership contest is now open and will continue until November 7. Anyone who is interested in any kind of creative writing is urged to submit manuscripts before the closing date.

Material may include poetry, essays, short stories, sketches, radio scripts, research papers (if enough originality is shown), or any other type of writing.

Manuscripts are to be typed, double-spaced, and there are to be three copies (one original and two carbons). They should be signed with a pen-name and a sealed envelope must be attached that includes the contestant's pen-name, real name, and a list of submitted works. If prose is entered it should contain not less than 800 words and if poetry is submitted two or more poems is required. All manuscripts are to be mailed or given to Miss Ada Rice, faculty sponsor, at A227.

All contestants whose manuscripts are accepted by the membership committee will be asked to write a qualifying manuscript before being initiated into the club.

Membership Drive

Five hundred and fifty women have turned in their YWCA membership application blanks to date, according to Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YWCA secretary.

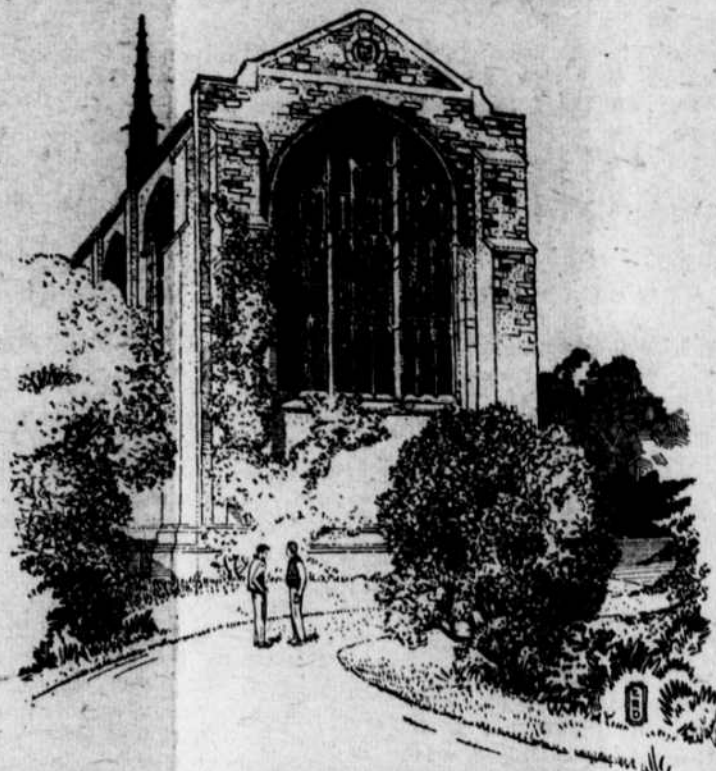

Any women who were missed during the Kansas United War Fund and the Manhattan Community Chest drive may still contribute their share in the YW office in Anderson hall. Mrs. Downey said. The War Fund receipts, as well as additional membership cards for the YW, can be obtained in that office.

Sigma Xi Elects

Sigma Xi, honorary scientific research fraternity, in a general business meeting Friday elected the following officers: president, Prof. C. H. Scholer; vice-president, Prof. H. N. Barham; treasurer, Prof. F. C. Gates; secretary, Prof. L. P. Reitz.

New members elected to the membership committee are Prof. G. A. Dean, Prof. J. C. Hyde, and Dean Eva McMillan; and executive committee members besides the cabinet are Prof. W. F. Pickett and Prof. A. D. Weber.

Kansas State's Chapel

$5,000 Goes To Chapel Fund

A gift of $5,000 for the chapel fund of the Kansas State College Endowment Association has been announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower. The donation was given in memory of the late A. L. Duckwall by his widow, Mrs. A. L. Duckwall Sr., and children, Miss Dorris Duckwall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brainard and Lt. and Mrs. A. L. Duckwall Jr. The Duckwall family home is in Abilene.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brainard were graduated from the College in 1930 with bachelor of science degrees in architecture. Lieutenant and Mrs. Duckwall were graduated in 1941, he with a B. S. in business administration and she with a bachelor of science degree in home economics. Miss Dorris Duckwall was a student at the College from 1925 to 1927. Mrs. Brainard is a director of the Kansas State College Alumni Association.

Lieutenant Duckwall is a bombardier-navigator on a B-26 stationed in France. His wife, the former Aileen Ozment, is making her home in Manhattan with her mother.

The late A. L. Duckwall, in whose memory the gift for the chapel was given, was the founder of the Duckwall stores, 38 of which are operating in Kansas and 5 in Colorado. He opened his first store in Abilene in 1901 with his wife as clerk and he as manager. In 1915 a corporation known as the Western Merchandise Company was formed with headquarters and general offices in Abilene. In addition to his pioneering as a Kansas merchant, Mr. Duckwall was known for his generosity in making private donations.

Negro Cast Plays In 'Porgy and Bess'

"Porgy and Bess", the immortal love story set to music by George Gershwin, will be presented by the all-Negro Broadway cast at Kansas State, November 20.

This well-known operetta is the saga of Catfish Row, Charleston, South Carolina, and concerns the tragic romance of the crippled Porgy for his fickle, but attractive, Bess. George Gershwin, famed American composer of "Rhapsody in Blue" and the Pulitzer prize play, "Of Thee I Sing", found in this moving story an ideal medium for his well-known melodies.

"I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'", "Summertime", "It Ain't Necessarily So", and "Bess, You Is My Woman Now", are just a few of the musical selections of "Porgy and Bess". William Franklin will play the leading role of Porgy, with Etta Moten opposite him as the fascinating Bess. Other members of the large cast include Edward Mathews, Georgette Harvey, the Eva Jessye Choir, and Alexander Smallens, the well-known conductor.

"Porgy and Bess" was produced by Cheryl Crawford in association with John Wildberg. The operetta will be brought to Kansas State under the sponsorship of the Kansas State Players.

Poetry Contest

The National Poetry Association is sponsoring a contest for poems and verses from college students, the best of which will be published in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

Each effort must be typed or written on one side of a single sheet, and must carry the statement "The verse entitled '.....' is my own personal effort." It must be signed with the student's name, college attended, and home address.

Send all poems to the National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 34, California, before November 5th.

Gamma Sigma Delta

Gamma Sigma Delta, honor agricultural society, seeks to encourage high standards of scholarship and worthy attainment in all branches of agricultural science.

Seniors elected to membership must be in the upper 15 percent of the class.

Organizations . . .

Organizations wanting to be represented in the 1945 Royal Purple should obtain their receipts in the business office, Kedzie 105-D, by November 1, announces Elizabeth Crandall, editor. Arrangements to have their picture taken by December 10 are then made by the organization with Floyd J. Hanna, college photographer, in Illustrations Hall.

Y Sister Parties Begin This Week

The 26 YWCA College Sister groups have scheduled their parties for the next three weeks, and some of them have already begun. Wilma Ward's group, with Mrs. Walter Ward as group mother, held the first party of the year Monday night. Polly Basket's group met Tuesday night with their group mother, Mrs. H. M. Stewart, and Billie Hazelton met her group that night with their group mother, Mrs. Hurst Majors.

Tomorrow night three more groups will have parties. Betty Larson and her group will meet with their group mother, Miss Jessie Machir; Marion Shields' group will meet with their group mother, Mrs. R. W. Conrad; and Marie Norman and her group will meet with their group mother, Miss Dorothy Barfoot.

Gladys Richardson's group, with Mrs. F. C. Fenton as group mother, and Arlene Shields' group, with Miss Margaret Hyde as group mother, will meet Sunday night.

Tuesday night Dorraine Dorf, Dorothy Alexander, Lois Meisner, Betty Jo McCaustland, and Patt Fairman will meet their groups with their respective group mothers, Mrs. L. E. Hudiburg, Mrs. Lawrence Norton, Mrs. E. L. Kistler, Mrs. M. J. Harbaugh, and Mrs. Lillian Fuller.

Consultant Speaks Here

Miss Vivian Drenckhahn, field consultant for the nutrition programs committee of the War Food Administration, Washington, D. C. met with members of the executive committee of the State Nutrition Committee Monday afternoon at Calvin Hall.

The meeting climaxed a week of visiting county committees by Miss Drenckhahn and Mrs. H. L. Ibsen, executive secretary of the state committee.

K-Staters Go Over The Top In Fund Drive

The mercury in the students' War Fund thermometer shot skyward last week as the $1200 goal was oversubscribed by more than 50 per cent.

Reports Tuesday noon were that $1919.37 had been contributed by the students. The faculty quota of $3300 was met early this week with a total of $3392 collected and ten offices were yet to report.

Express Appreciation

County War Fund Chairman George Montgomery expressed his appreciation to the students for being the first group in the county to meet the quota and for their generous giving to the fund. A. L. Pugsley, faculty advisor of the student drive, and Ethelinda Parrish, president of the Student Council, also stated that much credit was due to student organizations and their respective presidents for the effective solicitation of every student in school.

YWCA members contacted students not living in organized houses and the presidents of the various organized houses collected for the group.

Students this year gave almost $500 more than the civilian total of last year. It was estimated that last year the average amount given by each student was 75c, while last week's drive averaged better than $1.25 per student.

Groups and chairmen which worked on various phases of the War Fund drive were the sponsors, the Student Council; Mortar Board, in charge of booth in Anderson, Mary Alice Doll, chairman; Prix, publicity; Jean Kays and Dorothy Cochran; Home Economics Service Club, thermometer readings for faculty and student contributions as received, Betty Jo McCaustland.

Any late contributions should be taken to the alumni office as soon as possible.

Students Register For Coming Election

Registration for voting in the national, state and county elections November 7 began yesterday at the city hall, 114 North Third. It will continue until Friday, October 27.

Any student who is 21 and a resident of Kansas may vote if he has registered. If a student has already registered in his home town he can vote in Manhattan by obtaining an absentee ballot from any polling place.

College women housed in Van Zile Hall or college annex, number one are living outside Manhattan city limits. It will not be necessary for them to register. They will vote in the Strong School one mile north of the city on highway 13.

Purple Pepsters

Purple Pepsters, College pep organization, elected 11 independent and 8 sorority women as new members at a meeting held last week.

Purple Pepsters has a set quota of 48 members. The group consists of 3 girls from each sorority and an equal number of independents. The quota is filled each year.

Ula Dow Dinner

Residents of Ula Dow Cottage, home management house, will have a dessert dinner tonight.

Freshmen . . .

Election for freshmen class officers will be held next Thursday in Anderson Hall. A balloting booth will be open from 1 until 5 p. m.

'Nothing To Do' . . .

One of the most widely heard complaints from Kansas State students, and well founded too, is that there is "nothing to do" and no place to go except the movie, the movie, or the movie on week-ends when one feels the need of a little recreation.

Most of the student body does little dating during the week, and therefore feel that some entertainment should be provided beside the show on at least one of the week-end nights. It is even difficult to get a coke and sandwich after one has partaken of this sole form of amusement, for Aggieville drug stores are closed by 11 p. m., if not sooner, even on week-ends; the bus stops running to town, taxis are expensive, and private cars are more scarce than the proverbial "hen's teeth."

Town's Crowded Too

And although you are fortunate enough to get downtown, the chances are that you'll come home disappointed and hungry, for the downtown eating places, the one or two open, are usually jammed. Or at least it's fairly certain that they will be on Saturday nights.

While Kansas State, at least in our experience, has never been filled to the overflowing with week-end recreational opportunities, in years past seldom did a Friday or Saturday night go by without at least one school-approved or school-sponsored dance.

Bands Expensive But—

With this year's reduced enrollment, we realize that the Student Council cannot afford to import a band for a weekly varsity, but a record dance in the Avalon or Rec Center would be an acceptable substitute for all of us. These were held during the summer session at a lower admission than regular varsities, and were well attended until the heat made them impossible.

At least, it is our opinion that something should be tried. If they prove unsuccessful, if students do not cooperate with their attendance, then well and good, the idea can be abandoned.

Later Closing Time

To ease the eating and "coke" problem, perhaps additional help could be secured, or a contract could be signed with some Aggieville firm for a later week-end closing date.

We realize that school is a serious situation, that the days of idle College Jills and Joes and "Good-Time Charlies" are past, and good riddance, but we insist upon the truth of the old axiom, "all work and no play." For human nature being what it is, students will tear themselves away from their books once in awhile, and we insist that when they do, some place should be provided for them to go. Better it be College-sponsored and regulated.

And so we appeal to the powers that be, whoever they may be, probably the Student Council would be our best bet, that something be done to ease this situation. You are our chosen representatives, don't fail us.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Ed's Note: The response to the "Question Column" run in this space in the first issue of The Collegian was overwhelmingly in favor of some sort of a "gossip" or "dirt" column, so being brave souls, we've decided to try it again.

Greetings guys and ghouls, this is to introduce a new Collegian feature which we hope will take hold. That is, if someone doesn't take hold of us first. As you know, it's been over a year since anyone has had nerve enough to write a column of this refined type and we're wondering how long WE can last. (ED. note—Lloyds of London are offering 8 to 1 on three days.)

Enough of this trivial gumbating—after all where does it get us? In the end?

It seems the Chi Omega pledges locked the actives out of their rooms last week and refused them food and fags. This, of course, just isn't being done this year. The actives immediately established martial law by making the house mother commander-in-chief and the prexy general, and the pledges are now under strict military discipline.

It has been reported that the next night an unnamed fraternity attempted an invasion of Fort Chi Omega but were set back with severe losses. Could this mean that the Chi O's are repulsive, or should we say impulsive?

Gruesome reports have been received of the party at the Phi Delt house last week. Max Harvey, Phi Delt pledge who received a leg injury in the Missouri game, discovered a miraculous healing agent in time to be the life of the party. He claims his remedy will cure any ailment, especially snake bite.

"Shorty" Harold, TKE prexy, is now a connoisseur of fine lipstick after being the center of a smooch line at the Alpha Xi house last week. His fellow TKE's saw what an embarrassing situation he was in and they attempted to help him, but he beat them off three times before he was rescued. As you no doubt know the TKE's have been at war with the Alpha Xi's, but that night they got a negotiated peace.

The Journalism Department picnic held at Sunset Thursday was another splendid example of the extreme manpower shortage on the campus. The four male journalism students failed miserably as Casanovas and were forced to plod wearily home, as alone as a skunk with B. O. While this transpired, Fred "Sinatra" Parris, young unmarried journalism professor, reveled in the delightful company of over fifty frothing femmes. We think this boy—Parris bears close watching. Ah, Ah, Ah, girls, not too close.

Have you noticed that K-States convertibles have their radio aerial foxtails at half mast? They are mourning the loss of Big John "I just as well wreck the car, it ain't mine anyhow" Winters who is our most recent pedestrian. It seems that Wayne Schultz, owner of said car, left Monday for the rolling hills of Virginia (we didn't get her last name) leaving Big John sobbing into a pool of crank case oil. Now the girls are singing a different tune. Instead of "Why yes, John, I'd love to have a date with the convertible and you, they are singing "On your way, bum!"

Well, this is all for this time, but we'll be watching you, kiddies. Until next week we leave you with this parting thought: Girls who cut classes, better watch their—grades.

Lt. Ernest Darcy Doryland, B. A. '43, Manhattan, was among the armored infantry units riding through French towns recently. He said that he and other American boys will never forget the laughing, crying and praying French people who threw flowers before them and showered them with fruit and vegetables, and gave them wine. Nothing was too good for them. Darcy remarked that he had been in a "subterranean boudoir," or "foxhole to you," some time ago. He also sent some Nazi insignia from a "good" German.

Lieutenant Doryland is with an armored infantry unit and is in charge of a mortar platoon. Before going to France he had been special service officer for his battalion in England. Since arriving in France, he has been made a first lieutenant.

Lt. Everett G. Blood, G. S. '39, Garnett, who is serving near the front in Italy, was recently awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action by General Mark Clark. Lieutenant Blood was the first man in his group to receive such an award. He also was given a trip to Rome where he visited the Vatican City, and had an audience with the Pope, who presented him with a rosary and crucifix. He visited St. Peters and other points of interest in the city.

Wildcats Meet Oklahoma At Norman Saturday

Twenty-seven gridders representing the Purple and White of Kansas State will arrive in Norman, Oklahoma Saturday morning, for their annual tilt with the University of Oklahoma.

The Sooners boast a line-up featuring ten lettermen from last year's championship squad. So far this season the Oklahomans have dropped two encounters and emerged victorious in one. The Navy Zoomers downed the boys from Norman in the opening game of the season. However on the following Saturday the Sooners defeated Texas A & M. Last week the Sooners met defeat at the hands of the University of Texas.

Team Full Strength

All is not gloom on the Kansas State campus. The Wildcats will be at full strength for this game. Dale Cowan, veteran lineman, will return to the fold for this week's game. Cowan has been out with a leg injury. Ronnie Webster, fleetfooted back, will also be ready to go. Webster has been suffering with an ankle injury and a cut lip, but neither of these injuries is expected to keep him out of the game.

Despite the score of last week's game with Michigan State the locals looked extremely good. Dana Atkins, showed the boys from Michigan a thing or two about running when he averaged seven yards a try in eleven attempts for the best average of the afternoon.

Goal Line Fumble

The Wildcats gave away one touchdown when they fumbled on their own eight yard line. This fumble was accredited to Bill Faubion. Faubion however was on the Wildcat bench viewing the contest at the time.

Coach Ward Haylett is planning on starting much the same team that started against the Spartans last week, with the exception of Cowan who will start at right tackle.

Jack Newell and Dave Weatherby will start at the end positions, with Earl Haurly and Cowan at the tackle positions, Norby and Hardin at the guards, and Joe Pollom at center. Faubion will start at Quarter with Webster and Smith at the Halfs and Clary at Fullback.

Coach Dewey Luster, of Oklahoma, will start a backfield of Sparkman, Heard, Wright and Lebow. Lebow is the big noise of the Sooner attack. Lebow excels in line plunging and takes care of some of passing. Heard is a lightning back and a break away runner. Heard has been out of action quite a bit this season and is a doubtful starter. Dollarhide may start in Heards place. Dollarhide distinguished himself in the Texas game. Wright will take care of the fullback position while Sparkman will take over the blocking chores from his left half spot.

The local pigskinners will operate, as usual, from their modification of the T formation, while the Oklahomans will not be limiting themselves to any one formation. In the Texas A & M game, from which they emerged victorious, the Sooners used five different formations. The Sooner squad is bolstered with Navy Trainees.

KS 1st Score On Spartans

Kansas State Wildcats scored on Michigan State's Spartans for the first time in their three encounters, as the powerful and speedy Spartans maintained their undefeated record by overpowering a valiant K-State team 45 to 6.

Dana Atkins led the K-State attack by gaining 77 yards in 11 attempts. This was the most for any back on the field. Ronnie Webster, another fleet-footed K-State back, was playing some grand ball before a cut lip and loose tooth took him off the field. Webster also averaged seven yards per try which is good in any league.

purple warriors was acting captain, playing one of the best games of his entire college career. Russ Hardin, the other guard of the forward wall played a bang-up game also.

'Cats score in fourth

The Spartans struck early and shoved across two touchdowns in the first period. Michigan State scored two in each of the second and third periods and one in the fourth to run the score up to 45. The 'Cats lone marker came in the fourth period when Atkins set it up by skirting right end for 18 yards before he was forced out of bounds on the one yard line. On the next play Kansas State line up in a hurry and Michigan was offside. This gave the Wildcats a first down. Payton, in a quarterback sneak, went over on the next play.

Michigan State was big and powerful with lots of reserve strength. Coach Ward Haylett praised the Spartan fullback, Joe Breslin saying that he was one of the finest he had seen this year. Left tackle Dendrino for MS also did some fine kicking, booting to the end zone on nearly every attempt. Left half Bob Bruegger led the Spartan attack by scoring two touchdowns and rifling a pass 21 yards to end Frank Brogger to pave the way paving the way for another. The Kansas State coaching staff and players commended the Spartans on the fine way in which they were received and treated on their stay there.

Supply and Demand

When the demand for bus travel exceeds the supply, we recall an old American saying—"Tell the public the truth. You can depend on them to divide the supply fairly and without complaint."

Gas and tire rationing restrict us from giving you all of the service we would like to give. Manpower shortages have hit us as they have everyone else.

Bus travel is a weapon. Use it economically, as you conserve food, paper, rubber, gas, tires and tin.

When bus travel is not up to our usual high standards please remember we are carrying 2 1/2 times as many passengers as we normally do in peace times.

We, too, look forward to the day when you will not be called upon to ration your travel, and a new day of luxurious, scenic bus travel will dawn.

(When traveling, be sure to put identification stickers on your baggage. We supply them free.)

College Heads To Convention

Eight members of the College staff, including President Milton S. Eisenhower and five deans, are representing the College at the 58th annual convention of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities in Chicago, this week.

Those attending include Miss Margaret M. Justin, dean, School of Home Economics; L. E. Call, dean of the School of Agriculture and director of the Agricultural Experiment Station; R. A. Seaton, dean, School of Engineering and Architecture and director of the Engineering Experiment Station; Harry Umberger, dean and director, Division of College Extension; James E. Ackert, dean, Graduate School; Prof. Georgiana H. Smurthwaite, state home demonstration leader; and Prof. L. L. Longsdorf, extension editor. Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, head of the Department of Agronomy, is attending a meeting of the post-war planning committee of the association at this time but not any of the regular convention sessions.

Eisenhower On Program

The theme of the program which was planned by President Eisenhower, who is a member of the executive committee of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities and program chairman of the convention, is wartime services to the nation with major emphasis on the land-grant college in the post-war period. As one of the nine members of the executive committee President Eisenhower is participating in all discussions at the general sessions.

A glance at the program of the convention indicates the strong emphasis on adjustments for the post-war period. General session topics include a look ahead, business plans for post-war prosperity, American universities and the coming peace, integrated courses in a land-grant institution, liberalizing technical curricula, the general college in a land-grant institution and research foundations.

KSC Receives $100 For Welding Books

The James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation has donated $100 to Kansas State for the establishment of an arc welding library. The sum is being used to purchase books for the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation Arc Welding Library.

In 1936 the foundation was established to encourage and stimulate scientific interest in and scientific study, research and education in the development of the arc welding industry through the advancement in the knowledge of design and practical application of the arc welding process. Several programs to stimulate research and study of the entire welding industry have been conducted by the Foundation.

The foundation will have the privilege of adding to the library in the future new books on welding or its application. Books for the initial collection are being selected by Kansas State professors. Special book-plates showing an arc welder at work will be placed in each book.

Kansas State College is one of several universities, colleges and technical schools to which the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation has donated such a library.

Navy Assembly

A special Navy Day program is scheduled for the assembly to be held tomorrow at 11:00 a. m.

Fay N. Seaton, chairman of the Navy Day committee for this area, is planning to obtain a veteran Navy flier for the occasion.

Also, appropriate in connection with Navy Day, is the exhibition of reproductions of paintings of naval aviation subjects in Recreation Center.

Receive "Good Reading"

Prof. J. O. Faulkner, of the English department, has received copies of the eighth edition of "Good Reading," a booklet prepared by the committee on college reading of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Prof. Faulkner is editor of the booklet's section on Greek literature. "Good Reading," in its eighth edition, has had a circulation of 228,000 copies.

Success needs no alibis.

Gershwin's Hit On Campus

George Gershwin's nationwide musical hit, "Porgy and Bess," will appear at Kansas State for one performance on November 20. Having recently completed five successful return engagements on Broadway, this well-known operetta is now on its third nation wide tour.

This unusual record for "Porgy and Bess," began when it was first a novel, "Porgy" by DuBose Heyward in 1925. The book was so well received that, with the help of his wife, Dorothy, it was made into a drama. Sponsored by the Theater Guild, it completed its first major success in 1927.

George Gershwin became interested in this tragic romance of Porgy the Goatman for his beloved Bess, seeing in this saga of Catfish Row the ideal American folk-opera. He set it to music, and in 1933 it emerged as "Porgy and Bess" with lyrics by DuBose Heyward and Ira Gershwin. It was an artistic success with 168 performances to its credit.

"Porgy and Bess" wasn't presented again until 1941, but the music, made famous by George Gershwin, continued to be featured in records, musicals and on radio broadcasts. "Summertime," "There's a Boat Leaving for New York," and "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin'" are just a few of these well-known musical selections.

Under the producership of Cheryl Crawford in association with John Wildberg, "Porgy and Bess" was again brought before the public and in 1941 became an outstanding success on Broadway.

Highlights of the cast are Etta Moten as Bess, and William Franklin as Porgy. Sportin' Life will be portrayed by Avon Long, with Georgette Harvey as Marie, Warren Coleman as the undisputed killer, Crown, and with Alexander Smallens conducting.

Veterans Organize

The Veterans of World War II on the campus have organized a club for all discharged service men and their wives.

The executive committee members chosen at the first meeting are Victor Overholt, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Stuart, Mrs. Elmer Akers, H. O. Chris and Irwin Barrett.

Meetings are being held at the U. S. O. Center until a room on the campus can be obtained for them. Notices of the meetings will be posted so that all ex-service men, in the city and on the campus, may attend.

The veterans are classed in one of two programs, the Service Men's Training Program, known as the G. I. program, or the Vocational Rehabilitation Program. At present, there are 81 students enrolled on the campus under the G. I. program. Of these, the status of 36 students has not been determined. The Vocational Rehabilitation students total 37.

This program which was started in the spring of this year with two students increased during the first session of summer school to seven and during the second session to thirteen.

Home Ec Transfers

An "Information Please" program will be held for the Home Economics transfer students in Calvin 101 today at 4 p. m. The experts who will answer the girls' questions about the campus and its activities are Miss Helen Moore, Miss Eva McMillen, Miss Latzke, and Miss Lois Gilmore.

Sarah Dowdle Here

Mrs. John Dowdle, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Morris, was a visitor on the campus this week. She was formerly in the institutional management department here.

Mortar Board Meets

Mortar Board members decided to promote a "democracy in election" feeling throughout the campus for the coming year. At their meeting October 19.

Freshmen To Elect 4 Officers Today

Freshman students at Kansas State will open their political rivalry this week with the election of class officers. Greeks nominated their candidates at a meeting at the Delta Delta Delta house, Thursday, October 19. The Independent party selected their candidates Monday night at a rally and dance in Recreation Center.

The class election will be held today in Anderson Hall.

The Greek candidates who were chosen at the freshman panhellenic meeting are Joe Pollom, Phi Delta for president; JoAnn Scheu, Pi Beta Phi, for vice-president; Bob Beeler, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, for secretary; and Pat McCrary, Pi Beta Phi, for treasurer.

Independent candidates chosen are John Pallet, for president; James Coder, for vice-president; Mary Iliff, for secretary; and Grace Samuelson, for treasurer.

Pepster Pledges Put 'On The Spot' Today

Are they ghouls?—Are they gremlins?—No, they're gals!

"Impossible," you say. "How can those strange creatures roaming over the campus today be called girls?"

Those "out-of-this-world-looking-things" you are seeing this morning are Purple Pepster pledges, and those awe inspiring costumes they are wearing are a part of their initiation.

But the costumes are only a small part of the initiation. Gruesome as they may look these innocent pledges will be doing even more gruesome things tonight at 7 in front of the Palace Drug Store in Aggieville. It is then that they are put to the real test of their eligibility to be full-fledged Purple Pepster members.

All day today the well dressed pledge is wearing a white sweater and skirt, under which is a fetching pair of blue gym shorts. Her accessories are a high heeled shoe on the left foot and a boot on the right. From her ears are hanging earrings of the dangling variety, and from her neck hang signs telling her name, address and telephone number. Horn-rimmed glasses and bushel basket complete her accessories.

The pledges' choice of cosmetics cannot be called subtle, but you must admit it is striking. A paste made of flour and water is her powder with vivid spots of rouge to accent her appearance. The finishing touch is her hair style, 15 little pigtails tied with purple and white ribbons.

So don't run home to mama or dash to the doctor because you think you're having hallucinations. Just hold your breath and take another look. It will probably just be a Purple Pepster pledge staggering down the walk.

Pep Rally, Dance Tomorrow Night

"Beat Iowa" will be the spirit of the Purple Pepster rally to be held on Friday night.

The rally will begin in the College Auditorium at 8:30 with the Purple Pepsters and the cheerleaders leading yells and songs. A dance in the gym will follow the rally from 9 to 11.

Music will be furnished by a juke box—admission free to all students and service men with a date or stag. Purple Pepsters president, Pauline Flook, urges that all loyal K-Staters show their enthusiasm and attend the rally and dance.

Omicron Nu Hears Vail

Miss Gladys Vail was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of Omicron Nu last Tuesday night at the home of Miss Alpha Latzke, faculty sponsor. Miss Vail spoke on research work she has been conducting. Plans were made for the coming year and programs were arranged. Election of officers will be held soon.

Safety First . . .

The Faculty Council and the Student Council call attention of students to the fact that there is a College safety ruling which forbids students riding on the outside of motor cars or overcrowding the interior of cars to the extent that riding is made hazardous.

A Manhattan city ordinance also prohibits passengers from riding on the outside of cars.

Campus Groups Choose Homecoming Candidates

Student Council To Hold Election For Queen At Formal Ball Preceding KU-KS Game; Plans For Alumni Include Luncheon

A Homecoming Queen and two attendants will be chosen from the sixteen candidates recently selected. The queen and her attendants will be presented to spectators at the half of the 42nd annual football game between K. U. and Kansas State November 11.

Pfuetze Here November 12-17

Paul Pfuetze, professor of philosophy at the University of Connecticut and a K-State graduate of 1928, will speak here during the annual Religious Emphasis Week November 12 to 17. Sponsored on campus each year by the Kansas State Religious Federation, the purpose of the week is to help direct the attitude of students toward the development of Christian student philosophy.

This year's theme is "A Religious Faith for the Future." Professor Pfuetze will speak in assembly, participate in informal discussions and forums, talk to various classes and will be available for individual consultation.

Ministers of the local churches are being asked to participate by directing their Sunday services on November 12 toward the student aspect of religion. Detailed plans will be announced later, according to Jean Selby, president of the Religious Federation.

Committee chairmen for the week are Frances Ewart, publicity; Pat Fairman, promotional; Julia Munger, arrangements; Patty Smith, secretary to the speaker; and Dorothy Alexander, Dean Tiemann, Doris Galloway, Ruth Featon, Jean Hadley, Beth Froning, Maurine Pence, Mary Louise Schneider, Edith Willis, Annie Gardner and Homer Spiers.

Peine, Purkaple Speak At Y-Forums

Offering his opinions about "The Great Issues Behind the Campaign," Arthur Peine, business man and community leader in Manhattan, spoke to a group of students, faculty members and townspeople Tuesday afternoon at the third Y forum of the year.

Mr. Peine outlined some of the good and bad points of both major parties, and showed some of their vote-catching schemes. Followed his main speech he asked for questions from his audience and encouraged the open discussion which followed.

Tuesday, at 4 p. m. in Rec Center, W. R. Purkaple will speak in the fourth and final political forum in this series. Mr. Purkaple is a teacher of social science in the Manhattan high school, and will speak on the subject of "Political Effectiveness in Democracy."

Wampus Cats Meet

Wampus Cats, mens' pep organization, is being organized by Dr. H. H. Haymaker, faculty sponsor, Elwood Wedmond, Morley Cook, and Larry Neiman. It was decided at a meeting of this committee Monday night that each fraternity should be represented in the pep organization by three members and an equal number of independents be chosen. The men already selected as members of the Wampus Cats will meet tonight at the Alpha Gamma Rho house at 7:30.

The Wampus Cats will wear their purple sweaters Friday, and Saturday sit with the Purple Pepsters at the game.

Chinese Exhibits

Have you seen the interesting exhibits in Calvin Hall? There are several examples of Chinese garments among these. A pair of tiny slippers show how small the Chinese women used to bind their feet, while a more modern pair show that this custom has been disbanded. Two outer garments are shown which are companion pieces and probably were worn by a Chinese man and wife to a state affair. Many of the garments have symbols in the designs.

The royalty will be elected at the Homecoming Ball Friday, November 10. A ticket to the ball is equivalent to one vote for a candidate. After the candidates have been presented at intermission the Student Council will collect the ballots. The announcement of the identity of the Queen and her attendants will not be made until the half of the Homecoming game. Matt Betton's band is scheduled to play at the varsity.

The sixteen girls nominated for the title and the organizations which they represent are Ruth Holderson and Melba Norby of Van Zile Hall; Vera Peterson of College Annex I; Nora Mauk of College Annex II; Darlene Knauer and Georgine Blachoff of Amistad; Jean Reneau and Shirley Tinberg of Amicossembly; Betty Carr of Alpha Delta Pi; Caroline Myers of Alpha Xi Delta; Kathryn Ashbaugh of Chi Omega; Juanita Billington of Clovia; Nancy Bramwell of Delta Delta Delta; Helen Eiling of Kappa Delta; Miriam Hobbs of Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Martha Beckman of Pi Beta Phi. Photographs of these nominees will be in Anderson Hall and the College Canteen.

Another feature of Homecoming Day is the annual alumni luncheon Saturday noon at the College Cafeteria. The State Board of Regents, Gov. Andrew F. Schoepel, Chancellor and Mrs. Deane W. Malott and the Board of Directors of the Kansas University Alumni Association have been invited to attend. The "no speeches" custom will be observed again this year. Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, is in charge of the arrangements. He asks that every returning alumnus register in his office.

The athletics and industrial journalism and printing departments will be the hosts of Kansas newspaper editors at the game. The Kansas State Collegian will entertain them at a luncheon in Kedzie Hall that noon.

Teachers Appear In National Meet

Three Kansas State faculty women are appearing on the program of the American Dietetic Association meeting in Chicago this week.

Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, head of the Department of Institutional Management, who is national secretary and chairman of the membership committee of the organization, attended a meeting of the executive board Sunday. She will preside at a session of the school and college service group.

Dr. Martha Kramer of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition, will recount her experiences with diets in a Japanese concentration camp when she relates observations on "Chinese Diets in Peace and Wartime" before the group interested in food and nutrition problems in other countries.

Taking part in the professional education workshop is Mrs. Lucille Rust, professor of home economics education, reporting the results of a study of college courses in methods of teaching nutrition. Mrs. Rust is a member of two committees.

Dr. Martha Pittman, head of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition and president-elect of the Kansas Dietetic Association, is a member of the nominating committee. She and Miss Merna Miller, assistant professor in the Department of Institutional Management, also are attending the convention.

Alumni and faculty members from Kansas State attending the convention will have their annual luncheon tomorrow.

Degrees . . .

All students expecting to qualify for a degree any time during 1945 are requested to come to the Registrar's office, A 105, and make application for the degree.

'Better Safe' . . .

No matter how much fun it is to crowd a car beyond capacity and perch the overflow anywhere they can hang on the outside for a drive on a sunny afternoon or pungent fall evening, the fact remains that it's a dangerous sport.

The chance for serious accident, not excluding death for the merry-makers, is too great to be laughed off lightly. This, beyond the fact that it is against both College rules and Manhattan city law, is reason enough for people with the intelligence of Kansas State students to forsake this sport for something a little less dangerous.

It's been sometime since a serious accident of this sort has occurred on this campus, and our attention has been called to the fact that Kansas State students have become careless about this ruling.

Let's stop this sort of thing before someone gets hurt or lands in jail for violating a city ordinance. To make a long lecture short may we say, "a word to the wise should be sufficient."

Register Now . . .

We are sure every Kansas State student who is now 21 years of age, or will be by November 7 is eager to have his say about who will run his nation, state and county for the next several years, but he must remember that to vote he must first register.

For the majority of students voting on Election Day it will be the first ballot, and technicalities of eligibility are only hazy facts recalled from a high school civics course or perhaps college American Government. But these facts can be clarified and a ballot on November 7 can be assured by a trip to the City Hall, 114 North Third before 5 tomorrow afternoon.

No appeal to patriotism should be necessary, nor shall we expound on the privilege and duty of voting. Every college student of voting age should be fully aware of this responsibility to his government.

True, time is short, but there is still time to register for that all-important ballot-casting. Need we say more?

The Cat's M-E-O-W

So many people have been falsely accused of writing this column that I feel that I must reveal my true identity. You all know me as "the College Sport, Mr. Tennyson Golf."

Hal, "put me on tug-of-war team, coach, I'm the biggest jerk in town," Hogue amazed all when he traveled with the team to Norman for the O. U. game. Hogue is rumored to have been the CENTER of things. Yes, Hal is always on the move—constantly in and out of his iron lung.

We have a few words of wisdom for our male readers—remember girls can't keep secrets. Did you ever see a skirt that could hide anything?

As you know, in previous columns of this sort we have said little about the faculty. However, this time we cannot resist this "ole goat" story.

This goat, who shall remain nameless, was discovered by the Kappa houseboys at the Kappa picnic at Sunset last week. Before the evening closed Kappas, Chi Os, and Tri Deltas received visits from this illustrious beast who saturated their respective houses with a new perfume, "Eau de Goat." The perpetrators of this foul deed shall also remain anonymous, but the goat has one of the finest pan-hellenic spirits yet seen on the campus.

When the football team went to Michigan they got the bird, but they only managed to return with three feathers.

We knew it, we knew it, it had to happen. In keeping with the cigarette shortage several members of the weaker (and we use the term loosely) sex have been seen smoking Missouri Meerschaums—corn cob pipes to you. As specific examples we cite the Tri-Deltas and the women at Annex No. 2. We didn't exactly see them smoking but anyone who would care to "aroma" round the campus would need no further proof. They're smoking "Cow Durham" and that's no bull!

This brings this week's session to an end, but until this same time next week remember, "You've nothing to fear if you're in the clear."

5 Changes Made On College Faculty

Five faculty changes have been announced by the President's office. Several titles of positions have been changed.

The position formerly held by Robert G. White, assistant professor in agricultural engineering, resigned, in the Division of Extension has been changed to an instructorship. Walter E. Selby has been employed in the position effective October 29 to succeed Mr. White.

The associate professorship in the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, formerly held by Albert Horlings, on leave for Naval Service, has been changed temporarily to an instructorship and Fred M. Parrish has been employed temporarily in that position.

Wayne W. Willis has been employed temporarily with the title of instructor to succeed S. W. Decker, assistant professor in the Department of Horticulture, who is on leave of absence. The position was changed to an instructorship temporarily.

The instructorship in the Department of Child Welfare and Euthenics formerly held by Mrs. Lenore Kent, who has resigned, has been changed to an assistantship and Mrs. Margaret Jagger has been employed in that position.

Miss Marguerite E. Lofink has been employed as an instructor in education to succeed Miss Thelma Tincher, resigned.

Cosmopolitan Club

Officers for the Cosmopolitan Club for the coming year are: Leora Bentley, president; Virginia Slothower, vice-president; Una May Zane, secretary; Mary Hodson, assistant secretary; Margaret Sites, treasurer; Dora Lee Dauma, corresponding secretary and publicity chairman.

The local chapter is a member of the Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs in Universities and Colleges of America and is composed of foreign and American students, both men and women. Meetings are held every second and fourth Thursday of the month at 7:30 p. m.

SAVING AMERICA TIME AND EFFORT

TO DEVELOP AND USE ways and means for saving time and effort is a typical American trait. You see it among your classmates and you exhibit the same shrewdness when you send your packages, laundry and baggage, home and return, by Railway Express. The pick-up and delivery at your door, and the quick forwarding by fast trains, or by supersped Air Express planes, is a shipping service unique in American life. It has saved time and effort for generations of college students.

These nation-wide facilities are now being utilized to their utmost by the government, industry and the public. You can help Railway Express to carry its share of this war-time load by doing three simple things: Wrap your packages securely—address them clearly—express them early. "A shipment started right is half-way there."

Wildcats Get In Shape For Iowa State Battle

Civilian Wildcats Tangle With Iowa State Navy Trainees On Home Gridiron Saturday; Six K-State Men Suffering Injuries

Seeking revenge after last Saturday's game, the Kansas State pigskinners will be gunning for a victory over the highly favored Cyclones of Iowa State College Saturday when they take the field here at 2 o'clock.

In last year's affair the Cyclones emerged victorious after having dropped a 7-6 decision to the Wildcats the previous season. The Wildcat squad is hard hit by injuries. It is very doubtful whether or not Dave Weatherby, Harvey Haas, Bill Pritchard or Max Harvey will see any action. Kinnard and Bill Faubion are also on the injured list, however Faubion will probably see some action in Saturday's tussle.

Max Harvey

Forris Frick and Jack Newell will start at the end positions, while Earl Haury and Dale Cowen will start at the tackle positions, with Marvin Norby and Russ Hardin taking over the guard spots and Joe Pollock will start at center. Jim Ungles will get the starting call at the quarter and Bill Clary will take over at the fullback position. Dana Atkins or Ronnie Webster will start at left half and Jean Smith will start at right half.

The Purple and White clads will operate from their usual slight modification of the T formation. The local boys are really after victory and will be using every trick in the bag. The Haylett-mentored lads, by virtue of their versatile backfield will be able to take to the air or go by way of the ground from the starting whistle.

Cyclones Tied M. U.

Iowa State will go to the Green-sward in the role of the favorite by virtue of their undefeated status. The Cyclones started out the season with a lop-sided win over a comparatively weak and undermanned Gustavus Adolphus eleven and on the following Saturday they handed Doane College of Nebraska a one-sided defeat. Last Saturday the Cyclones ended in a 21-21 tie with the University of Missouri.

The fact is, the Iowans had to come from behind to tie Missouri in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter. The Cyclones ran roughshod over Kansas University to the tune of 25 to 0.

Iowa State Starting Line-up

Iowa State will operate from a T formation with a man in motion, and a single wing. Leading the Cyclone attack will be Merridith Warner from his fullback position. Warner is a runner and kicker deluxe. Also spearheading the Iowa attack will be Joe Noble from quarterback spot. Noble is a deadeye passer. With this combination of Warner and Noble the Cyclones also will be able to choose their routes.

Coach "Mike" Michalske, the Iowa mentor, is slated to start Wagner and Gallagher at ends, with Trommler and Shiflet at tackles, Preston and Fatharier at the guard positions and Riding at center. Howard and Krauss are slated for the halfback spots with Noble and Warner at quarterback and fullback respectively.

Wagner and Gallagher, touted pass snappers, played an important role in the Missouri tie.

Iowa, M. U. Tops in Big Six

Iowa State is at present tied for first place with the University of Missouri in the Big Six conference race, each team having one win and one tie.

The Kansas State College football team has had it rather tough in the last four games. Probably few teams in the nation, all civilian like K-State, have had four successive games with teams that boast of more navy trainees than the Wildcats have men.

Despite their all-civilian status the Wildcats are by no means licked. On the contrary the local boys should pocket a few victories before this season is brought to a close, and Iowa State may be the beginning of the victory streak.

Probable starting line-up:

K-State	Iowa State
Frick	LE
Haury	LT
Norby	LG
Pollock	RG
Hardin	RT
Cowen	RT
Newell	RE
Ungles	QB

K-State Loses To O. U., 68-0

By FRED M. PARRIS

When a speedy, experienced, and slightly peeved football club meets a green, untried squad, almost anything can happen—and it did at Norman, Oklahoma, Saturday afternoon. Final score, Oklahoma 68, Kansas State 0.

It was a 10-touchdown parade as the veteran Sooner crew, smarting from a 20-0 pasting from Texas the previous week, romped almost at will against Ward Haylett's first-year youngsters. But, it took the Oklahomans most of the first quarter to get started. With approximately three minutes of the first period remaining, Homer Sparkman sneaked over the goal line to complete a 28-yard Sooner touchdown drive. After that it was easy for Dewey Luster's southerners as they speeded around and past the Purple and White would-be tacklers.

It was a crippled Wildcat team that tried gamely, if not successfully, to stem an Oklahoma eleven which has the power to roll right on to the Big Six championship. In the first place, two first team ends, Dave Weatherby and Harvey Haas, didn't make the trip to Norman. Injuries kept them home. Then, soon after the opening kickoff, Bill (Doc) Faubion, quarterback and game captain, received a blow on the face and was removed from the game. That left the team with no regular for the quarterback position. Jay Payton, second string signal caller, had been called to his home in Emporia Friday, and Max Harvey, the only other experienced

It's a very social week in store in spite of five week's quizzes and the accompanying headaches.

Clovie's Emma Vawter and Lt. Marvin Garrett were married last Sunday in Oakley. Mrs. Garrett was a Junior in Home Ec and Art, and Lieutenant Garrett was a student at Kansas University before entering the Air Corps.

Alpha Deltas had chocolates Wednesday night from pledge, Rowena Fleming announcing her engagement to Paul Clark of Minneapolis.

Wearing the Pi Phi arrow since initiation Sunday are Emogene Sharpe, Vernelle Blevins, Rosemary Atzenweiler, and Doris Kloefler.

At Chi Omega's formal Recognition Dinner in honor of their new initiates, Margaret Truesdale was named the model pledge. Beth Jarvis and Louise Alexander were given awards for best pledge notebooks. Jacky Staley received the crested ring for the greatest scholarship improvement.

Van Zile Hall had chocolates Wednesday from Elizabeth Knostman announcing her engagement to Robert Doyle of Wamego. And on the same night five more pounds of candy from Priscilla Lunt telling of her engagement to Howard White, S 2/c stationed at Great Bend, Ore.

Roses at the Kappa Delta house told of the marriage of Marian Landgraf and Donald Weiman which took place this summer at Garden City.

Alpha Delta PIs had open house Monday night from 7 to 8 with the football team.

Clovie pledge officers are: Ruth Peddicord, president; and Margaret Richardson, secretary-treasurer.

Kappas are entertaining their dates Saturday night with a Hallowe'en party at the chapter house.

Presiding over Co-ed Court this fall are Mary Hodgson, president; Margaret Sites, vice-president; Virginia Stewart, secretary-treasurer; and JoAnn Holecsek, Amicossembly representative.

Sunday the Kappa Deltas were hostess to the alumnae chapter at the annual Founders' Day dinner.

Chi Os will have an hour dance tomorrow night for all fraternity men.

Alpha Delta PIs are to entertain dates tomorrow night with a Hallowe'en dance at the chapter house.

Kappa Sigs were guests of Kappa Delta at an hour dance last Thursday night.

Rita Anderson and Shirley Ann Freiemuth are leaving today to visit the Beta chapter of Clovia at the University of Minnesota in St. Paul.

Tonight the SAEs, Sigma Nus, and Phi Deltas will be the guests of Kappa Delta at an open house.

Hallowe'en will be the theme of a party at the Kappa Delta house Saturday night.

Tri Delt pledges and dates dined and danced at the chapter house Sunday night.

Newest pledge of Alpha Xi Delta is Charlotte Skogsberg who was formally pledged October 18.

Chocolates were passed at Theta Epsilon announcing the engagements of Margaurite Bare to George Schneider Jr.; Beth Froning to Lt. Richard Johnson of Walker Field; Laurel McLeod, '44, to Sgt. Vito Percival in New Guinea; and the engagement and marriage of Sally Jones, f. s., to Ernie Bishop of the Army Air Corps.

Alpha Xis are holding an hour dance Friday night at 7.

Tri Deltas held "Tuff Club" initiation Wednesday for the newly engaged girls.

Chocolates at Sigma Eta Chi last week announced the engagement of Margaret Beyer to Cpl. Melvin Ruff of the Army Air Corps. Corporal Ruff was formerly stationed on the campus and is now in Florida.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE, NOVEMBER 2, 1944

NUMBER 6

Announce Plans For Religious Emphasis Week

Mrs. Paul Pfuetze will be co-starred with Professor Pfuetze as leader of Kansas State's annual Religious Emphasis Week which is scheduled for November 12-17 this year, according to word received by the Rev. B. A. Rogers early this week. Details of the week's program have also been announced.

Professor Pfuetze, who is now professor of philosophy at the University of Connecticut and a graduate of Kansas State College in 1928, will make his first public appearance at the all-school assembly at 10 Tuesday morning, November 14. His topic will be the same as the theme of the week, "A Religious Faith for the Future."

Starts Sunday

Religious Emphasis Week will officially begin on Sunday, when the Manhattan ministers will cooperate in their morning worship services and the programs of the student groups of various churches will be geared to the theme of the week. On Monday night the organized houses will be hosts to local ministers and faculty men for dinner meetings and discussions.

Tuesday afternoon of Religious Emphasis Week at 4 there will be an open meeting of the YWCA in Recreation Center where Professor and Mrs. Pfuetze will speak on "Men and Women in the New World." A forum on "Christianity and Democracy" is planned for the same time Wednesday afternoon.

Informal Talks

Thursday at 4 p. m. those interested may participate in an informal discussion with the Pfuetzes. Professor Pfuetze will also talk to various classes during his visit here.

Inter-church women's and men's clubs will sponsor the Tuesday evening forum. President Eisenhower will preside at the Wednesday evening session when "Trends and Development in Recent Theological Thought" will be discussed. Faculty members, students and townspeople will be invited to participate. A ministers' and faculty dinner conference is being planned for Thursday night.

Ticket Sale For Operetta

Tickets for Gershwin's musical hit, "Porgy and Bess," will go on sale tomorrow afternoon, and may be secured at the Auditorium box office.

"Porgy and Bess" will be on the campus for only one performance, Monday night, November 20. This Broadway musical hit features William Franklin as Porgy and Etta Moten as his Bess, supported by a large all-negro cast. It is being produced by Chery Crawford in association with John Wildberg.

This operetta will not be a part of the Student Celebrity series. Admission is being charged, and the proceeds from it will be added to the budget allotted to dramatics. If the proceeds are large enough, they will be used to present a celebrity series on the campus. Last year, "Blossom Time" was presented, with the proceeds used to bring Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera star, to the campus as part of this series.

Mail orders for "Porgy and Bess" may be secured by writing to, "Porgy and Bess," College Post Office, Box 103. If a self addressed envelope is not enclosed, the tickets will be held at the box office.

Leadership Council

The first meeting of the Leadership Council of the YWCA will be held Monday evening, November 6, from 8:15 to 9 o'clock in room 101 in Calvin. The meeting will be for all upperclassmen and transfer students who are interested in this type of work. The first meeting will be directed towards getting acquainted and discussing aims of the group. Gladys Richardson is acting as sponsor of the group.

Cosmopolitan Club

Cosmopolitan Club will hold a closed business meeting tonight at 7:30 in Calvin 101.

Y-Dance . . .

The YMCA and YWCA will sponsor a dime dance in Recreation Center Saturday night from 8:30 to 11:30. Men and women are urged to come stag or drag.

Classes Elect Officers Today

Election of sophomore, junior and senior class officers will be held in Rec Center today. All members of these classes are eligible to vote.

Greek candidates were chosen at a meeting at the Chi Omega house, last week by the senior Panhellenic Council. The candidates are: sophomore class: Dick Dodderidge, Sigma Nu, president; Ruth Hodgson, Pi Beta Phi, vice-president; JoAnn Stoecker, Tri Delta, secretary; and Jan Putnam, Alpha Xi Delta, treasurer.

Candidates for the junior class offices are: Al Maxfield, TKE, president; Evelyn Schultz, Kappa Delta, vice-president; Ella Mae Stinson, Alpha Delta Pi, secretary; and Mary Ann Luhnnow, Kappa Kappa Gamma, treasurer.

Independent Candidates

The Independent party under the direction of Jack Lawrence, president, chose their candidates Tuesday at a meeting in Recreation Center. They are for the senior class: Arthur Roseberg, president; Arlene Shields, vice-president; Maurice Hull, treasurer; and Maurine Pence, secretary.

The candidates for the junior class are: Jean Kays, president; R. F. Baysinger, vice-president; Dorothy Cochran, treasurer; and David Neher, secretary.

DFC Awarded To Former Students

Two former Kansas State students have been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. Lt. Sanford K. Moats, f. s. '42, was awarded the DFC for exceptionally meritorious achievement and heroism in aerial flight. Lieutenant Moats, who has destroyed two enemy planes by himself and shared in the shooting down of a third, also has been decorated with the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. Lieutenant Moats flies the P51 Mustang "K" in an Eighth Fighter Command group.

Award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to First Lieutenant Laurel F. Loyd, f. s. '42, has been announced by Lieutenant General Doolittle, Commanding General Eighth Air Force. Lieutenant Loyd is a co-pilot of one of the AAF's giant B-24 Liberator bombers.

The citation accompanying the Distinguished Flying Cross states: "For extraordinary achievement, while serving with distinction as co-pilot of a B-24 airplane on numerous special operational missions over enemy occupied Europe. Lieutenant Loyd performed his duties with the utmost skill and his actions while engaged in combat with the enemy have been an example to his fellow crewmen. The courage, determination and exceptional skill displayed by Lieutenant Loyd contributed materially to the successful completion of each of these missions and reflect highest credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States." Lieutenant Loyd also holds the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

YW-YM Conference

The Kansas Fall Conference of all YWCA, YMCA, and SCA organizations of Kansas colleges will be held at Washburn University in Topeka, from November 10 to 12. Dorothy Cochran, Gwenda McIntosh, Marjorie Stewart, Phyllis Hickney, Roberta Townley, and Vernelle Blevins will be student representatives from Kansas State College, with Mrs. Dorothy Downey as the executive secretary from here. Any other students that want to attend this conference should see Mrs. Downey before November 8.

Help Wanted

Here's your opportunity to do something for all former K-Staters you know now in service. An issue of the Collegian to be printed around December 1 is to be sent as Christmas greetings from the College to all former students—graduates, undergraduates, AST or Air Corps.

But we have to have the addresses, and that's where you come in. Blanks like the one below will be made available to you in the very near future. Your first address may go on this one. Just clip and drop in the College P. O. Remember, just one address per card. Additional cards may be obtained at the Alumni office in Anderson Hall. Be sure that your friends, brothers, cousins, etc., receive this special issue. No matter where they are, the chances are they haven't forgotten Kansas State. Let's show them we haven't forgotten them!

Play Tryouts

"Claudia," a comedy in three acts by Rose Franken, has been selected as the production to be given at Kansas State, December 15 and 16.

Try-outs for the play will be held tonight, tomorrow, and Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 10 in the Auditorium. They will begin promptly at 7:30, according to Earl G. Hoover, associate professor of speech and play director. Those who can not make it then are urged to come anytime between these hours.

All students, including freshmen and members of the Kansas State Players, are eligible to try-out for parts in the play. Copies of "Claudia" may be had at the reference desk in the Library until 7 tonight.

Final try-outs for the play will be held Wednesday night in Education room 206. Those participating in this will be selected by Professor Hoover following the preliminary try-outs.

Independents Win

The Independent party walked off with the Freshman election last Thursday, by electing all their candidates for office. This is an unusual occurrence, as the offices are usually divided fairly evenly between the Greeks and the Independents.

The Freshman officers which were elected are John Pallet, president; James Coder, vice-president; Mary Iliff, secretary; and Grace Samuelson, treasurer.

Miss Ethelinda Parrish
College Post Office
COLLEGE

Dear Miss Parrish:

On behalf of the Riley County War Fund and the Manhattan Community Chest, I wish to extend sincere thanks to the students for their important part in making the recent campaign an outstanding success. In spite of the fact that they were the last to organize and that they were denied the privilege of contributing to the organization which had their closest interest in previous years, the students made the most outstanding accomplishments of any group in the entire county. They were the first to complete their drive and they over-subscribed their quota by a much larger margin than did any other group.

Will you please express to the officers of the Students' Governing Association the appreciation of the college committee of the Community Chest for the wonderfully fine spirit of cooperation among the students. Also, I wish to extend my personal thanks and appreciation to the presidents of the student organizations and to all others who had a part in making the student campaign such an outstanding success.

Sincerely yours,
George Montgomery
Riley County Chairman

Rural Workers Confer Here

Approximately 300 persons interested in the problems of rural Kansas are attending the annual conference of extension personnel at the College this week. One hundred three Kansas counties probably are represented at this conference in which the year's work is being planned.

A new feature of the week of program planning are sessions on "Know Your College." This part of the program is being handled by H. Miles Heberer, professor of speech, and Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the Department of Horticulture. It has been designed to acquaint and familiarize the College's extension workers with their home institution.

In addition to the regular working sessions of the conference, a tea, dinner, mixer, barbecue and other "extra-curricular" activities are planned for the week. Wives of county agents attending the conference will have a get-together. Epsilon Sigma Phi, honorary organization for extension workers, will have its business meeting, initiation and banquet.

President Milton S. Eisenhower addressed the group at the general session Tuesday morning. Dean Harry Umberger of the Division of College Extension spoke Wednesday. President Emeritus F. D. Farrell will be the speaker at the banquet tonight at the Methodist Church.

Other faculty members who are scheduled to speak at the various sessions are Professor Heberer, Professor Pickett, Prof. J. S. Hughes, Prof. H. E. Wichers, Prof. J. Harold Johnson, Assoc. Prof. C. R. Jaccard, Prof. A. D. Weber, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, Assoc. Prof. A. F. Turner, Prof. Georgiana H. Smurthwaite, Ass't. Prof. John Ferguson, Prof. L. C. Williams and Prof. L. L. Longsdorf.

Where To Vote

College students voting the absentee ballot at the general election Tuesday are requested to vote at Eugene Field School at Seventeenth and Leavenworth Streets. A. L. Hjort, city clerk, also requests that they vote as early as possible. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Absentee ballots are blank except for state and national candidates. Students will need to know the number of their home precinct and the names of their county candidates as they appear on the ballot because the correct names of the candidates will have to be written in.

Absentee voters will be permitted to vote if they have registered in their home county or if they live in a rural area not requiring registration.

Those who have registered here and are voting the Riley County ballot will vote at their local ward as indicated on their certificate of registration.

Reduced "Wilson" Rates

College students will be admitted to the motion picture "Wilson" at the Sosna Theatre tonight and tomorrow night at reduced rates if they have a special ticket signed by a college instructor.

SGA Sponsors Homecoming Ball, Queen

The Homecoming Queen and her two attendants who will be selected at the Homecoming Ball Friday night, November 10, will be escorted into the stadium the following day by the three men on the Student Council—Dick Olsen, David Neher and Charles Schwab. Dick Olsen, as vice-president of the Council, will introduce the speaker.

Arrangements for the Ball have been completed. Student Council members will sell a limited number of tickets, beginning today. Each ticket holder will be given a ballot to vote for his favorite candidate for Queen.

At intermission Ethelinda Parrish, president of the Student Council, will introduce the sixteen candidates for the title of Homecoming Queen that have been chosen by Greek and Independent groups. The ballots will be counted Saturday morning, but the outcome will not be announced until the half of the Homecoming game that afternoon.

The Varsity Club band composed of army personnel and civilians will play for the dance.

Norby Heads YMCA; Olsen Vice-President

Marvin Norby, freshman in the School of Veterinary Medicine from Pratt, was elected president Tuesday of the YMCA. He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Dick Olsen was elected as the first vice-president; Merle Eyestone and George Wreath were chosen as second and third vice-presidents, respectively. Ralph Fogleman was elected secretary.

The five students chosen as members of the board were Charles Jones, Bob Oberhelman, Arthur Roseberg, Charles Schwab, and Stanley Stewart. The faculty members of the board who were re-elected were M. F. Ahearn and J. H. Burt, and O. M. Rhine was the business man re-elected.

The officers who were elected Tuesday will hold office all this year.

The nominating committee for the election this year was under the chairmanship of Howard T. Hill, with Marvin Norby, Dick Olsen, Charles Schwab, and Emmett Scott serving on the committee. Jacob Lawrence was chairman of the election board, with Roger Hecht, Jim Hoover, John Noordsy, and Jim Shively as committee members.

Al Makins, '40

Killed In France

Capt. Al E. Makins, I. J. '40, was killed in action in France on September 29, according to word received by his wife, the former Mary Jean Grentner, I. J. '41.

In August Captain Makins headed a platoon which took 41 prisoners and captured a battery of 80 German mortars complete with ammunition and gun crews near Cannes, France.

Prominent in College student affairs, Makins was president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional organization for men in journalism; president of his senior class; a member of Blue Key, honorary fraternity for senior men; and an officer of Newman Club, organization for Catholic students. He was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Makins was editor of the all-American 1940 Royal Purple, College yearbook. In 1940 he edited the Kansas Day edition of the Topeka Daily Capital when the journalism students made their annual trip to Topeka.

Final Y Forum

Contending that the major issue of this election is the "matter of securing peace," W. R. Purkale, teacher of social science in the Manhattan high school, spoke to a group of students, faculty members, and townspeople Tuesday in the fourth and final political forum this year.

"Political maturity does start at home with John Q. Public," Mr. Purkale stated as he spoke on the subject of "Political Effectiveness in Democracy."

Vote Today . . .

The powers of organization and the superiority of numbers were clearly demonstrated in the freshman class election last Thursday. But it is our opinion that this total Independent student victory, although the majority of freshmen are unaffiliated with a Greek organization, is just as bad for the class as the sweeping Greek victories of former years.

It is evident that the majority of the voters are not voting for the candidate, but their ballot is marked on one issue alone, whether or not the nominee is Greek or "barb." This is not the American Way!

A two-party system has proved fairly successful in our national democracy, and thus student politicians have decreed that a two-party system is necessary in campus politics. Arbitrarily the party division was made on the Greek-Independent basis, which in our humble opinion is entirely wrong, though we suppose nothing will ever be done about it.

Organization Won

Outnumbered, fraternities secured class offices and places on the Student Council by high-powered organization, and thus this minority was fairly well represented, sometimes too much so. But this year it looks as though the Independents have organized pretty well too. Consequently, the Greek minority does not have much of a chance.

No one would want to live in a United States in which every office was held by a single party, be it the Democrats, Republicans or Socialists. We're fighting a war so that minorities may be represented, and yet in this supposedly citizenship-training institution apparently "might is right."

Only One Solution

There is only one workable and just solution to the problem at this time. That is for the class members to select their officers on the basis of qualification and character of the candidates as they know them, not according to their social affiliations.

We realize that many of the freshmen did not know the candidates of either party, and their voting a straight Greek or Independent ticket is understandable. But there will be no excuse for such voting at the upper class election today. By the time one is a sophomore or junior, and certainly a senior, one should know something about the candidates put up by both parties.

Therefore, upperclassmen, vote today for your class officers by all means, but we charge you to cast your ballot intelligently. Mark your ballot not according to whether or not the candidate is Greek or Independent, but whether or not he has the qualifications to represent the class at official functions.

Let's not be coy, kiddies, campus life is definitely on the upgrade. It was a long, hard pull fellows, but it was finally made via some of the following episodes.

In keeping with the current elections, ye old scribe has a ye old idea for two excellent nominees. Roxanne Mickey and Charlie Thayer are hereby nominated as public relations officers. Let's don't tell them though, for they don't know their relations were public. . . . Where? . . . When? . . . Oh yes, on the Tri-Delt west porch from 9 until 10:30 Sunday evening.

The Sig Alph—Phi Delt—Sigma Nu "Party" held Saturday night was the proverbial "Lulu"—as it were. And it were. Monday morning several "frat" boys were seen talking in circles . . . or was it walking in circles. Well, anyway they had circles under their eyes. Here is what they were talking about:

The aforementioned "frats" got together for a little talk (between swallows). But before you could say "Muhlebach" they decided to serene the surrounding sororities plus the girls of "Annex 2"—now known as "pledge hill" because it was rushed by the fellows. All the way up the hill the fellows imitated pack mules. Most of them were carrying a load. Once at the top the fellows joined hands and rendered—and I'm not kiddin'—several songs. Song masters Hogue and Olsen are to be congratulated on the way the voices blended. I would say the blend was about 3.2. They finished off each programme with a commercial by "Super Suds."

After several more rounds—or rather after making the rounds of the sororities, the boys were ready to go home (the police told them as they slipped on the "cuffs").

PARTY SIDELIGHTS

They now call Bob Linn "Siphon" because he drained everything in sight.

It is reported that the Phi Delt basement still smells like "Just the Kiss of the Hops."

As a summary we might call the whole thing a "root toot with a full snoot."

Nina (everybody can be engaged, look at me) Anderson seems to be doing all right. We hope this doesn't bother her fiancé Yelley (fiance—that's French for "I'm having fun, too")!

It seems the Chi O hayrack ride didn't live up to expectations. It was too crowded so they decided to take out all the hay and make more room—but that was the last straw.

The varsity went off very nicely this week. Everyone was just "carried away" by the music. One piece and they had to carry you away. Jake ($1.22) Mosier did all right for himself. He made plenty, brother. He says next time the Varsity will be even better. He is introducing a new innovation. At the next varsity we're going to have music.

Dick (Sunday, Monday, or Always off key) Dodderidge and Harvey (slap my bass and call me Groovey) Haas were recruited from Slim's. Recruited—I always heard Slim kept something on draft, but I didn't know it was musicians.

Well, this is the end of the trail for this time friends, you are still our friends, aren't you?

We'll see you next week and be watching ALL week so be careful—after all, we gotta write this drivel every week and you supply us with plenty, brother.

PS. John (I'll make the dirt column by hook or crook) Winters was heard complaining that he couldn't handle all his girls. Maybe he should have been born an octopus. He's got the face for it!

Ens. A. E. Armstrong, f. s. '42, recently completed training at Jacksonville, Fla. He will report to San Diego, Calif., for duty. Ensign Armstrong is a flying boat pilot.

A newspaper clipping brings us word about Lt. Norris (Tort) Holstrom, f. s. '40, former K-State basketball standout. Lieutenant Holstrom recently has been assigned to the air transport command in Cincinnati. He is with the ground unit of the Army Air Forces.

Second Lt. Donald A. Pepper, f. s. '42, has been sent to Columbia, S. C., for his next assignment. Lieutenant Pepper entered the Army in March, 1943, and was commissioned at Brooks Field, Texas.

Capt. Charles W. Rindom, f. s. '40, is the first officer to be stationed at the Pueblo, Colo., ordnance depot who has seen overseas service in the present war. Captain Rindom recently returned from one and a half years of active duty in the Mediterranean theatre, and has been named assistant operations officer in charge of maintenance at the Pueblo depot. Captain Rindom took part in the Italian campaign.

First Lt. Andrew C. Winter, f. s. '41, is back at his home base "somewhere in England" giving instrument checks to all pilots of his organization, after a trip home during which he visited his 15-month-old daughter, Andrea, for the first time. His new work consists of frequent trips to various other stations to work with pilots in other detachments of his squadron which is an active ferrying unit.

Charles Holtz, a second lieutenant in the infantry, has received a shrapnel wound, according to word received by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Holtz. Lieutenant Holtz was sent back to a hospital in England after an operation was performed in France. He was graduated from Kansas State in 1943 with a bachelor of science degree in Business Administration.

Lt. Everett Blood who was graduated in 1939, is in a hospital in Italy recovering from wounds received in combat near Regal Pass. Lieutenant Blood was awarded the Silver Star in September.

NEW RADIO RELAY LINK FOR TELEPHONE AND TELEVISION

Tiny radio waves, shorter than any used before in commercial telephony, will link New York and Boston in a new experimental "jump-jump" relay system for the transmission of telephone speech and television programs.

These waves travel in straight lines like beams of light. Because of the earth's curvature, the distance will be spanned in a series of straight-line jumps between transmitting and receiving stations about 30 miles apart.

The Bell System plans post-war improvements in ways like this, to extend its nation-wide service by providing more Long Distance telephone facilities for peacetime needs.

We're Speculating in the "little things"

Doesn't take much to keep a war minded American happy these days. He can get along with lots of changes if you'll reward him with ease in the little things.

Like shirts that fit and wear . . . and stay the same.

Ties that don't bunch up and slide off to one side.

It's the little things that increase this business a little every day.

Haylettmen Play Wichita There For Toss-up Result

Kansas State College's promising gridders tangle with the Wichita Wheatshockers again Saturday afternoon at Wichita in a battle that looms as a toss-up.

The Wildcats were denied a victory in an early season game with the Shockers, emerging with a 6 to 6 tie. After the brilliant showing against Iowa State the local pigskinners should be in top shape for this game.

So far this season the Shockers are undefeated in college competition. Their only loss was to Olathe Naval Air Base 13-0. They boast wins over Doane 14-13, Rockhurst 22-0 in an early season game and a 14-12 game two weeks ago.

According to reports from the Wichita campus the Shockers will field an improved team against the Wildcats. Wichita will have the local gridders outweighed five or six pounds per man. They will operate from a single wing with an unbalanced line for the greater part of the afternoon, changing at times to a short punt formation.

Coach Ward Haylett will start a speedy and deceptive squad against the Wichita eleven. The Purple and White clads have been brushing up on deceptive plays this week and should cause the Shockers plenty of worry before the afternoon is over.

Starting at the end positions for the locals will be Forris Frick and Jack Newell, with Earl Haury and Dale Cowan at tackle and Marvin Norby and Russ Hardin at the guard positions, and Joe Pollom at center. Jay Payton will start at quarterback, with either Dana Atkins or Ronnie Webster at left half and Jean Smith at right half and Bill Clary will take over the fullback spot.

Both Kansas State and Wichita will field almost the same team, man for man, as they did in the early season game. Wichita's offense is powerful but offers no deception whatsoever.

The Shockers have been saving Linwood Sexton for the K-State game. Last week in the Rockhurst fray the dusky Wichita ace only saw action when Rockhurst threatened the Shocker goal line. He is slated to lead the Wichita eleven from his left half position Saturday afternoon, having been the big gun of the Wichita attack all season.

The Wildcats will be out to stop Sexton and Company. If the locals show any of the zip of last Saturday's game the Wildcats will be doing a snake dance through Aggieville Saturday night.

Anything can happen with a combination of Payton, Atkins, Webster, Smith, Clary and Bill Faubion in the K-State backfield. Everything probably will. In these boys Coach Haylett has several combinations of passers, punters, broken field runners and line plungers. Deception, however, should be the keynote to the Staters attack.

War Bonds and an education both help secure the future.

Scoring—Iowa State: Touchdowns, Warner and Phelps. Conversion, Warner (2).

Although greatly outplayed by Kansas State, the Iowa State Cyclones snatched a 14 to 0 decision here Saturday before a crowd of 3,000. The Wildcat precision left fans with the assurance that K-State will come out of the conference cellar in the following two Big Six games.

High spots for Wildcat fans were Ronnie Webster's 73-yard kickoff return during the first period and the 70-yard backfield drive during the second. The Haylettmen beat against the Cyclone goal all afternoon, but passed up four scoring opportunities with less than ten yards to go.

The Cyclones scored in the first six minutes of play before the Purple and White clads had realized their own potentialities. Meredith Warner, 177-pound sailor, dashed 46 yards for the counter.

The edge was taken from Webster's 73-yard return of the kickoff to the Iowa's 17 when the 'Cats were thrown for an eight yard loss on the next two plays. Atkins ankleed a punt out of bounds on the Cyclone nine.

The prolonged backfield drive which scattered the IS wall was made in a succession of sixteen plays which took the K-State eleven from their own 15 to the I-State 15 stripe. Jay Payton, sub quarterback, flashed into the public's eye particularly during this smashing of the Michalskemen's resistance.

In the third quarter the enemy whipped from their own 20 to the Purple five on the strength of three throws by Gene Phelps. Joe Pollom's tackle which threw the Cyclones for a loss slowed their forward plunge sufficiently to destroy touchdown chances on the next plays.

The Wildcat hopes did not disappear until the last moments of the fourth period when an aerial attack put the sailors over to clinch the outcome and their conversion was good.

Thirty-five high school courses are offered by the home study department of Kansas State College.

Famous Bull Here

T/Royal Ruppert the 99th, two and a half year old international Hereford bull champion has entered the Kansas State College Veterinary Hospital and is undergoing treatment for "Infantilism."

Ruppert was recently purchased from Roy Turner of Sulfur, Okla., by the Gladacres farm of Dallas, Texas, for $38,000, the highest price ever recorded for a bull in the Hereford line, and the second highest price ever recorded in any breed.

Ruppert is the closest to perfection of the Hereford breed in this country. He has been in leading hospitals in two or three different states and has been treated by leading veterinarians, but to no avail. The bull is slated to be at K-State quite awhile

Recognize Members In Service Tuesday

One of the three most important meetings of the YWCA this semester, which is open to everyone, will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, in Recreation Center, when the annual recognition services will be given.

This worship program is held every year soon after the membership drive to recognize the new and old members of the organization, and to present the purpose of the club.

A piano solo by Dulcie Danielson will be the prelude of the program. Jane Fagerberg will sing "Calm As the Night" by Carl Bohm. "Fairrest Lord Jesus" will be sung in unison, and Roberta Townley, president of YWCA, will give a talk entitled, "Our Purpose."

"We Dedicate Ourselves" will be repeated by the members, followed by a xylophone solo by Virginia Linn. The recently widely publicized poem, "Prayer For a World at War," by Stephen Vincent Benet, will be given by Marjorie Stewart, and the group will sing "Lead On, O King Eternal." The meeting will be closed by the recessional played by Dulcie Danielson.

Home Ec Council

The Home Economics executive council will meet Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Arlene Shields will be in charge of the meeting.

Religious Week Starts Sunday; Pfuetzes Here

Religious Emphasis Week will be observed at Kansas State next week, beginning with Sunday's program. Two college assemblies, several forums, discussions and individual conferences with the two leaders have been scheduled.

The leaders are Paul E. Pfuetze, professor of philosophy at the University of Connecticut, and his wife, Mrs. Louise Gibson Pfuetze, who is a member of the national YWCA staff.

Grad Of '28

Professor Pfuetze was graduated from Kansas State in 1928, after making a brilliant college record. He was president of the College YMCA, president of his fraternity, active in dramatics, debate and other activities, and was the first Kansas State man accepted as a Rhodes scholar. Illness prevented his going to England in that position, however. He received his M. A. in 1939 from the Pacific School of Religion.

Studies At Yale

Mr. Pfuetze also attended the Graduate School of Religion at the University of Southern California, going East in 1940 to continue his studies at Yale. He is now a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, having his doctoral dissertation yet to complete. This is his third year of teaching philosophy and religion at Connecticut.

Locally Known

While here in school, from 1926 to 1928, Pfuetze was the Student assistant to the pastor of the Congregational Church. In 1932 he was married to Louise Gibson of Pasadena. In California and New England he has attended student gatherings in various capacities of leadership. Professor Pfuetze is a Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education. He is the son of E. C. Pfuetze, Manhattan utility commissioner, and a brother of Scott Pfuetze, Riley county probate judge.

Mrs. Pfuetze, too, has long been connected with student Christian work. Her present position on the staff of the national YWCA is working with USO Campus Services. She has also worked in various phases of the YWCA Student and Industrial programs, and is connected with the American Friends Service Committee.

Apportion Fees For Activities

The approximately $20,000 of student activity fees for the fall semester at Kansas State College has been divided among 10 campus activities for the academic school year by the College apportionment board. President Milton S. Eisenhower approved the allotments designated by Prof. H. W. Davis, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, Derold Jernigan, Osage City; Edith Willis and Ethelinda Parrish, chairman, both of Manhattan, apportionment board members.

Heading the list with the greatest amounts are athletics which received $9,600, and the Royal Purple, College yearbook, with $8,834. Other activities receiving allotments are band and orchestra, Student Governing Association, Kansas State Players, debate and oratory, home economics Hospitality Week, accounting and publicity.

The entire list of allotments:

Activity	Per centage	Estimated Amount
Athletics	48.00	$9,600.00*
Royal Purple	34.17	6,834.00
Band and Orchestra	2.00	400.00
S. G. A.	2.75	550.00
K-State Players	2.50	500.00
Collegian	5.73	1,146.00
Debate and Oratory	.75	150.00
Home Economics
Hospitality Week	1.35	270.00
Accounting	1.00	200.00
Publicity	.75	150.00
Total	100.00	$20,000.00

*Includes $1,000 advance authorized by President Eisenhower.

Tickets for the Homecoming Ball will be on sale in Anderson this afternoon and all day tomorrow. The remaining tickets will be sold at the door tomorrow night at the Avalon.

Will Star In Saturday's Celebration

All Greek candidates were elected at the sophomore, junior, and senior elections last Thursday in Rec Center. Voting was organized so that all three classes voted at a different booth and the campaigning was more obvious than it has been for several years.

Officers elected for the sophomore class are Dick Dodderidge, president; Ruth Hodgson, vice-president; JoAnn Stoecker, secretary; and Jan Putnam, treasurer.

Kansas Editors Lunch Guests Here

Invitations to attend Kansas Editors Day and the homecoming football game Saturday have been sent to nearly 500 Kansas editors and Press Women by the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing. The state editors and other journalists will gather in Manhattan as guests of the College journalism and athletics departments.

R. R. Lashbrook, head of the journalism department, said this year's program for the newspaper men and women will be an informal, "get-together" affair. The day's activities will get underway at 11 a. m. Saturday when the editors meet in the journalism building for a swap session. "At the swap session," Lashbrook said, "the newsmen and women may discuss topics of their own choice."

The Kansas State Collegian, student newspaper, will serve a free buffet luncheon at noon to the visiting press men and women. C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications, will be in charge of the luncheon. He will be assisted by journalism faculty members and students.

M. F. (Mike) Ahearn, athletics director, said each newspaper is entitled to two free tickets to the Wildcat-Jayhawk game starting at 2 p. m.

Javamarac Nov. 18

The annual Javamarac veterinary ball will be held November 18, at the Avalon Ballroom. About 160 couples are expected to attend.

In former years the veterinary students have had a dinner and dance. This year, because of wartime conditions, the dinner has been eliminated.

The ball will be sport this year. Music for the dance will be furnished by a local band. The Junior American Veterinary Medical Association sponsors this annual ball.

President Announces Approved Holidays

To All Students:

The Student Council has recommended that Homecoming Day, November 11, be a student holiday and, in the event of victory in the Homecoming football game, that Monday, November 13, also be a holiday. This recommendation has been approved by the Council of Deans. November 11 is Armistice Day, a legal holiday; hence our holiday observance should be a dual one.

I want to emphasize that all students should attend classes on November 13, in the event that our team is not the victor on Homecoming Day.

Day Thanksgiving

Many students have requested that the Thanksgiving holiday on November 23 be extended to include Friday and Saturday, November 24 and 25. The Council of Deans has not approved this request and I agree with the Council's decision. There are many reasons for this.

All Americans, in their earnest desire to bring the war to a successful conclusion at the earliest possible moment, are sticking to their jobs, working harder than ever before. We do not wish to be less earnest than others in this. Second, to make possible the trimester accelerated program, it has been necessary to give up many privileges which can be restored only when the war is over. To deduct even one and a half days from an accelerated program would seriously jeopardize course schedules. Third, some students are deferred solely for the purpose of completing their training and it would not be appropriate for them to violate the spirit of such deferment.

Cooperation Necessary

I am sure all students will understand and give wholehearted cooperation to the decision to limit the Thanksgiving holiday to November 23. A nation at war keeps its educational institutions functioning in the firm belief that education is vital to war itself and to the peace that is to follow. In return, students and faculty alike of every educational institution must keep faith with the people generally, all of whom are making great sacrifices toward a single, urgent goal.

Sincerely,
M. S. Eisenhower,
President

Jr. AVMA Auxiliary Meets

Members of the Junior AVMA Auxiliary held a wiener roast last Wednesday at their regular monthly meeting. The AVMA Auxiliary, an organization of wives of Veterinary students, is a combined business and social organization. The club has 50 members which is the largest recorded in the history of the club.

Moten, Franklin Lead Operetta Cast Nov. 20

Etta Moten, as the beloved Bess, and William Franklin, the devoted Porgy, are the leading stars in George Gershwin's immortal "Porgy and Bess" which will be given here November 20.

A star of both Broadway and the screen, Etta Moten has been with the operetta since almost the beginning of "Porgy's" career. Miss Moten received a part of her musical training at the University of Kansas under the directorship of D. M. Swarthout. Following, she starred in Broadway's "Fast and Furious," "Sugar Hill," and "Zombie" with Pauline Starke. In the movie, "Flying Down To Rio," she was the Caribbea girl.

William Franklin, a new member to the cast, was formerly featured as the vocalist with Earl Hines' and Eddie Cole's orchestras. A graduate of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, he made his debut in the concert field with the Chicago symphony and WGN Symphony Orchestras.

Franklin In 'Aida'

Mr. Franklin sang the leading role of Amonasro in "Aida" with the Chicago Opera Company. This was followed by "Swing Mikado" and the radio premiere of "Ballad For Americans."

In this tragic romance of Porgy, the goat-man, for the attractive but fickle Bess, Miss Moten and Mr. Franklin sing Gershwin's well-known "Woman To Lady," "I Loves You, Porgy," and the duet, "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

Saga of Catfish Row

"Porgy and Bess" is the saga of Catfish Row, Charleston, S. C., and is the story of the tragic romance between Porgy, the crippled negro beggar, and Bess. Avon Long plays the part of Sportin' Life, the whiskey and dope peddler, with Warren Coleman portraying the husky Crown who claims Bess as his woman.

Other members of the all-negro cast are Georgette Harvey who plays Maria, the shopkeeper. She is the only member of the original cast of "Porgy" (the play) who also appears in this production of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." Harriet Jackson, as Clara, sings the well-known lullaby, "Summertime."

Alexander Smallens, American Conductor, though a native of Russia, is the musical director. He has been leading the orchestra since "Porgy and Bess" was first produced. The Eva Jessye Choir adds their musical selections to the story.

Tickets On Sale

"Porgy and Bess" is being sponsored by the Kansas State Players, with Earl G. Hoover, assistant professor of speech, in charge. Tickets may be secured at the Auditorium box office from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily except Sunday. The box office will be opened following the homecoming game.

Students to Hear Valeur This A. M.

Students will hear Robert Valeur, head of the French Press and Information Service in New York, this morning in assembly at 9.

M. Valeur, representative of the French Provisional Government, was born in France in 1903. After taking his doctorate in laws at the University of Lyon, he came to the United States in 1936 with a Rockefeller scholarship.

In 1935, he organized in New York the French Information Center and when the war broke out in 1939, he was appointed representative in the United States of the French Ministry of Information.

M. Valeur played a part in the organization of the Inter-Allied Information Center now the United Nations Information Office of which he is associate secretary general. The French Press and Information Service which he heads is an agency of the French Committee of National Liberation.

Sigma Tau Elects

Election of officers was held at the last meeting of Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity. Everett May was elected president. Other officers elected were Robert Schrag, secretary and Chester Garman, treasurer.

Pep Dance . . .

There will be no classes Saturday morning but the Student Holiday Committee has planned a pep rally and dance in the Avalon from 10 until 12 that morning. If we win the game there will be a holiday Monday with a jam session in the afternoon and other activities are being planned. If we do not win the game students will attend classes on Monday.

Have Fun . . .

Saturday marks the third Homecoming of World War II, and on a thousand battlefronts former K-Staters will turn their thoughts toward Manhattan and the festivities here. Though they cannot be with us we will be thinking of them as we take part in the traditional activities.

Much thought and work has gone into the preparations, and the student body owes a vote of thanks to their representatives on the Student Council who took things in their own hands so that we may enjoy Homecoming "as usual."

It's Up To Us

It is now up to those of us who are fortunate enough to be on the campus to see that the whole affair goes over "in a big way." Though the number of returning alumni will be limited, spirit must still run high. The team deserves our full support, and a high-spirited crowd should be at the ball tomorrow night and the varsity Saturday night.

The Jayhawk-Wildcat battle is annually the state football classic for what the teams lack in skill they make up many times in plain spunk and fight. This clash falling on Homecoming the flame of the old feud is fanned even brighter. It's up to us to be backing our team in spite of weather or score, and from what we've seen at K-State football games so far this season, we're just the kids who can do it.

Here's How!

So here's to a "Happy Homecoming." Win or lose, we're bound to have a good time with school spirit high, and each of us a K-Stater through and through, no matter what the score. For those who cannot be with us, we give our pledge that we'll do as well as possible without them, and look forward to the day when they all "come marching home" to join in the celebration with us.

With everyone getting into the spirit of the thing with no reservations it's bound to be a great success. We'll be seeing you at all the festivities, then, and let it be known that though the crowd may be smaller than it has been in previous years, the Wildcat spirit is stronger than ever!

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Rah, Rah, Rah—Sizz Boom. Oh, er, excuse me, I was just celebrating the K-State Victory over the current "Shocker" team. After the game the Shockers took an aspirin and the Blue Moon took 30 K-State students. Blue Moon, that's the Avalon with music.

Harvey (Half-pint—that's all he could find) Haas was a Blue Moon visitor. He said the dancing was swell. Of course, it was a little crowded under those tables.

Also on the Wichita docket was a huge party thrown at the home of one Jene Wise of Wichita. It was thrown but not quite far enough.

Dale (Sinatra's got a punctured ear-drum, too) Cowan was in evidence at this formal brawl, or rather ball. We could have learned more but by the time yours truly arrived everyone had vanished. I knew I shouldn't have blown that siren as I pulled in the driveway.

During the course of the evening, three Cavalry Commandos entered on the scene. There was an exchange of blows. Then the officers ran out of breath. Jean Smith found himself competing with a lieutenant. Smith found that he was out ranked. In fact, this lieutenant was about the rankest he had ever seen.

Big John (Leave me alone, all I want to do is graduate) Winters has the coming months all planned. He intends to build a duck blind in back of the Canteen. Hah, any ducks Winters would shoot would have to be blind.

It seems Earl Hoover is having troubles with "Claudia." He has already chosen Pauline Flook as "Madame Dorischa" and for the part of

"Jerry Seymore," Joe Neidig has been cast. He should have been cast into the Kaw River. He's a big enough drip. Neidig is really an excellent actor though. He has wonderful stage actions. Personally with his actions it's the insanity stage.

Well, Halloween is over for another year but next year will bring out another bunch of spooks. "Bunch of spooks"—that's a TKE pledge class with pumpkins.

FLUSH!!! Who turned on the fire hydrant in front of the Beta house Tuesday???

During Panhellenic open house the Tri Delt was the only sorority in need of M. P.'s. Next week they plan to hold an Indian party. But, I'll bet it will turn out to be a Military "Reservation."

The officers all go to the Tri Delt house for their basic training. The obstacle course on the east porch is one of the toughest in this part of the country. Of course, a few of the stronger soldiers get away. The Army is putting out a new campaign ribbon for service seen at this house.

That's about the extent of our ramblings for this time. But we leave you with this parting thought: "Hic non bromo, doc mediatum—blub." Which, when freely translated, means—"If you haven't a 'rep' you ain't hep!"

Students Represent 33 States, 4 Countries

Thirty-three of the 48 states in the union, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and four foreign countries are represented by 1,519 students on the Kansas State College campus, according to Miss Mary Kimball, registrar.

Indicative of the stronger Pan-American relations which are being brought about between the United States and countries south of the border is the increase in the number of Latin-American students at Kansas State. Last year there was only one, a student from Uruguay. This year there is one from Colombia, one from Costa Rica, one from Panama and five from the island of Puerto Rico.

Missouri leads in the number of out-of-state students on the campus with 54 enrolled. Oklahoma is second with 15 students from that state. Nebraska and New York tie for third place with 13 each. Ten students are from Illinois, nine from California, eight from Texas, six from New Mexico and five each from Minnesota, Wisconsin and New Jersey. There are two Hawaiian students at the College.

All but five Kansas counties are represented at the College. Riley County in which the College is located, has 271 men and women attending Kansas State. Sedgwick is next with 51 students. Forty-three students are enrolled from Dickinson, while Wyandotte and Reno Counties have 37 students each. Shawnee County is close behind with 35 students attending the College.

Forty-one counties are represented by 10 or more students. The counties which are not represented in the College enrollment are Chautauque, Kearny, Morton, Seward and Stanton.

KSC Players To USO

A group of special numbers is being planned by the Kansas State Players for the service men's entertainment at the U. S. O. or at the Fort. These numbers will include musical numbers, either instrumental or vocal, as a solo or as a group. Other numbers may include dances, readings, and other individual or group numbers.

Any student who is interested in helping with this project is asked to contact Jeannette Putman immediately. Call by phone, 4413, or drop a card, box 297.

Pamphlets to YWCA

"Have You Met Yourself?", "Going Somewhere?", and "Shall I Marry Now?" are some of the titles of several pamphlets which have been sent to the YWCA office from the USO campus service division. These booklets and pamphlets are on display in the YWCA lounge, upstairs in Anderson hall.

Mrs. Louise G. Pfuetze, who is coming to the campus with her husband for Religious Emphasis Week, has written that this material is being made available to the national YWCA organizations, and if the request is made for more of such booklets, they will be sent here.

Bs. Students . . .

There will be a meeting of all Business Administration Students at 7:30 tonight in Illustrations to have a picture taken for the Royal Purple. At 8:00 the same group will meet in Recreation Center.

NOTE: Interviews with either Paul E. Pfuetze or Louise Gibson Pfuetze can be had by appointment only. Contact Mary Louise Schneider or the YWCA office.

GSO Frolic . . .

A "GSO Frolic" will be presented in Rec Center tonight at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Business Administration Students Association and the YMCA. The members of the cast are all from the Girls' Service Organization at the Manhattan USO, and have volunteered their talents for the four-act show. The public is invited.

$1,000 Gift Goes To Wheat Research

A check for $1,000 to be used in the breeding and testing of perennial wheat and drought-resistant wheat in Kansas has been presented to the College by the Uhlmann Grain Company of Kansas City. Announcement of the gift came from the office of President Milton S. Eisenhower.

The research in this field financed by the grain company will be under the direction of the Department of Agronomy with Dean L. E. Call, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, and Prof. L. P. Reitz in direct charge, and in consultation with Dr. John H. Parker, director of the Kansas Wheat Improvement Association, Manhattan.

In accepting the gift President Eisenhower said, "Very often it is through such far-sighted, unselfish, and generous action that real progress in worthwhile research is possible. We hope that as a result of this project, valuable progress in the production of drought-resistant wheat in Kansas may be achieved."

Art Department Shows Gifts In Anderson

Fascinating shoes, hats, figurines and statuettes from the four corners of the globe soon will be exhibited by the College art department on the second floor of Anderson Hall. Dan Casement, well-known Manhattanite, gave these and many other priceless curios to the art department from the collection made by his late mother-in-law, who was a world traveler.

Turkish, Korean, Japanese, Chinese and East Indian shoes will hold the attention of many interested spectators. The shoes, when they are exhibited, indicate the tastes of many peoples. The platform shoe from Korea disproves the concept that the American originated the platform shoe for his lady. Elaborate gold embroidery typifies the Turkish shoe. Japanese rain shoes are black wooden clogs that raise the wearer above flooded streets.

Straw hats from Manila for all occasions are in the collection. Intricate designs are carved in numerous figurines which were purchased in Manila and the Philippines. Many of these are of oxen carts and water buf-

College Officials To Teachers Meet

Four members of the College staff, including President Milton S. Eisenhower, took part in the Topeka section of the 81st annual session of the Kansas State Teachers Association Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Similar meetings went on in Wichita, Pittsburg, Salina, Hays and Garden City.

President Eisenhower made two addresses Saturday afternoon. His first was made at a meeting of college teachers and was titled "Education—A Look Ahead." Later in the afternoon he spoke before teachers of the intermediate grades on "When the Fighting Stops."

Mrs. Lucile Rust, professor of home economics education, reported to a home economics section on the new national home economics club organization. Mrs. Rust recently attended a meeting in Washington, D. C., of the executive committee of this new organization. She also was the official delegate of the College to the Topeka meeting.

In a session of the mathematics section on Saturday, Dean R. W. Babcock of the School of Arts and Sciences, led a panel discussion on mathematics in the rehabilitation program.

Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the Department of Economics and Sociology, discussed "Problems Ahead in Agriculture" at a vocational agriculture session Saturday morning.

Sell Army Material Left On Campus

Plans are underway to dispose of the materials and equipment left by the armed forces who were stationed on the campus during the past year and a half, according to R. A. Seaton, dean of the School of Engineering and Architecture and War Training representative for the College. Under the government contract, the College has the right to purchase any of the equipment it wishes.

Dean Seaton is in charge of the disposal program and is receiving bids from the different schools—home economics, veterinary medicine and others—for the tables, chairs, serving ovens, dish washer and kitchen equipment that were used in the Army mess hall.

Other equipment, such as built-in fixtures in the fraternity houses and light fixtures in the study halls used by the Army, may be purchased by the owners of the buildings.

At present the building formerly used as the Army mess hall is being used only to store the equipment. The building, previously the livestock judging pavilion and home of the Little American Royal, was remodeled more than a year ago to provide suitable facilities for feeding Army trainees. Converted into a dining hall, the pavilion with cement floors, added heating fixtures, plastered walls and the necessary equipment, seated 800 Army trainees at one time.

Now the building has been turned back to the College. No definite plans have been made for its future use.

There are some good Japs but let's not dig them up.

KANSAS U INVADES WILDCAT GRIDIRON

Purpleclads Set To Pluck Jayhawk's Feathers

By Dale Sorensen

Most important game of the year, the 1944 Homecoming looms as a tossup. The annual battle with the Kansas University Jayhawkers is one which prognosticators steer clear of, but the prospects look good for the Wildcats.

This is the forty-second anniversary of this gridiron battle and promises to be just that from the opening kickoff to the final gun. The 'Cats hope to bring back their famous razzle dazzle and make this homecoming a success.

Locals Beat Shockers

Back from Wichita where they pounded against the Wheatshocker goal all afternoon, raking in their first win of the season, the local pigskinners have been hard at work all week preparing to take their first conference triumph.

From Lawrence comes the information that Coach Henry Shenk has promised his Jayhawkers that their best football of the season will be none too good. The Oread mentor fears the running and passing attack of the fleet Wildcat backs. However he believes he has found a clicking combination that will bring him victory. Charley Moffett, halfback, and Leroy Robison, fullback, are slated to lead the Jayhawk attack.

KU Wins From Olathe

The boys from the Flaw in the Kaw slapped a 33-14 defeat on the Olathe Clippers last week. The defeat was heavier than expected after the loss of several Navy players.

Bob Mooney, newly found star from Mankato, will see plenty of action Saturday. He may be what Coach Ward Haylett is looking for to put spurs in the scoring attack. Ronnie Webster, shifty halfback, is in excellent condition and expected to reach top form Saturday, after being hampered by injuries all year. The whole squad is inspired and will turn loose Saturday to play the brand of ball of which they are capable.

Use T and Single Wing

The Purple and White clads will be operating from behind a T formation and single wing that reached its present season perfection last Saturday at Wichita, rolling up 271 yards from the line of scrimmage. Haylett will send at Kansas U. a bewildering assortment of aeriels, end runs and line bucks such as Kansas State Homecoming fans haven't seen in years.

Coach Haylett will probably start a team similar to the one which started against the Shockers. At the end positions will be Jack Newell and Forris Frick, Dale Cowan and Earl Haury will hold down the tackle births, Russ Hardin and Marvin Norby will be at guard positions. Joe Polom will be at center slot. Jay Payton will start at quarterback with Webster at left half, Jean Smith at right half, and Mooney in fullback spot.

Probable starting lineups are:

K-State	K. U.
Frick.....LE.....	Gregory
Haury.....LT.....	Wygle
Norby.....LG.....	Keller
Polom.....C.....	Hird
Hardin.....RG.....	Long
Cowan.....RT.....	Rouse

Payton.....QB.....	Weatherby
Webster.....LH.....	Sutherland
Smith.....RH.....	Moffett
Mooney.....FB.....	Robison

Basketball Team Begins Practice

Basketball practice is getting underway, Coach Fritz Knorr said this week, with from 12 to 20 men reporting for evening workouts.

"Night practices are not ideal," Knorr reported. "As the first game approaches it will be necessary for attendance to improve."

The schedule, larger than last year, has been expanded to include as many Army and Navy teams as possible to help them fill out their schedules. It was necessary to turn down several requests.

Only returning letterman will be Joe Ridgeway, veteran of the '42-'43 varsity and last year's ASTP quintet, which was coached by Knorr. The soldier aggregation, which proved to be one of the best in the locality, also gave some college competition experience to Bill Schultz, Dick Spencer, Ralph Stuesser and Gerald Goetsch.

Approximately twelve more men are expected to report with the end of football season. Men interested may still report.

Wildcats Cop Season's First Triumph, 15-0

There remains no doubt whether Kansas State or Wichita has the better football team. The Wildcats decided that problem in gridironology Saturday afternoon by convincingly defeating the outclassed Wheatshockers 15 to 0 at the Wichita homecoming.

It was Kansas State all the way as the Haylett-Socolofsky-Knorr team constantly threatened the Wichita goal line while a tough, scrappy Aggietown line thoroughly stopped all Shocker offensive ambitions. Only once did Coach Melvin Binford's eleven get into Kansas State territory and that was one minute before the first half ended. Trying desperately to score, the war-town footballers called on their star passer, Dick Ambler, who pitched them all the way to the K-State 13. There, the Haylettmen called a halt as Bill (Doc) Faubion batted down two touchdown-aimed passes and Russ Hardin, guard, spilled Ambler for a 17-yard loss on the Wildcat 30.

Mooney, Webster Score

Scoring honors for the day went to Bob Mooney, fullback, and Ronnie Webster, left halfback. Mooney, a Mankato 19-year-old subbing for Bill Clary at fullback, scored in the second period when he snared Jim Ungles' high-bouncing fumble and raced over the goal line from the Wichita six-yard stripe. Ungles had broken loose on the Shocker 18 and appeared touchdown bound when a jarring tackle knocked the ball out of his arms, down to the ground, and up again into the arms of the alert Mooney. Ungles and the Mankato fullback sparked the scoring drive which started on the Wildcat 48. A line plunge for extra point failed.

Webster scored the second tally on the first play of the fourth quarter. Cutting through the line on a perfectly-coordinated play, he raced 29 yards to score. Not a Wichita player touched the flying Wildcat who stiff-armed the Shocker safety on the five yard line. Webster placekicked for the extra point.

2 Safety Points

The Wildcats garnered their remaining two points on a fourth quarter safety as Ambler, trying to connect with last-minute passes, was smothered behind his own goal by a fast-charging line made up mostly of Wildcat second and third stringers.

Although they finally found a scoring punch, the Kansas Staters passed up at least three other scoring opportunities. In the second quarter, Ungles went on a 33-yard jaunt to the Shocker 15, but the Purple and White surrendered the ball four plays later on the Wichita 13. Later, end Dave Weatherby's third-quarter recovery of an opponent's fumble on the boom town's 42 enabled Webster, Mooney, Payton and Smith to take turns packing the ball to the 22-yard line where it was lost on downs. In the fourth frame, Jay Payton tossed a 10-yard pass to Webster who fancy-stepped his way 20 yards to enemy 12-yard line. The threat died on the 10.

Washburn Announces Basketball Intramurals

Entries for intramural basketball are due November 15, Professor L. P. Washburn, director, announced this week. Practice periods are being held between now and then from 4 to 6 o'clock. The schedule is to start November 20. Independent men are especially urged to form teams.

The fellow who says an education doesn't pay, doesn't have an education.

'Mum' Sale . . .

Mortar Board, honorary organization for senior women, will sponsor a "mum" sale at the Homecoming game Saturday. The flowers will be of various sizes and colors, and available in the grandstands all afternoon.

GYM SHORTS...

Through the effort of Dean Babcock and Mike Ahearn the girl's gym offices have been moved from downstairs, where they have been since Nichols was first occupied in 1911, to the first floor in rooms 101-102. The office they are now occupying was formerly the Military Science office.

The downstairs office has been made into a matron's office and the inner office has been made into a study room for the phys ed majors.

Softball games are coming to a climax this week with Alpha Delta Pi, Arcadia and the Tri Deltas playing off the finals for the championship of both sororities and independent houses.

Women entering round three of the tennis tournament so far are Lorene Smith, Beryl Wesche, Dorothy Alexander and Betty Hannah. Round two should be played off by the end of this week.

Intramural dancing entrants' names should be in by November 14. Practice hour for social dancers will be November 13 at 5 o'clock. This means everyone should get their dances ready as soon as possible.

The calendar for intramural dancing:

Nov. 15. Social Dance preliminaries.
Nov. 16. Folk Dance.
Nov. 20. Modern Dance.
Nov. 21. Social Dance finals.
Nov. 29. Tap Dance.

DEC. 1ST

You remember the law of physics that two objects cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Just so with war materials urgently needed at the fronts and personal packages. For that reason our Government has requested that all civilian Christmas packages be sent before Dec. 1st.

So we of Railway Express ask you to help us (and yourselves too) by doing these three simple things, in addition to shopping early:

1. Send your gifts before Dec. 1st. Laundry can keep to its regular schedule. When packages are ready to go, phone the Railway Express agent.
2. Wrap your packages carefully and securely.
3. Address them clearly, with your own and their recipient's name, street number, city and state.

Another Chance

Here's another chance for you to see that a former K-Stater you know receives the special issue of the Collegian bearing Christmas greetings from students and faculty.

Additional cards are now available in the Alumni office in Anderson. Remember, just one address per card of any former student, man or woman—graduate, undergraduate, AST or Air Corps.

The response so far has been very good, but we're sure the list is far from complete. Drop your addition in the College P. O. No address or envelope necessary.

Underground Pipes Heat KSC Buildings

If the steam pipes used in heating the College were laid end to end, students and faculty could travel on them from the Military Science Building to the Union Pacific station on the southeastern edge of Manhattan. All 9,000 feet of pipe, however, is enclosed in concrete tunnels, which form an intricate pattern beneath the surface of the campus.

Few persons are aware of the activity going on beneath the campus lawns and the cement walks. Steam is constantly surging through these pipes to heat the 31 buildings and greenhouses on the campus, or to provide steam for the laboratories and shops.

Steam is generated in the Heat and Power Plant, just west of the College Library. This building, built in 1928, is equipped with five boilers, one of which is now undergoing reconstruction. The boiler will be raised and the furnace volume enlarged. Prior to 1928, the heat and power system was operated from the Engineering building.

Although the main purpose of the plant is to generate heat, it also provides power for the electricity on the campus. This is done by the utilization of steam from the boilers. Passing into the turbines, large rotary engines, the steam is used to operate the electrical generating units. Enough pressure is left to force itself through the pipes to the different buildings where it is condensed and gives off heat. These pipes range in size from 2½ to 12 inches.

Another important use of the power plant is for producing process steam. After the pressure has been reduced, it goes directly into the pipe lines. It is used for all things requiring a high pressure, such as the cooking of food at the cafeteria, hot water units, machine shops and processing laboratories. Pipes used for this purpose are smaller, varying from three-twenty-fifths of an inch to five inches in size.

The unsung hero of the College is the "heat man." If the weather is not too cold, the janitors turn off the heat at the close of the school day. The heat man then makes the rounds between 2:30 and 5 in the morning to open the valves so the rooms will be warm for 8 o'clock classes. The heating in all buildings, except the Library which is operated by thermostatic control, must be regulated by hand.

The hustle and bustle of College life continues on the Kansas State campus with little thought given to the activity and work which is involved each time a light switch is flipped or a radiator valve turned.

Women's Panhellenic

Women's Panhellenic Council has organized for the year, and is holding regular meetings. The meetings take place at the different sorority houses on the second Thursday of each month. The following officers will preside this year: president, Eleanor Allison; vice-president, Jeanette Putnam; and secretary-treasurer, Ann Wesley.

There are 14 religious organizations for students on the Kansas State campus.

Elect Piffer Head Of YW Fellowship

Patty Piffer as president and Virginia Epp as vice-president will head the YWCA Freshman Fellowship this year. Election was held after the Recognition Service Tuesday afternoon in Rec Center.

The next meeting of the Fellowship will be held November 21 in Calvin, room 101.

Other officers elected were: Blythe Taylor, program chairman; Rowena Pippin, secretary; Ruth Maechten, publicity chairman; Beverly Hale, worship chairman; Lila Lou Johnston, social chairman; Georgine Bischoff, song leader; and Phyllis Jean Fredrickson, pianist.

YWCA Service

Soft music and candle-light set the mood for the recognition services held for new and old members of YWCA Tuesday afternoon in Recreation Center. Dulcie Danielson played the piano prelude, which was followed by a vocal solo by Jane Fagerberg. "Our Purpose" was given by the president of the YWCA, Roberta Townley. "We Dedicate Ourselves" was the responsive reading, led by Miss Townley, which was followed by a xylophone solo by Virginia Linn. Marjorie Stewart read Stephen Vincent Benet's "Prayer for a World at War," and Dulcie Daniels played the recessional.

Omicron Nu Elects

Newly elected officers of Omicron Nu are: Eunice Niblo, president; Patti Brainard, vice-president; Leora Bentley, secretary; Alice Beardsley, treasurer, nad Roberta Townley, editor.

This year's new members are: Alberta Stuewe, Margie Cederberg, Marjory Hawkins, Margaret Pfrang Latham, Helene Adams, Mary F. Briles, Mary Louise Schneider, and Mary Alice Doll. Initiation was held this week. Miss Alpha Latzke is faculty sponsor of this organization.

Nearly one million men have been rejected by the Army because they could neither read nor write, or could just barely do so, according to a disclosure of Senate Education and Labor Committee.

Although war has taken its toll as far as enrollment and graduation figures go, the College granted degrees to 418 persons during the 1943-44 school year, according to Miss Mary Kimball, registrar. Just prior to the war the College granted as many as 819 degrees in a single year, Miss Kimball points out. The return of veterans to the College campus is expected to boost both the enrollment and graduation figures to new all-time records during the next few years.

The School of Agriculture with only 17 men on its graduation list for the year has been most hard hit with students withdrawing to join the armed forces or to be frozen to farm jobs. On the other hand the School of Veterinary Medicine, whose enrollment is limited to 200 by order of the State Board of Regents, graduated 51 students, including two women, in comparison with a pre-war total of 61. The number of degrees granted by the School of Home Economics, made up entirely of women students, also has remained high. This year the school graduated 130 students compared to 197 in the school year 1940-41.

Ninety-seven were graduated during the year by the School of Arts and Sciences while the School of Engineering and Architecture was close behind with 95 graduates.

Before the war Kansas State had an enrollment ratio of about three to one in favor of men students. Graduation figures for the past year show a total of 204 degrees conferred on men and 214 on women.

In addition to bachelor of science and veterinary medicine degrees conferred, Kansas State conferred 25 master of science degrees, one doctor of philosophy degree and two honorary doctor of philosophy degrees.

Elect West Head At Dietetics Meet

Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, head of the Department of Institutional Management, was chosen president-elect of the American Dietetic Association at the annual meeting in Chicago last week. Mrs. West has been secretary of the national association and chairman of the membership committee of the organization during the past year. Mrs. Lucile Rust, professor of home economics education, was elected chairman of the committee for the course, methods of teaching for dietetics students.

A group interested in food and nutrition problems in other countries heard Dr. Martha Kramer of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition, speak on "Chinese Diets in Peace and Wartime."

Others who attended the convention from Kansas State College were Dr. Martha Pittman, head of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition, and Miss Merna Miller, assistant professor in the Department of Institutional Management.

Approximately 50 graduates and former students of Kansas State got together for an alumni luncheon October 27 in the LaSalle Hotel. Miss Sarah Anna Grimes, H. E. '36, had charge of the luncheon. She was assisted by Miss Virginia Monahan, H. E. '41. Mrs. West, Mrs. Rust, Dr. Kramer and Dr. Pittman gave short talks.

State Pays Fees Of 4-F Students

Any student enrolling at Kansas State College who is classified 4-F under selective service is eligible to have college fees and laboratory charges paid by the vocational rehabilitation division of the State Board for Vocational Education in Kansas.

This information was revealed in a letter to Dean R. A. Seaton, chairman of the veterans' training committee of the College, from A. S. Parr of the state board in Topeka.

Dean Seaton believes there are many students at the College eligible for this benefit. It is still possible for students now enrolled to receive refunds of all fees and laboratory charges already paid to the College this trimester if they apply to Mr. Parr promptly.

For out-of-state students, Dean Seaton suggests that they check with the vocational rehabilitation division of their State Boards for Vocational Education.

Mortar Board Meets

Mortar Board, honorary women's organization, met recently to discuss plans regarding the Scholarship Dinner, mums at Homecoming, the budget, future projects and the continuation of the "Know Your College" program.

Surprise Awaits Returning SAE, Sigma Nu Alums

Something has happened to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu fraternity houses of which their builders never dreamed. They look the same. The house of Sigma Nu is still standing at the top of the hill on Sunset Drive with all the dignity of a southern mansion, and the ultra-modern structure built by the SAE's can still be seen from the west side of the campus. But there have been some drastic changes made.

Just imagine that you are a Sigma Nu alum. You've been out of touch with the campus and your fraternity brothers since the start of the war. So now you've come back to K-State on an overseas furlough to see what's happening to the place.

You ride a city bus out to Sunset Drive, and from there you walk until you come to—ah, there it is, 519 Sunset. You climb the hill somewhat breathlessly and then tremulously ring the doorbell. From that minute on you are subjected to one surprise after another.

A girl, unmistakably a coed, comes to the door. "Well, well," you think, "new kind of maid service."

You cross the threshold and enter the living room. Your eyes bulge. What's this? Women and women all over the place. In a haze you muse to yourself, "Now this is a nice decorative touch. Wonder how the fellows worked it?"

Then a feminine voice breaks through your consciousness asking, "Is there someone you wished to see?"

You answer, a bit bewildered, "Why I was visiting on the campus and just thought I'd come out to the house. Aren't any of the fellows around right now?"

The coeds giggle and one replies, "Didn't you know this was a girls' house now? Boys haven't lived here for ages."

You blush and stumble blindly out the door. Choking with embarrassment, you mutter, "This is what they mean by having adjustments to make when we return from the wars."

Yapp Surveys Borer

Mr. R. G. Yapp, assistant entomologist of the Kansas Entomology Commission, is completing the third and final survey of the fall in order to determine the presence of the European corn-borer in the eastern tier of Kansas counties along the Missouri River. Early in the summer a larva and pupa of the borer were found which resulted in the surveys being made.

Dr. Snook Explains KSC Health Service

"We practice preventative medicine." This was the statement Dr. R. R. Snook, Director of the Student Health, emphasized concerning the Student Health Service.

Dr. Snook went on to say that students should be urged to report to the Student Health regardless of how serious an injury or illness seems to be and let the staff decide its seriousness. Catching a minor disorder in time may eliminate serious complications.

Department Handicapped

The Student Health Department has been handicapped this semester in regard to the Physical Entrance Examinations by a shortage of doctors, due to the war.

Dr. Snook pointed out that the dispensary is open at all times during and between class hours through the week. In case of illness after 5 p. m. on week days and noon on Saturdays the student may report to the College Hospital for medical attention. The hospital is located west of the College Library and south of Veterinary Hall.

Dispensary Service

Every student is entitled to the services of the dispensary at all times free of charge. If his illness is considered serious by the doctor he may spend three days in the hospital without charge and additional days at the rate of one dollar a day. Most of the services of the dispensary are free, however certain charges are necessary occasionally for the use of X-ray.

In conclusion Dr. Snook made it clear that the Student Health does not excuse students from class unless the student is under medical care at the dispensary or the hospital.

'Having A Wonderful Time'

Most social events of the week point toward Homecoming with plans underway for a big week-end.

Kappa Kappa Gammas went to Salina Saturday to attend the wedding of Jane Gebhart, f. s., to Lt. Bill Bradley. Lieutenant Bradley was a member of Delta Tau Delta at Colorado University.

Chocolates Sunday at the Clovia house announced the engagement of Dorothy Meyer, f. s., to Lt. Kenneth Barrett of Englewood, Colo.

Women of Annex Number 1 entertained dates Saturday night with a fall party.

Chi Omegas will have a jam session at the chapter house after the Homecoming game Saturday.

Alpha Chi Omegas from K. U. will be guests at the Alpha Xi Delta house for Homecoming.

Kappa Deltas will have an hour dance with the TKEs tonight from 7 to 8.

Alumni of Alpha Gamma Rho were guests of the chapter at the Wareham Hotel Sunday.

Kappas from Kansas University will be guests of the Kansas State chapter Homecoming week-end.

Clovia entertained alumni with a buffet supper Saturday night.

Alpha Xi Deltas will hold an hour dance for the Phi Deltas on Tuesday night from 7 to 8.

Kappa Deltas will entertain alumni and guests with a buffet supper Saturday night after the Homecoming game.

Week-end guests of the Alpha Gamma Rhos were alums Dr. Melvin Scoby of McPherson, and Dr. Harry Duckers of Kansas City.

Roses at Trimalai this week announced the marriage of Virginia Slothower to Pvt. G. Roulston Krietmeyer Sunday in Manhattan. Mrs. Krietmeyer is a senior in Home Ec, and Private Krietmeyer, a former member of the AST unit here, is now stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Phi Beta Kappa

The local association of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, is anxious to get acquainted with any other members on the College campus or in Manhattan. Dr. Edward J. Wimmer, professor of zoology, is president of the local chapter. Mrs. Reed F. Morse is vice-president, and Miss Anna Sturmer, associate professor of English, is secretary-treasurer.

Phi Beta Kappa members interested in joining the local group may send their names to Miss Sturmer.

Painting Exhibit

Contemporary American oil paintings are on exhibition in the gallery of the Department of Architecture this week. The 16 canvases which have been loaned by the Ferargil Galleries of New York are representative of the better known painters of the last generation such as Childe Hassam, A. B. Davies, J. Alden Weir and E. W. Redfield; and also of such contemporary painters as Thomas Hart Benton, John Steuart Curry, Lamar Dodd, Paul Sample and Phil Paradise.

The show includes very realistic work such as Luigi Lucioni's "Botticelli Print" to the more abstract paintings as typified by George Constant's "Girl Reading."

"For such a small number of canvases the show does give a good survey of contemporary painting," states Prof. John F. Helm Jr., of the architecture department. Labels and biographical material on the painters are included in the display.

Ag Barnwarmer

The annual Ag Barnwarmer has been scheduled for November 18 in Thompson Hall. The evening's entertainment will be climaxed by the crowning of the Barnwarmer queen. Her identity will be revealed that evening.

Candidates for the queen will be the two women students in the School of Agriculture. They are Ruth Wilson, Valley Center; and Lorene Smith, Topeka.

All men enrolled in agriculture will be required to wear overalls and the girls in the school will have to wear print dresses from the morning of November 17 through the Barnwarmer the following day.

Dancing with a few special numbers during the evening will complete the entertainment. Refreshments of soft drinks and doughnuts will be served.

Delta Delta Delta Presents Awards

Scholarships for women are being made available again this year by Delta Delta Delta, national social sorority. The awards will be made January 1, 1945, and the gifts will be sent at once to the applicants selected. Not more than $200 will be awarded on any one campus.

Applicants for the scholarships may be any junior or senior woman regardless of whether they are a member of Delta Delta Delta or not. Scholarships will be awarded to women of fine character, who will be useful in the war effort or may be valuable citizens in the post war reconstruction period, and who are in need of financial assistance because of economic dislocations resulting from the war.

Application blanks may be secured from Mrs. F. D. Coleman, 3050 Stratford, Lincoln 2, Nebraska. They must be returned to her for judging by December 1, 1944. The Delta Delta Delta Committee on Awards will judge the applicants.

K. S. C. Department Helps

A recent report released by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, U. S. D. K-Staters Celebrate Wildcats' Homecoming Victory

Carr Reigns At Homecoming Celebrations

For the first time in Kansas State history it was the privilege of a Homecoming Queen to present the K. U.—K-State Sportsmanship trophy to a K-State football team Saturday afternoon.

Betty Carr, Alpha Delta Pi in sophomore journalism and Homecoming Queen, presented the miniature goal posts to co-captains Earl Haury and Dale Cowan after the Wildcats had defeated Kansas University's football team for the first time since 1940.

Myers, Beckman Attend

Miss Carr and her two attendants, Martha Beckman, Pi Beta Phi, and Carolyn Myers, Alpha Xi Delta, were elected at the Homecoming Ball Friday night. They were introduced to a Homecoming crowd of approximately 7,500 at the half of the K. U.—K-State football game by President Milton Eisenhower, Dick Olson, vice-president of the Student Council, introduced President Eisenhower.

Approximately a thousand people danced to the music of the Varsity Club Band Friday night at the Homecoming Ball. This was under the sponsorship of the Student Council headed by Ethelinda Parrish and Dick Olson.

500 Alumni

On Saturday an estimated 500 alumni attended Homecoming festivities. The oldest alumnus registered was W. H. Sikes of Leonardville who was graduated from Kansas State in 1879. Alumni from Oklahoma, Louisiana, Michigan and Iowa, as well as Kansas were present.

Thirteen of the 15 members of the Board of Directors met Saturday morning. They decided to purchase commemorative china which will be sold to alumni and students. The china will depict campus scenes, but will not be available for a year.

Directors Meet

Board of Directors had a dinner Saturday evening at the Country Club. Those present included alumni, members of the legislature and other friends of the College. W. J. Ballard, president of the Board, acted as toastmaster and President Milton Eisenhower spoke on the legislative needs of the College.

The Department of Journalism entertained visiting editors and friends with a luncheon Saturday in Kedzie Hall. Approximately 100 Kansas newspapers were represented.

As a climax to Homecoming activities, Monday was declared a holiday because of the Wildcats' victory over the K. U. Jayhawks. All the Manhattan theaters were open in the morning, and a jam session was held in the Avalon Monday afternoon.

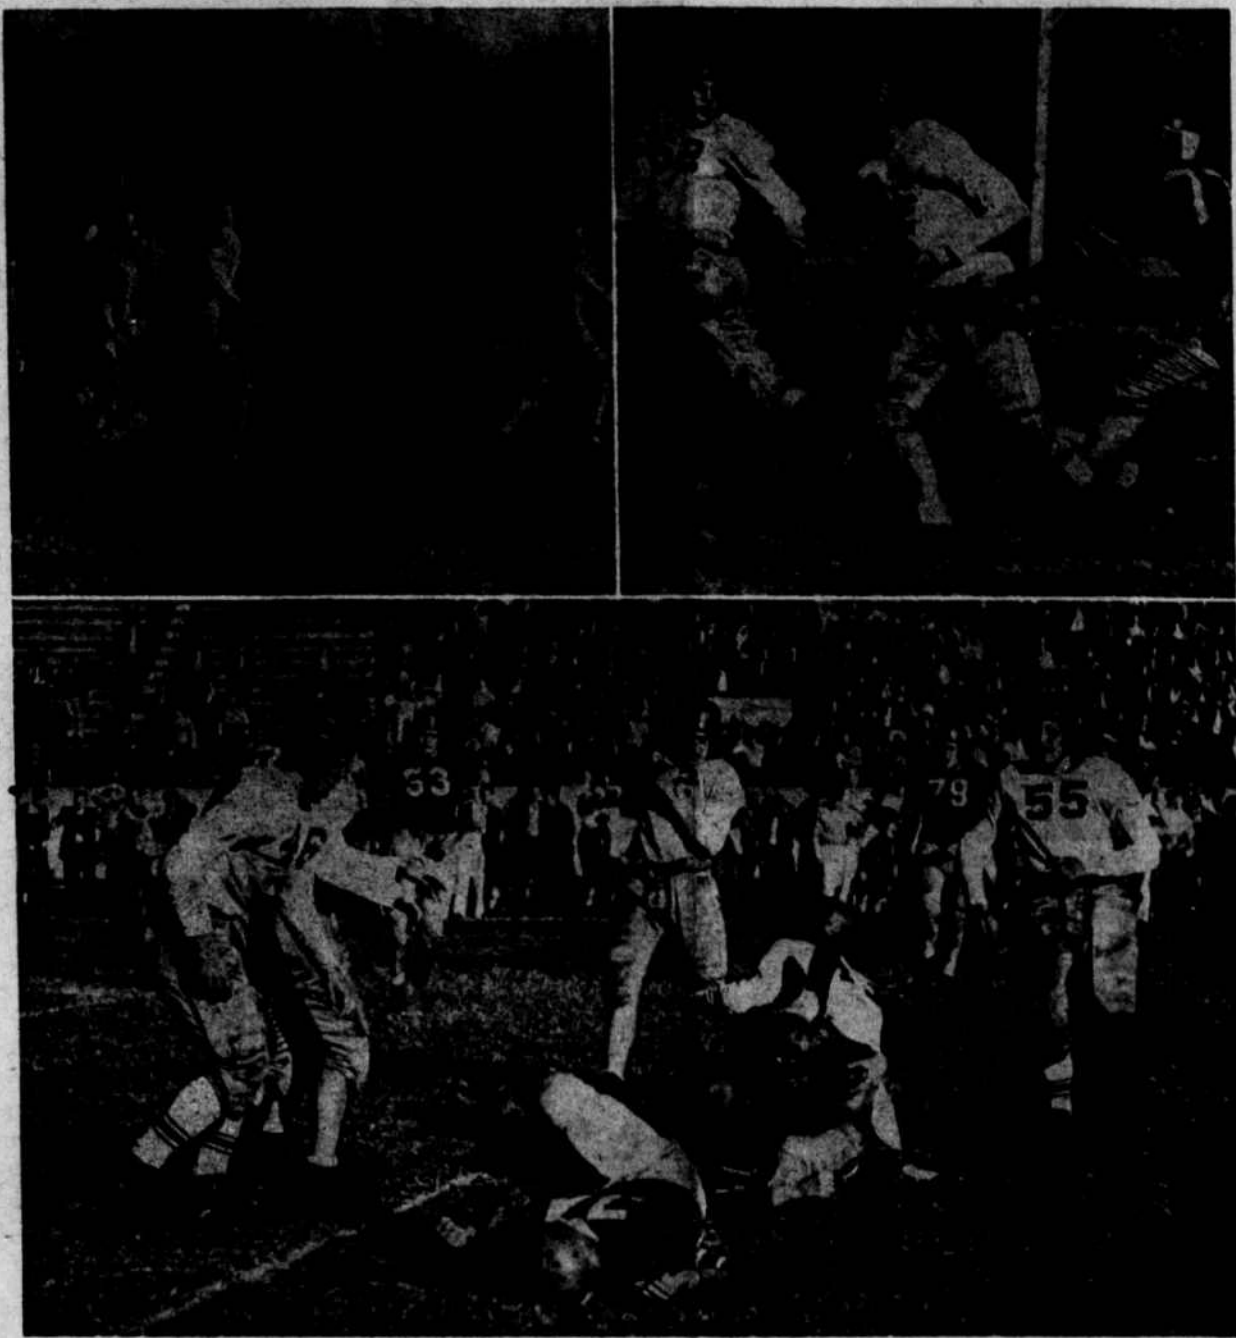

Parcel Christens Ship For 4-H Club

A Liberty ship went down the ways at a Houston, Texas, shipyard Monday after being christened the "S. S. Otis E. Hall" in memory of the first state club leader of Kansas. Miss Louise Parcel, Coldwater, president of the Collegiate 4-H Club at Kansas State College, christened the ship on behalf of Kansas 4-H Club members.

Mr. Hall was connected with the College from 1914 to 1920 as state club leader. In reality, he was the founder of the present 4-H Club program of the state.

Accompanying Miss Parcel on the Houston trip were Mrs. Harry Umberger, wife of the dean of the Division of College Extension and director of the College's Extension Service, and J. Harold Johnson, present state club leader. The Wichita Chamber of Commerce chartered a plane for the group.

In the early days switchboard operators were boys, replaced later by girls because "girls are steadier and do not drink beer," a history of the telephone industry states.

Upper left—Junction City's Dana Atkins heads for "home" with the Jayhawker pass he intercepted in the fourth quarter. Two K. U. pursuers, obscured by the Wildcats shown at the ball carrier's left, caught the steel halfback on the Kansas six yard line. Atkins' 84-yard run set up the Wildcats' winning touchdown.

Upper right—Lanky Dave Weatherby put a "death grip" on the football as he crossed K. U.'s goal-line for the Wildcats' first Big Six score of the season. The tall end caught a 20-yard flip from Jim Ungles and scored from the two yard line with Kansas' Charley Moffett hanging on for a free ride. Jack Newell, K-State end, runs in front of Weatherby just in case the "death grip" slips.

Below is a thrilling action picture taken of the now-famous "fifth quarter" play in Saturday's Wildcat-Jayhawk battle. K. U.'s Danneburg has just been slammed to the ground and four Wildcats are hanging around just to make sure the Jayhawk really has been plucked for the first time in four years.

Broadway Show 'Porgy and Bess' Here Monday

Monday night at 8:15 the curtain will rise on the Broadway production of Gershwin's famed "Porgy and Bess." Etta Moten and William Franklin star in the leading roles of this all-negro cast.

"Porgy and Bess," sponsored by Cheryl Crawford and John Wildberg, is being brought to the campus by the Kansas State Players, and will be here for one performance only.

This well-known operetta by George Gershwin and Du Bose Heyward is the story of Catfish Row, S. C. The plot is woven around Porgy, the goat man, and his love for the beautiful but sickle Bess. Complications arise when the husky Crown claims Bess as his woman.

The curtain goes up on a summer evening in Catfish Row. Once the home of aristocracy, it is now a dilapidated negro tenement on the waterfront of Charleston, S. C. The colored folks are gathered in front of their houses relaxing after the day's work. A crap game is in progress, and Clara, (Harriet Jackson) is singing her baby to sleep with the popular "Summertime."

The story of this romance between Porgy and Bess unfolds with other of the well-known Gershwin hits. "Leavin' Fo' de Promis' Lan'," "It Ain't Necessarily So," "I Loves You, Porgy," and "Bess, You Is My Woman Now" are just a few of these.

Etta Moten plays the part of the fascinating Bess, with William Franklin as the crippled Porgy. Other members of the cast include Georgette Harvey as Maria, the shopkeeper; Avon Long, the dope peddler, Sportin' Life; Warren Coleman as the Crown that claims Bess as his woman, and many more. The cast is supported by the Eva Jessye choir with Alexander Smallens directing.

Proficiency . . .

All juniors and seniors in the School of Arts and Sciences who do not have credit in English Proficiency and who are assigned to it this semester should report to Dean Babcock's office this week. They will be assigned a number which will be used in taking the examination, and will be given an instruction sheet. November 28 is the date set for the examination.

Assembly Tuesday Features Pianist

A concert by Hazel Griggs, well-known American pianist, has been scheduled for the Thanksgiving Assembly November 21 at 2 p. m. in the College Auditorium. The assembly is being sponsored by the YWCA.

Miss Griggs, who has played concerts on the Kansas State campus before, is a native of Dallas, Texas. She won a scholarship to the Cincinnati Conservatory. This was followed by several years in Chicago at the American conservatory with Josephine Lheyenne, a two-year scholarship at the David Mannes School of New York, under Bertha Bert, and the Walter Scott Foundation Award for study in Paris at the Ecole Normale with Alfred Cortot. Miss Griggs also has worked with such master pianists as Marguerite Liszewska, Bruce Simonds and Egon Petri.

Miss Griggs has more than matched her phenomenal prize winning student days in a career as an artist-performer, acutely sensitive to the needs and desires of the concert going public; as a highly successful teacher of piano in New York, and as a recognized authority on piano literature and music criticism.

She has made recordings for use as teaching aids in classes in piano. In addition to her teaching, Miss Griggs has presented concerts and recitals from coast to coast. She also has done commercial work on radio.

Religious Week Meetings Today End Program

Prof. Paul E. Pfuetze will address students at the second college assembly of this Religious Emphasis Week this afternoon at 3 o'clock. His topic will be "The Christian Proposal," and an informal discussion will be held following the address. Mrs. Louise Gibson Pfuetze will speak to freshmen this afternoon at 4 in Willard 115.

In speaking to the students Tuesday morning in assembly, Professor Pfuetze stressed the need of a great faith to live by in these days of crises, when everything is undone and must be re-done. "Confusion of aims seems to characterize our age," he stated. "What makes men great is what those men held first in their lives, what they lived by and fought for." Professor Pfuetze, who is assistant professor of philosophy and religion at the University of Connecticut, cited men through the centuries that have been examples of men of great faith.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Louise Gibson Pfuetze, a member of the national YWCA staff, assisted by her husband, discussed "Men and Women in the New World." Three particular divisions of her talk were the psychology of the returning serviceman, post-war employment and juvenile delinquency. Following the talk a discussion arose dealing with interfaith marriages and the growing anti-Semitic feeling in some parts of the country.

Must Plan For Living

"A Plan for Living" was Professor Pfuetze's topic on Tuesday evening. "Since the essence of the Christian religion is one of freedom and moral responsibility, each must work out his own plan for living," he stated.

Grads, Fans Thrill While KS, KU Battle

By Joy Talbot

Kansas State bagged its first conference win 18 to 14 Saturday in the fourth quarter of the annual "anything-can-happen" feud with Kansas University before a Homecoming crowd of 7,500 fans.

Wildcats, past and present, felt their hearts sink when Charles Moffett of KU, with seconds to go before the final gun, made a 70-yard straight off tackle run to fall exhausted across the goal line. Spirits soared again when the play was called on a clipping penalty.

K. U. Had Edge

The opposing team had the edge during the first stanza. A strong wind from the south kept Wildcat kicks in center field. After two incomplete passes Leroy Robison connected with a lateral from Moffett for the initial score. The conversion was good.

The Purpleclads got in gear, as usual, during the second quarter. A series of aerials and ground attacks which brought the ball from the K-State 20 was climaxed when lanky Dave Weatherby fell on pay dirt with Jim Ungles' pass from the 22, putting the Staters one point behind when Webster's kick went bad.

Score In Third

In the third, Center Joe Polloom recovered Robison's fumble soon after the opening kickoff and the Aggies went right back to score again, Ronnie Webster taking a lateral from Ungles around right end for the counter. The try for point went wild, leaving the score 12 to 7 for Kansas State.

The "Deadhawk" boys took over then, working to the Purple and White eight with a bewildering series of aerials before the end of the quarter.

After a no gain play Moffett galloped across to score in spite of Jean Smith's valiant attempt to halt the Mt. Oread star. Smith hit the end marker, suffering a broken ankle. Bill Chestnut's conversion was good, bringing the count to 14 to 12 for Kansas.

Threat Continues

The ball continued to stay in K-State territory. The Haylettmen were pinned back on their 12 by a penalty superseded by a loss. Dana Atkins' fake kick was taken by Jay Payton for a gain of 16 yards. Payton failed to make yardage on the next play and the ball went to KU. Moffett's pass to Don Faulkner was intercepted by Atkins who ripped off a spectacular 85 yards to be brought down on the KU 12. A pass from Ungles to Weatherby gave the Wildcats their third touchdown, and the final score, 18 to 14.

The crowd was leaving the field when Moffett's run was penalized. The fans lined up along the sidelines while the referee was recalled and the extra play taken. A pass, Jim Weatherby to Kenneth Dannebrook, was brought down in midfield.

Math Club . . .

There will be a meeting of the Math Club today at 4 p. m. in room 101 in the Mathematics Building. Officers will be elected and Prof. W. C. Jones will speak.

What A Day! . . .

Our hearty congratulations to you all who helped to make the Kansas State 1944 Homecoming such a grand success.

At the top of the list of contributors, of course, stand Ward Haylett's Wildcat gridsters. Without their fight and never-give-up spirit, it might have been only another football game glamorized slightly by the presentation of a queen during the half. Instead, it was an experience to be remembered for years by those fortunate enough to see it. And evidently we aren't the only ones who thought so. C. E. McBride, sports editor of The Kansas City Star, in his story Sunday termed it "probably the nation's gridiron thriller of the day."

Still Remembered

And even now the thought of the game still provokes spinal chills. As Mr. McBride so aptly put it in a follow-up in Monday morning's Kansas City Times: "The tempo of this beautiful little town that is the home of Kansas State College is still a heavy plus above and beyond normal as the students and citizenry thrill to the after-gossip of that sensation-jammed 18 to 14 victory over the Jayhawkers footballers from the university."

To the Student Council headed by Ethelinda Parrish and Dick Olson go our thanks for the hours of work the arrangements for the Homecoming Ball and the selection and presentation of the Homecoming Queen and her attendants must have taken. More bouquets are in order for the Student Holiday committee with Kathryn Ashbaugh as chairman who arranged Monday's festivities.

Everybody Helped

And to every Kansas State student, faculty member and alumnus who supported the Homecoming activities goes the credit for making this third wartime Homecoming celebration one of the best ever. Not only did school spirit run high here, but we're betting that former K-Staters now in the service all over the world will be cheered a good deal when the happy news reaches them.

So now "your pep, you've got it, now keep it! Dog gone you don't lose it!" The football season isn't over yet, and the school year doesn't have more than a good start. There will be numerous opportunities to support your school. If we do it as wholeheartedly as we celebrated Homecoming, the 1944-45 school term will go down in K-State history as definitely one of "the better years!"

After the "King-Size" holiday that we celebrated several students came up with the idea of having the professors come to them since they found it so hard to get to school Tuesday. I'll bet the only ones that got any sleep over the week-end were either in the hospital or dead! Here are just a few of the sleep killers we would like to enumerate at this time:

HOMECOMING BALL. . . . Betty (Crown me, I'm Queen) Carr was voted Homecoming Queen by the students that attended the dance. Students. . . That's four sorority girls and the 129th Cavalry. I wouldn't say that there were many officers there but that's the first time a G. I. band ever had to play a dance while standing at attention. There was more brass there than in Slim's football. But the band was really swell—of course they played some rather OLD pieces. In fact they played, "When You and I Were Young Maggie" so many times that when the ball was over Maggie was going around in diapers. It has been reported that certain sororities either bought up all the dance tickets or had them printed themselves, and then phoned the Fort and ordered a second lieutenant "bivouac" for Nichols Gym.

At the next dance we are having Bob Hope will come out to entertain the troops. If we can't get Hope we are having Joe Neidig. Because with Neidig there is "no hope."

We are mentioning no names but the Dodderidge and Neidig "Traveling Minstrel Shows Ltd." put on a fine little show for everyone at the ball by cutting off each others tie. They should have done a good job and cut their throats while they were at it. It's wonderful the way they can get around in those strait-jackets.

FOOTBALL GAME. . . . Ahhh—the old days of raccoon coats and hip flasks. Of course K-State had Crosby sport coats and a thermos of lukewarm Ovaltine. An account of the football game would not be complete without mentioning the P. A. announcing of Prof. Miles (Lowell Thomas and I have a lot in common, we're both ALIVE) Heberer. Of course that's the first time that Iowa State, Oklahoma, and Nebraska were all playing K-State in one game.

There is one thing that K-State is proud of . . . there was no drinking at the game. However we wish that we could have had the "Sen-Sen" concession in the stands. The game itself was really exciting. In fact we bit through four opium pipes and broke off two needles.

ETC. . . . The sororities had open houses after the game and the Tri Delt had a buffet supper. A Tri-Delt buffet supper is a sort of an officers' mess with napkins. The Chi-O house was slightly crowded. In fact there were eight Chi-O's dancing in the Phi Phi house.

Picnics reigned supreme last Monday. Yes, Sunset Park was simply overflowing with blankets and old Dixie Cups. Someone found Harvey (I've got the car 'til Saturday) Haas at the top of an old abandoned haystack. The last we saw of Haas he was playing the part of a sandwich for a nibbling buffalo. It was so dark at Sunset that Milo Johnson ate four wieners before he realized that they had finger nails on them. Now they call him "Stubby" Johnson. Hal Hogue was also along. We would have some more names but all the other insects left as soon as the food was gone.

All in all the week-end was a very enjoyable one for the students. Johnny (Bow-tie with ears) Pallette had a good time at the Monday afternoon varsity. Johnny was dancing the Big Apple but with him it looked like "Fruit Salad."

One more word about the game—we noticed that in the Queen's car President Eisenhower looked more like the Senior Prexy than Dick Olsen. Olsen was worrying about that speech he had to make. He was glad it was short but so was the crowd.

It seems that Dee (Postum was never like this) Preusch had quite a large time at the varsity Saturday trying to photograph pink elephants in technicolor.

The Saturday varsity was really quite orderly though. I will admit, however, that it was a little crowded dancing with your partner and an M. P. Everyone had a good time, but some of the complications which arose aren't fit for Mr. Anthony. We won't mention any names but if you want a list of persons involved in Homecoming revelry you might try the Student Directory—in case it ever comes out.

Elect Conover

Robert Conover, professor of English, has been elected president of the Kansas State College chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Professor Conover succeeds Dr. A. B. Sager, professor of history and government.

Miss Tessie Agan, associate professor of household economics, was chosen vice-president. Miss Elizabeth Davis, reference librarian, is the new program chairman.

The A. A. U. P. will be host to the state meeting of the Kansas Academy of Science next spring. Prof. C. M. Correll of the Department of History and Government, is program chairman for the meeting.

Number of Veterans On Campus Increase

The number of disabled veterans of World War II taking training at Kansas State College under the Rehabilitation Training Program for Disabled Veterans has increased rapidly since two men enrolled for the 1943-44 spring trimester. Now 36 servicemen are enrolled under this program.

A curriculum for each individual is selected by the Veterans Administration. Selection is made after the men have expressed their desires in fields of training and have taken certain qualification and aptitude tests. Choice of curriculums is guided by the servicemen's disabilities, his interests and his opportunity for livelihood in his field of choice.

Varied Interests

Employment objectives for some of these men include vocational agriculture, mechanical, civil and electrical engineers, veterinarian, salesman, agronomist, bacteriologist and athletic coach. The College has rehabilitation students in all schools of resident instruction except the School of Home Economics.

In planning for the increasing number of disabled veterans who will enter Kansas State, the College probably will offer some short curriculums in fields of engineering and agriculture in addition to the regular four-year curriculums. A two-year curriculum already is offered in industrial technology. Some of the shorter courses will be perhaps of collegiate level while others will be of sub-collegiate grade.

Fees Paid

The Veterans Administration pays to Kansas State College all fees required of other students, except out-of-state fees. The Board of Regents has ruled that the Administration need not pay out-of-state fees for men residing within the district of the regional office. Kansas State is in the Wichita office region which includes all of Kansas except a few counties in the northeast corner of the State.

afternoon, Professor Pfuete related Christianity and democracy, comparing the two ideals, and at last night's mass meeting in Recreation Center, both guest speakers discussed "Sex and the Family."

Morning meditations have been arranged by different denominational student groups and held in the YWCA Lounge from 7:40 to 7:55 all week. Professor Pfuete has spoken to several classes. Tonight at 6 there is scheduled a dinner conference in the College Cafeteria for faculty and ministers, with Prof. Randall C. Hill as chairman.

Speaks Tonight

The evening program following will begin at 8 o'clock in Recreation Center. President M. S. Eisenhower will introduce Professor Pfuete, who will talk on "Trends and Developments in Recent Theological Thought." Miss Hilda Grossmann, of the music department, will sing a vocal solo, and Beth Frohing will preside.

When Professor Elisha Gray and young Enos M. Barton, not long out of college, organized in 1869 the partnership later to become Western Electric, they paved the way for many developments which have enriched your life.

For many years, the Company has been manufacturer, purchasing agent, and distributor for the Bell Telephone System, whose service you have known all your life.

Through telephone work, college trained men and women at Western Electric helped find other ways to make your life fuller and safer. For example, radio broadcasting—talking pictures—marine, aviation and police radio—train dispatching equipment—all were pioneered by Western Electric.

Today, Western Electric is doing its greatest job—turning out huge quantities of electronic and communications equipment to help our fighting men and to speed the day of Victory.

When that day comes, Western Electric will resume its 75-year-old job of making communications equipment to further enrich your life.

KSC Wildcats Battle With Olathe Navy Fliers

Football Wildcats of Kansas State will meet the powerful Olathe Naval Air Base Team here Saturday. This collegiate-Navy game will mark the first encounter of these two teams and the last non-conference tilt.

The Olathe team boasts a fine record of four wins, two losses and one tie. Kansas U and the Iowa Seahawks are the only teams that have defeated them this season. Kansas State, on the other hand, having just found themselves, have won two games, lost four and tied one. Both have beaten Wichita, but this is no indication of the outcome of this game.

Coach Ward Haylett is trying hard to prevent a natural letdown after the KU victory of last Saturday. Unless the team realizes this Olathe is likely to pick them off.

Navy Has Triple-Threat Star

Stars of the Navy's attack are Arne Langner and Walt Herkel, triple threat back who kicks, passes and runs. Ward Haylett and assistants are preparing their defenses to stop these men.

This is the heaviest team the K-Staters will play. The line averages 200 pounds from end to end. Their backfield is also rugged, averaging 185. This weight advantage will handicap the State eleven.

Return of Bill Pritchard to the squad will add considerable strength and depth to the reserve forward line. This is offset by the loss of Forris Frick, star freshman end, to the Army. He reports for induction Friday.

Haylett expects to concentrate on Burton Barnes for the left end position this week. He is bigger and more rugged than any end out. Bill Clary, fullback, suffering an injured knee from the Wichita game, saw limited service Saturday. He is greatly improved this week. Loss of Jean Smith in Saturday's game and Max Harvey earlier in the season disintegrated half of what was to be the starting backfield of the K-State gridders this year.

Harvey Haas and Jack Newell, freshman sensation, will start at ends. Dale Cowan and Earl Haury will be at tackle with Russ Hardin and Marvin Norby in guard position. With Joe Pollom at center these will form the bulk of the State line.

The offensive hopes of the Aggies lie in the backfield ability of Jim Ungles, Ronnie Webster, Bob Mooney and Bill Faubion. Jay Payton will alternate with Ungles. Elliot will work with Doc Faubion at the right half slot. This is Doc's old position and he should go to town.

Jean Smith Injured

Jean Smith suffered a fractured fibula of his left leg Saturday when he hit the goal line marker in an attempt to tackle Charlie Moffett during the third quarter. Saturday's game was the last he'll play of college football.

Jean Smith

Smith played at Fort Scott junior college before coming to K-State. This is his last year.

AGR'S Win Crown For Intramurals

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, led by Ralph Stuesser, Dick Spencer, Gerald Goetsch and John Haggard, won the intramural touch football championship last week. Boasting a powerful aggregation, they scored 151 points, 37 more than the Sig Alphas, their leading contenders.

The AGRs brought back a razzle dazzle style to the intramural field; laterals, forward passes, basketball passes and shifty running spearheaded their attack.

The Sig Alphas, in winning six of their games, proved to be a close second. The rest of the teams were rather evenly matched with the exception of WFAC and the Tigers, an independent organization, finishing seventh and eighth respectively.

Prof. L. P. Washburn, head of intramurals, was greatly impressed by the spirit and great amount of interest shown in intramural touch football this year. One more team was entered this year and there are 126 fewer men in school. He hopes this fine spirit can continue.

Intramural touch football results:

Alpha Gamma Rho	7	0	151
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	6	1	114
Delta Tau Delta	3	3	90

Faculty . . .

Though faculty season football passes do not contain an extra ticket for the game with the Olathe Naval Station Saturday, the covers will be honored at the gate, according to Frank Myers.

EXTEND I. M. DEADLINE

Due to the slow entry of teams for intramural basketball, the deadline has been extended from Wednesday, November 15, until Friday, November 17. The games are scheduled to begin November 20. For the first week the games will be played in the afternoon. After football practice ends they will be played in the evening, to allow the varsity basketball team to practice in the afternoon. L. P. Washburn urges all independent organizations to form teams and enter.

B Team Loses To Herington

Herington Air Base invaded the Kansas State gridiron Tuesday afternoon to pit their strength against the Wildcat B team. The lads whose job it is to stand up against the varsity eleven in scrimmage lost the battle against the soldiers 6 to 0.

The fliers' score came in the first quarter, an eight-yard pass, Rugerrio to Atwell, making the counter. A running play for extra point failed.

Coach Fritz Knorr, tutor of the B aggregation, was pleased with his lads' defensive work, but said much was lacking in the young Wildcats' offensive play. "They spend so much time learning formation of varsity opponents that they don't master their own plays," Knorr explained.

Coached by Cpl. Walter McQuad, the Herington team is composed of enlisted men. McQuad was a member of the Colgate team in 1943. The Army squad expressed appreciation to M. F. Ahearn and the college ath-

exceeds Supply*

The fairest way we know to ration travel is to tell the American people the truth, and let them divide the supply fairly between them—as they always have when there is less than enough to go around.

Today, on some routes, there is a very real shortage. Gas, tire and a very real manpower shortage restrict us from giving all the service we would like to give.

Bus travel is a weapon. Use it economically as you conserve food, paper, rubber and tin. When our service is not up to our peacetime standards, please remember we are carrying 2½ times as many passengers as we do in normal times.

If you must travel, we are here to serve you. See, or telephone our agent for the least crowded schedules and days. Know before you go.

[When traveling, be sure to put identification stickers on your baggage. We supply them free.]

'Having A Wonderful Time'

It's orchids to the football team for a wonderful game and a wonderful week-end. . .

Roses Sunday at the Alpha Xi Delta house told of the marriage of Eleanor Kitselman to Albert Henry, Kappa Sig.

Newest initiates of Alpha Gamma Rho are Dick Spencer, John Haggard, Ralph Steusser, and Al VanWalleghen. A dinner was held in their honor Sunday night at the Wareham Gold Room.

Lois Summers, Chi O passed chocolates Sunday announcing her engagement to Sgt. Art Glenn. Sergeant Glenn attended Kansas University where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta. He is now overseas.

More roses. . . This time from Alpha Xi alum Loretta Cornelius announcing her marriage December 9 to Ens. Lester Newkirk '43. The wedding will take place in Ann Arbor, Mich., where Ensign Newkirk is stationed.

Tri Deltas entertained guests Saturday evening with a buffet supper at the chapter house.

Chi Omega pledges had their dates as dinner guests last Wednesday night.

Clovia entertained with an informal Homecoming party at the chapter house Saturday evening.

Kappa Sig pledge officers are president, Dick Stockman; vice-president, Don Ransom; secretary, Dale Cowan; treasurer, Bob Eschenburg; and social chairman, John Chitwood.

Van Zile Hall had chocolates Sunday from Margaret Butler announcing her engagement to Pfc. Edred Williams.

Van Zile Hall is holding open house Friday night from 8 to 10:30 for all men on the campus.

Ida Trapp of Arcadia and Pvt. Earl Terry were married Monday evening at Arcadia. Both bride and groom are from Waldo.

Y's Sponsor Dance In Gym Friday

Tentative plans for a "Thank You" dance, sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, are being made. As the plans stand the dance will be held in the college gym from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., Friday.

Honoring the veterans of World War II, the party will be given in appreciation of the splendid response of the student body to the Campus Chest and War Emergency fund drive. All of the rehabilitation men, their wives or dates, and all the other college students and their dates are invited to attend. Dress will be informal, though not sport, and there will be no admission charge. Music will be furnished by a band from Ft. Riley.

Free Show Today

Students and faculty members of all departments are invited to attend a series of War Department orientation films. The first of this series is being shown today at 4:40 p. m. at the Sosna theater. There is no admittance charge. The Department of Journalism and Printing is sponsoring the films.

The series of films is known as "Why We Fight." The first to be shown will be "Prelude to War." It shows the history of events leading to World War II, and a comparison of life under Axis powers and in a democracy.

Mr. Lashbrook, head of the journalism department, asks that everyone remain outside of the theater until the regular matinee is over and the crowd has gone.

Vets, Ags Dance At Annual Parties

This week-end begins the party season with two functions Saturday night. Vets will hold their annual Javamarac dance at the Avalon ballroom. In former years the veterinary students have had a dinner and dance, but this year the dinner has been eliminated. The Javamarac will be sport this year. The Junior American Veterinary Medical Association sponsors this ball.

Thompson Hall will be the scene of the annual Ag Barnwarmer Saturday night. Crowning of the barnwarmer queen will climax the evening's entertainment.

Candidates will be the two women students in the School of Agriculture; Ruth Wilson, and Lorene Smith. Dancing with several special numbers during the evening will complete the entertainment. Refreshments of soft drinks and doughnuts will be served.

KSC Fraternities Pledge 23 Men

Twenty-three additional pledges for seven Kansas State College fraternities have been announced by Dr. Harold Howe, faculty adviser of fraternities. Those fraternities which have added pledges are Alpha Gamma Rho, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

The pledges listed by home towns and fraternities:

Alpha Gamma Rho: Harold T. Black, Reece; Bob Brown, Oakley; James Burr, Covington, Va.; Harold E. Carroll, Iola; R. Kelsa King, Broken Arrow, Okla.; Teddy Ratliff, Portis; and Werner H. Welsch, Colman, S. D.

Beta Theta Pi: Jack Bell and George Reed, Salina; Robert C. Dowdery, Lyons; and Ed Herres, Wichita.

Delta Tau Delta: Fred N. Cossman Jr., Coldwater; James C. Davis, Abilene; and Roy E. Drown Jr., Manhattan.

Kappa Sigma: Laurel G. Henry, Newton; and Donald Ransom, Kansas City.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Frank A. Limbocker, Iola; Tommy Lyons, Atchison; and Rex R. McArthur, Salina.

Sigma Nu: Forris Frick, Manhattan.

Tau Kappa Epsilon: Wendell Adell, Neodesha; Robert L. Cornell, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Don H. Ford, Marysville.

Theta Sigma Phi

Theta Sigma Phi, honorary sorority for women in journalism, pledged Mary Jane Jones, at an informal dinner recently, at the College cafeteria. Mrs. Jane Rockwell Koefod is the faculty sponsor.

YWCA Sponsors Annual Bazaar In Rec Center

The annual YWCA Christmas Bazaar is well on its way towards the final stages of preparation. Featuring Mexican, Oriental, and hand-made articles from various parts of the country, this one-day gift shop will be open in Recreation Center, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Wednesday.

A display booth made on a rectangularly shaped wooden frame will show the novel gifts which will be on sale. Another booth will feature coffee, cake, and cookies to be sold to the guests of the bazaar.

Variety Available

Before the war, things from all over the world were available. Mrs. Dorothy Downey explained, but the extent is somewhat smaller this year. However, Mexican pottery, candlesticks, glazed burros, Mexican tea towels, palm leaf baskets, and leather belts will be representative of our neighbors to the South.

Ivory brooches, good-luck rings, book marks, perfume, ash trays, white fur bedroom slippers, packages of tea, cinnamon rings, and chopsticks will represent our Chinese friends.

Pottery Kerchiefs

Several fine pieces of pottery, stenciled kerchiefs, blockprinted table-squares, and other gifts have been sent from Louise Davis' gift shop in Nashville, Tenn. Miss Davis was graduated from Kansas State a few years ago, and while she was a student here, she served as president of the YWCA.

Mary Dressel, Joan Myers, Polly Baskett, Doris Johnson, Ella Mae Stinson, Betty Jean Hinds, Jeanne Wells, Betty Larson, Rita Hollicker, Billy Beth Davis, and Virginia Lee Epp are in charge of the consignments. Betty Jo McCaustland and Eda Mae Hancock will supervise the sales girls. Blythe Taylor is directing the making of the posters; Jean Ramsey has charge of the food booth. Susan Sawyer is taking care of the publicity, and Eunice Stoltenberg is the bookkeeper.

Any girls who are interested in selling at the bazaar are asked to sign their names on a chart in the YWCA lounge, upstairs in Anderson Hall.

Ray Rokey Dead

Capt. Ray Rokey, Ag. '42, died in France as the result of wounds suffered while fighting with the First Army in Germany, according to word received here. Captain Rokey received a regular commission as second lieutenant in the Army upon completion of his advanced R. O. T. C. training here in 1942.

Rokey was one of 16 members of his class chosen by the Royal Purple, college yearbook, as an outstanding member of the 1942 graduating class. He also was selected as the representative student for the School of Agriculture in that year.

In addition to his high scholastic work, Captain Rokey was a three-letter man in varsity sports. He starred in football, wrestling and baseball.

He was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho, social fraternity; Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural organization; Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic society; and Dynamis, national all-school honorary. During his senior year he was vice-president of the Student Council.

Speaks Wednesday

Cyril Clemens, a cousin of Mark Twain, will speak on "Mark Twain the Pioneer" at the all-College assembly at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mr. Clemens is president of the International Mark Twain Society, and has devoted most of his life to the study of the famous author's work.

He is from Webster Groves, Mo.

Y Dance . . .

A Y-Dance is scheduled for Saturday night in Recreation Center from 8 to 11:30, according to Betty Jean Yapp and Bob Kobrock, YW and YM representatives. Refreshments will be served.

Basketball . . .

Kansas State will open its basketball season Monday night when it plays the Ft. Riley team at 7:30 in the College Gymnasium. Students may be admitted by their activity tickets.

Mortar Board Gives Dinner

Mortar Board's annual Scholarship Dinner will be held Monday at 5:45 p. m. in Thompson Hall and is open to all women on the campus. Tickets are on sale in Anderson Hall today and Friday.

One hundred tickets are reserved for junior women, special guests and Mortar Board members. Only 150 are available for other college women wishing to attend the dinner.

Mrs. Hulda Keith, Manhattan Mortar Board alumna, will speak to the group on the "Woman of the Hour." The Manhattan High School's boy quartet will sing.

Margaret McNamee, president, will be toastmistress for the evening. Roberta Townley will answer the question "What Is Mortar Board?" Elizabeth Crandall will present the scholarship plaque to the woman having the highest freshman grade average for 1943-44. The runners-up for the second and third places will be introduced.

The 68 junior women who are scholastically eligible for election to Mortar Board next year will be introduced by Arlene Shields.

Begin Artist Series Ticket Sales Saturday

Saturday will start a two weeks' intensive sale of season tickets for the three musical events to be presented at the College Auditorium this winter: the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus; Miss Marie Wilkins, a Metropolitan Opera soprano; and Charles Kullman, Metropolitan Opera tenor.

The series is sponsored by the residence hall committee. Profits will be divided, part going into a fund to underwrite another Artist Series next year and part going to the Endowment Association for the construction of residence halls for women. The events have been definitely scheduled following signatures of more than 118 individuals or couples who are acting as guarantors.

Students Help

Members of Mortar Board and Prix, will be responsible for soliciting faculty members. As captains, they will select their own workers. Assisting with campus sales are the Purple Pepsters, members of the Margaret M. Justin Home Economics Club, presidents of organized houses and of organized groups.

Students living at Van Zile Hall, the residence hall annexes and sorority or independent organized houses will have an opportunity to buy their tickets from their own representatives. Students who do not belong to a group may obtain season tickets from a booth in Anderson Hall.

Early Buying Urged

Miss Emma Hyde, associate professor of mathematics, who is chairman of the benefit committee, has urged the early buying of tickets in order to have a better selection of reserved seats. Charts of the seating arrangement of the College Auditorium are available at Dean Helen Moore's office on the campus, at the College drug store in Aggieville, and at the Wareham Hotel and the Palace drug store downtown for the convenience of those who want to select locations of reserved seats.

Single admissions will not be available until December 16 and will be approximately 50 percent more than season tickets.

Show Films Today

"The Nazis Strike," second in the series of War Department orientation films being presented by the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, will be shown this afternoon in the College Auditorium, according to R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Department.

As a special feature of today's program Professor Lashbrook has arranged with the Department of Athletics to show the motion pictures of the Kansas State 18 to 14 Homecoming victory over the University of Kansas. The K. U.-Kansas State movies are excellent. Fred M. Parris, director of sports publicity, will be on hand as a narrator to supplement the films. This part of the program will begin at 3:30 o'clock. "The Nazis Strike" will begin at approximately 4 o'clock.

Quill Club Elects 10 New Members

Ten new members have been elected to Quill Club, national creative writers' organization. Upon presentation of a qualifying manuscript they will be initiated into the local chapter, Ur Rune. They are Dee Preusch, Athol Furman, Tess Montgomery, Lucy Shoemaker, Barbara Kelley, Dorraine Dorf, Elizabeth Stark, Martha Jane Adams, Joan Thompson, and Lucy Wells. Initiation will be held tonight at 7:30 in A227.

4-H Dinner Dance

The annual Collegiate 4-H dinner-dance will be held Friday, December 8, at the Wareham Hotel starting at 6:30 p. m.

Club members may obtain tickets for the semi-formal affair by presenting their membership cards at the 4-H office in Anderson Hall Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

Goldiggers . . .

Tickets for the Goldiggers Ball can be purchased in Anderson Hall today and tomorrow. The remaining tickets will be sold at the door of the Avalon tomorrow night.

Assembly Opens College Forum

President Milton S. Eisenhower opened the all-College Educational Forum by discussing the college of the future at an assembly Monday. The forum will continue for several weeks.

President Eisenhower reviewed the proposals of various postwar planning committees of faculty and student members which have been meeting recently to consider the future College. He believes that any student who has completed a four-year course of college work should remember that this is a democratic country and that he should do his utmost to uphold the principles of democracy.

He stressed four basic things that the college graduate should receive at the end of his training. They are a technical training in one particular field, a knowledge of other subjects outside of his own department, the ability to give sound judgment on ideas and problems confronting him in his future life and to be able to take a satisfactory place in a democratic country.

Further Educational Forum meetings will be held each Tuesday for the next three weeks in Willard, room 115. The speaker this Tuesday will be Dr. George Gemmell reporting for a committee on "Testing and Counseling."

Prof. Charles H. Scholer will speak on "Liberalizing Technical Curricula" and Dr. Harold Howe will talk on "Comprehensive Courses" at the forum December 12. On December 19 Prof. Maurice Moggie will discuss "Integration of Education Experiences" and Dean Rodney Babcock will talk on "Proficiency and Placement Tests."

The Educational Forum is being sponsored by the YMCA, the SGA and the YWCA.

The Time Is Now So Here Is How

"Opportunity knocks but once." The adage is worn out, but here is an opportunity that is brand new.

The annual Goldiggers' Ball is Friday night. This, girls, is the chance for which you've been waiting. This is the time you can call up your current man of the moment, or reasonable facsimile, and make a date. Anyway, this is the time you do it legitimately, if you're in the habit of making dates.

If you're remaining true to that man who is away fighting for his country, stag it to the Ball. This is the time when you can lean against the wall and survey the dancers without being a wall flower. And you can dance with those whom you choose, not just anybody who happens to cut your partner. This time you'll be doing the cutting.

Whether you're coming stag or drag, come prepared to have lots of fun. This is the time you can even the score with the fellows. And if you're dragging a man, don't forget that corsages are the order of the day. By corsages we mean anything from baling wire and corks to onion tops and red roses.

This is it, girls! The time is now. Make a date for the Goldiggers Ball.

Professor Dies

Prof. C. V. Williams, a member of the Department of Education staff since 1920, died in a local hospital November 16 following a brief illness. Professor Williams was born January 19, 1879, in Elmwood, Neb.

He received his bachelor of science degree from Nebraska Teachers College, Peru, in 1908. His A. M. degree was received from the University of Nebraska in 1910 and his Ph. D. from the University in 1925. He also received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from the University of Nebraska in 1919.

Before Pearl Harbor 17,000 long distance telephone calls originated in Washington daily. The number now exceeds 35,000 each day.

Earl G. Hoover Announces Cast For "Claudia"

Betty Russell will play the leading role of Claudia in Rose Franken's Broadway hit, "Claudia" to be presented by the Kansas State Players December 15 and 16 in the College Auditorium.

Other members of the cast, as chosen by Earl G. Hoover, play director, will be: Ralph Fogleman as David, Claudia's baffled but patient husband, with Zella Barber playing the part of Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother on whom she is entirely dependent. Julia, David's sister, is portrayed by Pat Williams.

Other Members

Joe Neldig is Jerry Seymore, the tall, good looking Englishman, and Pauline Flook plays the part of Madam Daruschka, the successful Russian opera star. The faithful servants, Bertha and Fritz, who are acquired through a newspaper advertisement, are played by Janey Hackney and Embert Coles.

Claudia first made her appearance in story form through Rose Franken. Then, on February 12, 1941, this lovable, vivacious girl became the central character in the successful Broadway hit of "Claudia," as produced by Miss Franken.

The movie version of "Claudia" came next, with Robert Young, and Dorothy McGuire playing the leading roles.

Activity Books Admit

Students will be admitted on their activity books. According to tentative plans, the box office will be open beginning next Thursday. At that time, the activity books may be exchanged for reserved seat tickets.

Dinner Honors All Presidents

The annual Anderson dinner will be held Friday, December 15, honoring the presidents of all organizations connected with Kansas State. There are 95 such organizations on the campus. This dinner is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Anderson, Ag. '16 and '23 and M. S. '28, is secretary of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders Association.

Mr. Anderson requested that Kenney L. Ford, alumni executive secretary, have charge of the arrangements for the annual dinner. He specified that his financial donation for the cost of the dinners would be given to the Kansas State College Endowment Association.

President Eisenhower, in accepting the gift stated that the annual dinner would constitute a highly worthwhile phase of the total College program and that it would be called "The Anderson Dinner."

After graduating from Kansas State, Mr. Anderson served for several years as a professor of animal husbandry here. He went to Kansas City in 1930 as assistant secretary of the American Hereford Cattle Breeding Association and recently was appointed secretary of the Association.

President Eisenhower will speak at the dinner. The Rev. B. A. Rogers will lead the group singing and Professor Max Martin will play a violin solo.

Candlelight Concert

Featuring Cpl. N. C. Myrvik, lyric tenor concert artist, as soloist, the Lutheran Women's Chorus will present a Christmas Candlelight Concert Sunday, December 10, at 8 p. m. in the First Lutheran Church, Tenth and Poyntz. Other solos will be sung by Miss Jean Fagerberg, soprano.

Under the direction of Corporal Myrvik, the chorus will sing traditional Christmas carols and anthems.

Sugar . . .

If any students or faculty members have extra ration stamps for sugar, the YWCA would appreciate receiving them. It is only through the gift of such stamps that candy can be made to be sold at the Christmas Bazaar.

Buy A Ticket . . .

Starting Saturday and continuing until December 16, Kansas State students will be given the opportunity to purchase season tickets for the Manhattan Artist Series to be presented here next semester.

Thanks to a group of faculty members and townspeople, we can enjoy three evenings of the best sort of musical entertainment for the price of several movies.

Replaces Celebrity Series

Because of the limited enrollment the Celebrity Series with activity tickets the only admission had to be discontinued, but the new Artist Series with its special price for students is a most satisfactory substitute.

A truly educated, well-rounded person should appreciate good music, but some of us here never give ourselves the chance to cultivate this taste. The evening of the performance the admission price looks too high, or we think we'd rather take in the local movie. Then the next morning when the campus is buzzing with comments on the event many of us sigh a small sigh, wish that we had gone, and promise ourselves that we won't miss the next similar opportunity.

Here's Your Chance

Now here's a chance to guarantee yourself that you won't miss the three fine coming attractions of the Series next semester: the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus on February 7; Miss Marie Wilkins, Metropolitan Opera soprano, on March 15; and Charles Kullman, Metropolitan Opera tenor on April 24.

So plan for this treat for yourself right now—call it a Christmas present, or just charge it up to part of the cost of a liberal education. It will be money well spent.

Sure hated to miss last week's column kiddies, but we were home . . . getting the bird. We know that was a fowl remark, but we couldn't help "talking turkey" for just a moment.

Ahhhh . . . it was a wonderful Thanksgiving. We were a little troubled with overeating. When we went home, all our relatives were "over eating" at our house too.

But now into even lighter vein. (Ed's Note: If this copy is an example this week they need a trans-fusion.)

We hear they had a few old horse skulls hanging around the Avalon at the Vet dance several weeks ago. At first this sounded like faculty chaperones, but then we learned the rest of the horses were playing in the band. The rhythm of the band was swell though. As you walked in they presented each girl with a dozen metronomes dangling from a charm bracelet.

bomb that stunk the hall and stopped the ball? Personally, we think it was a rank prank. The Vets seem to point an accusing scalpel at the Ag students, better known as (Ed's Note: Profanity is not allowed in The Collegian.)

The Ag-only Barnwarmer was held the same night. We call it Agony because it's "ony" held once a year. Nobody could stand it more than once. Some Vets crashed the dance, but after 55 seconds of sheer torture (someone cut them with scissors) they escaped back to their own party.

It has been reported from unauthorized sources that several Tri-Delts have been ostracized for dating civilians. Even dating non-coms rates demerits.

We are starting a new feature in the column this week. It's the "Poet's Corner" by quaint, old Uncle Big Johnathan. Unk's poem for today is:

DEC. 1ST

You remember the law of physics that two objects cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Just so with war materials urgently needed at the fronts and personal packages. For that reason our Government has requested that all civilian Christmas packages be sent before Dec. 1st. So we of Railway Express ask you to help us (and yourselves too) by doing these three simple things, in addition to shopping early:

1. Send your gifts before Dec. 1st. Laundry can keep to its regular schedule. When packages are ready to go, phone the Railway Express agent.
2. Wrap your packages carefully and securely.
3. Address them clearly, with your own and their recipient's name, street number, city and state.

Collich Life

College life is nothing more than women, books, and beers. I've even heard some graduate in just a mere four years.

The annual SAE-Phi Delt ping-pong tourney and good-fellowship day was held Sunday. This fiesta (fiesta, that's Spanish for you take the first case, and I'll take the second case, and I'll be under the table 'afore ye) is held annually at the close of each week.

The requirements for joining this club are numerous. First of all, you have to be nuts. After this fact is established you don't worry about the rest. We are mentioning no names, but Drs. Tuttle, Ungles, Olsen, and Johnson proved their veterinary ability by successfully operating on three "cases." We hear they use the only scalpels with attached siphons in existence.

This column was written like clockwork, but we had better wind it up, since it is alarming the way it tells all. See you next week, chillen', and remember—he who laughs, lasts.

Wildcats Drop Last Tilt To Nebraska U., 35-0

Kansas State finished the 1944 grid season in a last place tie with K. U. in the Big Six after a 35 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln Saturday. Rain, sleet and snow fell alternately on the crowd of fewer than 2,000 persons.

The Wildcats threatened to score several times, and even made it across the goal line once in the second period. Bill Faubion ran 85 yards for a touchdown only to lose the score because our backfield was in motion before the ball was snapped.

Previous to that, Kansas State in the first quarter got down to Nebraska's 12, losing the ball when a fourth down with five to go gained only three.

Misdirected Lateral

A K-State lateral thrown with the ball on the Wildcat 10 and recovered by the Huskers on the 4-yard line gave Nebraska their first scoring opportunity. Bill Betz, quarterback, and Buzz Hollins and Joe Kessler, U. of N's heaviest backs came into the game from the bench, and helped the Huskers smash to the 1-foot line in three downs. Then Betz sneaked over, and Berkey, substitute center, came in to kick the point.

From then on it was strictly Nebraska's game. In the third period the Huskers scored a safety on a blocked kick, and a touchdown on a 45-yard run by Jack Selzer. Nebraska scored three times in the fourth quarter, once on a 22-yard jaunt by Kessler, again on Knight's 36-yard run on which he lateraled at the 12 to Hollins, who scored, and lastly on a 16-yard run by Bill Perdew.

Second Husker Victory

The victory evened Nebraska's conference record at two victories and two defeats. The Huskers finish next Saturday with Oklahoma, when they will have a chance to drop the league-leading Oklahomans into a championship tie with Iowa State.

The starting line-up for Saturday's game was as follows:

Nebraska	K-State
Koenig	LE
Johnson	LG
Stevenson	LT
Doyle	C
Grandmann	RG
Lorenz	RT
Colerick	QB
Betz	RB
Selzer	LB

Cochran Gets Honor

David O. Cochran, f. s. in Chemical Engineering, of Luray, has received Senator Capper's appointment as principal candidate to the West Point New York Military Academy.

Cochran was called to service this summer. While awaiting induction he has been employed as assistant process engineer at the Boeing Aircraft plant in Wichita. Upon receiving the West Point appointment he was reclassified by his draft board until the final examinations are made in March. For the present he will continue his work at Boeing.

Kramer Speaks

Dr. Martha Kramer of the foods and nutrition department is giving a series of talks on nutrition in connection with the Chinese at various county achievement days throughout the state.

The meetings are being held Kingman, Kiowa, Clark, Comanche, Barber, McPherson, Harvey, Sumner, Edwards and Barton counties.

Nursery School Instructors

Mrs. Margaret Jagger, Miss Marguerite Briggs, and Mrs. Rhoda Clark are the new instructors on the staff of the Nursery School of Kansas State this year. Mrs. Jagger works with the children who are four and five years old with Miss Briggs and Mrs. Clarke as her assistants.

In the Kansas State battle with the Olathe Naval Air Base gridders here Saturday, November 18, they passed up opportunities to score in every period, because they were unable to make the final thrusts necessary, although they played superior ball.

Statlers held their breath when the Clippers found themselves in the last minutes of the final quarter. A penalty nullified a touchdown pass thirty-five seconds before the gun.

Clipper Touchdown Penalized

A forward pass from Walt Herkel to Waldon McCoy brought the play into Wildcat territory, placing the ball on the 18. Herkel hurled four forward passes. Bill Faubion, back at his old position as right half, knocked down the first two. The third was taken by Arne Langner, Clipper fullback, on the K-State three. Langner put the ball over for what seemed the winning touchdown. However the play was called back because Herkel was not five yards behind the line of scrimmage when he hurled. He passed again on the fourth down and again Doc Faubion brought it to earth. The Wildcats took over as the gun sounded.

The Purple and White was without Jean Smith who fractured his leg in the K. U. game. Ronnie Webster was also on the bench. Not in first class condition, he was permitted to rest in preparation for the Nebraska fracas.

Your Last Chance

Here's your last chance to send holiday greetings from your College, its faculty and students, to some former student now in the armed services.

The response has been very good, and a large list of addresses is being compiled, but we doubt that it is by far complete as yet.

The "Battle Baby" issue of The Collegian will be published next Thursday, so this is the last time this blank will be available in this paper. Extra cards may be obtained at the Alumni Office in Anderson.

Make some serviceman or woman's holiday season a little brighter by receiving this news from home. It will take only a few minutes of your time, and it may mean a lot to them. Clip this coupon and drop it in the College P. O. at once. (No envelope necessary)

'Having A Wonderful Time'

Tau Kappa Epsilon will entertain with a formal dance at the Avalon Saturday night. The Varsity Club Band will furnish the music for dancing.

Chocolates at the Pi Phi house announced the chaining of Emogene Sharpe's arrow to the TKE pin of Larry Nieman.

Doris Danielson received the Tri Delt Scholarship Award as the junior with the greatest improvement in grades.

Chi Omega pledges were entertained by town alumni at a tea at the Country Club.

Dining at the Alpha Xi Delta house last week were Prof. Dorothy Barfoot and Dr. Martha Kramer.

Ruth Halderson is now wearing the pledge pin of Pi Beta Phi.

Annex 2 entertained Annex 1 at an open house recently.

Kappa Deltas "did their bit" by presenting a program for the C. R. T. C.

Wedding bells rang out last Saturday night for Elaine Smith and Cpl. Thomas Chessehair. The couple will be at home at Fort Benning, Ga., where he is now stationed. Corporal Chessehair attended Gulf Coast Military Academy and has been stationed at Fort Riley.

Newest pledge of Alpha Delta Pi is Melba Norby.

Keim's Kabana munched sweets Friday night for Betty Larson announcing her engagement to Harold Johnson, '43.

Kappas had a miscellaneous show-er last Wednesday for Peggy Flora of Hutchinson, who is to marry Ens. Glover Colladay at Christmas. Ensign Colladay is a member of Beta Theta Pi and graduated in 1944.

Keith A. Hemenway Jr. is now an active member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

KKG town alums entertained the active chapter with a tea last Wednesday at the chapter house.

Dinner guests of Chi Omega were Dean Emeritus Mary Van Zile and Assistant Dean of Women, Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt.

Marjorie Stahl is wearing the diamond ring of Cpl. Henry A. Paschke, U. S. M. C. R. Corporal Paschke has recently returned from the South Pacific after 27 months of active duty.

Annex 2 will hold open house for all independent men tonight from 7 until 8.

Chi O Marge Jenkins, f. s., and Ken Kendall, Delta Tau Delta, were married at the Methodist Church at noon Thanksgiving Day.

Highlighting the social calendar this week-end is the Golddiggers Ball scheduled for Friday night. This is your chance, girls! Come—stag or drag!

College Retains Wareham Property

The College will retain the house it owns at 1623 Anderson, known as the Wareham property, according to Dean R. A. Seaton, School of Engineering and Architecture, secretary of the Council of Deans.

The house, which has been vacated since the Army Specialized Training Program was discontinued on the campus, is being reconditioned for future use. No definite plans have been made as to how the building will be used to help care for an expected increase in enrollment in the near future. However, the property will be used until adequate buildings can be added on the campus.

The Wareham property was given to the College by Harry P. Wareham of Manhattan, in 1940.

Farmers Plan Improvements

Kansas farmers will want improvements, new equipment, and materials amounting to at least $50,000,000 in the two years immediately following the war, according to the first returns from the postwar farm and home needs survey, authorized by the Kansas State Agricultural Planning Committee and directed by C. R. Jaccard, economist of Kansas State College.

Almost one-third of the counties have finished the survey, and county agricultural agents and volunteer Neighborhood Leaders are at work in the rest of the state.

Paint is the first requirement on the list in all counties, Jaccard said.

College Bell Has 83-Year History

By JO ANN HARJUNG

For 83 years the old College bell that hangs high in Anderson Hall has called students to classes with its old familiar song. The history of the bell as told by Dr. J. T. Willard, College historian, was given, in part, to him by Harriet Parkerson. However, as a member of the class of 1883, Dr. Willard remembers the bell from its early days at Kansas State College.

I. T. Goodnow, in 1861, was a solicitor for donations to the Bluemont Central College Association that built Bluemont Central College located about a mile west of the present Kansas State campus. Mr. Goodnow received a gift of $250 from Joseph Ingalls of Swampscott, Mass. The money was to be used to buy a bell and pay for its transportation to the Bluemont College. The bell was inscribed with the donor's name.

At a cost of $175 a bell weighing 213 pounds was cast by A. Meneely's Sons, famous bell makers of their time, in 1861 at Troy.

Purchased in 1871 was the land on which Kansas State College, successor to Bluemont Central College, is now located. A barn was erected a year later. In 1875 this barn was remodeled to provide classrooms and the College work was transferred from the old Bluemont building to this campus. On the east end of this barn the College bell was hung where it served until 1882.

Printed in the September 9, 1882, issue of THE INDUSTRIALIST was found this article. "On Tuesday the College bell was safely lowered from its lofty perch on the old Barn and transferred to its new quarters in the tower of the new building." The "new building" was the middle wing of Anderson Hall which was erected in that year.

When asked if he knew of anything further of interest about the bell's history, Dr. Willard smiled and told of the bell's original clapper that disappeared once. The "Naughty Five" boys of the class of 1905 removed the clapper one dark night. The College immediately had two new clappers made one of which is still in use. The other has been carefully stored away in event the present one disappears. "Of course," said Dr. Willard, "if anyone wants to know what really happened to the original clapper, they might ask Dean Harry Umberger, a member of the 1905 class."

Alpha Zeta

Alpha Zeta is an honorary agricultural fraternity, the student members of which are selected from among undergraduate and graduate agricultural students of high scholarship on the basis of character, leadership, and personality.

9 Kansas Schools Plan Air Training

At least 9 Kansas colleges and universities including Kansas State are planning to establish, continue or expand student courses in aviation after the war, it was disclosed in their responses to a nation-wide survey of educational institutions made public by Ernest R. Breech, president of Bendix Aviation Corporation.

The Kansas schools besides K-State which stated they are planning postwar educational programs in aviation include: Kansas State Teachers' College, Pittsburg; Kansas State Teachers' College, Emporia; Kansas Wesleyan University, Salina; Coffeyville Junior College, Coffeyville; El Dorado Junior College, El Dorado; Ottawa University, Ottawa; Chanute Junior College, Chanute; and Arkansas City Junior College, Arkansas City.

In common with most of the other 455 American colleges and universities which responded to the company's survey, the Kansas institutions said they would require for teaching purposes large quantities of the government-owned surplus aircraft equipment, which will be declared surplus after the war.

A total of 342 schools in their replies stressed the need for supplying to the nation's colleges at low cost quantities of surplus useable aircraft equipment, as a fundamental contribution to the future continuous development of aviation education, it was pointed out.

This equipment will be made available to the schools on sale or lease basis, under provisions of the federal Surplus Disposal law, Breech stated.

Coombs Gives Stones

Two stones of unusual geologic interest have been presented to the K-State museum as a permanent display by Bruce Coombs, junior in geology, who brought them from Wyoming. The field trip to Wyoming was sponsored by Missouri University as a part of the regular class-work.

One of the stones is a brownish-red marine sandstone ripple-marked by an ancient sea. It shows two perfect sets of joints due to the movement of the earth's crust. It is unique in that it is bleached on one set of joints and not on the other.

The other is a wind-faceted boulder which has unusually large and well-developed faces.

Nine Win Scholarships

The LaVerne Noyes Scholarship Committee of Kansas State College has awarded scholarships for the fall trimester to nine students, according to L. E. Conrad, chairman. The scholarships of $35 each are awarded to blood descendants of World War I. Awards are made on the basis of scholarship and need.

Winners are Delbert D. Clark, Darlene Faye Graham, Elizabeth Ann Grimes, Mary Margaret Parker, Betty May Sharp, Adelaide Swift, Anabel Wood, Evelyn Wood, and Betty Clark.

An education may not make you successful but it certainly won't be a hindrance.

Roger C. Medlin, f. s. '43, has been promoted to the grade of sergeant. "Invasion Incorporated," could well be the name tacked onto the veteran troop carrier group of the Twelfth Air Force to which Sergeant Medlin is assigned. During its 26 months overseas, the organization has participated in the invasion of North Africa, Sicily, Italy and Southern France, in addition to rendering distinguished service in the China-Burma-India Theatre of Operations. Sergeant Medlin as a radio mechanic plays an important part in helping the troop carrier command carry out its important missions, which include the dropping of paratroopers, towing airborne troops, evacuating wounded, carrying personnel, ammunition and equipment. He wears the North African-European Theatre Ribbon with three campaign stars, the Asiatic Theater Ribbon with one campaign star and the American Theater Ribbon.

attitude; no matter how bad it is, it might be worse. To me it is just a glorified (and more serious) version of the camping trips we Scouts used to take. (And that helps too.)"

Capt. Richard J. Cech, f. s. '41, is in the East Indies. He writes that the natives are very intelligent and are skilled in arts and crafts of wood carving. Captain Cech finishes his letter with the following statement, "I honestly believe that all K-Staters are in the European Theater, I haven't run across a single one since I've been overseas."

Capt. Robert E. Arbuthnot, Ag. '42, is back in the States after several months overseas as a B-24 pilot. He has been decorated with the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and has received the Distinguished Flying Cross. Mrs. Arbuthnot is the former Jeanne Clark, f. s. Their address is 124 West Republic, Salina.

T/5 Donald E. Torkelson, f. s. '43, was seriously injured in Holland on September 18. Don entered the Army in March, 1943, and was sent overseas in December of the same year.

Pvt. Ruth Ann Hamilton, G. S. '44, is now stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, where she is attending a six months period of training in physical therapy at Brooke General Hospital. Private Hamilton was sworn into the WACs August 9 and took her basic training at Des Moines, Iowa.

Lt. Cmdr. Donald F. Coburn, f. s. '26, M. C. W. S. N. R. is stationed at the Naval Hospital on Mare Island, near San Francisco, Calif., where he has charge of the neuro-surgery. Cmdr. Coburn spent 20 months at a Naval base hospital in the Southwest Pacific, returning home last December.

NUMBER 10

Christmas Greetings from Kansas State

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Mere scores, and the season's final result of two wins, two ties and five defeats tell only a minor part of the thrilling football season of Kansas State's young, inexperienced—but fighting—Wildcats.

Until mid-season when they "found" themselves and held an unusually strong Navy V-12 team from Iowa State to a 14-0 Cyclone win, the young Wildcats were a bitter pill for loyal students and alumni to swallow. The Purple and White lads had no team coordination and Wildcat scores were as scarce as food in Mother Hubbard's cupboard. But, Head Coach Ward Haylett and his assistants, Charles Socolofsky and Fritz Knorr, kept patient and continually taught football to the inexperienced grid-ders of Aggieville. The results achieved by the Wildcat coaching trio make the K-State grid tutors strong candidates for the best Big Six football coaching job during 1944.

Beat Wichita

The K-Staters' mid-season showing against Iowa State, followed by a 15 to 0 win over a good Wichita University eleven hinted to midwest football fans that the wartime Wildcats had changed almost miraculously from an inexperienced squad to a smooth-clicking gridiron machine capable of wrecking many a stronger and more highly rated opponent.

K. S. Vs. K. U.

On November 11, Homecoming Day at Kansas State, the Wildcats gave final proof that they had "arrived." On that memorable afternoon, a favored University of Kansas Jayhawk went back to Lawrence defeated 18 to 14. The youngsters of K-State had won over Kansas for the first time since 1940! The Associated Press rated the K. U.-K-State battle the "most thrilling" of the Big Six season.

Early in the K. U. game, Wildcat rooters' hopes faded, but didn't disappear as the Jayhawkers pushed over a touchdown in the first seven minutes of the game. Bill Chestnut, the Jayhawkers dropkicking ace, split the goalposts and the Lawrence team led 7 to 0. In the second period, Ward Haylett's valiant gang retaliated with a 20-yard touchdown pass, Quarterback Jim Ungles to End Dave Weatherby. Ronnie Webster, all-Kansas high school star in '43 and one of the Wildcat sparklers this season at halfback, missed the try-for-point but Kansas State spirit hit a new high.

Wildcats Take Lead

After the halftime rest, the men of Manhattan bounced back again at the Jayhawkers and took a 12 to 7 lead as Webster took a neat lateral from Mooney and weaved his way to score from the Kansas four. Again the try-for-point failed.

Kansas, a powerful and dangerous club throughout the afternoon, rebounded in the fourth quarter and sent their star Charley Moffett on a 7-yard scoring play. Chestnut's dropkick was good and Kansas took command 14 to 12—thanks to the brilliant play of Moffett and the deadly toe of Chestnut.

But, the Fighting Wildcats of Kansas State weren't to be denied this chance to pluck their old rival from Lawrence way, despite the fact that the Aggemen had to play the final quarter against a snappy south breeze that was a nuisance to kickers and passers. With five minutes left in the contest, K. U. tried a pass from the Wildcat 30—and blooey—there went the old ball game in favor of K-State. Dana Atkins, a freckled-faced, 17-year-old Wildcat halfback, intercepted the pigskin and scattered 80 yards before two K. U. huskies hauled him down on the Kansas six. After a couple futile line plays, little Jim Ungles flung a high pass to Dave Weatherby and the tall end from Neodesha grabbed it in the end zone for the young Cats' third and winning tally of the day. It didn't matter that the try-for-point again went astray.

10 Seconds Score

With only ten seconds left in the game, K. U. made a final—almost successful—effort to win. Charley Moffett faked a pass on his own 20 and sprinted 80 yards down the east side line to score without a Wildcat laying hands on him. But, an over-eager Jayhawk lineman was caught

M. S. Eisenhower

Dear Kansas Staters:

Here come warmest greetings and most sincere expressions of friendship from all of us now on the campus at K. S. C. to all of you in the armed forces of our country. May this be the last Christmas you must spend away from all you love.

Sincerely,
Milton S. Eisenhower

THE NEW PRESIDENT

Milton S. Eisenhower, who was inaugurated as president of Kansas State a year ago this September, is the first of the College's nine presidents to head his alma mater. He is a graduate of 1924 with a degree from the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing.

President Eisenhower came to the Kansas State campus with an impressive background of governmental activities, having resigned as assistant director of the Office of War Information in order to take over his new administrative duties.

Born in Abilene

The president, brother of General "Ike" Eisenhower, was born in 1899 in Abilene, where he attended grade and high schools. Upon his college graduation, he entered the government service, where he has spent most of his already brilliant career.

After the North African invasion by U. S. forces, Eisenhower was sent by President Roosevelt on a special mission to study refugee relief and relocation problems in Algeria and Morocco.

Varied Experience

In 1918 and 1920-21, Eisenhower was city editor of his hometown paper, the Abilene DAILY REFLECTOR. While in college he was assistant instructor in the journalism department and from 1924 to 1926 he was Vice-Consul at Edinburgh and Acting Consul at Dumfermline, Scotland. He was then appointed as assistant to W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture. In 1927 Eisenhower married Helen Elsie Eakin of Manhattan and they now have two children, Milton Stover, 12, and Ruth Eakin, 5.

F. D. Farrell, President Emeritus, is now professor of rural institutions in the department of Economics and Sociology where he is teaching a limited number of courses for upperclassmen and graduates.

clipping on the play and the score was nullified. Everybody thought the game was over when the referee fired his gun, but officials ruled the Jayhawkers had one more play which would start at the Wildcat 32.

That extra play has gone down in Kansas State football annals as the "famous fifth quarter." On the play, the Wildcats swarmed the K. U. ball carrier with no gain and, the heart-shocking contest was over. It was the climax of a grand football season and left promise for a postwar gridiron winner at Kansas State.

Basketball

It is too early to make predictions about the Kansas State 1944-45 basketball season. The Wildcats will be coached by Fritz Knorr, former cage mentor at Northwest High School in Kansas City, Mo., and the Kansas

"Battle Baby"

This "Battle Baby" edition of The Collegian is being sent to all regular subscribers, to graduates and former students who are in the Armed Forces, and to members of the Alumni Association. Alumni receive this edition of the Collegian instead of an issue of The Industrialist this week. The staff of the Collegian and Industrialist collaborated on this issue. We hope our readers enjoy the "Battle Baby."

In this issue the Collegian abandoned the usual news story style of writing and the usual news headlines in favor of a "digest" that attempts to give a fairly comprehensive picture of happenings the past several months and plans for the future, with emphasis on plans which are of special interest to men and women in the service.

The Alumni Office made every effort to get an up to date list of all men and women in the Armed Forces. You can help by mailing this copy to some person who may have been missed. Please keep the Alumni office informed as to your correct address at all times.

POSTWAR CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

Although war has halted building activity on the campus, architects and campus planners are hard at work over drawing boards completing plans and specifications for improving and rejuvenating the campus. This does not mean that the well-known ivy clad walls of native limestone won't still be here when the veterans return. It only means that those additional buildings which the college and its students have been wanting for many years will become a reality as soon after the war as possible. The same idea of simplicity of buildings and landscaping which make things look like they "belong here" will be carried out in the new buildings.

Field House

In his biennial report to the State Board of Regents President Eisenhower has requested an appropriation for a Field House which is to be constructed north of Memorial Stadium. The student body of 6,000 or 7,000 expected after the war can watch the Wildcats beat the Jayhawkers in basketball without having to hang from the rafters as was done in Nichols gymnasium prior to the war. The Field House is the students' building because it was through their campaigning that the money for its construction was finally appropriated. In this building will be taught men's physical education classes. There can be an extensive intramural program, basketball, swimming, wrestling and other indoor sports, and indoor practice of football, baseball, tennis and track. It also will be used for indoor military drill in bad weather, for such affairs as 4-H Roundups and for College affairs which cannot be accommodated in the Auditorium.

Student Union

The Student Union fund will make possible shortly after the war a three-story modernistic building with accommodations for dining, living, bowling, student publications offices, and meeting rooms for campus organizations. There will be room enough for large crowds and big name bands in the large ballroom on the second floor. Construction of this building will begin as soon after the close of the war as possible.

Perhaps the most recent project on the campus is that of raising funds for the chapel. The chapel, which will be built from private endowments, will be used for convocations, housing of church organization offices, noon organ recitals and—campus marriages, if you like. Approximately $6,500 has been contributed by friends of the College. The class of 1929 is considering adding its campanile fund of $829 to the chapel fund.

Dormitories

The women of the state are going to see to it that Kansas State has additional women's residence halls. Already they are hard at work raising funds through various projects.

Men's dormitories also are included in postwar plans for the College. These will be financed by donations and student fees. There is no space on the present campus for such dormitories but an effort is being made to purchase land near the northwest corner of the campus. These dormitories, if built according to present plans, will face Denison Avenue, north of the stadium.

A reappropriation and additional funds have been requested for the construction of three home management houses to be built near Van Zile Hall.

The College has been without a small animals research laboratory since the old World War I barracks, being used as a laboratory, burned in 1941. Plans have been completed for this building and funds for its construction have been requested.

THE HOMEFRONT WAR EFFORT

Kansas State's fighting men and women can be assured that the Wildcats at home are giving their all in support of the armed forces. They are giving their time, money, services—and blood.

At nearly every request K-Staters have met, and usually surpassed, the quota set for them by the government, the Red Cross, the various war relief agencies.

Last spring students gave $513 to the American Red Cross during the annual drive for funds, exceeding their quota of $375. The College quota of $3625 was also met.

In April students and faculty donated over 100 pints of blood to the Red Cross Mobile Blood Bank during its three-day stay in Manhattan. Many other K-Staters offered their services, only to find that the quota had been filled. They responded equally well when the Blood Bank made its second visit here in July.

War Bonds

The Sixth War Loan Drive is in full swing on the campus at the present time, and while there is no set quota for this drive, latest figures on the bond sales total $74,450. The highest amount of bonds sold in previous drives was $173,550 worth in the 4th War Loan Drive.

The total of war bond purchases at the College by faculty and employees up to and including December 6, is $536,195.25. This figure does not include proceeds from the war stamp booth in Anderson Hall sponsored by a different campus organization each Wednesday.

War Fund

This fall the student National War Fund Drive quota of $1200 was oversubscribed by 50 percent. The faculty quota of $3300 was also met and exceeded. Students averaged a contribution of $1.25 each.

In addition to contributing to war bond and various other war effort drives, a number of organizations have individual war projects. Bandage rolling, scrapbooks, Christmas gift boxes for hospitalized soldiers and convalescent veterans, and the obtaining and distributing of books and magazines for men and women in the service are only a few examples of the "extra" efforts of homefront K-Staters.

Eleven honorary and professional organizations are active on the campus at this time.

THE CAMPUS ROUNDUP

A Civilian Campus

It's a civilian campus at Kansas State again. The last of the Army Air Force detachment left in May and A. S. T. P. training was discontinued in September. In contrast to prewar years the women outnumber men students almost two to one in the 1,519 students enrolled. Eighty-two World War II veterans already have enrolled under the veterans rehabilitation program or the GI Bill of Rights.

Housing

Van Zile Hall, which was used last year to house members of the A. S. T. P., is once more being operated as a women's residence hall. The Sig Alph and Sigma Nu fraternity houses have been leased by the College for residence halls for women students.

Jelly Joints

The favorite jelly joint haunts of K-Staters haven't changed much. All are being run by the same Aggieville people. They're crowded these days but mostly with girls. The juke box blares just as loudly, the smoke gets just as thick at the "Can" as it used to get. Aggieville drug stores and fountains are still crowded after a dance or show.

Women

When K-State boys return to the campus they will find College girls are smoking on the streets and campus walks (the no-smoking ban on the campus was lifted last spring). Girls have taken over many activities formerly associated only with boys. Royal Purple and Collegian editors are girls as are most of their staffs. Most of the 17-year-old boys can't qualify for jobs in the short time they are on the campus. The Kansas State Engineer is edited by Jene Wise of Wichita. Even sports editors and photographers on student publications are girls. K-State's marching band has many girls in it. This year even the drum major and baton twirlers are girls. The Student Council is headed by Ethelinda Parrish, Manhattan.

Campus Fashions For Jills and Joes

The girls on the campus are dressing for comfort these days with emphasis on slacks, coveralls and fatigues. However, flats and anklets, sweaters and skirts still play a prominent part in the coed's wardrobe. But no matter how she may look in her oversized jeans or dungarees on the campus, when a K-State girl dresses for an all-important date, she's still the smooth dresser of pre-war days. That goes for the few and far between formal parties, too.

Corduroys and tweeds remain favorites among the civilian boys, although often the College Joe's clothes are reminiscent of his Army days with a pair of G. I. shoes, O. D. trousers or fatigues as part of his outfit.

Faculty Changes

Returning servicemen and women will find a number of new faces among the faculty. Department heads and administrative officers are being relieved of their administrative duties when they reach 65 years of age. Several new administrative officers will be on the staff.

Campus Entertainment

The Celebrity Series, formerly brought to the campus each year with money from the student activity fund, has been discontinued because of the small enrollment and insufficient funds. However, other groups are sponsoring entertainments of high quality which are brought to the campus. The Broadway cast of "Porgy and Bess" recently appeared here, sponsored by the Kansas State Players (formerly the Manhattan Theatre). The show was a sellout.

Pep "In the Groove"

Some of the old zip which has been lacking for year or so on the campus has returned. Evidence of this was the painting of sidewalks on the campus and at sorority houses with large signs of "Beat K. U." Someone was even energetic enough to climb a radio tower to hang a "Beat K. U." banner. School spirit has been unusually good this year. The students have learned some new yells and are cooperating in their cheering at the games. The addition of four pretty girls to the group of cheerleaders probably helped. The Wampus Cats, who disbanded when the manpower situation on the campus became very acute, have been reorganized so once again their purple sweaters contrast with the white outfits of the Purple Pepsters at the football and basketball games.

Queens!

There are still queens on the campus. St. Pat and St. Patricia are elected yet and there are still a Homecoming queen, a Royal Purple queen and Ag Barnwarmer queens. This year Betty Carr, Alpha Delta Pi, Lindsborg, a sophomore in industrial journalism, was chosen Homecoming queen. Her attendants were Martha Beckman, Pi Beta Phi, Lindsborg, and Caroline Myers, Alpha Xi Delta, Denver, Colo. The two ag women students were the Barnwarmer queens. They were Ruth Wilson, Valley Center, and Lorene Smith, Topeka. The Royal Purple queen has not been selected.

Wanta Ride?

"Dad" is still able to supply some of the students with cars, both jalopies and convertibles. And as in the good old days, the cars are usually filled to overflowing with college students.

Jobs—Money!

Students have no difficulty whatever finding parttime jobs on the campus and in Manhattan. Loan funds at the College are practically going begging.

Expositions

Engineers' Open House and the Little American Royal have been discontinued for the duration. Home Economics Hospitality Days has been cut to a one-day event. The annual 4-H Club Roundup was resumed this year after being discontinued a year ago.

Organizations

Organizations suspended for the duration are Blue Key, Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Phi Omega, Alpha Zeta, Athenian Society, Block and Bridle, Browning, Dairy Club, Horticultural Club, Klod and Kernel, Milling Industry Association, Mortar and Ball, Pax, Scabbard and Blade, Scarab, Sears Club.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

The committee on Postwar Educational Adjustments at the College has recommended that the College establish a Vocational School for giving resident instruction at less than the College level to men and women who have served in the Armed Forces. Vocational instruction has been recommended in the fields of agriculture, mechanic arts and home economics, with additional service courses in other fields as needed.

At College Level:

The committee also recommended sequences and curriculums at College level, not leading to a degree, in the various phases of agriculture, home economics, the mechanic arts, and the arts and sciences. Two-year curriculums already are available in some of the fields and others are being studied.

Refresher Courses:

The recommendations also include a suggestion that refresher courses be provided in accordance with the demand, particularly in professional curriculums. It was pointed out that any veteran can take a refresher course at any time and in any subject he or she chooses, regardless of the field in which he or she majored.

AGRICULTURE

The 55 students enrolled in the School of Agriculture make up the smallest number in agriculture since the curriculums were established more than 40 years ago. Three hundred ninety-six students entered this school at the beginning of the 1942-43 year, but 146 later withdrew either to enter the armed services or to return to farms where labor shortages made their services imperative.

Though resident instruction is considerably lighter than ever, the school is "carrying on" in various ways. A staff of 160 scientists, many of whom are on the resident instruction staff, are also on the agriculture experiment station staff where they are busy with agriculture research to aid in the country's food production plan now, and to improve the state's and nation's farms during the postwar period.

Results Available

During the last two years the results of their work have been made available to farmers and the general public by issuing 47 bulletins, preparing 193 articles for technical journals; writing more than 100,000 letters, issuing popular articles to the press and magazines, making radio talks, and by making all results available to the members of the state-wide extension service.

Plans for the improvement of curriculums and facilities for the postwar period when enrollment is expected to surpass all previous records, are being made by the school.

Recent Endowments

Since 1942 endowments from individuals and commercial firms in the agricultural field include: $71,400 for agricultural and industrial research; $46,000 for fellowships in the field of agricultural and industrial research; $3,000 for agricultural scholarships; and $1,900 for vocational agriculture, and 4-H Club scholarships.

Eugene Spratt of Ottawa, a junior, was the winner of the Swift annual essay contest this year. The prize is a trip to Chicago where, with winners from other land-grant colleges all over the country, he will study the marketing methods used by Swift and Company.

Sixteen On Leave

William Harold Metzger, associate professor of soils and member of the school's staff for 13 years, died July 7, 1942.

Dr. A. D. Weber has succeeded Dr. C. W. McCampbell as head of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

Most of the school's departmental, honorary and professional organizations are inactive because of the limited enrollment. But the sponsors have high hopes for their reorganization when the war is over.

The main social function, the Ag Barnwarmer, was held as usual this year, but on a much smaller scale than in the prewar days. Queens were the two women students enrolled in the school.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

Second largest school in the College this fall with an enrollment of 491 is the School of Arts and Sciences. One hundred seven men and 384 women are distributed through this school's various departments and curriculums.

In spite of the decreased enrollment, compared to the prewar standards, there is still considerable activity in each of the departments of the school. Several of them keep up-to-date records of graduates and former students now in the service.

Newsletters

Frank L. Myers in the athletics department publishes an "Our Gang" newsletter for K-State lettermen in the armed forces. The journalism department keeps graduates informed of each other's doings through The Fourth Estate, published annually, and "The Little Fourth Estate" which goes monthly to those in the service whose addresses are known.

Several departmental organizations have had to be discontinued for the duration, but most of them are still going strong. A new club for medical technicians has been organized.

Promotion for Thackrey

R. I. Thackrey, former head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing who had been on leave for naval service, was made Dean of Administration following his release from the Navy in September. He was a lieutenant in the training literature section of the Navy's aviation training division and was released from active Naval duty on request of President Eisenhower. This was in line with a policy of the Navy Department regarding men over 38 years of age whose services are requested for important civilian jobs.

He now aids the President in correlating curriculum changes to meet postwar needs and in coordinating rehabilitation and other federally-sponsored programs. In addition he has taken over summer school duties formerly handled by E. L. Holton, head of the Department of Education and dean of summer school for many years. Dr. Holton will continue as head of the education department, but by the end of the 1944-45 school year, in accordance with a Board of Regents ruling, he must be relieved of all administrative duties.

New Journalism Head

R. R. Lashbrook has recently been appointed head of the journalism department to succeed Dean Thackrey. There are several acting heads of departments in the school at the present time. Prof. L. E. Huddburg, assistant dean of arts and sciences, is acting head of the Department of Physics during the leave of absence of Prof. A. B. Cardwell. Dr. Ralph Parker is serving in the same capacity in the Department of Entomology while Prof. Roger Smith is on leave.

36 On Leave

Thirty-six members of the school's faculty from 15 departments are on war leave from the College. These include by departments:

Bacteriology: Capt. H. J. Peppler, Capt. Thomas H. Lord, and Major M. J. Twiehaus.

Chemistry: Major Hubert W. Marlow, Capt. C. H. Whitnah, and Ens. E. S. Stickley.

Economics and Sociology: Sgt. E. S. Bagley, Lt. (jg) Oscar S. Gellein, and Glenn Long.

Education: Capt. R. C. Langford and Hale H. Brown.

English: Lt. Clarence E. Baker and Lt. Russell Laman.

Entomology: Dr. Roger C. Smith. Journalism and Printing: Lt. (jg) Albert Horlings.

Mathematics: Dr. D. T. Sigley, Dr. G. C. Munro and Dr. H. C. Fryer.

Modern Languages: Sgt. Donald F. Munro.

Physical Education: Lt. J. H. Adams, Lt. Owen L. Cochran, Lt. J. H. Gardner, Lt. C. S. Moll, Lt. W. H. Schutte, Capt. B. R. Patterson, Lt. Frank J. Thompson and Miss Helen Saum.

Physics: Dr. A. B. Cardwell, Dr. J. S. Allen, E. K. Chapin, Dr. J. H. McMillen, and Dr. S. E. Whitcomb.

Speech: Lt. Norman C. Webster.

Zoology: Capt. Charles H. Lockhart and Lt. Leo H. Petri.

Geology: Capt. Frank E. Byrne.

ENGINEERING AND ARCHITECTURE

Although enrollment in the School of Engineering and Architecture has been much reduced by the war, this School has by no means been idle since you in the service went away.

While there are only 146 enrolled in engineering and architecture, all of them civilians, including 12 women this semester, last year the school aided the College in training approximately 700 Army Specialized Training students in both basic and advanced engineering. Basic engineering training was discontinued in March, 1944, but the last of the advanced engineers did not leave the campus until September.

Seaton Returns

Dean R. A. Seaton returned to Kansas State in 1942 from nearly two years' service with the United States Office of Education in Washington, D. C., where he had organized and directed a nation-wide program of short courses designed to meet the wartime shortage of engineers, chemists, physicists, and production supervisors. Upon his return he was made chairman of the College War Training Committee and had general supervision of the Army program here at K-State.

The short courses for war industry training which Dean Seaton organized and directed on a national basis have been offered on the campus for almost four years. More than 1,000 students have studied at the College in this Engineering, Science and Management War Training program. Persons trained have helped man machines in war plants throughout the Midwest.

Civilian employees of the Army Signal Corps took 12-week pre-radar courses, while employees of the Army Air Forces took airplane inspection courses. In addition, several courses were instituted to prepare civilians for work as inspectors and draftsmen in war industries.

Engineer Woman Editor

In the School of Engineering and Architecture, as in many other curricular and extra-curricular activities of the College, women have "rushed in" where before they "feared to tread." Not only are women regularly enrolled in the school but the K. S. Engineer has a woman editor and another on the business staff.

The annual Open House has been discontinued for the duration, but the usual St. Pat's Prom with the selection of a St. Pat and St. Patricia was held in the spring.

Twenty-six members of the engineering school's faculty are on leave for war service, either as a member of the armed forces or employed in essential war industry and research. Serving in the Army or Navy are:

Ens. Walter M. Carleton, Lt. Col. A. O. Flinner, Lt. (jg) R. A. Jones, Ens. Philip G. Kirmser, Lt. J. W. Martin, Capt. C. M. Moeller, Capt. F. W. Matting, Ens. Arthur W. Pryor, Ens. F. J. Sullivan, Maj. D. C. Taylor and Ens. Eugene Wasserman.

These are doing other war work: V. D. Carver, A. H. Duncan, John F. Eppler, O. D. Hunt, George LeBreton, E. J. McCormick, W. M. McDonald Jr., Claude E. Patnode, C. E. Pearce, Dr. Harner Selvidge, Max Silkman, E. L. Sitz, Wilson Tripp, Joe E. Ward Jr. and M. R. Wilson.

2 Professors Die

practice, died January 19, 1943, after serving 30 years on the faculty. Walter Ward, professor of engineering extension, died November 23, 1943. He had been employed by the College for 23 years.

Engineering research in the school is going on at a more advanced rate than ever before since the load of resident instruction is considerably lighter. The College is developing plans for an annual Industrial Week on the campus. This annual conference, held in cooperation with the Kansas Industrial Development Commission, and numerous industries of the state, will meet a need in the industrial field long filled by Farm and Home Week in the rural field.

Leading the schools of the College in enrollment is the School of Home Economics headed by Dean Margaret M. Justin. The enrollment this fall is 552 as compared with 535 a year ago and approximately 700 in pre-war years.

Dr. Martha Kramer, who returned last winter to the United States on the Gripsholm after having been interned by the Japanese in China for many months, is a new member of the faculty. Miss LeVelle Wood is on war leave with the American Red Cross and is stationed somewhere overseas.

Hospitality Days

Hospitality Days is still an annual event to which the entire College looks forward. Wartime restrictions have limited the exhibits and the attendance, but authorities considered the approximately 700 visitors last spring quite a good representation. The shortage of men students made dates to the Hop harder to get, but the large crowd indicated the affair a success.

The service division of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club devotes most of its time now to vol-

Your College Looks to the Future

EDUCATIONAL ADJUSTMENTS

For the past year members of the Kansas State College Postwar Planning Committee, appointed by President Milton S. Eisenhower, have been gathering information, meeting for discussion and writing recommendations for action which will enable the College to meet its responsibilities in the postwar period.

One of the committees of this organization is the Postwar Planning Committee on Educational Adjustments. The 39 members of its nine subcommittees have been considering specific problems within the general field.

The subcommittee reports include liberalizing technical curriculums, comprehensive courses, irregular admissions and credit, courses not leading to a degree, testing and counseling and counseling and visual education.

The subcommittees had four objectives in their planning:

1. Provide sound technical or professional education.
2. Help each student obtain a working understanding of each of the great fields of human knowledge.
3. Help develop sound judgments in all fields with which democracy has to work and give students practice in arriving at those sound judgments.
4. Give the student an understanding, deep and abiding faith in democracy and a willingness to work for democracy.

No "Scholastic Hoops"

Men and women returning from the Armed Forces will not be asked to jump through any "scholastic hoops" at the College. The committee on postwar educational adjustments has recommended that the College accept students, whose education was interrupted by war service, with the preparation they have and to give them the training they need.

Recommendations

The committee has recommended partial abandonment of the previous system of records and prerequisites, and the use of a system that enables the institution to meet the needs of individual students. Recommendations of the committee follow those of a committee appointed by the presidents of the five state supported higher education institutions of Kansas. In general they agree with recommendations made by regional and national conferences and by many educational bureaus, including those of the United States Armed Forces Institute.

Students having completed their basic military training in any branch of the service will receive four semester hours of credit for college basic military training and an additional hour for each six months spent in the armed forces up to a total of eight semester hours of college credit.

Students who have been commissioned in some branch of service, after completing a course in officers' training, will be allowed credit for college advanced military training up to 12 semester hours. The combined total for basic and officers' training is not to exceed 16 semester hours (equivalent to basic and advanced R. O. T. C.).

Credit for technical training in the armed services will be given an examination as recommended by the Armed Forces Institute.

Credit for college correspondence study courses will be given as certified through the Armed Forces Institute.

Credit for work in the Army Specialized Training Program, the Navy College Training Program (V-12), and the Army Air Forces Pre-Meteorology (B and C) training programs will be granted on the same basis as other advanced standing credit. Army Air Forces pre-flight and College Detachment work will be accepted by examination.

Regulations governing admission of war veterans and others whose education was war-interrupted, are to be liberalized to cover all veterans. Residence requirements for degrees also are to be liberalized.

War veterans are to be admitted as special students even though they have not graduated from high school. Such students also will be eligible for short courses in agricultural, vocational and industrial fields.

Refresher courses are to be provided by the various schools of the College as needed by veterans whose college work has been interrupted.

Courses taken by veterans in the Vocational School of the College will be accepted for College credit if validated by examination.

College credit courses taken in curriculums not leading to a degree are transferable to degree curriculums.

VETERAN LEGISLATION

Two federal laws provide for financial aid to veterans who wish to continue their education or take "refresher" courses after the war.

They are Public Law 346, the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, generally known as the "GI Bill of Rights," and Public Law 16, which provides for vocational rehabilitation of veterans who have a service-connected disability rating of at least 10 percent and are judged by the veteran's administration to be in need of rehabilitation training to overcome their handicaps.

Here are answers to some of the questions covering these two laws. First are summarized the major provisions of Public Law 346 as applying to education. Following that is less-detailed information on Public Law 16. These are not detailed summaries. Detailed information can be obtained from the Veterans Administration, or by writing the College.

Public Law 346—GI Bill of Rights

Q. What types of educational programs are offered?

A. Continuance of any educational program interrupted by the war; or refresher or retraining courses for those who have completed their planned program but need refresher work before entering civilian life. (The programs may be below college level, at college level, or at the graduate level.)

Q. Who is eligible for aid in continuing an educational program?

A. Anyone who has been in active military or Naval service on or after September 16, 1940; served 90 days or more; been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable; and whose education has been impeded, delayed, interrupted or interfered with by entry into the service. The law provides that time spent in an ASTP program or Navy college program which was a continuation of a veteran's civilian course and was pursued to completion, cannot be counted in determining his eligibility under this law.

Q. What constitutes having education "impeded, delayed, interrupted or interfered with?"

A. If you were not over 25 at the time you entered service, this is assumed. If you were over 25, you must submit evidence that you were following an educational program that was interrupted. (Thus, a student who was taking graduate work at the time of entry into the service but who had not completed the requirements for an advanced degree would be eligible, even though over 25.)

Q. Who is eligible for a refresher or retraining course?

A. Any veteran, regardless of age, is eligible provided he has satisfied the requirements as to 90 days of service and type of discharge.

Q. Is any one with less than 90 days service entitled to benefits?

A. Yes. Those who have service-connected disabilities.

Q. Are women eligible?

A. Yes. On the same basis as men.

Q. Just what are the benefits allowed?

A. Payments to the veteran are $50 a month for subsistence if single, or $75 a month if married. In addition, the cost of tuition, books and fees up to $500 for each ordinary school year (two semesters) will be met by the federal government. Sub-sistence payments go to the veteran, those for tuition, books and fees to the school. The amount allowed is sufficient to cover all tuition, books and fees in the various courses at Kansas State College.

Q. For how long a period am I eligible?

A. If you qualify at all, for education or training other than in refresher or retraining courses, you are entitled to at least one calendar year of education, and to an additional period roughly equivalent to the length of time spent in the service after September 16, 1940, up to the end of the war, but not more than a total of four calendar years. (You must apply within two years after discharge or the end of the war, whichever is later, and must complete all work within seven years after the end of the war. It is not necessary to attend college the year around. Also, if your period of eligibility runs out during a semester, but after the mid-point, you can complete the semester, receiving the benefits of the act.)

NOTE: Those entering refresher or training courses are eligible for only a year of that type of work.

Q. Do I have to take a full-time college load?

A. No, but subsistence payments may be reduced according to the load.

How To Apply

A. You don't need to do anything until you are discharged. Then if you wish to attend Kansas State College, you can apply to the regional Veterans Administration offices at Wichita or the regional office at which your C-folder is located. Any regional office will advise you. Or you can write or come directly to Kansas State College, which will forward your application through the proper channels. The College is authorized by the Veterans Administration to admit those it believes to be eligible and let them get started on their work, pending determination of eligibility. Of course, it will help all around if you apply as far in advance as you can. State that you are a discharged veteran, and give the name of the College you wish to enter. Proper forms will be sent you.

Q. What about courses taken in the armed services?

A. On request, the U. S. Armed Forces Institute will assemble the complete record of both military and naval personnel, and send it to the institution designated by the man making the request. Since preparing and evaluating the record takes time, you should write the Armed Forces Institute well in advance of the time you expect to make use of your record. Write United States Armed Forces Institute, Madison 3, Wisconsin, and ask for USAFI form 47, "Request for Report of Educational Achievement." Then follow instructions.

Public Law 16—Vocational Rehabilitation

Q. If I am eligible for education under either this law or the GI Bill, under which should I apply?

A. Pension payments under the Vocational Rehabilitation Bill are generally higher than the subsistence payments under the GI Bill. Under Public Law 16, your complete educational program is taken care of, irrespective of your length of service. Benefits include pension, medical care, vocational counseling, tuition, books, fees and the like. It is necessary under this law that you set an "employment objective,"—that is, some specific job or type of work which you can fill after completing your training.

LIBERALIZING CURRICULUMS

Definition:

Study in any field of knowledge which will lead to the development of a broader understanding and a more tolerant attitude toward all phases of human activity, is a liberalizing course.

Recommendations:

"A certain minimum of instruction should be given in each of the essential fields of human interest before a person can be considered as liberally trained."

"Course content is only one of the elements contributing to liberal and professional training of students. That the total College atmosphere and the personality, liberal viewpoint and teaching ability of each faculty member are equally important."

"Each curriculum should include six to 10 semester hours of required courses in each of these fields, social science, physical science, biological science, and the humanities (including philosophy)."

"Courses taken in these fields should be comprehensive or integrated courses, when not basic to the student's professional field."

COMPREHENSIVE COURSES

Definition:

The committee said its concept of comprehensive courses is that of "courses outside the field of the student's specialization, covering a broad field of knowledge including its historical development, the essential principles, bases and concepts and the relation to other fields and to human living. The comprehensive course should provide the student with the ability to grasp and orient significant facts and ideas in the field. Comprehensive courses should not be assumed to provide the basic or foundation knowledge needed by a student who would become a specialist in that field."

Recommendations:

The committee recommended specifically that there be adopted at Kansas State College four courses designed to provide an introduction to the basic knowledge of a group of related subjects comprising a general field. The fields suggested were social studies, biological sciences, physical sciences, and the humanities. Each of the four courses would carry six to 10 hours credit. The curriculum selected would determine which courses the student would be required to take. The committee recommended that the comprehensive course or courses in the field of the student's specialization not be required. The committee recommended that the comprehensive courses be offered in the fall of 1945.

The committee also recommended single field courses to include subjects of one general field such as English or history. Such courses would trace the development of the field, show its applications to major fields of human enterprise, and provide some competence in the field.

The committee also suggested professional summary courses for the various professional curriculums in the last year of College, provided a general review for developing cohesion of the knowledge obtained throughout the College career for the purpose of bringing into focus and showing interrelationships with other fields or professions.

STUDENT PERSONNEL DIRECTOR

The College committee on Postwar Educational adjustments has recommended the appointment of a director of student personnel to coordinate all testing and counseling work. The recommendations also call for the creation of a board of counselors under the chairmanship of the director of student personnel, with representatives from each School of the College, offices of the Dean of Women and the Men's Adviser, and the supervisor of testing.

The recommendations also call for the establishment of a decentralized advisory system with faculty advisers within each school, and expansion of the present office of records for coordination of all student records pertaining to testing and counseling.

General recommendations on testing call for continued cooperation with high schools in testing and guidance programs, expansion of facilities for individual post-registration tests requested by students, and an expansion of pre-registration testing.

VISUAL EDUCATION

Greater use of visual methods both in extension and resident instruction, is among many general recommendations made by the committee on Postwar Educational Adjustments. The committee recommends a standing committee on visual education to obtain and make available to the faculty information on methods in visual education, sources of films and similar information.

Three-hour Course Recommended:

Another recommendation was that a three-credit-hour course in visual education be offered at the College.

Other recommendations had to do with extension of the physical facilities for visual education. These recommendations include the establishments of a library for visual aids, provision for at least one 16 mm. projector in each school of the College, and provision for availability in each department of a room suitable for the showing of still or motion pictures.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

Ninety-nine of 156 Kansas State College professors who replied to a questionnaire sent out by the American Association of University Professors on the subject of universal military training were in favor of such training. Forty persons were against the proposed training and 17 were uncertain.

Legislation Presented Soon

The answering of the question was based upon several assumptions. The training would be for one year under the exclusive control of the armed forces. Training should be given not before the 17th nor later than the 21st birthday. Training should be for all men physically qualified, whether they had or had not been graduated from high school before their 21st birthday. Legislation providing for such training would become operative upon the termination of selective service. The trainee would be prepared physically, mentally, emotionally and technically for the intricate demands of modern mechanized warfare.

Indication of strong sentiment against the federal government becoming involved in vocational training or any other type of compulsory training outside the military field was expressed by 56 faculty members who were not in favor of all physically able young men receiving military training for only part of the year with the rest of the time spent obtaining work experience, vocational training and general education. Thirty-four favored this type of program. The majority of the faculty did not favor a year's military training for only part of the physically able men while the others received a year of work experience, vocational training and general education.

A Beginning on the Union

Workmen from the State Highway Department make core samples of the soil on the proposed site for the new Student Union Building, south of Engineering Hall, to determine the type of footing necessary for the building. Plans have been drawn and construction will begin as soon as conditions permit.

Hill Happenings Since You Went Away

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

What's been cookin' socially on the K-State campus since you left? In spite of the war we still have our social life, for that's a big part of college, you know. The lack of men and dance bands has cut our fun down but here's the way we manage:

There's only one formal party a year instead of the usual two for each sorority and fraternity. Some of them even combine their efforts on the big party—for example, the Sig Alphas and Sigma Nus have combined their Belle Ball and White Rose formal for the duration.

House Parties

House parties? Yes, of course, but not as many as in the "good old days." The Kappa Sigs are having their Red Dog Inn party again this winter. The sororities still have their open houses or hour dances on week nights for fraternity men. Nowadays it takes most of the fraternity men on the hill to make enough dance partners for one sorority. . . .

This fall there was a Panhellenic Open House given by the sororities for all the men on the campus.

The independent women have two active groups—Amicossembly for all women living in organized independent houses, and Amistad for all other independent women. These groups have had teas, formal parties and open houses.

A pre-election dance and a victory dance following the freshman class election was on the date calendar for all independent students.

Betton Returns

If you'd come back to Kansas State the night before Homecoming, you'd have felt right at home. You see, we had the annual Homecoming Ball just like old times. The band was GI, but there on the front row was Pfc. Matt "Pappy Zeke" Betton giving out with arrangements that all Kansas Staters love.

Along in the spring when it comes time for more beauty queens, K-Staters will have the Royal Purple Beauty Ball to look forward to. And speaking of spring dances, there's still the St. Pat's Prom, sponsored by all the engineers, with St. Pat and St. Patricia reigning over the dancing crowd. As long as we're on the subject of formal dances, we mustn't forget the Hospitality Hop sponsored by the home ecs in the spring during Hospitality Days.

On the informal side is the annual Ag Barnwarmer which has survived despite the rigors of war. This year there were two queens. They were the two women students in the School of Agriculture. Veterinary medicine students still have the Javamarac. After all, there are more vets left than other men. But, since the war, they've done away with the dinner (food service is hard to get) and celebrate with only a dance at the Avalon.

Varsities

Varsities? Well, yes, but not as often as they used to be. Purple Peppers sponsored the annual Golddigger varsity again this year. You should have seen the corsages which the girls made for their dates! Everything from powder puffs to vegetable gardens. There was a swell varsity the night of Homecoming too.

That just about sums up the social life of Kansas State in wartime. With the accelerated program and semesters shortened to 16 weeks we don't have quite so much time for play. But we'll be content to dance to recordings and cut down some on our gaily until many of you return to help bring K-State's social life back to par.

GIRLS 'HOLD DOWN' KSC

Wander back through your dreams to Kansas State. You won't find things so changed.

The hollows in the steps of Anderson Hall have worn a little deeper. Lots of footsteps have gone up and down them since you left. But the ivy leaves turned that same lovely shade of red this fall that they always turn.

Not very many noisy jalopies bounce over the campus drives now, but the green and yellow city busses still rattle through the campus every 15 minutes. Harry still guides traffic south of Anderson Hall.

Invade Schools

Schools of Engineering, Veterinary Medicine and Agriculture have been invaded by women. However, girls haven't taken over the football team yet; they aren't drilling with the ROTC boys either. And you were well represented in the stadium in the cheering section this year. The Wampus Cats made a comeback, and two of the six cheerleaders were men.

That routine greeting, "How are you; I'm fine," has been given a wartime version. Now when one coed greets another on the campus it is, "Where's your man now?" And the answer may be anything from "boot camp in Idaho" or "OCS in Georgia" to "the front line in Germany" or "an island in the South Pacific."

Patches, Insignias

A quick survey of campus fashions shows that K-State coeds are proud of their men. The shoulder patches and insignias you send back to your girls are being worn on their jackets and coats. A coed is as thrilled the day she gets your wings as the day you were when you got them. She wears them just as proudly. A favorite lapel pin is a bar from that favorite lieutenant or ensign.

They know how important mail call is to you, but did you ever stop to think how important it is to them. "A letter for you" is just about the best news a girl can hear these days, provided it is from the "right guy." And did you ever dream you'd be a pin-up boy? Your pictures decorate everything from bedroom walls to billfolds and lockets.

"Do I Worry?"

Do some of you worry about all the girls being married by the time you get back? That is a mutual worry. These pictures of Australian brides and stories of English brides coming to the United States don't exactly put an American girl's mind at ease. They're wondering, "Will there be any eligible fellows returning?"

For the time being girls have more or less taken over K-State, but don't let the situation bother you. Everyone will be so glad to have you back that the coeds won't mind giving up a few of their war time privileges when you return. And they hope you won't find things too changed in your dreams now, or when you really come back.

GREEKS

Sorority membership hit an all-time high this year with 371 Kansas State coeds wearing the pledge or active pins of Greek social organizations. This number represents 37.3 percent of the total number of women enrolled.

Kansas State's seven sororities pledged 125 women during rush week. There was a record attendance of 166 women at rush week functions. The sororities and the number pledged by each: Pi Beta Phi, 25; Chi Omega, 23; Alpha Delta Pi, 18; Alpha Xi Delta, 13; Delta Delta Delta, 15; Kappa Delta, 10; and Kappa Kappa Gamma, 21.

Fraternities

Nine of the 16 fraternity houses are rented to private families and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Nu houses are used as annexes to Van Zile Hall, girls' dormitory.

Of the 128 fraternity men, 95 live in fraternity houses. The men of Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon are living in the Phi Delta house. Other houses open are Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

One fraternity has 28 members; two have 23 men; two have only one member each. No matter how small the membership, none of the groups have officially declared themselves inactive. They are all looking forward to the day they can resume their place in campus life.

Political Life

Greeks have organized into an Interfraternity Council with members from both sororities and fraternities and into an Interfraternity Pledge Council made up in the same manner. The Women's Panhellenic is still active.

Class office elections resulted in an all-Greek victory in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. The Student Council is composed of six Greek members and three Independents.

Social Life

Fraternity men were entertained by all sororities at the Panhellenic open house and on week nights it's not uncommon to see a group of fraternity men walking up the steps of a sorority house to attend a "hour dance." Sunday night buffet dinners are still in order.

The Avalon will be the scene of the annual fraternity and sorority formal parties with music for dancing furnished by the Varsity Club Band, composed of Kansas State students.

The "Fraternity Sing" has been abandoned, leaving Y-Orpheum as the only competitive program in which Greek groups participate.

INDEPENDENTS

Independent students outnumber Greeks on the campus approximately two to one. The Independent organization is working through the College supervised women's residence halls, which include Van Zile Hall and Annexes I and II; through the various women's organized houses under Amicossembly; and through the Independents' baby organization, Amistad, for women not living in organized houses. No men's houses are active.

Amistad

Organized last spring, Amistad (Spanish for friendship) is now a growing organization of from 75 to 100 members. It has a potential membership of nearly 250. The group has undertaken several worthwhile projects such as rolling bandages and making scrapbooks for crippled children's hospitals. Amistad is now planning a formal dance for the spring semester. The organization meets twice monthly in Recreation Center.

Amicossembly

Amicossembly in its fourth year of existence is composed of 14 organized independent women's houses with a total of approximately 175 women. Houses organized this year are Arcadia, Aloha Cottage, Chatterbox, Clark's Gables, Coed Court, Hill's Heights, Keim's Kabana, La Fiel, Maisonelle, Moore th' Merrier, Pal O' Mle, Shanty, Skywood Hall and Trimalai.

This association annually sponsors a spring formal, takes part in Y-Orpheum, selects its candidates for queens and other contests, holds several mixers or picnics and sends Christmas boxes to men in the hospital at Fort Riley. The Amicossembly Council, made up of two girls from each of the 14 houses, meets monthly at the various houses to transact the business of the organization.

Van Zile Hall

Army trainees were housed in Van Zile Hall last year, but once again the women's residence hall is inhabited by coeds. In fact, the number of women enrolled at Kansas State this fall made necessary the use of the Sig Alpha and Sigma Nu houses as residence hall annexes I and II. Each is housing 40 to 45 girls under supervision similar to that at Van Zile Hall.

Political Life

More pep has been shown by the Independents on the campus recently than has been evidenced for several years. The Independent Party had several lively election dances this fall. They campaigned vigorously for their candidates and amassed a heavy vote in class elections, taking all freshman class offices.

TRAINING FOR CITIZENSHIP

Something unique among land-grant colleges is the Institute of American Citizenship to be established soon at Kansas State College with $200,000 provided by the William Volker Charities Fund, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo. The endowment is to be spread over a five-year period.

The Institute of American Citizenship will have a three-fold program, including resident instruction, adult extension and research. At least four courses for both graduate and undergraduate credit will be offered as part of the resident instruction. One will be a comprehensive course on the development of American life and government, one on municipal and state democratic procedures, a third dealing with the federal government and a fourth course on methods that can best be used by teachers to make the study of history, civics and citizen participation an exciting adventure for young students.

The adult extension program will include radio programs and discussion meetings with the College faculty, Farm and Home Week audiences, 4-H Club groups and other groups throughout the state. The research program will include studies of the most effective methods used in citizen education at other colleges and universities, practical studies of good and bad practices in the governmental functioning of selected cities, and studies in other significant aspects of the function of democracy. There will be no laboratory or class fees for the Institute courses.

Endowment Booklet

An attractive 20-page illustrated endowment booklet telling in a brief story some of President Eisenhower's postwar plans for the College can be had free of charge by writing to Kansas State College.

A Letter From Eisenhower

President Milton S. Eisenhower, at the request of the magazine, Country Gentleman, has written a 2,500 word letter to men and women in the armed forces. This article will appear in a forthcoming overseas edition of the Country Gentleman. Only 100,000 copies will go overseas. Former Kansas State students should be especially interested in this account of home front activities.

Robert Reed, a Kansan, is editor of the magazine.

RECENT GIFTS TOTAL $355,000

A comparatively new organization is the Kansas State College Endowment Association, a non-profit corporation which serves as a co-ordinator of private gifts to the College. It is hoped that with gifts received by the Endowment Association, campus improvements which cannot be financed through state funds, may be made. Some of these are residence halls for both men and women, a campus chapel, scholarships and fellowships, furnishings for the new Student Union Building, and endowed chairs and lectureships.

A recent incomplete survey of the campus revealed that more than $355,000 has been made available to the College since July 1, 1944, by business and commercial firms and individual friends of the school in the form of gifts, endowments and grants. This money, much of which has been handled by the Kansas State College Endowment Association, is to be used for scholarships, financing research and campus improvements.

Scholarships

One hundred four scholarships, fellowships and graduate and research assistantships totaling approximately $13,300 annually are available at the College.

Already $6,500 has been given toward the construction of a chapel. The Duckwall family of Abilene contributed $5,000 for this fund. Mrs. Mattie Mails Coons, Manhattan, made the initial gift of $1,500 to start the chapel fund.

An unusual gift recently was an annual dinner for presidents of all campus organizations by Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo. The first of these dinners to be known as the Anderson Dinner will be December 15.

The largest gift is $200,000 from the William Volker Charities Fund, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo., for the establishment of an Institute of American Citizenship. The endowment will be used over a five-year period.

Recent Gifts

Women all over the state are hard at work raising funds for the construction of a residence hall for women. The Home Demonstration units of rural Kansas women have pledged $200,000 for this purpose. Here in Manhattan the local residence hall committee is sponsoring an artist's series of three events to raise funds for the new building.

The Journalism Memorial Fund of the Endowment Association is made up of gifts of parents and friends of journalism students who have lost their lives in this war. The fund totals $585. The money, now in war bonds, will be used after the war to perpetuate the memory of these students by means of scholarships and awards.

NEWS FROM SCHOOLS

unteer war work. It sponsors weekly Red Cross bandage "rollings" in Calvin, and is often in charge of the War Stamp booth in Anderson Hall. When Van Zile Hall and the fraternity houses housed almost 1,500 servicemen last year, Home Ec Club members and other volunteer helpers sewed buttons, insignia and braid on Class A uniforms and darned G. I. socks in Calvin Lounge one night each week. They also assisted in compiling the list of addresses and mailing this "Battle Baby" issue of The Collegian.

Postwar Plans

This school too, is making postwar plans for its curriculums. The Dean of Home Economics in her biennial report to the President, favors the use of comprehensive or integrated courses, the wide use of the problem-solving method of teaching, expanded use of visual and other technical aids, the replacement of lecture courses with group-discussion type of instruction, and a wide program of in-service training of faculty and staff for modern instruction of College students.

The Veterans Administration has asked the school to offer short curriculums after the war that will fit men and women to manage cafes and similar food establishments, and to prepare women for homemaking, home nursing, and food preparation.

Students In Army

Many graduate dietitians are taking their internship in Army hospitals, and recent graduates in nursing are members of the Cadet Nurse Corps.

Since Van Zile Hall has been released by the Army, dietitians are again taking their training in that kitchen. Last year they were trained at the College-operated Marker House, 1414 Fairchild.

VETERINARY MEDICINE

With its training considered essential enough for deferment by many Selective Service boards, the School of Veterinary Medicine is perhaps carrying on "as usual" more than any other school "on the hill" this semester.

Early in June, 1943, civilian students in the school were inducted into the Army and returned to the College for ASTP veterinary medicine training. The instruction was the same as for regular civilian students except that these trainees, as all others, were required to live in Army quarters, to eat at the Army mess hall, (the remodeled Livestock Judging Pavilion) and to be subject to military discipline and training.

No More Uniforms

"Vet" AST's were in several fraternity houses, and the remainder "bunked" in the Military Science Building which has been completed. The number increased from 84 in June, 1943, to 164 in September, 1943. The program was discontinued at the end of the 1943-44 school year except for 25 seniors who were graduated at the close of the summer session in September.

Several of the wartime graduating seniors in Veterinary Medicine have been awarded commissions in the Army, and the remainder have gone into essential civilian practices.

Junior A. V. M. A.

The Junior A. V. M. A. continues to be one of the largest and most active organizations on the campus. The usual initiation rites were performed for approximately 60 freshman vets this fall, including five aspiring women veterinarians. The Javamarac was in November.

Lt. Col. C. H. Kitzelman and Capt. R. P. Wagers, members of the faculty, are on war leave and the roster of known K-State veterinarians in the armed services in Dean Dykstra's office runs high in the hundreds.

Publish Newsletter

A newsletter is put out by this school for these servicemen.

Work at the clinic is perhaps even heavier than usual, with the increased demands for greater food production on the Kansas farmer from the government. T/Royal Ruppert the 99th, a two and a half year old international champion Hereford bull, is perhaps the most valuable patient. His purchase price of $38,000 is the highest ever recorded for a Hereford bull, and the second highest price ever recorded in any breed.

City, Kansas, Junior College. Knorr has only one returning letterman, Joe Ridgway, a forward who lettered two seasons ago. Last year Ridgway played on Knorr's K-State A. S. T. P. quintet which won 12 of 15 games. Other varsity candidates this year who were members of the A. S. T. P. squad are Bill Schultz, forward; Dick Spencer, guard, and Ralph Stuesser, guard. Jay Payton, football quarterback, and a former cage star at Emporia State, will aid the Wildcats this year. Payton has a medical discharge from the Army.

The Wildcat cagers will play a 20-game schedule and participate in two games in Kansas City just prior to the Christmas holidays. In Kansas City, the Knorr team will play Kansas and Nebraska. Other teams at the Kansas City meet will be Missouri and Colorado. This is Knorr's first year in college coaching circles.

Not much is doing in other College athletics. Ward Haylett plans to take a few trackmen to indoor meets after Christmas and will probably have a full track team this next spring. Baseball is still in the problematical stage. Such minor sports as swimming, wrestling, tennis, and golf are out for the duration.

Give Oratorio Sunday Night

The College Choral Ensemble and five soloists will present Bach's Christmas Oratorio at the First Methodist Church Sunday at 8 p. m. The concert will be conducted by Prof. William Lindquist.

Soloists are: Shirley Marlow and Marion Coe Olsson, soprano, Hilda Grossmann, contralto, Cpl. Norman C. Myrvik, tenor, and Lt. Warren H. Stetler, bass. Organist will be Richard Jenson and Charles Stratton will be at the piano.

The Christmas Oratorio was composed by Johann Sebastian Bach, in 1734, to represent the first, second, and third days of the Festival of Christmas. It was written as part of the church service to celebrate one of the chief occasions in the Christian year.

The Christmas Oratorio was first offered to a London audience in 1873. The concert was first presented at Kansas State College on December 15, 1929.

Ministers who will participate in the program are the Rev. C. R. Davies, the Rev. C. T. Brewster, and the Rev. G. H. Grotley.

Betty Russell, Ralph Fogleman Star in "Claudia" This Week-end

"Claudia," the story of the irresistible and fun-loving girl who suddenly finds that she is a young woman, is the theme for the Kansas State Players first production of the year. This comedy-drama by Rose Franken will be presented Friday and Saturday night in the college auditorium at 8:15.

As the curtain rises, Claudia is trying to balance her bank account. She is positive that the bank has made a big mistake of about $200. David, her patient but somewhat baffled husband is reading the evening paper, and trying to convince Claudia that banks don't make mistakes and that 6 from 9 isn't 13. Betty Russell plays the part of Claudia, with Ralph Fogleman as David. Mrs. Brown, Claudia's mother, is played by Zella Barber.

Claudia, although of age, is still dependent upon her mother. As the play develops, Claudia passes three important milestones in her life. First, she tries to arouse jealousy in her husband by flirting with Jerry Seymore, a British author who lives just down the road. Joe Neidig portrays the tall and handsome Englishman.

Second, Claudia discovers that she is going to have a child, and third, that her mother has only a short time to live. Claudia faces these crises in her own naive way, and as the final curtain falls she is still the engaging but now mature young woman.

The other players in the cast are Janey Hackney and Embert Coles as Bertha and Fritz, the faithful servants. Pauline Flook is Madame Daruschka and Pat Williams is Julia, David's sister.

Prof. Earl G. Hoover is directing the play, with Margaret Ann Cadwell and Jean Walstrom as assistants. Stage manager is Dean Tiemann assisted by Seymour Cohen. Maureen Pence is in charge of properties and Jo Ann Harjung and Larry Jagon work with the costumes and make-up. Alic Ballard is house chairman and Miriam Hobbs is in charge of ticket sales.

Professor Hoover urges every one to get their tickets before the night of the play if possible and then to be prompt in arriving. After the curtain rises at 8:15, no one will be admitted except between scenes.

The box office in the auditorium will be open from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily. College students may get their reserved seat tickets by presenting their activity books at the box office.

Jones Initiated

Mary Jane Jones is a new member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional journalism fraternity for women. The initiation service was held December 7 at the home of Miss Margaret Wunsch. Afterwards Cpl. Paula Sullivan from Fort Riley described her work in army public relations.

Seal Sale . . .

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity for former Boy Scouts, is sponsoring the annual sale of Christmas seals for the Tuberculosis Association here on the campus.

They will be in charge of a booth in Anderson Hall today and tomorrow, and solicit the organized houses Monday night.

College Forum Closes Tuesday

Dean Rodney Babcock and Prof. Maurice Moggie will be the speakers at the last in the series of all-college Educational Forums Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Willard, 115. The topics of their discussions will be "Proficiency and Placement Tests" and "Integration of Education Experiences."

At the Educational Forum last Tuesday, Prof. Charles H. Scholer explained tentative plans made by faculty committees for "Liberalizing Technical Curricula." Professor Scholer showed that many curriculums contain all technical courses and thus the individual graduating in that curriculum does not have a general knowledge of all fields, but only a technical knowledge of his own field.

A discussion of "Comprehensive Courses" designed to meet the need for general knowledge was led by Dr. Harold Howe. He reviewed the fact that knowledge could be classified in four categories, "the humanities," "the physical sciences," "the social sciences" and "the biological sciences." Plans have been made for comprehensive courses in each of these fields of knowledge. "Professional Review" Courses, which would be given in the senior year to bring together and review all the knowledge learned in a particular field were also discussed.

Editor Cancels Beauty Ball

This year's Royal Purple Beauty Queen and her three attendants will be announced in May when the yearbooks are distributed.

The decision not to have a Beauty Ball was made following consideration of the difficulty of obtaining a band and a satisfactory time and place for the dance according to Elizabeth Crandall, 1945 Royal Purple editor.

"Under the circumstances I believe it will be better to spend both the time and money in publishing a better yearbook," she said.

As in the past, the queen and her three attendants will be chosen from unidentified photographs by an off-campus person whose identity will not be announced until after the contest is over.

There are to be sixteen candidates, half Greek and half Independent. The eight sororities and the two Van Zile annexes have been asked to nominate one candidate each, and Van Zile Hall, Amicossembly and Amistad two each. Pictures will be taken at the Studio Royal sometime after the holidays.

Mortar Board Honors Women For Scholarship

Ruth Fenton, home economics and nursing, received the scholarship plaque for having the highest grade average during her freshman year at the annual Mortar Board Scholarship Dinner at Thompson Hall Monday evening, December 4. Two hundred and fifty Kansas State College women—students and faculty—were guests of Mortar Board, honorary society for senior women.

Fenton Is High

Miss Fenton has a grade average of 2.955 out of a possible 3. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and of the Home Economics Nursing Club. Last year she was one of the cheerleaders.

Second high was Julia Jane Munger with 2.79. Elma Yowell and Ruth Hodgson tied for third place with 2.766. They are all enrolled in the School of Home Economics.

Mrs. Keith on Program

Describing the average woman as "The Woman of the Hour," Mrs. Hulda Keith presented her ideal of a housewife and mother as one with high physical, educational and spiritual qualities and with a definite relationship and influence on the world about her.

Margaret McNamee, president of Mortar Board, was toastmistress for the evening. Roberta Townley answered the question "What Is Mortar Board?" The Manhattan High School Boys' Quartet—Lee Walters, Ronnie Bowles, Dan Huston, Ted Grimes—accompanied by Bill Johnston sang.

Introduce 71 Juniors

Seventy-one junior women were introduced who have a grade average of 1.8 and above and are therefore scholastically eligible for Mortar Board next year.

Anderson Dinner Honors Presidents

The first annual Anderson Dinner for approximately 95 presidents of campus organizations will be tomorrow at 6 p. m. in Thompson Hall. This dinner has been made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo.

According to suggestions by the Andersons, President Milton S. Eisenhower will be the principal speaker of the evening and Dr. A. D. Weber, professor and head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, is to be the toastmaster. Max Martin, assistant professor in the Department of Music, will furnish the music. The Rev. B. A. Rogers will lead the group singing.

Mr. Anderson, Ag. '16 and '23 and M. S. '28, is secretary of the American Hereford Cattle Breeders Association. After his graduation here he served for several years on the staff of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

Ticket Sale Ends Saturday

Students have only two more days in which to take advantage of their special price on season tickets for the Manhattan Artist Series, Dean Helen Moore has reminded student leaders who are assisting with the sale.

The three-event series includes the Platoff Don Cossack chorus, a male chorus which presents Russian songs and dances, February 7; Marie Wilkins, the Kansas girl who stepped into opera overnight, March 15; and Charles Kullman, young Metropolitan Opera tenor, April 24.

"On the success of this series depends an ambitious plan for outstanding events next year," Dean Moore said. "Part of the profits will go to underwrite next year's events and part toward building new residence halls for women at Kansas State."

Although Christmas shopping and bond sales have cut into December budgets, nevertheless, students will find that buying the season tickets will save them at least a third more than buying tickets for individual events, Dean Moore pointed out.

Single admission tickets will go on sale two weeks before each performance. For those who do not make seat reservations by Saturday Miss Emma Hyde will be in her office, X 108, Monday and Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon and from 2 to 6 p. m.

Bazaar A Success

Selling over $200 worth of goods, the YWCA Christmas bazaar this year is considered as the most successful one ever held. Nearly two-thirds of the merchandise for sale was sold before the noon hour, and the food counter, which sold hot coffee for the first time, was very popular with the guests.

At least 400 girls worked on the bazaar, both at selling and preparing for the affair, Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YWCA secretary, estimated. The Leadership Council was in charge of the food booth.

Discuss Education

Marian Shields, Dell Knauer, Ruth Fenton, Al Poindexter, and Phyllis Hickney were the speakers on a panel discussing the general topic "What Do I Want From an Education?" in Rec Center Tuesday afternoon.

Following a question-and-answer round-table among the chief speakers, the audience entered into the discussion.

Smoking Rules . .

Students have been seen smoking on the steps of the Library as well as other buildings. The rules for smoking as published in the first issue of the fall COLLEGIAN state "smoking is prohibited on all steps and immediate approaches of buildings on the campus." Further violation of this rule will result in punishment by the student council.

No 'Cowpaths' Please

It has been called to our attention that with the protection of rubber boots and overshoes, students and faculty members are walking across the campus with little or no regard for sidewalks.

This is an issue that has been cried from The Collegian editorial column practically as long, loud and often as the smoking situation, so we are just as tired of it as you are. Yet, because of its frequency during the recent snow, we feel that we must ask you to refrain from so doing again.

Campus "cutting" is done more often when snow is on the ground, and this is just when it is hardest on the grass.

So once again, for the sake of the beauty of your campus, we ask you to stay on the sidewalk, and avoid the making of "cowpaths." We know it's cold, and the temptation to save a few steps is great, but unbroken stretches of green grass will be the reward this spring.

Words To The . . .

With only two days remaining in the Manhattan Artist Series ticket sale, student purchases remain disappointingly low. We say disappointing because it is just that, especially to the guarantors and certain members of the faculty who have gone to a great deal of trouble and expense so that we, the students of Kansas State, might be afforded this opportunity.

Through their generosity, three evenings of fine musical entertainment will be presented next semester at a remarkably low price, but according to statistics from the ticket sale, surprisingly few of us will be among those attending.

Perhaps next semester seems somewhere in the dark dim future, temporarily obscured by the Christmas rush and thoughts of the 10-day holiday approaching. But we assure you, the dates for the performances will arrive much sooner than expected. As those days roll around, may we say that we expect there will be several K-Staters cursing themselves for not buying season tickets "way back in December" as they dig deep in their pockets for the price of a single admission? This price, we might add, will be almost as much as a season ticket.

So don't bury your head in the sands of the present. We know that you all will want to attend the performances. We would hate to admit that Kansas State students would deliberately pass up an opportunity for such fine entertainment. The ticket sale closes Saturday. Buy your ticket before or by then.

Buy War Bonds and help assure the future of the colleges.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

(Ed. Note) The following material was found under a wet rock in Sunset Park and after scraping off the ice and snow—it still leaves us COLD. Here it is:

POETS CORONER: By quaint old Uncle Big Johnathan,

Collich Life Part M

Now, I'll not spend THIS Christmas With thoughts both dark and drear, I'll greet it with a smile and song, And a quart of Christmas cheer.

F. Larry Neiman was voted an honorary member of the South Manhattan Knitting club. Neiman is now the biggest sew and sew on the campus.

Now we come to the Chi Omega semi-formal (semi-formal—that's one shoe instead of two). I wouldn't say the musicians (and I use the term loosely) played loud but they didn't need a band at Wabunsee that night.

Dean Helen Moore complained the band played too loud. And she is certainly right. It interfered with her gin rummy game terribly. All kidding aside congratulations go to all Chi Omegas for a lovely evening. They had so many stags they had to invite three game wardens to maintain order. However Larry Neiman wasn't there, and a good time was had by all. But to get back to the band. Dick (Let us play just 10 more minutes, Dean) Dodderidge really has a wonderful band, it plays beautifully.

(ADVERTISEMENT)

An unidentified bystander played the drums in place of Harvey (Krupa is good, too) Haas. Upon peering closer we discovered it was Joe (Songs, dances and witty sayings available for private parties) Neidig.

The TKE formal was held (at arms length) last week. TKE formal—that's one borrowed tuxedo and 84 DARK suits. Orchids go to "Shorty" Harold for the wonderful party. We weren't able to get orchids but we sent him a dozen old stinkweeds instead.

That is all the stuff and things we can think of for now. So we leave you with this parting thought:

We really love everyone but after all we have to write something. And besides, we love to gamble with death.

MERRY XMAS

Let us help you with your Christmas errands by offering our prompt and efficient transportation from the College to downtown and Aggleville.

Grad School Active On Campus Since '31

Enrollment in the Graduate School during the last two years was 425, a decrease of 504 students since the biennium 1940-42. Seventy-four Masters' Degrees were conferred in the two years, and the degree Doctor of Philosophy was conferred upon five candidates. The Graduate School was established and the Ph. D. degree authorized in 1931. Since 1931, 16 Ph. D. degrees have been conferred.

The Graduate School seeks to promote advanced study in most of the fields of work offered by the College. Broad programs, rather than highly restricted ones, are used in developing in the students greater mental power and proficiency in two or more fields.

The graduate school offers many courses which need not lead to a degree, but which afford additional knowledge in any field for which the student is prepared. This will help meet the needs of the returning veterans after the war. A broadened technical education is being planned to develop in advanced students knowledge of fields apart from the major field. The Graduate Council is considering plans of requiring majors in physical and biological sciences to minor in a social science, and majors in a social science to minor in either a physical or biological science.

Dean J. E. Ackert of the Graduate School, who has been chairman of the Graduate Council for 21 years, has done much to further the work of the school.

Kansas Magazine Shows State Talent

A portrait of President Emeritus F. D. Farrell, from the oil painting by Margaret Sandzen Greenough is featured in the 1945 issue of the Kansas Magazine recently published here at the College.

The Kansas Magazine is a cooperative enterprise, made up of the work of artists, writers, printers and engravers of Kansas. There have been thirteen issues since Russell Thack-rey, Dean of Administration, revived the magazine in 1932.

The editor, Prof. Robert Conover of the English department, states that the purpose of the magazine remains the same as it was in 1932. "There has been no attempt to be inclusive or particularly exclusive in this issue. The aim has been to bring together under one cover the work of people who are Kansans and who express Kansas as it is and not as it is seen from the rear platform of a train."

The staff of the Kansas Magazine includes Prof. John Helm, art editor; and Prof. Ralph R. Lashbrook, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Kansas Magazine Publications Association.

Schedule Dance

A "Thank-You" dance, sponsored by the YWCA and the YMCA, is scheduled to be held at the USO Friday night, January 12. The Negro orchestra from Ft. Riley has been obtained to play for this free dance, which is being given in appreciation for the splendid cooperation of the students and faculty in the War Fund drive.

This dance was announced to be held a few weeks ago, but it was necessary to postpone it because of the lack of a band.

Collegians . . .

Because of the shortage of help, Collegians will not be placed in the College post office until Thursday afternoon. The additional half-day is necessary for addressing and distribution.

Ask counsel of both times: of the ancient time what is best; and of the latter time what is fittest.

—Francis Bacon.

K-State Cagers Wallop Washburn Monday 33-29

Coach Fritz Knorr's young basketball players played their finest defensive game of the current season and turned back Washburn University's strong Ichabod quintet 33-29 at Topeka Monday night. Kansas State posted its first win in the victory column in three starts. Two previous games had been lost to the star-studded army teams from Fort Riley and Great Bend Army Air Base.

Washburn, a smooth-passing club which holds a victory over Kansas University this season, started the game's scoring when Krone dropped in one from the field soon after the opening tipoff. Joe Ridgway, K-State's 120-pound forward and only letterman on the squad, tied the count with one from the side and freshman Jack Kincheloe, center, sent the Wildcats out in front 4 to 2 a moment later with a short poke at the basket. From then, until the final gun, the rapidly-improving Knorr team hung to the lead.

Lead At Half

While a tight Kansas State defense limited Coach Dee Erickson's fine Ichabod quintet to 12 points the first half, Ridgway, Kincheloe, Dave Weatherby, center, Dick Spencer and Jay Payton, guards poured through 11 field goals to throw the scrappy Aggietown quintet into a 22 to 12 halftime lead.

Early in the second half, the Erickson-tutored Ichabods thrilled Topeka fans with a rally which all but erased the Kansas State advantage. With only six minutes of the last-half gone, Washburn, paced by Krone and Ulrich pulled the score to 24 to 22, Kansas State. Late-in-the-game baskets by Ridgway, Bill Schultz, forward, and Larry McClaughry, forward, sewed up the stirring contest for the Knorrmen.

Uses Many Men

Following his early-season practice of using a large number of players in each game, Knorr shot 13 Wildcats at the Ichabods and each of the young K-Staters showed well. Jay Payton, Emporia, and Dick Spencer, Oakley, teamed harmoniously at the guard posts and turned in praiseworthy performances both on offense and defense. Kincheloe, a tall youngster from Cunningham, and Dave Weatherby, 17-year-old from Neodesha, both centers, did outstanding rebound work, and Kincheloe starred on defense as he held Stramel, Washburn scorer to five points. Joe Ridgway, playing his usual aggressive game, broke away for four field goals and two free tosses to share the game's scoring honors with Krone of Washburn. Both men had 10 points. Payton, game captain for the Wildcats, kept the Washburn defense jittery with his tricky passing and court generalship.

Hawks Meet Cats Monday

Rockhurst college basketball team will invade Nichols gym next Monday evening as Coach Fritz Knorr's young Wildcats try for their second victory of the season. This is the last game before the Kansas City tournament.

Rockhurst which opened its season with K. U. Tuesday evening will be at a slight disadvantage due to the fact that Coach Fritz Knorr's men have already three games under their belt. However, this is offset by the fact that Lew Lane's Hawks are fortified by three veteran lettermen and an excellent crop of freshmen.

The Hawk lettermen are Mel Pace, center; Gil Baurk and Jim Basse, guards. Newcomers who have been showing up well are Bailey, Quinlan, Buettel, Mancuso and Fitzsimmons. All of these will be in there battling the Big Six conference five.

Lew Lane, Rockhurst coach will probably start Fitzsimmons and Bailey at forwards; Pace, center; Baurk and Basse at the guardposts. This quintet averages nearly six feet in height and are excellent ball handlers and rebound artists. The Rockhurst mentor is confident of his team this season and says that they will not be easy picking for the Wildcats.

Coach Fritz Knorr's men confident over their 33-29 victory at Washburn Monday night settled down to some hard practices this week. Knorr was particularly impressed with his six foot quintet and will start them against the Hawks. Howard and McClaughry at the forward positions; Weatherby, center; with Jack Bell and Ed Koopman holding down the guardposts. This quintet will match the rangy Hawk team and give the fans a real thrill.

After a breathing spell of a week the society news piles up . . . so without further ado . . .

Delta Delta Delta holds top honors on engagements and marriages this week. . . . December 2 roses announced the wedding of Pat Mossman and Lt. Clay Brassfield, Army Air Corps, which took place in Wichita on December 9. Sue Edwards announced her engagement December 3 to Cpl. Doug Kloxin of the Field Artillery. Corporal Kloxin was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity at Kansas State. . . . Ten more pounds of chocolates December 10 told of the engagements of Kate Kemper, f. s. to Sgt. Eli Nelson of the Air Corps, and of Evelyn Stockwell f. s. to Ensign Urban Wussler.

Annex II chalked up five pounds of chocolates to their credit on December 4 when Barbara Deffenbaugh announced her engagement to Pvt. Don Wilson f. s. and Acacia.

Kappa Kappa Gammas munched the traditional sweets Wednesday when Edith Willis announced her engagement to Lt. Don Depew f. s.

Van Zile Hall, not to be outdone, had both roses and chocolates December 4. The roses told of the marriage of Jean Johnson to Pvt. Vern Thompson of Macksville which took place November 29. . . . The chocolates were from Jean Kays announcing her engagement to Murlin McGown, AGR.

Pi Phi held an open house Sunday afternoon for officers from Fort Riley.

Patronesses of Kappa Delta entertained the chapter with a buffet supper Saturday night at Teen Town.

Women of Van Zile Hall had a party and taffy pull for dates Saturday night.

Kansas State graduates Betty Stewart and Wesley Wertz are to be married at Eskridge Saturday at the First Methodist Church. They will make their home in Sedalia, Mo., where he is a practicing veterinarian.

Faculty members were guests of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sunday at a Christmas tea from 3 to 5 p. m. at the chapter house.

Harold Black, Alva Kilman, and George Woods were initiated into Alpha Gamma Rho Sunday.

Alpha Gamma Rhos will entertain dates with a dinner at the chapter house Sunday night.

Alpha Xi Deltas had chocolates Thursday night from Betty Hale graduate of 1943, announcing her engagement to T/Sgt. Maurice Johnson now stationed in England. Sergeant Johnson attended Wichita University. . . . Roses Friday night at the same house announced the marriage of Mary Margaret Byers to Clarence Fellman which will take place tonight at the parsonage of the Presbyterian Church in Manhattan.

Van Zile Hall entertained faculty guests at their formal Christmas party last night.

Charles Braunegal, Fred Cossman and Joe Young were initiated into Delta Tau Delta Sunday.

Party Season In Full Swing

The winter party season got off to a big start on December 2 when the Tau Kappa Epsilons had their fall formal at the Avalon ballroom. The Stork Club was the theme of the dance. Above the bandstand was the TKE crest in roses, and tables around the edge of the dance floor added to the night-club atmosphere.

The receiving line was composed of: Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Pearl Remmele, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Socolofsky, president LaVern Harold and June Sorenson.

Chi O's have formal

Chi Omegas' semi-formal dance held at the Avalon last Saturday had stardust as its theme. Against a blue background covered with silver stars the letters X and O were formed from white carnations behind the bandstand. The Wishing Well of Chi Omega decorated the opposite side of the Avalon, and around the edges of the dance floor were tables decorated in blue and white. At intermission the Chi O's sang "Wishing," and "When You Wish Upon a Star."

4-H Club members had their annual dinner-dance Friday night at the Flame Room of the Wareham Hotel. During the program Merle Eyestone was presented the membership cup by the president, Louise Parcel, and Prof. Howard T. Hill was the featured speaker of the evening. Following the dinner and program a dance was held. Decorations were in keeping with Christmas, and on the wall was the lighted 4-H Club emblem.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Johnson, Merle Eyestone, and Gladys Goff.

Red-Dog Inn

Kappa Sigmas entertained dates Friday night with their traditional Red Dog Inn house party at the chapter house. Decorations, planned by the pledges, were bales of alfalfa, wagon wheels, and cornstalks, giving the house a rural atmosphere.

'Why We Fight' Film

The fourth film in the series, "Why We Fight," will be presented by the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing in the College Auditorium today at 4 p. m. The picture this afternoon will be "Battle of Russia," which runs an hour and 30 minutes. Many who have seen this film say it is excellent. The series of films is open to the public.

Honor Lt. Ehlers At Assembly Here Friday

Lt. Walter D. Ehlers of Manhattan, the first Kansan in this war to win the Congressional Medal of Honor, will be presented to the student body at the annual Christmas assembly in the College Auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m.

The program will be opened by an organ prelude by Prof. Richard Jesson. Lt. William E. Koch, baritone, accompanied by Cpl. Norman C. Myrvik, will present two groups of selections which include "Cast From Thy Brow That Sadness" by Handel, Neidlinger's "The Birthday of a King," and Mozart's aria from "The Marriage of Figaro." Lieutenant Koch and Corporal Myrvik are both stationed at the 29th Cavalry Group Headquarters at Fort Riley.

The college trio, composed of Max Martin, violinist, Richard Jesson, pianist, and Lyle Downey, cellist, will play "Prelude and Minuet," by Parker, and "Folk Dance" by Scott.

The Rev. B. A. Rogers, director of the Wesley Foundation, will tell the Christmas story. The organ postlude, Buttstedt's "From Heaven Came the Angel Choir," will be played by Mr. Jesson.

The assembly, which is being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., has been planned by George Wreath and Marjorie Correll Stewart.

Large Crowd Hears Oratorio

Bach's Christmas Oratorio was presented to a large audience Sunday night at the Methodist Church by members of the Women's Glee Club of Kansas State College in cooperation with townspeople and a group of college men. The concert was under the direction of Prof. William Lindquist, with Richard Jesson and Charles Stratton at the organ and piano.

Shirley Marlow and Marion Coe Olsson, sopranos; Cpl. Norman C. Myrvik, tenor; Miss Hilda Grossmann, contralto; and Lt. Warren H. Stetler, bass; were soloists.

As the audience left the church, the group sang familiar Christmas carols under the direction of Lieutenant Stetler.

Will Appear In Who's Who

The above Kansas Staters have been honored by being selected for listing in the 1944-45 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Ask Legislature For Navy, Money

The next Kansas legislative session will be asked to amend the act which provides for military training at Kansas State College so that training for Navy as well as Army may be given, President Milton S. Eisenhower said recently.

In discussing requests to be made to the legislature, the President explained that Kansas State would ask a state appropriation of $1,900,000 a year compared to a "normal" request of $1,250,000. This, he said, is based on the assumption that the average enrollment for the next biennium will be the same as pre-war. In addition to the cost of resident instruction this figure includes construction of a field house, three home management houses, a small animals research laboratory, and several research projects, as well as certain reconditioning of the College's physical plant.

"A problem to be faced when enrollments build up to new peaks is that of physical facilities. The facilities at Kansas State College were overtaxed before the war and of course there has been no new construction and only inadequate maintenance during the war," the President said. "Some buildings, such as residence halls and a student union, will be financed with student fees and private endowments, but such buildings as a field house, a connecting wing for the agricultural building, a classroom building and a student hospital must be built with public funds, if at all."

President Outlines College Of Future

Touching upon the three fields of endeavor of the College, President Milton S. Eisenhower outlined plans for the Kansas State College of tomorrow in an informal talk before presidents of campus organizations who attended the first Anderson dinner December 15.

The three fields in which the College works are research, resident instruction and adult education through short courses and the extension service.

Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, was toastmaster for the dinner which was founded by Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Anderson of Kansas City, Mo.

Ticket Sales

The sale of tickets for the Artist's Series has been extended from January 1 through January 10.

Recital Tonight

The College Music Department will present pupils of voice and organ in a program of Christmas music at 8 p. m. this evening in the College Auditorium. Students of voice who will perform are Adele Bischoff, Joyce Crippen, Christine Budden, Marion Terrill, Lois Johnson, Dorothy Wilson, Marion Coe Olsson, Phyllis Frazier, Eunice Niblo and Lucille Graper.

The following organists will be heard: Arleta Boyer, Phyllis Frazier, Bernice Peterson, Estyl Olsen and Jacqueline Timmons. The public is cordially invited.

Spratt To Chicago

As the winner of Swift's annual essay contest from Kansas State, Eugene Spratt spent a part of last week in Chicago studying the market methods used by Swift and Company.

Betty Russell's Interpretation Of "Claudia" Pleases Audiences

By Dorraine Dorf

Betty Russell, as the irresistible Claudia, made an instantaneous hit with the audiences last Friday and Saturday nights. Rose Franken's famed play, "Claudia" was presented by Kansas State Players as their first production of the year.

Betty Russell was thoroughly at home being the spontaneous Claudia, with her ever changing moods and constant flow of chatter. Ralph Fogleman played the part of David, who often had to rely on his own good common sense and practical philosophy in being Claudia's husband.

Play Moves Rapidly

The play moved along rapidly, keeping the audience in chuckles as Claudia tried vainly to balance her scrambled bank account, flirt with the British author, and entertain her husband's sister and a Russian artist at lunch.

Joe Neidig was the smooth, suave British author who lived down the road. Pat Williams played the part

Who's Who Recognizes Kansas State Students

Sixteen Kansas State students have been selected for recognition in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Who's Who gives national recognition to students in colleges and universities throughout the United States. Selections are made on the basis of scholarship and leadership.

Phi Kappa Phi Honors Fifty

Fifty students who were freshmen during the 1943-44 school year have received Phi Kappa Phi freshman recognition. Phi Kappa Phi is a national honorary organization. Students who maintain high scholastic averages during their four years of college work may be elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi during their senior year.

The honored students listed by schools and hometowns:

School of Engineering and Architecture: George Frederick Adams, Salina; Paul Laurence Everett, Kansas City; Rodney Gene Keif, Wichita; Roger Duane Lachman, Cuba; Joe Lundholm Jr., Osage City; Charles William Mallory, Brewster; William Dudley Predmore, Concordia; Robert Wanamaker Seaton and Leonard Irvin Luehring, all of Manhattan; and Glen S. Utt Jr., Neodesha.

School of Arts and Sciences: Elizabeth Ann Sutton, Great Bend; Harlan Daniel Ellis and Andrew Henry Jackson, both of Kansas City; Frances Mae Ewart, Minneapolis; Ruth Elizabeth Filppo, Abilene; Mary Frances Hodgson, Harveyville; Thelma Martin Kanawyer, Milford; Otto Francis Luke Jr., Solomon; Ruth Alta Meyn, Bonner Springs; Gertrude Theresa Montgomery, Salina; Wanda Kathleen Nanninga, Leonardville; Eugene Warren Porter, Council Bluffs, Ind.; Olen Pumphrey, Fort Branch, Ind.; Darlene Augusta Schreiber, Ransom; John Upton Bascom, Daniel Leroy Crandall, Elizabeth Ann McClung, Edna Mae Vail and Betty Jean Willey, all of Manhattan.

Grades

Grades for the English Proficiency examination given last month in the School of Arts and Sciences are now posted under the north stairway in Anderson Hall, according to Miss Nellie Aberle who is in charge of the exam.

Biographical sketches of the students selected will appear in the 1944-45 issue. Those selected include Elizabeth Crandall of LeRoy a senior in journalism, editor of the 1944-45 Royal Purple, and a member of Mortar Board. Vernelle Blevins of Highland, a senior in medical technology, is a member of Pi Beta Phi, regional co-chairman of the Y. W. C. A., and a member of Mortar Board.

Vets Chosen

Embert Coles of Colby is a senior in the School of Veterinary Medicine, and a member of Delta Tau Delta. Phyllis Johansen from Holyrood, senior in journalism, is a Chi Omega, Purple Pepster, a member of the Student Council, and is assistant editor of the Collegian. Another Student Council member chosen from Wamego is Arlene Shields; she is a senior in home economics and president of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club.

Student Council Member

Jean Peck of Arkansas City Student Council member and senior in home economics is a Delta Delta Delta. Margaret McNamee from Cunningham, a senior in home economics and dietetics, is a member of Pi Beta Phi, Mortar Board and Student Council.

The only junior selected this year is David Neher, ag student from Girard, who is also a Student Council member. Also chosen was this year's dance manager, Jacob Mosier, senior in veterinary medicine from Hoxie and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Rita Anderson, senior in home economics, is from Partridge, a Clovia member, and belongs to Purple Pepsters and Mortar Board. President Ethelinda Parrish of the Student Council is from Manhattan, a senior in arts and sciences, a member of Pi Beta Phi and of Mortar Board.

Mortar Board Member

Edith Willis of Manhattan is a senior in home economics and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Mortar Board. A senior in mechanical engineering from Madison is Charles Schwab who is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and the Student Council. Maurine Pence of Manhattan is a senior in Arts and Sciences and a member of Mortar Board and Student Council. George Wreath is also from Manhattan. He is a senior in veterinary medicine and past president of the YMCA. President of the senior class, Richard Olson of Glasco, was chosen. He is in the veterinary medicine school, and a member of the Student Council.

Roberta Townley, a senior in home economics from Abilene, is not pictured above. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, president of Y. W. C. A. and a member of Mortar Board. She was honored by Who's Who last year and thus will be recognized again in the 1944-45 edition.

Babcock, Moggie Speak At Forum

The last Educational Forum was held Tuesday night in Willard 115, with speakers Dean Rodney Babcock and Prof. Maurice Moggie, who spoke on "Proficiency and Placement Tests" and "Integration of Educational Experience" respectively.

Dean Babcock explained that there are three items under consideration for a more extensive proficiency examination in the future. An English proficiency test would be given to all juniors and seniors in each department. A campus-wide examination in elementary subjects, especially mathematics, is being planned. An entrance examination in English is under consideration.

Professor Moggie reviewed the proposals planned for integrating educational experiences. Among the proposals made by the committee, he mentioned broadening of the educational staff, comprehensive examinations, courses in philosophy, assembly programs for general education, comprehensive courses, and professional summary courses.

Christmas, 1944 . . .

This Christmas of 1944 is not an ordinary one, this fourth wartime Christmas. It is impossible for us who remain at home to lose ourselves in the gay tinsel, the caroling and the gift-giving, as we have in the past.

Primary in each heart at this time are thoughts of loved ones on the world-wide battlefronts of mankind's greatest struggle. "Next Christmas at home" has been our aim for them for the past three years, and now we approach another milestone with our goal still unachieved.

Time of Rededication

Therefore, this holiday season should be first of all a time of rededication, a pledging by each of us to do all in our power to win the peace, and perhaps, even more important, promise ourselves that that peace shall be kept.

The peace will be won and kept only by an educated and interested general public. As students at Kansas State College we are among the few privileged in the world to receive this needed education which should stimulate our interest in global affairs.

Many "Gripe"

Yet, in many quarters of the campus on many lips "gripping" is rampant. Of course we have all made sacrifices, many have suffered the result of those closest to them making the "supreme sacrifice." Nevertheless, in retrospect of the sufferings of the rest of the world, ours are negligible.

Most of us will go to warm cozy homes Saturday, houses decorated gaily with kitchens filled with food which is unequaled any place on earth. And as we listen to the age-old Christmas story and sing the traditional carols, let us first rededicate ourselves to victory, so that the "vacant chairs" may be filled as quickly as possible, and "that the boys may be home by next Christmas."

Secondly, let us pledge ourselves to turn that victory into a lasting peace. Thirdly, let us give thanks for what we have, not the least among our possessions, this opportunity to celebrate Christmas, 1944.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Jingle bells, jingle bells, oh, pardon us, friends, we are just overwhelmed with X-mas joy. The spirit of Christmas wafts its gentle aromas slowly about our gray old heads and gives us hay-fever.

The Tri-Delts have their hooks out this X-mas. On the end of every hook there's a batch of mistletoe. That wasn't so bad but when they shingle the house with it that's going a little too far.

The Pi Phi serenaded all frat houses late Sunday night. I wouldn't say they got any late dates but they wound up with two Kappa Sigas, a TKE and a suit of Shorty Harolds long underwear. Shorty wasn't in them at the time. He just hung them up after a formal dance.

With Embert Coles playing the part of a butler in "Claudia" he has received an offer of work from the "Old Ladies Home." But he refused to be their butler because he is now washing finger bowls at Slims.

Slims have heard that the Stork Club puts cherries in their drinks—so not to be out done he puts holly-berries in every glass of beer.

The SAE bell ball was really an auspicious occasion. Of course the huge bell on the Avalon ceiling was beautiful. But Dodderidge and his whole band should have been hung along with the bell. Never have I heard such music since I played third sand block in the kindergarten band.

Here is what you have been waiting for: X-mas letters to dear old Santa. The letters have been pouring in like mad.

Dear Santa:

I have been a good girl (I try to tell myself as I fondle my frat pins each evening). I would like to have a brand new pin as my other four are getting rusty and so am I.

Jackie Staley

Dear Quaint Saint:

Please send me a diploma. If you can't do that send me a sheep's skin. I'm desperate, I'll print my own.

Master Little Big John
(age 7—years at K-State)

Dearest Santa:

My mother married a traveling salesman and now here I am with a drummer. I hope. So just send me a ouija board and everything will be back to normal.

Phyl Wells

Now we come to part III of that Ode to Collich Life and the Post's Coroner by quaint Old Uncle Big Johanathan.

Collich Life III

I remember in years gone by,

of a dear old frat.

Named One Halfa Pi.

It was ruled off the campus for being too sexy.

Dear old Pi—Yes, I was their prexy.

We have been reading around town some signs telling of a buffet supper and dance Wednesday sponsored by the 69th Signal Corps. It's either a mirage or the TKE's have a branch in the C. R. T. C.

Rose Frankens "Claudia" was really a success. The play was out of this world. The devil sat in the 3rd row in the balcony and popped corn in his open palm, which annoyed other people considerably. President Eisenhower said, quote: "Things like this should happen to K. U." Unquote.

This ends our drivel dribble for now but don't forget, "It isn't the cough that carries you off, it's the coffin they carry you off in."

HERE IS A VERY SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT: In the next issue of the Collegian we will identify the author of this dirt column. Tar and feathers can be obtained at Anderson Hall.

Tiemann Attends Lutheran Meet

Dean V. Tiemann, junior in Business Administration and Accounting, has been chosen as one of six representatives of the Lutheran Student Association of America to attend the National Student Christian Consultation.

The Consultation is to be held at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, Dec. 27-30.

LSAA delegates were chosen on the basis of their fields of study, interest in LSAA, church background, and the likelihood of their attendance at the next council meeting of the LSAA.

Tiemann also was a representative to the 1944 Ashram, national LSAA convention, which was held at Lake Canandaigua, N. Y., this summer.

Glotzbach Heads Fight In Factory

Capt. Charles Glotzbach, G. S. '42, Paxico, recently headed a group engaged in an unusual fight in a factory on the edge of Weisweiler, Germany, according to newspaper reports.

Reports tell of American troops fighting their way into the factory in the dark. Upon opening a room to establish his company command post, Captain Glotzbach found six Germans facing him.

Even before he leveled his rifle they had surrendered, a newsman reported. Those Germans remaining in the factory massed for a counterattack against Captain Glotzbach's company which was outnumbered. An officer with Glotzbach called over the walk-talkie radio for mortar fire on their own heads. The men then ran for the cellars. The mortar shells rained down on the Germans in the open. The Germans re-formed their forces to strike again. Once again Captain Glotzbach called for artillery and it came.

The next morning the Americans counted 80 dead Germans in the courtyard. Not a single American was lost in the fracas.

KSAC Plays Host To High Schools

Three high schools have been scheduled to appear over KSAC in January, 1945. They are Rossville, Wamego, and Milford. Each school will present a 30 minute program.

KSAC has had approximately 200 student visitors this year. During their visit, these students are taken on a campus tour by the Home Study Department.

The following schools have presented programs this year: Chapman, Beloit, Abilene, Junction City, Marion, Manhattan, Blue Rapids, and Belleville.

Print Exhibition

The Prairie Print Maker Exhibition is now on display in Anderson Hall, Rooms 220A and B and 221, according to Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department. This annual exhibition of prints by mid-western printmakers is recognized as one of the outstanding print shows in the country and has a wide variety of subject matter. It will be on display for about two weeks. The Prairie Water Color Show was shown in the past few weeks.

NEW CAMERA "SHOOTS" FLYING PROJECTILES

WHEN Army ballistics experts needed to photograph speeding rockets, scientists at Bell Telephone Laboratories built the special "ribbon-frame" camera. Their experience came from making high speed cameras to study tiny movements in telephone equipment parts.

The new camera gets its name from the narrow slot that exposes a ribbon of film at a speed of one ten-thousandth of a second. These "stills," taken on ordinary film, show a fast flying P-47 firing its underwing rocket.

This is an example of the many ways Bell System research is helping to provide better weapons, better equipment for war and peacetime telephone service.

WILDCATS TROUNCE ROCKHURST 65-35

Off To Wildfire Start 18-6, Locals Keep Going

The Kansas State College high-flying basketball team on their home court trampled Rockhurst College of Kansas City 65-35 Monday night. It was the youthful Wildcats' second consecutive win.

The scoring combination of Dave Weatherby, Joe Ridgway and Jay Payton looked mighty impressive Monday night as they garnered 16, 12 and 11 points respectively. This sensational shooting and fine passing allowed Coach Fritz Knorr to play his reserve teams better than half the game.

Guard Scores 10

Rockhurst scoring honors went to guard Quinlan who put 10 points through the hoop. The rest of Rockhurst's scoring was rather evenly distributed.

The Wildcats started like wildfire, running up an 18-6 lead in 10 minutes before Rockhurst knew what was going on. Weatherby, Schultz, Kinchloe and Payton were the sparks of this hard driving onslaught. Rockhurst never threatened after that and Coach Fritz Knorr let his reserves finish the half. The half ended with the Wildcats out in front 35-21.

Regulars Start

The regulars started the second half and pulled away from the Hawks every minute of the game. The Wildcats led 54-28 with 10 minutes left to play when Coach Knorr again pulled his first team. Rockhurst's Lew Lane's tutored boys made a valiant last minute drive against the Wildcat reserve squad but the deficit was too much to overcome. The game ended in some wild shooting tactics, each team trying to garner a basket, with K-State out in front by a score of 65-35.

Handle Ball Well

The winners, Kansas State's quintet, were far superior ball handlers. Center Kinchloe and Forward Dave Weatherby did outstanding rebound work and practically controlled the bounding board. Spencer played his usual cool aggressive game at guard and Jay Payton, former Emporia flash, showed bursts of great ball handling ability and deadly shooting. Schultz and Atkins, forwards were valuable in breaking up plays and turning the attack.

For the losers, Quinlan and Palermo paced the attack, getting 10 and 8 points respectively. Bourk played an excellent floor game. The flanks did not have the sustained speed and height to match the Wildcats.

KS Cagers Meet Nebraska, KU At KC Tourney

Off to Kansas City this weekend the Wildcat basketball team will enter a two-day tournament, playing Kansas University Friday night and Nebraska Saturday night in Municipal Auditorium there.

Coach Fritz Knorr's lads have put two out of four non-conference games on the winning side of the list so far this season. The latest was the trouncing of Rockhurst 65 to 35 Monday night. This latest victory places a KU conquest well within the realm of possibility as the Jayhawks bowed to Washburn at the beginning of the season.

Not much dope is available on Nebraska's quintet. The one-game experienced Cornhuskers have chalked up an encounter with Iowa as a 61 to 45 loss.

The thirteen hoopsters journeying down the Kaw will be Dana Atkins, f; Jack Bell, g; Burt Howard, f; Jack Kinchloe, c; Jack Larson, f; Howard Leitz, c; Ralph Schreiber, g; Bill Schultz, f; Richard Spencer, g; Ralph Steusser, g; Edward Koopman, g; Larry McClaghry, f, and Dave Weatherby, c.

Probable starting lineup will be Schultz and Weatherby, forwards; Kinchloe, center; Payton and Spencer, guards.

Men Organize

The only men's independent house on the campus, The House of Williams, was reorganized recently after being inactive a short time. Bernard Jacobson is the new president; Eugene Steimel, vice president; Marvin Richardson, secretary; James Harrison, treasurer.

Hackney Still At It

Kansas State's One Man Gang Elmer Hackney who plowed through Big Six lines for the Wildcats from 1937 to 1939 recently scored the winning touchdown in the Detroit Lion's victory over the Cleveland Rams. While this one man gang still gangs up on his opponents he still tells the world about his accomplishments.

The Detroit Free Press's John N. Sabo tells about it in this way: It must be reported that Dave Diehl scored three touchdowns and said little about them. It must also be reported that Hackney scored the winning touchdown and glamorized the deed in several thousand words.

"The bashful man from Kansas took one hour and 32 minutes to tell the boys how to score a winning touchdown. The fact it required only a two-yard plunge to do so did not deter the Man from Kansas."

Hackney was Big Six wrestling star in '37 and '38 and lettered in football and track in '37, '38 and '39.

How About That Gift You Forgot?

That $64 question is here again. But you know the answer is at Don & Jerry's so there is nothing to worry about.

Today, with men giving their accessories double-barreled wear, they can use 'extras' of anything.

Such gifts as belts, hankies, socks, garters and wallets may sound small, but just think of what a big job they can do for a busy man.

'Having A Wonderful Time'

In the midst of the holiday rush—time out for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Alpha Delta Pi's had chocolate Friday night from president, Ethel Wilson, announcing her engagement to Lt. Richard J. Frost of Wellesley, Mass. Lieutenant Frost attended Massachusetts State College and was a member of Q. T. V. fraternity.

Alice Dillard passed chocolates to the Tri Delta's Sunday telling of her engagement to Milvin Zumalt, 3/c petty officer now stationed in the South Pacific.

Housemothers of the independent organized houses entertained all women living in these houses with dinner at Thompson Hall Monday evening.

Mary Kassner, Alpha Delta Pi, and Lt. Kenneth Griffith, TKE, were married December 1 at the Methodist parsonage in Manhattan.

Women of La Fiel entertained guests with a house party and dance Saturday night.

Delta Delta Delta had alumni and town mothers as guests to a Christmas tea at the chapter house Sunday from 4 to 5 p. m.

Christmas dinners and gift exchanges are the order of the week. Tuesday night Tri Delta's had their formal dinner after which they went caroling. On Wednesday the Kappa Kappa Gammas, Alpha Delta Pi's, Alpha Xi Deltas, Kappa Deltas, Pi Beta Phi's, and Annexes I and II all had dinners and gift exchanges.

Six Fraternities Pledge 14 Men

Six fraternities have pledged 14 College men recently with Phi Delta Theta leading the list with four pledges. The pledges announced by Harold Wowe, faculty adviser of the fraternities are:

Alpha Gamma Rho: Clarence E. Hardin, Petaluma, Calif.; Harold W. Kinard, Ruffin, S. C.

Alpha Tau Omega: Henry Branden, Garden Plain; Bobbie Hill, Mt. Hope.

Beta Theta Pi: Bart, Manhattan.

Kappa Sigma: Jack, and J. Cunningham; Ralph, East J. som; Raymond Steinba, Jewly.

Phi Delta Theta: Herbert, Hoff, Abilene; James V. Drown, Manhattan; Richard Gorman, Chapman; Bob E. Mooney, Mankato.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: Loyce D. Jernigan, Osage City; Arthur B. Roseberg, Isle.

Appoint New Doctor To Health Staff

Dr. Charles E. Weigel of Erie, Pa., has been appointed staff physician in the student health department of Kansas State. He assumed his duties the first of December.

A graduate of Allegheny College with a B. S. in '24, Dr. Weigel completed his M. D. at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in '28. His internship was at the Delaware Hospital in Wilmington after which he spent the next five years in graduate study.

Dr. Weigel comes to Kansas State after ten years of active practice at Salem, N. J., where he was a member of the Salem County Medical Society, the Medical Society of New Jersey, and the American Medical Association.

The addition of Dr. Weigel to the health department's staff will make it possible for more students to take advantage of the facilities offered than was possible at the beginning of this semester.

Greeks Give Annual Dances

Sigma Alpha Epsilon entertained Friday night with their semi-formal dinner-dance. The dinner was served in the Crystal Room of the Wareham Hotel, and the guests received crested lockets as favors.

After the dinner a dance was held at the Avalon Ballroom. Blue and white streamers from the ceiling centered at a blue bell. The same blue and white streamers decorated the bandstand on which a replica of the SAE pin was hung.

In the receiving line were Morley Cook, president of SAE, Phyllis Johansen, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Bressler, and President and Mrs. Milton Eisenhower.

A D Pi Dinner Dance

Alpha Delta Pi had their annual formal dinner-dance Saturday night. Dinner at the Crystal Room of the Wareham Hotel preceded the dance. Frosted logs on mirrors and red tapers decorated the tables, and place card favors were red boots.

Following the dance Alpha Delta Pi and their guests danced at the Avalon Ballroom, which was decorated with a Christmas theme. The bandstand was decorated with red crepe paper to represent a fireplace. Over the bandstand were the letters A. D. Pi. At one side was a large Christmas tree under which were boxes colorfully wrapped in Christmas paper and ribbon.

Alpha Xi and Pi Phi Parties

Members of Alpha Xi Delta entertained Friday night at the chapter house with a semi-formal dance. The Christmas theme was carried out with pine boughs and candles on the mantel and a Christmas tree. A Fort Riley orchestra furnished music for the dancing.

The receiving line consisted of Pauline Baskett, Miss Dorothy Barfoot, Dean Emeritus Mary P. Van Zile, and Mrs. Jack Nave.

Pi Beta Phi had a semi-formal dance at the chapter house Saturday night. The house was decorated in keeping with the Christmas theme.

Dinah Shore and Spike Jones (and his City Slickers) have just returned to this country from entertaining the boys in France and England under the auspices of the USO-Camp Shows.

Fashion Show Today

A fashion show will be the Christmas program presented to members of the Home Economics Club today at 4 p. m. in Rec Center. "Around the Clock" college fashions will be modeled by girls representing each sorority, Van Zile, Annex I, Annex II, and Amicosassembly.

Darlene Haugue, Doris Marshal, Nina Anderson, Nancy Wilcox, Betty Gail Parker, Lee Massey, Shirley Freleimuth, Lila Lou Johnston, Barbara Defenbaugh, Judy Cazier, Beverly King, Mildred Houseworth, Margaret Konecny, Shirley Tinberg, Pat Gregg, Carolyn Myers, June Lowry, Naomi Frolick, Mary Frances Hosmer, Ruth Gilmore, Carol Shields, Melba Norby, Jean Braden, and Mary Alice Duerr are the models, in the order of their appearance.

Following the fashion show tea will be served.

Club Makes Toys

The children's ward at Bell Memorial Hospital in Kansas City, Kan., will receive stuffed animals as gifts from the Home Economics Service Club this Christmas.

The girls have been making these animals at their regular meetings, and by the last meeting Tuesday, they had already completed 12 animals. Squirrels, dogs, rabbits, and bears of unbleached muslin with ears and tail of some gay stripe or print are representative of some of the animals being made.

Dr. Gladys Vail, sponsor of Service Club, donated a bear of black felt trimmed with orange cross stitching that was especially clever.

Announce RP Beauty Queen Candidates

Candidates for the 1945 Royal Purple Beauty Queen were chosen by Greek and Independent groups before the holidays. The eight Greek candidates are Lila Lou Johnston, Alpha Delta Pi; Kathleen Petterson, Alpha Xi Delta; Shirley Freienhuth, Clovia; Mary Elizabeth Egan, Chi Omega; Pauline Neal, Delta Delta; Joyce Elaine Brown, Kappa Delta; June Lowrey, Kappa Gamma; and JoAnn Neu, Pi Beta Phi.

The eight Independents are Jean Neau and Shirley Tinberg, Amicos; Georgine Bischoff and Letha Base, Amistad; Mary Iliff and Geraldine McCurdy, Van Zille Hall; Irene Smith, Annex I; and Patricia Gregg, Annex II.

The queen and her three attendants will be chosen by an off-campus person whose identity will not be announced until after the selection is made, according to Elizabeth Cranell, 1945 Royal Purple editor. Pictures of the candidates will be taken at the Studio Royal. The identities of the four beauty winners will remain secret until the distribution of the yearbook in May.

Extend Ticket Sale to Next Wednesday

Because of student request, the season ticket sale for the Manhattan Artist Series has been extended to Wednesday, Dean Helen Moore has announced.

Additional good seats in the College Auditorium have been released. Reservations of the $2.50 student tickets, Dean Moore said. Many of these are downstairs and some are fine ones in the upstairs balcony, previously held for the $4.60 ticket.

Students who aided with pre-rush sales have been asked to obtain more tickets from Miss Anna Farmer, associate professor of English. Purple Pepsters will have a table in Anderson Hall each afternoon for the accommodation of students and faculty members.

"Many persons indicated that their money budgets would be more elastic than their December ones and that gift money might well be spent for the pleasure of three musical entertainments," Miss Moore explained. "The events include the Gen. Atoff Don Cossack Russian Chorus, February 7; Marie Wilkins, Kansas woman who is now a Metropolitan Opera soprano, March 15; and Charles Kullman, young Metropolitan Opera tenor, April 24."

Profits from the Artist Series will be divided. Part will be used to underwrite another series next year and part will go for the construction of residence halls for women on the campus.

Eisenhower Gets U. S. Honor Degree

President Milton S. Eisenhower received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Wichita at the school's Christmas convocation December 22.

Following the conferring of the degree President Eisenhower gave the address, "Christmas 1944." Taking part in the ceremony at which President Eisenhower received his degree was Dr. T. Walker Weaver, chairman of the Board of Regents of Wichita University, and William M. Erdine, former president of Kansas State and now president of Wichita University.

Dr. Jardine said in commenting on the honor bestowed upon the president, "Rarely does this universal-present honorary degrees, but I feel this is an exceptional occasion. Milton Eisenhower has given capable and selfless service to his country in time of peace as well as in time of war."

A big speed-up in the plastics industry—surpassing anything that has been achieved in the past quarter century—is achieved by electronic heater heating. For instance, it formerly took two hours to mold a 4-inch test block 6 inches square by 1/2 inches thick. With electronic heater heating, it takes five minutes.

Moxley Resigns From Extension

After 20 years with the College Extension Service as animal husbandryman, J. J. "Jerry" Moxley, widely known beef cattle authority, resigned January 1 to devote full time to the management of his purebred Hereford ranch near Council Grove.

Dean H. Umberger of the Division

of College Extension, in commenting on Moxley's resignation, said that Moxley's influence as extension specialist in beef production will be felt for a long time and added that he has "done much to stabilize the beef cattle industry and to put it on a sound basis."

Characterizing Moxley as "one of the outstanding extension animal husbandrymen in the United States," Dr. A. D. Weber, head of College animal husbandry department, said that "Moxley's practical approach to cattle problems has been of inestimable value in promoting better methods of feeding and management and in improving the quality of breeding herds."

Moxley was graduated from Kansas State College in 1922 and in December, 1924, joined the extension service staff. He served as extension agent in Brown County 16 months and then accepted the position of animal husbandryman. He and Mrs. Moxley and their two children, Lynn, 7, and Hall, 5, will move to their 500-acre Morris County ranch, Moxley Hall, immediately.

"I'm not retiring from beef cattle improvement work," Moxley is telling his friends, "I'm only changing jobs."

Collegian Selects Its '10 Bests' From 1944 Events At Kansas State

Another year has come and gone at Kansas State. With everyone selecting "10 bests" The Collegian has picked out the following important happenings as their ten stories of the year.

First there was the flying trip of General Dwight Eisenhower to the Kansas State campus to visit his brother, President Eisenhower, and family on January 8 and 9.

As the first semester ended, Kansas State found that there must be a mid-year commencement for the many seniors. The result was the first regular mid-year graduation ceremony for 102 candidates on January 29. Men in uniform and men and women in black robes marched from Anderson Hall to the College Auditorium to receive their diplomas.

Army Leaves

In March and April the College began to realize that its army students were leaving as the daily, "hut, two, three, four" and the gay songs of the AAF and AST gradually disappeared from the campus. Most of the men left to be transferred to the infantry or some other branch of the service.

It was Wildcats vs. Lions on May 4 when all Kansas Staters—students and profs—left their classrooms and books to dig dandelions on the campus grounds. It was a successful day ending with a jam session in the late afternoon.

Smoking Issue

About this same time The Collegian was printing other big news—that of the smoking issue on the campus. After much discussion both pro and

Seaton Gives Scholarship

The College has received a gift of $3,000 from Fay N. Seaton, Manhattan publisher, to be used in setting up in the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing a scholarship fund, which will be known as the Fay N. Seaton Scholarship Fund. The gift was made through the Kansas State College Endowment Association. He plans, he stated, to add to the fund later.

In a letter which accompanied his gift, Mr. Seaton expressed his desire to have the fund used to provide working scholarships. In asking that students who receive the scholarships be required to render service in return for the value of the scholarship, Mr. Seaton declared, "My experience with public as well as private aid has taught me that we get a greater benefit out of what we work for than from what is given us."

President Accepts

In accepting the check President Eisenhower said he greatly appreciated the generous gift and the fine spirit which prompted it. "Such gifts," he declared, "are an inspiration to the officers and staff of the entire College. The Fay N. Seaton Scholarship Fund will be of great assistance to the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing for many years by providing an incentive for students in that field."

"Kansas State College is the only institution in Kansas, and one of the few in the United States, offering work in industrial or technical journalism in which training in the techniques of writing is combined with training in agriculture, home economics and other technical fields. Such training equips young people for great usefulness in a large, important and rapidly growing field of communication," the President declared.

Interest In Department

Fay Seaton and his sons, Fred A. Seaton, general manager of the Hastings (Neb.) Daily Tribune, and Richard M. Seaton, manager of the Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle and Manhattan Republic, have long been interested in the journalism department of the College. More than 80 students of the department, including Mr. Eisenhower, have earned part or all of their college expenses by working for the Seaton Publications. Both Fred and Richard Seaton are former students in the department, Richard being graduated in 1934 with a B. S. degree in industrial journalism.

Wildcats Sink Sooners In Thrill Packed Game

The Kansas State Wildcats won their first conference game from the favored Oklahoma Sooners on the home court Tuesday night in a close match packed with thrills from beginning to end.

Jay Payton, guard, shot a field goal from near the center of the court with 15 seconds left in the game to give the locals their 55-54 victory. The score constantly changed hands as the two clubs tied the score 14 times. Oklahoma led at the half, 25-24.

Foreign Student Adviser Appointed

Dr. Fritz Moore, head of the Department of Modern Languages, has been appointed by President Milton S. Eisenhower to advise foreign students on the campus. The increasing number of foreign students who have enrolled at Kansas State during the last few months prompted such an appointment. There are now 12 foreign students on the campus.

The College feels that there is a need for a central place where the common needs of foreign students can be handled. As an adviser of foreign students Dr. Moore will be available to the students for discussion and consultation.

Dr. Moore believes there will be a definite increase of foreign students on the Kansas State campus, particularly from the South American countries. He explains that South American students who normally would go to Europe to school are coming to the United States because the war has closed many European universities. As soon as the war is over, he expects students from many of the other countries to choose Kansas State for their training. Dr. Moore pointed out that foreign students coming to the United States for schooling will be inclined to enroll in technical schools.

Elect 12 Seniors To Phi Kappa Phi

Twelve seniors have been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic organization, according to Mrs. Katherine Hess, secretary of the Kansas State chapter.

The newly-elected members are: School of Arts and Sciences—Ethelinda Elizabeth Parrish, Manhattan; Eugene Donald Grim, Coffeyville; Soterea Maduros, Junction City; and Mary Elizabeth Crandall, LeRoy.

School of Home Economics: Leora Evalyn Bentley, Shields; Marjorie Louise Hawkins, Kansas City; Patricia Ann Brainard, Carlyle; Margaret Ann Pfang Latham, Goff; and Roberta May Townley, Abilene.

School of Veterinary Medicine: Arthur Raymond Roseberg, Isle, Minn.; Robert Maxwell Jarrett, Manhattan; and Jacob Eugene Mosler, Hoxie.

New Short Course

Twenty-nine electrical workers from Manhattan and Junction City have enrolled for a new short course in electronics at work being taught by the staff of the Department of Electrical Engineering.

The course is being offered in response to a request of local citizens. The new course will follow an outline prepared by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company for teaching electrical workers the fundamentals of electronics. The course work will be covered in class by lectures, slides, demonstrations and textbook.

The class will meet for a 10-week period on Monday nights in Engineering Hall. The first meeting of the class was December 4.

All of the major buildings on the Kansas State campus are of native limestone, some of which was quarried on the College property.

Apply . . .

Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of The Collegian for the spring semester should be filed by January 12 according to R. R. Lashbrook, president of the Board of Student Publications.

The blanks are now available in C. J. Medlin's office, K-105D, and should be turned in to Mr. Lashbrook's office, also in Kedzie.

Anyone in school who can meet the scholarship requirements is eligible.

Lose Lead

With six and one-half minutes left to play, the fighting Wildcats held a 53 to 45 lead, but the Sooners, led by Brinegar, Hines and Lindenberg, forged ahead and held their lead until the final 15 seconds when Payton came through with his story-book shot.

It was the shooting of Dave Weatherby, K-State's freshman forward that sparked the Wildcats last half drive. Tall Dave dropped five field baskets in the final half after finding himself cold the first half.

Free Shots

Free shots kept the Sooners in the ball game and were directly responsible for their halftime lead. After missing their first four charity tries, the Bruce Drake men made 17 free throws in succession before Lindenberg finally missed midway in the second half.

Harold (Scooter) Hines, Oklahoma, led the point makers with 18; Brinegar followed him with 14. Weatherby scored 12 for Kansas State.

Wylie Gives $1,000 To Endowment Fund

Harry L. Wylie of Manhattan has presented a gift of $1,000 to the College through the Kansas State College Endowment Association. In making the gift Mr. Wylie said it is to be used as directed by the trustees of the Endowment Association.

In accepting the gift President Milton S. Eisenhower expressed "both personal and official gratitude over the generous gift" and pointed out that a gift made for disposition by the trustees of the Endowment Association enables the College to use private funds where most critically needed.

Trustees of the Endowment Association include Gov. Andrew Schoepel; President Eisenhower; John Dawson, J. William Ballard, Guy T. Helvering, Oscar Stauffer and Mrs. Paul Edgar, all of Topeka; Evan Griffith, W. E. Grimes and Arthur Peine, of Manhattan; James G. Harbord, New York City; Charles M. Harger and Mrs. Daisy Hoffman Jontz, both of Abilene; Willis N. Kelly, Hutchinson; Arthur Kincaid, Wichita; and Hal W. Luhnnow, Harry Darby, and C. G. Wellington, all of Kansas City.

Announce RP Beauty Queen Candidates

Candidates for the 1945 Royal Purple Beauty Queen were chosen by Greek and Independent groups before the holidays.

The eight Greek candidates are Lila Lou Johnston, Alpha Delta Pi; Kathleen Petterson, Alpha Xi Delta; Shirley Freilermuth, Clovia; Mary Elizabeth Hogan, Chi Omega; Pauline Neal, Delta Delta Delta; Joyce Elaine Brown, Kappa Delta; June Lowrey, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and JoAnn Scheu, Pi Beta Phi.

The eight Independents are Jean Reneau and Shirley Tinberg, Amicos-assembly; Georgine Bischoff and Letha Mae Base, Amistad; Mary Iliff and Geraldine McCurdy, Van Zile Hall; Lorene Smith, Annex I; and Patricia Ann Gregg, Annex II.

The queen and her three attendants will be chosen by an off-campus person whose identity will not be announced until after the selection is made, according to Elizabeth Crandall, 1945 Royal Purple editor. Pictures of the candidates will be taken at the Studio Royal. The identities of the four beauty winners will remain a secret until the distribution of the yearbook in May.

Extend Ticket Sale To Next Wednesday

Because of student request, the season ticket sale for the Manhattan Artist Series has been extended to Wednesday, Dean Helen Moore has announced.

Additional good seats in the College Auditorium have been released for reservations of the $2.50 student tickets, Dean Moore said. Many of these are downstairs and some are the fine ones in the "stairs" bulge, previously held for the $4.60 ticket group.

Students who aided with pre-Christmas sales have been asked to obtain more tickets from Miss Anna Sturmer, associate professor of English. Purple Pepsters will have a sales table in Anderson Hall each afternoon for the accommodation of both students and faculty members.

"Many persons indicated that their January budgets would be more elastic than their December ones and that gift money might well be spent for the pleasure of three musical entertainments," Miss Moore explained. "The events include the Gen. Platoff Don Cossack Russian Chorus, February 7; Marie Wilkins, Kansas woman who is now a Metropolitan Opera soprano, March 15; and Charles Kullman, young Metropolitan Opera tenor, April 24."

Profits from the Artist Series will be divided. Part will be used to underwrite another series next year and part will go for the construction of residence halls for women on the campus.

Eisenhower Gets W. U. Honor Degree

President Milton S. Eisenhower received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Wichita at the school's Christmas convocation December 22.

Following the conferring of the degree President Eisenhower gave an address, "Christmas 1944." Taking part in the ceremony at which President Eisenhower received his degree was Dr. T. Walker Weaver, chairman of the Board of Regents of Wichita University, and William M. Jardine, former president of Kansas State and now president of Wichita University.

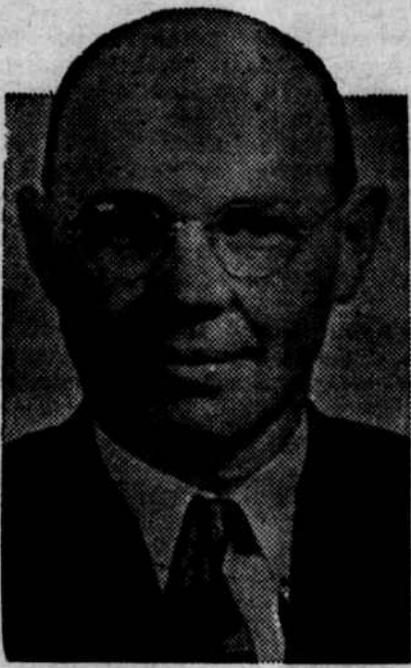

Dr. Jardine said in commenting on the honor bestowed upon the President, "Rarely does this university present honorary degrees, but I feel this is an exceptional occasion. Milton Eisenhower has given capable and unselfish service to his country in time of peace as well as in time of war."

A big speed-up in the plastics industry—surpassing anything that has been achieved in the past quarter century—is achieved by electronic power heating. For instance, it formerly took two hours to mold a 4-pound test block 6 inches square by 2 1/2 inches thick. With electronic power heating, it takes five minutes.

Moxley Resigns From Extension

After 20 years with the College Extension Service as animal husbandryman, J. J. "Jerry" Moxley, widely known beef cattle authority, resigned January 1 to devote full time to the management of his purebred Hereford ranch near Council Grove.

Dean H. Umberger of the Division

of College Extension, in commenting on Moxley's resignation, said that Moxley's influence as extension specialist in beef production will be felt for a long time and added that he has "done much to stabilize the beef cattle industry and to put it on a sound basis."

Characterizing Moxley as "one of the outstanding extension animal husbandrymen in the United States," Dr. A. D. Weber, head of College animal husbandry department, said that "Moxley's practical approach to cattle problems has been of inestimable value in promoting better methods of feeding and management and in improving the quality of breeding herds."

Moxley was graduated from Kansas State College in 1922 and in December, 1924, joined the extension service staff. He served as extension agent in Brown County 16 months and then accepted the position of animal husbandryman. He and Mrs. Moxley and their two children, Lynn, 7, and Hall, 5, will move to their 500-acre Morris County ranch, Moxley Hall, immediately.

"I'm not retiring from beef cattle improvement work," Moxley is telling his friends, "I'm only changing jobs."

Collegian Selects Its '10 Bests' From 1944 Events At Kansas State

Another year has come and gone at Kansas State. With everyone selecting "10 bests" The Collegian has picked out the following important happenings as their ten stories of the year.

First there was the flying trip of General Dwight Eisenhower to the Kansas State campus to visit his brother, President Eisenhower, and family on January 8 and 9.

As the first semester ended, Kansas State found that there must be a mid-year commencement for the many seniors. The result was the first regular mid-year graduation ceremony for 102 candidates on January 29. Men in uniform and men and women in black robes marched from Anderson Hall to the College Auditorium to receive their diplomas.

Army Leaves

In March and April the College began to realize that its army students were leaving as the daily, "hut, two, three, four" and the gay songs of the AAF and AST gradually disappeared from the campus. Most of the men left to be transferred to the infantry or some other branch of the service.

It was Wildcats vs. Lions on May 4 when all Kansas Staters—students and profs—left their classrooms and books to dig dandelions on the campus grounds. It was a successful day ending with a jam session in the late afternoon.

Smoking Issue

About this same time The Collegian was printing other big news—that of the smoking issue on the campus. After much discussion both pro and

Seaton Gives Scholarship

The College has received a gift of $3,000 from Fay N. Seaton, Manhattan publisher, to be used in setting up in the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing a scholarship fund, which will be known as the Fay N. Seaton Scholarship Fund. The gift was made through the Kansas State College Endowment Association. He plans, he stated, to add to the fund later.

In a letter which accompanied his gift, Mr. Seaton expressed his desire to have the fund used to provide working scholarships. In asking that students who receive the scholarships be required to render service in return for the value of the scholarship, Mr. Seaton declared, "My experience with public as well as private aid has taught me that we get a greater benefit out of what we work for than from what is given us."

President Accepts

In accepting the check President Eisenhower said he greatly appreciated the generous gift and the fine spirit which prompted it. "Such gifts," he declared, "are an inspiration to the officers and staff of the entire College. The Fay N. Seaton Scholarship Fund will be of great assistance to the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing for many years by providing an incentive for students in that field."

"Kansas State College is the only institution in Kansas, and one of the few in the United States, offering work in industrial or technical journalism in which training in the techniques of writing is combined with training in agriculture, home economics and other technical fields. Such training equips young people for great usefulness in a large, important and rapidly growing field of communication," the President declared.

Interest In Department

Fay Seaton and his sons, Fred A. Seaton, general manager of the Hastings (Neb.) Daily Tribune, and Richard M. Seaton, manager of the Manhattan Mercury-Chronicle and Manhattan Republic, have long been interested in the journalism department of the College. More than 80 students of the department, including Mr. Eisenhower, have earned part or all of their college expenses by working for the Seaton Publications. Both Fred and Richard Seaton are former students in the department, Richard being graduated in 1934 with a B. S. degree in industrial journalism.

Wildcats Sink Sooners In Thrill Packed Game

The Kansas State Wildcats won their first conference game from the favored Oklahoma Sooners on the home court Tuesday night in a close match packed with thrills from beginning to end.

Jay Payton, guard, shot a field goal from near the center of the court with 15 seconds left in the game to give the locals their 55-54 victory. The score constantly changed hands as the two clubs tied the score 14 times. Oklahoma led at the half, 25-24.

Foreign Student Adviser Appointed

Dr. Fritz Moore, head of the Department of Modern Languages, has been appointed by President Milton S. Eisenhower to advise foreign students on the campus. The increasing number of foreign students who have enrolled at Kansas State during the last few months prompted such an appointment. There are now 12 foreign students on the campus.

The College feels that there is a need for a central place where the common needs of foreign students can be handled. As an adviser of foreign students Dr. Moore will be available to the students for discussion and consultation.

Dr. Moore believes there will be a definite increase of foreign students on the Kansas State campus, particularly from the South American countries. He explains that South American students who normally would go to Europe to school are coming to the United States because the war has closed many European universities. As soon as the war is over, he expects students from many of the other countries to choose Kansas State for their training. Dr. Moore pointed out that foreign students coming to the United States for schooling will be inclined to enroll in technical schools.

Resolved . . .

With the arrival of the new year come thoughts of resolutions, of "turning over new leaves," and "starting with a clean slate." Assuming that Kansas State students are not immune to this current fever, we hereby offer the following suggestions for new attitudes and actions.

The pep and enthusiasm for all college activities, including studying, called "school spirit" which had lagged on this campus for several terms came back somewhat stronger at the beginning of the present semester. But, in our opinion, it could still stand improvement. Your college career is just what you make it, and like everything else, benefits reaped are in accordance with the seed sowed. In supporting college activities to the utmost of your ability, you'll not only be helping the school, but helping yourself.

Studying

We would like to put special emphasis on the gentle art of studying. Though a college student's "just getting by" by fair means or foul might have once been at least accepted, if not permissible, that attitude is entirely out of place at wartime Kansas State. Granting us all average intelligence, a listing of our privileges as college students in a war-torn world should not be necessary. Realizing our opportunities and responsibilities, we should act accordingly.

As important as our obligation to our school and ourselves to make the most of our time spent here, is our responsibility to our country going into its fourth year of total war. Though our contributions of letter-writing, the giving of money and services to war activity, etc., may seem negligible in comparison to the service being rendered on the fighting front, they are a necessary bit of the whole, and never once in 1945 should they be lessened but increased to the utmost.

Our future and the future of those fighting for us depends more than we may realize on our conduct here in 1945. College enrollments have necessarily declined, so to those remaining will fall the duties of the educated leaders of tomorrow. It's going to be a tough job. Let's resolve to do it well!

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Groan, Ohhh, Yehhh—Burp! Ah yes, familiar post-holiday sounds.

It was really a White Christmas, in fact, we saw so many ice packs over the week-end that Admiral Byrd started an expedition to the P. Phi house. He was going to hunt for two second looses that have been lost for three weeks, poor devils.

Attention! Shorty Harold has shaved off his mustache. He should have left it on and shaved off his face.

They have been passing so many chocolates at the Tri Delta house that they have pledged Mrs. Stover. Martha Washington is being rushed.

All the sororities have packed away their mistletoe in mothballs for another year. Nobody but a moth would be silly enough to mess around with that mistletoe anyway—mistletoe, that's poison ivy with lipstick.

Speaking of New Years which we weren't, Hal Hogue had a wonderful one. He took a train for Lawrence and all pints east.

Collich Life

The Holidays have come and went. I have my parents' dough all spent. And so once more it's back to classes. That we drag our tired old carcasses. Congratulations Deltas! The D. T. D.'s paid off the mortgage on their house. Just think, only three more mortgages and the Deltas can move the F. H. A. men out of their third floor.

Well, New Years comes but once a year, so just put the lid on your Alka Seltzer, vulcanize the hot water bottle, and face the new year with the understanding that although we may call you an old goat in this column, you all know what we think of you. You old goats!!

Editor's Note: The author of this column was supposed to be revealed this week, but due to unavoidable circumstances, or rather due to technical difficulty, or rather due to—all right, so we got cold feet! But next week, dear readers, we will definitely tell the name of the author of the "Cat's Meow."

Author's Note: Over my dead body! Editor's Note II: We're working on that. Anyway, don't believe a word of it. We're just leading you on.

Latin American, U.S. Schools Similar

By DORRAINE DORF

School systems of our Latin American neighbors are very similar to those of our own colleges and universities, according to nine Latin American students now enrolled at Kansas State. "It's the language and the customs that are so different," explained Angelina Lepori who is here on a scholarship in home economics.

Dating Customs

Another custom that Miss Lepori finds quite strange is our system of dating. A college coed on our campus may date more than one man at a time, if she wishes, but that is an unheard of thing in Panama. "To take a date," Angelina Lepori said, "you tell him no the first two or three times. Finally, he tells you to bring your mother or some relative and you will all go to the movies. So, you have your first date with him." If a couple breaks off, the girl must wait two or three weeks before accepting another date. "Also, we never kiss until after we are married."

Aside from the differences in customs and languages, their system of attending classes, studies, and their different school activities such as assemblies and clubs, are the same as ours.

Language Different

Mrs. Irma Niemeler, another of the South American students, chose to attend Kansas State because her husband, an American soldier from Hope, Kansas, is stationed permanently at Marshall Field. "I find so many things different, especially the language," she declared, adding that "in Costa Rica, apartments, nylon hose, and electrical equipment were not the scarce articles that they are here."

Lyda Berta Ugalde, from Costa Rica, is the other woman student attending K-State. She is also here on a scholarship in home economics.

Five Take Vet Course

The other students include five who are studying veterinary medicine. They are Rosendo Cordero, Jose Diaz, Gabriel Gonzales, Petro Oliver, Francisco Santiago. All five are from Puerto Rico. Mario Garces, a student in arts and sciences, is from Colombia.

Dances are as much a part of their college life as they are ours. Most of them are having little difficulty learning our steps, having had opportunities to watch American visitors. The bolero—a smooth dance, some conga, waltzes, and tangos are popular steps in Latin America. They are fascinated by the antics of our jitter-bugs.

These students from Latin America are gradually becoming accustomed to our language, our school customs, and even the mad pace that is so characteristic of our Northern schools. They miss their own schools, of course, but, as Petro Oliver pointed out, "We certainly are enjoying the opportunity to get acquainted with our United States neighbors and their country."

KS "Over The Air" For First Time 20 Years Ago

Twenty years ago three foresighted Kansas State College faculty members gave thought to the possibilities of the radio on our campus. They intended to put Kansas State "on the air." Each of these men pooled $50 contributions to pay the $150 cost for the first college broadcast. The first broadcast was from the new KFKB station at Milford, Kansas on February 11, 1924. It was believed to have been the first such broadcast in the nation.

Many experimental broadcasts were made, but they were soon noticed by the legislature and officials of the college. A few months later Kansas State went on the air with its own 500 watt, standard-equipped station, set up on the campus at a cost of $29,000. The first broadcast from KSAC took place on December 1, 1924 in a five hour dedication. KSAC celebrated its 20th anniversary this year.

The following three men were credited with the beginnings of KSAC: L. C. Williams, then extension horticulturist and now the assistant director of extension; E. R. Lyon, professor in the department of physics; and Sam Pickard, then extension editor, now connected with the Federal Communications Commission in Washington. Acting as guiding hands now, are Dean H. Umberger, director of extension, and L. L. Longsdorf, program director.

Receives Badge

Sgt. Roger C. Medlin, f. s., is entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge given members of his veteran troop carrier group for outstanding achievement in the China-Burma-India Theatre of operations. The group was cited recently by the Twelfth Air Force.

Last April his troop carrier group stationed in the Mediterranean Theatre of operations was suddenly ordered to fly to the support of allied forces battling the Japanese in the Imphal Valley, India, and the Myitkyina area, Burma. Seven days later the big twin engined C-47 transport planes of his group were delivering the needed supplies where they would do the most good.

The unit continued to support the Allied armies for two and a half months, and played a tremendous part in driving the Japanese from Northern Burma and the Imphal Valley. The group is back in the Mediterranean theatre starting its 27th month overseas.

Ags Make Booklet

The School of Agriculture is preparing a booklet which will include pictures and descriptive material representative of the school. This bulletin will interest and appeal to high school graduates and service men who expect to attend college.

The front and back covers of the bulletin will carry pictures of East and West Waters Hall. Each department of the School of Agriculture will have a page in the bulletin on which will appear one to three pictures representative of the department and brief statements giving information of interest to prospective students.

The School of Agriculture expects to distribute approximately 8,000 copies of this 28-page bulletin to high schools, and through the Veterans Administration at Wichita early this year.

Exhibit In Calvin

The new fabric, aralac, which is made from milk is displayed in Calvin. The exhibit shows aralac in three forms, the fibre, the yarn, and the cloth. Many articles of clothing are now being made from aralac, and there will probably be many more in the future. Improvements in this fabric are forthcoming as there is much research being made along this line.

First Lt. Robert H. Clark, D. V. M. '41, is stationed at the Mira Loma, California quartermaster depot, where he has been assigned assistant depot veterinarian. Lieutenant Clark obtained his commission in February, 1943, and was assigned to the Mira Loma Depot in March, 1943. As assistant depot veterinarian, Lieutenant Clark is charged with the inspection of meat and dairy products. He also is responsible for the care and treatment of Mira Loma's K-9 Corps, that is, a unit of trained sentry dogs.

A late dispatch from the public relations office at Miami Beach, Fla., reads: "First Lt. Harry J. Hershey, f. s. '42, has arrived at Army Air Forces Redistribution Station Number two in Miami Beach for reassignment processing after completing a tour of duty outside the continental United States. Lieutenant Hershey, was a pilot in the European theater for nine months and flew on 25 missions. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters."

Capt. Harold D. Shull, Ag. '39, who has been a pilot in the Mediterranean area, recently arrived at Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2, in Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment.

Lt. Everett G. Blood, G. S. '39, has written his wife, Opal (Yeager) Blood, f. s., who lives at 1230 Vattier, Manhattan, that he was wounded in action in Italy on October 1, and is now in a hospital. Lieutenant Blood was wounded in the wrist. He is the holder of the Silver Star and has been awarded the Purple Heart. Lieutenant Blood was recently promoted to the rank of first lieutenant.

Word has just been received by friends in Manhattan that Lt. William H. Winner, Ag. '41, is missing in action. Lieutenant Winner was pilot of a torpedo bomber attached to an aircraft carrier in the Southwest Pacific near the Philippines. Some time ago Lieutenant Winner received the Distinguished Flying Cross from Admiral Halsey for "heroism and extraordinary achievement in attacks against well-defended enemy harbors in the Solomons area." Winner was prominent in student affairs as a student at Kansas State. He was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Lt. Walter J. Leland, Ag. '40, Manhattan, recently arrived at Camp Roberts, Calif., for duty at the infantry replacement training center there.

Cpl. Glen T. Crawford, f. s. '41, was awarded the Bronze Star on November 29 for "meritorious service in connection with military operation against an enemy. Since October of this year, Corporal Crawford has been somewhere in Germany."

Maj. Earl J. Garvin, f. s. '41, has been assigned as group commanding officer at a United States Air Force Station in England. He is charged with functions of administration, organization, training and combat operations.

Iowa Cyclones And Rockhurst Aggie Foes

Coach Knorr's hoopsters will be busy this weekend, traveling to Ames for a battle with the Iowa Cyclones Saturday and stopping off at Kansas City on the return trip for a tilt with Rockhurst.

The K-State lads are in top condition after toppling Oklahoma Tuesday night. A double quintet will make the trip. One five will be Bill Schultz and Dave Weatherby, forwards; Jack Kincheloe at center, and Ralph Stuesser and Jay Payton, guards. Joe Ridgway and Dana Atkins, forwards; Larry McClaughry, center; and Jack Bell and Dick Spencer at guards, complete the ten to see action over the weekend.

Bill Schultz, Shattuck, Okla., product, has been ill with flu. If he is unable to make the trip Ed Koopman, Great Bend, will substitute.

Iowa will take the floor as the favorite. Their record reads two losses and a bare win over Minnesota, 42-41. The Iowa Seahawks have bagged two victories from the Cyclones.

The Wildcats trounced Rockhurst 65 to 35 here December 18. The scoring combination of Dave Weatherby, Joe Ridgway and Jay Payton prostrated the Hawks as they garnered 16, 12 and 11 points respectively.

Geha, who saw little action in the previous game on account of a bad ankle, will be Rockhurst's main threat. Quinlan, shooting 10 points in the first encounter, is expected to give trouble at guard.

AGRs, Vets Lead

With one game yet to be played the AGRs are slated as winners among the Greek intramural basketball teams. Having won four games by fairly wide margins, the AGRs are favorites against the Phi Delta Theta quintet. At present the TKEs are tied for first with four wins and one loss.

In the Independent group the Jr. AVMA takes top honors with the Esquires as runners-up. The playoff between the Vets and winning Greek team is set for the first of next week.

Students Use Health Service

Nearly 7,000 dispensary visits have been paid to the student health service during the last two years by students, Dr. R. R. Snook, head of the health service, reports. Approximately 2,900 hospital admissions were made.

The average length of stay of patients in the College hospital is 3.86 days says Dr. Snook. Statistics show that 81.42 percent of the students utilized the student health service during the past two years.

Although there were fewer students on the campus during the past two years, some of the student health services were nonetheless more numerous than in any previous period. Physical examinations, for example, were three times as many as in the previous two-year period. These increased demands were the result of rigid military requirements for Army trainees on the campus.

The student health service is entirely self-supporting financially.

Star Against Oklahoma

Lose 2, Win 1 Over Holidays

Coach Fritz Knorr and his Kansas State basketball players polished shooting eyes for the 1945 Big Six conference race by playing three holiday contests with Kansas, Nebraska and Fort Riley. When the trio of non-conference frays was over, the Wildcats had one win and two defeats. The win was over Nebraska.

The first loss came in Kansas City, Mo., Friday, December 22, when the Purple and White cagers tangled with Dr. F. C. Allen's Jayhawkers from Lawrence. A combination of "stage fright" and cold shooting plus a sizzling K. U. attack, downed the Knorrmen 63 to 40. Charley Moffett, a fine Jayhawk forward, netted 25 points to lead the way for Kansas. The Hawks led at the half 27 to 13.

No Kansas State player had an eye for the basket despite the fact that Wildcat shots came often and in great numbers. Jay Payton, guard, hit four times from the field and twice from the free throw line, but even the usually-reliable Jay couldn't seem to relax before the crowd in the big Municipal Auditorium at Kansas City. The Allen-coached Lawrence team got on speaking terms with the hoop soon after the opening tipoff and kept chatting with it all night as Jayhawk shots apparently couldn't miss.

Saturday, December 23, the Wildcats left their dressing room with the cry, "let's make up for last night!" and they did. The final score of the Saturday tilt was Kansas State 49, Nebraska 46. Joe Ridgway, the tiny K-State veteran, scored 12 points as the Wildcats overcame a 31-27 Nebraska halftime lead to treat Kansas City cage followers with some of the most interesting basketball of the weekend.

In the third holiday-season contest, the Kansas Staters played a return game with the strong Fort Riley quintet and went down to a 56-41 defeat.

26 Football Men Receive Letters

Twenty-six Kansas State football players who received varsity letters for the 1944 season were honored at a Manhattan Chamber of Commerce banquet December 21 at the local U. S. O. Other honor guests were the Manhattan High School gridiron squad which won the Central Kansas League championship.

Featured speaker of the evening was A. N. "Bo" McMillin of the University of Indiana. "Bo" McMillin coached the Wildcat team for six years, 1928-1933 inclusive. M. F. Ahearn, director of athletics, was master of ceremonies at the banquet. Ken Chappell, an alumnus of Kansas State, is president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wildcat football men who received "K" awards this year are: Ends—Forris Frick, Manhattan; John Goforth, Choteau, Okla.; Harvey Haas, Junction City; Jack Newell, Phillipsburg; and Dave Weatherby, Neodesha. Tackles—Dale Cowan, Wichita; Earl Haury, Newton; and Bob King, Broken Arrow, Okla. Guards—August Bogina, Arma; Jim Drown, Manhattan; Russell Hardin, Knights-town, Ind.; and Marvin Norby, Pratt. Centers—Harold Kinard, Ruffin, S. C.; and Joe Pollom, Topeka. Quarterbacks—Max Harvey, Greensburg; Jay Payton, Emporia; and Jim Ungles, Satanta. Halfbacks—Dana Atkins, Junction City; Pat Clowers, St. John; Earl Elliott, Marysville; Bill Faubion and Ronnie Webster, Manhattan; George Peddicord, Wamego; and Jean Smith, Mapleton. Fullbacks—Bill Clary, Kansas City; and Bob Mooney, Mankato.

South Americans Here

The agricultural and extension methods of Kansas State College are being studied by Dr. Juan Sevilla of Quito, Ecuador, and Osiah Matos of Bahia, Brazil. The chief purpose of their study is to obtain sufficient knowledge and understanding of the methods being used here to enable them to set up similar systems in their countries. Dr. Sevilla received his doctor's degree from Ecuador National University and has served in the Congress of Ecuador. He was primarily responsible for the development of The Farm Credit System now used in Ecuador.

Haylett Calls Men For Track

Indoor track practice for K-State began Wednesday. Ward Haylett, track coach, reports a complete lack of lettermen. He urges all men in school, whether they have had track experience or not, to report.

One of Haylett's best stars, Joe Knappenberger, Big Six champion in both high and low hurdles, had no track experience before reporting at K-State. Haylett urges the men to "come out and see what you can do—you may be a potential star."

Haylett is known nationally and internationally as a successful track coach. He has mentored American all-star teams which have toured Europe.

The schedule has not yet been determined. Missouri and Nebraska have asked for indoor duals. The Big Six indoor meet at Kansas City is set for some time in March.

The number of meets on the schedule depends on the number and quality of trackmen reporting. Haylett may be found at the athletic office or stadium.

The largest incandescent lamp is a 50,000-watt bulb, bigger than a basketball. It is used occasionally for special flood lighting purposes, costs $500 and consumes enough current to light 600 homes. The smallest is the size of a grain of wheat and was developed first for surgical use. Now at war, it signals the bombardier when a death-dealing "egg" is released.

Alpha Delta Pi got top honors with 15 pounds of chocolates on Wednesday night. Mary Lee Taylor is wearing the Sigma Alpha Epsilon pin of George McKee who is attending school at Michigan University under the Marine training program. . . . Glennis Potter is wearing the diamond of Pvt. Jim Humphreys from Sterling. . . . The other five pounds told of the engagement of Wilma Ward to Ensign Warren Taylor f. s. and member of TKE fraternity, whose home is in Manhattan.

Chi Omega had ten pounds of chocolates. Five pounds were on December 21 from Shirley Warner who is wearing the diamond of Neal Finch of Ottawa. . . . Lynn Schmedeman passed chocolates Wednesday night announcing her engagement to Lt. William A. Ellinger III now in the Army at Camp Wolters, Texas. Lieutenant Ellinger attended Duquesne University at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sig Alpha alum Lt. Don Hite of Arkansas City now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., was a recent guest of the Kansas State chapter.

Ensign Glover Calladay, Beta Theta Pi, and Peggy Flora, KKG, were married at Hutchinson Christmas Day.

Clovis will entertain faculty at a tea at the chapter house Sunday.

Lt. and Mrs. Neil Smull visited in Manhattan Wednesday evening. Mrs. Smull was the former Margaret Ann Massingill and president of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Lieutenant Smull was president of Sigma Nu.

With The Red Cross

When Kansas State alumni in Italy enjoy cookies and buns from the Red Cross, there's a possibility that Miss LeVelle Wood, a former Van Zile Hall food director, is responsible.

With the Red Cross at one of the larger centers "somewhere in Italy," Miss Wood is in charge of bakery goods as part of her duties. The extent of the work is indicated by the 100,000 pounds of flour she requisitioned from the Quartermaster's in September for buns and cookies alone. For Thanksgiving pies, she ordered 1,200 cans of pumpkin.

Since she went overseas more than a year ago, she has been in both Africa and Italy. She writes humorously of her daily problems in making the G. I.'s feel more at home. Her Christmas letters to friends on the campus relate problems of personnel and of transportation. In one instance she used weapon carriers for deliveries after the regular trucks were out of commission. Another time, all electricity was turned off for several days. She directed the bakers by light of lanterns in their using one wood-heated oven.

A recent trip Miss Wood wrote she found "interesting" was one from Italy to Capri over rough waters in a crash boat.

Repairs Needed

If campus buildings at Kansas State College are to be adequately and efficiently heated during the next few years, the College heating and power plant must have repairs and some new equipment, President Milton S. Eisenhower has reported to the State Board of Regents.

Heating and service tunnels from the central plant to the various campus buildings must be reinforced and new ones constructed. Condensing equipment, which will produce a saving in fuel costs, and water softening equipment are needed. A 16-year-old boiler must be reset and a superheater and auxiliaries added.

National Interfrat Group Bans Paddling

All forms of hazing involving mental or physical torture, including paddling, will be banned officially and absolutely by all colleges and universities throughout the country according to a recent news release from the Associated Collegiate Press. Offenders, both individuals and organizations, will be disciplined if this request made by the National Interfraternity conference is followed.

A resolution declaring such forms of hazing a menace to the welfare of the educational institutions as well as to the individual students, was passed unanimously at the 36th annual meeting of the National Interfraternity conference, held in New York City in November.

While such forms of hazing have been condemned in earlier sessions, this is the first definite request made for action by the administrative officers of educational institutions. For years the National Interfraternity conference and its 60 member fraternities have tried through educational means to eliminate questionable hazing practices among the 2,422 undergraduate chapters of the 200 fraternity campuses in this country. In placing the responsibility for prohibition and enforcement upon the local administrative officers, fraternity leaders hope that the problem will be solved.

Ballet In Topeka

S. Hurok's Ballet Theatre will present Russian Ballet at the Municipal Auditorium in Topeka Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Topeka Business and Professional Women's club.

The company of 125 members, with symphony orchestra, will give three numbers: "Swan Lake"; "Princess Aurora," a ballet built around the story of the Sleeping Beauty; and a new American number, "Fancy Free." The first two are accompanied with music by Tchaikowsky, and the last is a jive and boogie-woogie by Leonard Bernstein.

The performance begins at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be ordered from Jenkins Music Company in Topeka.

Give Scholarship

A freshman scholarship award fund for students in the Department of Architecture has been established by Lorentz Schmidt, a Wichita artist. Mr. Schmidt gave the Kansas State College Endowment Association four $25 Series F War Bonds for this fund. The bonds are to be used one each year beginning with the first full year after the war.

Mr. Schmidt designated that these bonds are to be awarded to the freshman architectural student who, in the judgment of the head of the department and his instructors for the year, has made the most progress that year.

Mr. Schmidt believes that by making the award on the basis of progress it will give every student an opportunity regardless of previous office experience or drawing ability.

Holiday Committee

The names of the committee in charge of student holidays have been announced by Margaret McNamee, corresponding secretary of the Student Council. This committee was chosen at a meeting of the council. The members are Kathryn Ashbaugh, head cheerleader; Jim Barley, Eunice Stoltenberg, Jean Kays, Pauline Flook, and Elinor Allison.

YW Members . . .

There will be an important meeting of all YWCA members in Recreation Center Tuesday at 4 p. m. This will be a business meeting called for the purpose of electing a district council representative and a president for next semester to fill the vacancies.

Women Send Gifts

With a goal of 100 packages to make and send to the Camp Whiteside Hospital, members of Panhellenic and Amicossembly donated a total of 120 gifts, 20 over the original amount set.

This response to the drive by the Riley County Camp and Hospital Committee has been announced by the committee members, Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt and Miss Grace Derby.

The gift packages were valued at approximately $1 and contained writing supplies, toilet articles, cigarettes, candy, gum, handkerchiefs, books and games of all kinds. Through the plan, whereby four girls filled each package, about 480 individuals participated in the drive.

Army Cook Thanks KSC For Turkey

An Army cook, somewhere in Germany, thankful for his Thanksgiving turkey dinner, has written to Kansas State College of his appreciation.

The soldier, Cpl. Wally Van Dusen, wrote, "I have been one of the lucky boys to have a very happy Thanksgiving through your College. We were very fortunate to receive 14 of your very finest turkeys. I am sending the tag from the largest one. We appreciate the fine work you have done in getting us the best and thank you for it."

Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the Department of Poultry Husbandry at the College, said the leg band which Corporal Van Dusen had returned with his letter was from a turkey hen which weighed 19 pounds and had a breast area of 11.5 square inches. The College sold approximately 185 turkeys weighing 3,529 pounds early in the season for shipment to our armed forces overseas. The turkeys were handled locally through the Perry Packing Plant.

Gifts To College

Two local firms, the Manhattan Creamery Company, and the Perry Packing Company have contributed to the Kansas State College Endowment Association fund President Milton S. Eisenhower announced Saturday.

Manhattan Creamery, operated by J. E. Jacobson and sons, presented a check for $500 to the fund for such use as the trustees should determine.

The Perry Packing Company gift of $1,500 was also presented with no definite stipulation as to its use.

First Woman Editor Issues K. S. Engineer

Kansas State journalism history was made when the November issue of the Kansas State Engineer came out with the first woman editor in the magazine's history. Jene Wise, an architect from Wichita, edited this first issue of the year. Miss Wise is also president of the American Institute of Architects.

The Engineer inaugurates a new policy this year. The articles are not as technical as they have been in the past, but are written by students in the school of engineering for the average high school reader.

The staff is lacking the experience usually gained by publishing the May issue because a decision was made last year not to issue the Engineer for the duration and six months. However, this fall there was a large enrollment in the architecture department, including several women, so this decision was changed and the Engineer, "voice of the Engine house," is again being published.

The Kansas State Engineer has always ranked high in competition with other college magazines of this type.

Robert Jackson is assistant editor and Wilbur Ramey is copy editor. Other departmental editors include Dorothy Wilson, "Enginallities," Eddie Herres, engineering news; Robert Jackson, "exhaust;" and Bob Oberhelman, staff photographer; Marshall Walker is staff artist and Charles Schwab the feature editor.

The frontispiece for the November issue depicts a typical American factory in wartime production 24 hours a day. The cartoon on the cover is by Marshall Walker. Bob Oberhelman is given credit for designing this issue's title.

Curry Wounded

The War Department has announced that Pfc. Robert L. Curry has been wounded in action in the Asiatic area.

Curry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos L. Curry of Arkansas City. He was a chemical engineering student at Kansas State College from the first term of 1941 until the end of the spring semester of 1943. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

81 Students Offer Blood To Mobile Unit

Eighty-one College students and several faculty members offered their blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank here Thursday and Friday. Some who volunteered were not accepted for various reasons. The instructors who were recorded at the local Red Cross office as contributors were Miss Cornelia Crittenden, Earl Hoover, and Martha Cullipher of the library staff.

The students who volunteered were Virginia Larson, Jeannette Putman, Doris Danielson, Helen Bird, Vernelle Blevins, Dorothy Cochran, Ann Allison, Margaret Morris, Donald Larsen, Ruth Wilson, Rowena Pippin, Betty Carr, Ethel Wilson, Helen Rein, Faye Gleason, Norma Lumpkin and Harold Shankland.

Student Contributors

Persian Prince Now Private, U. S. Army

Assad Bakhtiari, the Persian prince who was a student here last year, recently received the new title of "Butch," private of the United States army. He was inducted at Ft. Dix, N. J., last November, and is now stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Grandson of His Excellency Sir Hagi Ali Ghali Khan Sarder Assad Bakhtiari, the Prince arrived in the United States last February to study commerce and finance here at Kansas State. A well-known figure on the campus, Assad Bakhtiari declared that he enjoyed attending Kansas State College and is planning on returning after the war.

Prior to coming to the United States, "Butch" served in the highly-rated Persian Cavalry, where the "discipline is tough." He left just before he would have been eligible for a commission. He also attended the American College in Persia for two years, and was an interpreter to Colonel Johnson of Topeka. It was from him that he received the inspiration to attend Kansas State.

Early in December, "Butch" signed his final citizenship papers and is now an American citizen. Although he is proud of being a citizen, he is finding it a little difficult to orient himself to such tasks as bed making, K. P. and saying "Yes Sir" to his superiors.

After this war he hopes to return to finish his education and then to remain in this country as an exporter of goods to his native land.

Omicron Nu will entertain freshmen in home economics with a tea in Calvin Lounge today at four o'clock. This tea is held annually to explain Omicron Nu, and to give students a goal toward which to work. Dean Margaret Justin will speak at the tea today.

Amplifying System

Any organization wishing to rent the amplifying system owned by the Student Council may contact Charles Schwab by calling 4015. The charge for renting this amplifying system is $5.

Apply

Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of The Collegian for the spring semester must be filed in R. R. Lashbrook's office in Kedzie Hall by tomorrow. Anyone in school who can meet the scholarship requirements is eligible, whether or not he is enrolled in the journalism department.

The blanks are still available in the Royal Purple business office, K-105D. The positions will be filled by the Board of Student Publications from applications received at a meeting in the near future.

KSC Continues On Year-Round Program Basis

"Kansas State College plans to continue its year-around educational programs as long as war veterans need such a program," President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced.

"We believe we are obligated to make it possible for the men and women who have returned and who will return from the armed forces, to complete their educational programs in the shortest possible time," President Eisenhower commented. "This is particularly important because the time in which such programs must be completed is strictly limited by the federal laws which authorize payment to veterans completing their schooling."

Others Drop Program

Mr. Eisenhower's statement of policy was occasioned by the fact that several colleges and universities have announced their intention of abandoning accelerated and year-around programs during the coming year.

Under the College's war program, a student may now take as much college work in a calendar year as the average student formerly took in one and a half years. Aside from a shortened Christmas holiday period and a week after spring commencement, the College plant is continuously in use by classes throughout the year. A 16-week fall session and 16-week spring session are followed by a summer school in which a 16-week term runs concurrently with two consecutive 8-week terms, some courses being offered on a 16-week basis but most of them on an 8-week basis.

Optional With Student

President Eisenhower pointed out that the fact the College offers a year around program does not, of course, mean that students will be expected to follow such a program unless their particular needs call for it.

"The average high school graduate in the postwar period probably will want to attend college on the old basis of two semesters a year, with the summer available to earn money for expenses, and for recreation. Or he can take two regular sessions and an eight-week summer period. Such a program undoubtedly will be more desirable for the average younger student than one of continuous attendance in classes.

"But for the mature student who is attending college under one of the federal programs for those who have been in the armed services, the chief objective frequently is to complete the educational requirements for a chosen profession as quickly as possible. For this type of student the need for a year around program is clear."

Assembly Wednesday

Philip Lin, a leading Chinese youth, will speak at assembly Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. His subject will be "Youth Shapes a New China." A speaker of unusual popularity, Mr. Lin has devoted much time to student activities in wartime China.

Mr. Lin is brought here under the auspices of the East and West Association.

Wampus Cats Meet

The Wampus Cats will meet Friday in Nichols Gymnasium at 5 p. m. Officers elected at the last meeting are: Elwood Wedmond, president; Morley Cook, vice-president; Kenneth Kendall, secretary; Dave Underwood, treasurer.

Seven Groups Enter Annual Y-Orpheum

Seven organizations have expressed their intentions to enter the 21st annual Y-Orpheum which will be held the first or second week-end of March.

Since there is still time to enter the event the YMCA, sponsor of the competitive show, expects other organizations to submit entries.

Individual acts are needed to "fill in" between the longer group acts. Anyone with a single act should contact Embert Coles, chairman of the show, through the college post office.

Prof. Earl G. Hoover will direct the production. Organizations working on acts are urged to contact him for technical and production advice.

Organizations which have notified Coles that they intend to participate are Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Clovia, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

137 Fields Offered Vets

One hundred thirty-seven fields beginning alphabetically with accounting and ending with zoology have been listed by the College as fields in which both men and women veterans can obtain training here. This is only a partial listing.

Kansas State is preparing to meet the needs of veterans in three general types of education, normal degree-curriculums, one or two-year curriculums not leading to a degree and intensive refresher courses.

Many Veterans

With assistance under Public Law 16 and Public Law 346 veterans of this war have already enrolled at Kansas State. President Milton S. Eisenhower believes it is likely that such enrollment will grow until a peak of 2,500 or 3,000 at one time is reached.

Plans have been formulated, reports the President, to offer a two-year curriculum in agriculture for students who have completed high school, who wish practical training in agriculture, but who do not wish to remain in College long enough to obtain a degree. An existing two-year curriculum of the School of Engineering and Architecture in industrial technology may fit training needs of many returning veterans. In addition, the School of Engineering and Architecture is planning a comprehensive group of courses of the technical institute type, such courses involving every department of the School except chemical engineering.

Offer Refresher Courses

The Veterans Administration has asked the School of Home Economics to offer short curriculums that will fit men and women to manage cafes and similar food establishments, and to prepare women for homemaking, home nursing and food preparation.

"Every area of specialization in the College will have available such refresher courses as are desired by veterans," President Eisenhower assures. "Surveys indicate this will constitute a major need."

If work at less than the College level is to be given by Kansas State, it must be organized in a special vocational school which will require special state and federal financial support.

Night School

Two courses for which college credit may be obtained by students regularly enrolled in the College now are being offered at the Adult Evening School being taught at the Manhattan High School. The School opened Tuesday, but students may enroll tonight or even next week.

Typing and Spanish credits may be earned in this way through arrangements made in the Office of Admissions under Dr. S. A. Nock. Spanish will be taught by Ethelinda Parrish and typing by W. J. Clark.

Sessions of the evening school will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. and will continue for 20 lessons. Any students interested should contact Dr. Nock in the Office of Admissions before enrolling.

Pictures

All students who haven't had their pictures taken for the class or fraternity sections of the Royal Purple must have them taken at the Studio Royal Monday or Tuesday, if they wish to be represented in the 1945 yearbook, announces Elizabeth Crandall, editor.

Appointments should be made at the studio in advance by telephone. Receipts for the pictures can still be obtained in the publications business office (Kedzie 105-D) today and tomorrow. The only class pictures taken next semester will be for students not enrolled in college this semester.

Organizations not having made arrangements for group pictures should do so by tomorrow.

Senior Classes Held Today At Country Club

Is there something missing? Do your class rooms seem strangely empty? Have you missed the jostling and pushing you usually suffer when struggling through Anderson Hall between classes?

It's all because today is Senior Sneak Day and the seniors have "snuck." This morning since 10, if there were any who got up that early, the men and women, stag or drag, have been dancing at the Country Club. At noon a buffet luncheon will give these upper upper-classes a chance to recuperate for the afternoon's festivities.

Movies are the feature of the afternoon. Seniors will be attending one of the downtown theaters. That is, they are entitled to if they purchased a ticket which covers all the doings for the day.

As a finishing touch (it is hoped too many aren't completely finished.) it's back to the Country Club from seven to nine this evening for more dancing 'n stuff. Music for the occasion is being furnished by Dick Doddridge and his band.

Underclassmen are already laying bets as to how many seniors will be able to sneak back to school tomorrow with as much vim, vigor and vitality as they had when sneaking out today.

Schedule Farm, Home Week Feb. 6-9

Plans are well underway on the campus for the 77th annual Farm and Home Week scheduled for February 6 to 9. The annual Farm and Home Week which brings to the campus several hundred farmers and farm women is an offspring of the Farmers' Institute, originated first in the United States at Kansas State in 1868.

Characterizing Farm and Home Week as "an essential war activity," President Milton S. Eisenhower has extended his official invitation to all Kansans.

"Farm and Home Week," says the President, "has proved to be so helpful in connection with wartime problems on the farm and in the home that we now think of this annual event as an essential war activity. I invite all who can profit by the useful and inspirational discussions to be with us these four days."

This year emphasis will be placed on war food production problems and time and labor-saving devices, according to L. C. Williams, assistant director of the College Extension Service, who is in charge of Farm and Home Week activities.

Programs have been planned for homemakers, farmers, stockmen, dairymen, poultrymen, beekeepers, gardeners, rural pastors and country correspondents.

Students To Train

Appointments for a fifth year of training in Dietetics and Institutional Management have been made. Three students will go into hospitals for further work. Virginia Larson will go to the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. Elaine Soelter trains at Cook County General Hospital in Chicago, and Helen Adams will go to the Colorado State Hospital in Pueblo.

Ruth Henderson will take administrative work in Seattle at the University of Washington.

Stoffer Speaks At Graduation January 27

Dr. Bryan S. Stoffer, president of Washburn Municipal University, will speak on "The Task Ahead" at the second annual winter commencement in the College Auditorium at 10 a. m. January 27. President Stoffer's talk will be based on his foreign experiences.

There are 34 candidates for degrees at this second annual mid-term commencement, according to Miss Mary Kimball, College registrar. They represent the Schools of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Engineering and Architecture, Home Economics and Graduate.

Students and faculty members in academic attire will assemble in Anderson Hall and from there will march to the College Auditorium. Music will be furnished by the Department of Music.

The Rev. Charles T. Brewster, pastor of the Congregational Church, will give the invocation and benediction.

The speaker has been president of Washburn since 1942. He formerly headed Doane College in Crete, Neb. He holds an A. B. degree from Oberlin College and has M. A., B. D., and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Chicago.

From 1923-35 Dr. Stoffer was an educational missionary in Madura, India. He was president of the Union Theological Seminary at Pasmalal. As superintendent of schools and council chairman in Madura in 1927-28 he had charge of 100 elementary schools, of which 60 were among the Kallar or Robber castes. Nine years prior to his return to the states as president of Doane College he was president of the American College in Madura.

Social Club Gives To Residence Fund

The College Social Club has added $225 to its contribution toward the construction of residence halls for women at Kansas State College. This amount was paid recently to the Kansas State College Endowment Association by Mrs. L. H. Limper, treasurer of the club. The recent contribution was made possible by the addition of $1 to the sum paid as dues by each of those members of the club who wished to do so.

This is not the first donation of the College Social Club to the fund which is being accumulated so that residence halls for women can be constructed as soon as conditions permit. This club was one of the first organizations to respond to the appeal for funds. However, the recent payment is the first that has come directly from the membership. The earlier donation was made from surplus funds in the treasury of the organization.

In addition to these contributions directly from the Social Club, many members have made individual contributions and many others are assisting in other ways to raise the needed funds. Mrs. M. S. Eisenhower is ex-officio president of the College Social Club.

A well 124 feet deep, dug on the old site of Kansas State College in the mid-1800's, still yields a generous supply of water while wells on neighboring farms have failed.

Stamp Sales . . .

Student purchases of War Stamps from the weekly booth in Anderson Hall from the beginning of the current semester until the end of 1944 did not exceed $150. This amount was often sold in one day last year, according to Phyllis Johansen, Student Council War Stamp Chairman.

Evidently, then, Kansas State College students are not taking their monetary responsibility to their country's war effort seriously enough. Evidently, for the majority of the student body, the price of several 'cokes,' or candy bars, or a package of cigarettes, or a movie once a week is too great a sacrifice for as small a goal as ending a world war as quickly as possible.

Simple division tells us that by taking the present enrollment figure at 1500, the student body contributed an average of two cents each week the booth was open to the campus War Stamp sale. While the booth was only open five times during the last three months of 1944, a ten-cent purchase by each of us would have swelled the total to $750.

But there's no use talking now about "what might have been." The cold cruel facts are that we didn't, and our present record is not one of which we can be proud.

It's not too late in 1945 to make another resolution, however—a resolution that this 1944 record will be forgotten in the improvement we shall make in 1945. It can easily be made if everyone would buy a minimum of one 10-cent stamp each time the booth was open.

And remember, you're not giving the money away, it's an investment. Stamps fill books, and full books buy bonds, and bonds mean cash for post-war spending.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Craig Bracken. Pardon me, friends, I promised Craig I'd mention his name in this week's column. Now on with the stuff.

What with final exams drawing near we will give out with a few hints on how to crib in exams. Some of the more superstitious students use a Ouija board to find the answers. But that is too bulky and might arouse suspicions among the Profs if they saw a Ouija board sticking from a blouse or sport shirt. Hence, here are some of the more secretive methods. 1. Put a few dehydrated notes into your necktie and when seeming to be thinking glance down and enlighten yourself. But this cannot be used by the TKEs as they do not own neckties due to some religious belief. I believe it is because they are against new styles. The various and sundry methods of cheating cannot be used by everyone but here is an idea that I'm sure all can use. . . . Take one question that you are sure you know and elaborate on it. Big John Winters did that back in 1937 and when they graded his paper all he knew was who was going to win the 6th race at Santa Anita. So much for ADVICE to Stewards.

Now we present part V of Collich Life by Quaint old Uncle Big Johnathan.

There's a place where I am bigger than in Congress of this Nation. There's a place where I have 15 Gals, and it ain't a filling Station. There's a place where they all hold me in the highest of esteem. Is it Hollywood or New York. . . . No . . . it's our own K-State . . . CANTEN.

Well, we finally got the nerve to expose the writer or writers of this witty (???) ditty and the names appear at the bottom of the column. Go ahead—skip this item. We know you can't wait to see the culprits (as if you didn't know)!

Hal (Happy Chappy) Hogue has the ice-skating bug. He has been ice-skating for several days—on and off the ice. The Acme furriers of K. C. have chipped in and bought him a fur-line reversible toupee.

This writes a welcome finis to this week's gruesome chapter, so we leave you with this poem:

If you're one of those much-hated guys and bags,
Who are always reaching to mooch
"two more fags,"
Better watch your step or you'll be alone.

So do like the crap shooter and roll your own.

Bagley Photographs Merrill's Marauders

"I always wondered why I never saw a picture of a Jap in the jungle shooting. But now I know," stated T/3 Edgar S. Bagley, assistant professor of economics now on leave, who photographed Merrill's Marauders on their wild trek through North Burma.

"One can be in battle for days in the thick jungle without seeing a Jap. And if you can't see a Jap well enough to shoot him, you never could get a picture. A lot of times fighting is by sound.

"With troops strung over long, narrow difficult jungle trails while in motion and with the enemy carefully camouflaged during fighting, the chances of getting good action shots are small," said Technician Bagley.

Since photography was his hobby, Mr. Bagley managed to get into a Signal Corps photo outfit. He has been in the Army for more than two years, one year of which has been spent in the India-Burma Theater. Here he received the Presidential Unit Citation awarded to the Marauders for their exploits behind Jap lines.

Speaking of the best shots in the Marauder campaign, he mentioned those he took after the Third Battalion rescued the Second Battalion which had been trapped. "I took pictures of them coming down the trail," he said. "The walking wounded, the stretcher cases, everybody long bearded and tired. Desolation and destruction all around. The little graveyard. The most impressive thing, however, was the smell. Two weeks accumulation of dead men and animals. And you can't photograph that."

Although when in action it is hard to distinguish one close call as being more harrowing than others, Technician Bagley mentioned the time he decided to sit down in a fox hole instead of standing up only to hear a split second later the whip-like crack of a bullet where his head had been.

Water Colors Now On Display Here

An exhibition of water color paintings circulated by the Midwestern Museums Association is on display in the gallery of the Department of Architecture on the third floor of the engineering building. The exhibit is made up of invited work or work selected from collections.

Some of the best-known water colorists in this part of the country are included. The show has several paintings in gouache as well as transparent water color. The exhibit will be on display through January 25.

The Midwestern Museums Association is made up of museums and colleges of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma and was organized in February, 1944. The Department of Architecture at Kansas State is a member of the group and was represented at original meetings by Prof. John F. Helm Jr.

'Parchment' Honors Six Quill Members

Six Kansas State students have work represented in the December issue of the Parchment, national magazine of the American College Quill Club.

Two poems, "The Nativity of Thought" and "In the Library," are by Alice M. Mead; and short stories and sketches include "Another Chance" by Marjorie Bernard; "The Boss's Knife" by Margaret Shapley; "Rain in Baguio" by Pat Williams; "Trials of a G. S. O. Girl" by Marjorie Hawkins; and "It Is Peaceful" by Dee Preusch.

The Parchment is published three times a year and contains selected material from the eleven active chapters of the national association.

AVMA Elects

Jean Smith was elected president of the Jr. AVMA at a meeting held Tuesday night. Other officers elected include Don Trotter, vice-president; Myron Kromminga, secretary; and George Woods, treasurer.

KSC Employs 681 Persons In 3 Fields

Kansas State College employed 330 persons for extension work and 351 for resident teaching, administration and research during the fiscal year 1943-44. President Milton S. Eisenhower has reported to the State Board of Regents.

In addition to the three major activities of teaching, research and extension, college faculty members provide a wide variety of services to the people of the state. For example, they test and distribute seed, inspect farms, judge exhibits, test highway materials, distribute seedling trees, make tests and blueprints for shop practices for high schools and publish bulletins and material of everyday interest to the homemaker, businessman and farmer.

Fewer on Faculty

The total number of persons employed was 67 less than during the previous year because of smaller wartime enrollment of students and because of intensification of duties of remaining staff members during the absence of many of the young staff members in the armed forces. President Eisenhower, however, has predicted the need of a much larger staff to care for the anticipated increased enrollment after the war ends.

In addition to 109 positions vacated by leaves of absence during the biennium for faculty members entering the armed services or war industries, many other members of the faculty resigned to accept better paying jobs in industry, in other educational institutions and in governmental agencies. The salary scale at Kansas State, now on a 1932 level, is considerably lower than that of similar institutions of learning and is far below that of the federal government and industry.

Average $2,500 Each

The faculty members, including administrative officers and county club agents, home demonstration agents and agricultural agents as well as members of the teaching and research staff, received a total of $1,715,272 in salaries during the year, an average of approximately $2,520 each.

Half of the salaries ranged from $2,000 to $3,000 annually. Of these, the larger group, 188, was in the $2,000 to $2,500 salary range, and the remainder, 161, in the $2,500 to $3,000 range.

Only 19 persons of those employed received more than $5,000. Nine of these were in administrative positions; eight were professors; one, an associate professor; and one, an administrative assistant.

Secure New Picture

"Julien," a pastel picture by the late Alice Pike Barney, has arrived at the College and has been hung in the College Library above the card catalogues and facing the loan desk, according to Prof. John F. Helm Jr., of the architecture department.

The representatives of the Alice Barney Estate have made arrangements to lend her paintings to various colleges for periods of 10 years, then to rotate the pictures. "Laura at Sixteen" and "Marie Huet" have been returned to a representative, and the paintings "Gipsy" and "Lady V" will remain on exhibition in the Library for some time.

KSCagers Conquer Hawks, Drop Iowa Over Weekend

Kansas State's basketball team scored 37 points in a big first half enabling them to post their second win of the season over the Rockhurst Hawks in Kansas City Monday night. Before a record crowd at Mason-Halpin field house, Coach Lew Lane's Hawks proved no match for the Purple and White, which scored a 44-38 triumph, leading all the way.

Rockhurst was unable to check the Wildcats the first half; with Joe Ridgway feeding Dave Weatherby and the sharpshooting eye of Jay Payton, stellar guard, the K-State scoring machine really got rolling. The Aggies left the floor at the half with the score reading 37-22.

Reserves In

Coach Fritz Knorr sent his reserves in the second half and the Lane-mentored boys closed the gap to six points before the Purple and White warriors scored. Mel Pace and Gil Bourk led the Hawks in their drive.

With Rockhurst threatening, Coach Knorr wasted no time getting his regulars back into the game. The Wildcats hadn't scored in the second half till eleven and one-half minutes had passed by, then Payton sank a long shot and Ralph Stuesser a free throw to give K-State an eight point margin. Pace and Bourk each counted a free shot, and Bourk another field goal to narrow it to five points again and then Jack Kincheloe's free toss ended the game giving K-State its 44-38 triumph.

K-State scored only seven points the second half to Rockhurst's 16.

Weatherby and Payton paced the Purple and White men with six field goals apiece. Gil Bourk and Mel Pace led their teammates with 9 and 8 points respectively.

Lose To Iowa State

The Purple and White basketballers traveled to Ames Saturday night, and were defeated 31-60 by the Iowa State Cyclones.

K-State's Jay Payton, usually a consistent scorer, had a cold night and was held scoreless while Jim Myers, Cyclone forward, got hot and couldn't seem to miss the basket.

Kincheloe and Weatherby led their teammates with 8 and 11 points. Myers and Bob Mott garnered 24 and 11 points respectively for their team.

Predicts Increase In Fun Centers

Family recreation rooms as well as community fun centers will be noticeably increased in 1945, Miss Doris Compton, College recreation specialist, predicts. Recreation will continue to be the "emotional doctor" for thousands of rural folks. In all cases, an attempt will be made to create permanent recreational centers that will carry on after the war.

"We want recreation to become an accepted part of everyday living," she points out. "Music and drama interests are gradually awakening. I plan to work with home management specialists this coming year in helping farm families make and rearrange family recreation centers, as well as with community groups."

"In 1944, community groups by the score discovered that they can have fun even if they cannot go long distances in their cars. Community fun centers have been styled to fit every member of the family. Some 378 communities were helped in improving what recreational facilities they already had while 553 communities received help in organizing their group

Aggie Quintet Opposes Fliers Here Saturday

Kansas State's wily cagers engage the Herington Army Air Field five on the local hardwood at 7:30 Saturday night in what is likely to be a thrill-packed battle, with the two teams about evenly matched.

Neither team will take the floor as the favorite. The Fliers, competing mainly with service teams, ran up an 18 point lead over Rockhurst in December. This compares with Kansas State's leads of 30 points in December and 6 Monday over the Hawks.

Playing on the home court again after the Iowa State and Kansas City frays, the Knorrmen are in top shape to combat Lt. Vincent Hogan's GIs.

Handicapped badly by lack of height, the airmen are sparked by Sam Deitchman, guard from CCNY. With the "Midgets" at forward slots, namely the 5'8" Norman Deschaine and the ball hawking 5'6" star from Duquesne, Pa., Mike Byelick, a scoring threat is imminent. Dick DeGaetani, 5'10" tosser, at guards with Deitchman, and Oscar "Paddy" Flores at center, complete the quintet.

Dave Weatherby, lanky 17-year-old who tallied 18 points per game in high school basketball at Neodesha, will start at forward along with "Little Joe" Ridgway. Jay Payton, junior college and high school star, will be paired at guard position with Dick Spencer, who along with Ridgway played on last year's victorious AST team. The 6'3" Jack Kincheloe at center slot completes the five.

To Horticultural Meeting

Dr. G. A. Filling, associate professor of pomology, is attending a two-day meeting of the Missouri State Horticultural Society in St. Joseph. Leading topics of discussion at the meeting are cooperative horticultural studies for Northeast Kansas and Northwest Missouri.

During the past two years 524 students have been enrolled in the War Training program at Kansas State College. Nine special courses, all of college level, were offered. The courses ranged in length from 8 to 18 weeks.

and getting a program of fun started."

Finding fun at home has been a fairly new adventure, she went on to say, but now is spreading to great lengths. A total of 6,075 families have adopted a regular family fun program. The number of families assisted and encouraged in planning such a program was 11,040, an increase of approximately 3,500 over the year before.

Ranking high in the problems of wartime living is the lack of recreation for young people in rural areas. The answer to the rising delinquency problem is the youth fun center. Several such rising centers have been set up and are now running on a regular basis.

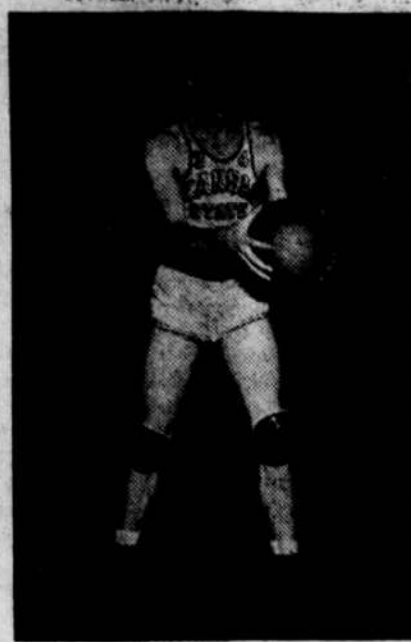

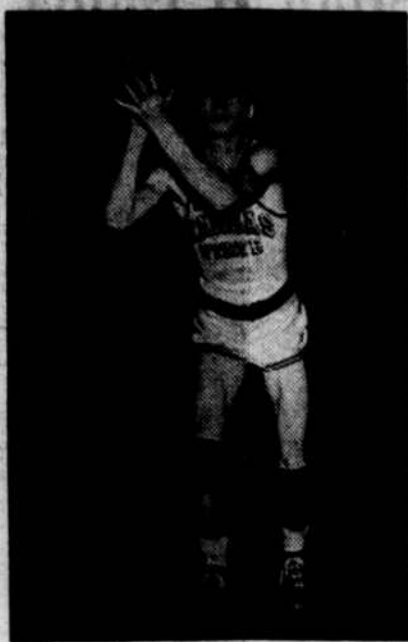

Overworked farm women have been taught how to relax and have helped not only themselves but their children as well.

AGRs Topple Vets For Crown

Topping the Jr. AVMA, winners of the Independent group, the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity five emerged triumphant in the intramural basketball tournament Monday night.

Running up a score of 36 to 24, the two teams climaxed the season with this playoff between the winners of the Independent and Fraternity groups. Runners-up in the Independent group were the Esquires who garnered a total of four wins and one loss. The TKEs, with the same total, rank as runners-up of the Greeks.

'Having A Wonderful Time'

Parties are the order of this coming weekend so it seems. Just a brief forecast of what's to come.

Friday night the YMCA and YWCA are having a Thank You Dance at the U. S. O. from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. A band from Fort Riley will play.

Men of the House of Williams are entertaining dates with a house party Friday night.

Van Zile Hall's annual formal party will be held Saturday night at the hall.

Saturday night will also be the date of the Phi Delta Theta semi-formal dinner dance. The Wareham Hotel is the scene of the dinner, followed by dancing at the chapter house.

Kappa Sigma will entertain dates at a house party Saturday night.

Sunday Alpha Gamma Rho's will be hosts at a house party for dates.

Alpha Xi Caroline Meyers passed chocolates Thursday night telling of her engagement to Lt. Jack Hodgen who is now at Winter General Hospital at Topeka.

Alpha Delta Pi had chocolates Sunday from Maria Norman announcing her engagement to Sgt. Joe Pappson of Ambridge, Pa. Sergeant Pappson was formerly cadet colonel of the Army Air Corps students at Kansas State last spring.

Ruth Norman passed chocolates to her Alpha Delta sisters the same day telling of her engagement to Gene Spratt, TKE.

Adelaide Swift, Alpha Xi Delta, announced her engagement to Lt. Edward Sondker Thursday. Lieutenant Sondker was a member of Delta Tau Delta at Kansas University.

Roses at the Alpha Xi Delta house Thursday night told of the marriage of Alberta Hineman and Sam Jewett on December 28.

Newest pledge of Chi Omega is Joyce Wedel of Wichita.

Betty Lou Wiley, HE '43 and Lt. Warren B. Nelson, Agriculture '42, AKL were married December 24 at Tonganoxie. Lieutenant Nelson has completed his 50th mission overseas as a navigator on a Liberator.

Ken Whitney was initiated into Sigma Alpha Epsilon Saturday.

Kappa Kappa Gamma had chocolates Thursday night from Gladys Richardson announcing her engagement to Wate Heter of Sterling.

Lee Wycoff of Norcatur was formally pledged by Kappa Delta Sunday.

Church News

Lutheran Student Association will meet at 4 p. m. Sunday at the church for recreation and refreshment. The meeting will be in charge of Corp. Norman C. Myrvik who will tell the story of a Lutheran hymn and will then lead singing.

"With Our Boys in the South Pacific" will be the theme of the Christian Endeavor meeting led by Clara Louise Dubbs at 5 p. m. Sunday in Kohler Hall.

Kappa Beta will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at 1529 Humboldt. The alumni have charge of the meeting.

With games led by Irene Gehrke, the Baptist Youth Fellowship will begin its Sunday youth program at 5:15 p. m. At 6:30 Bill Moore will present a topic on "Personal Evangelism" and will hold a short prayer service.

Phi Chi Delta will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at Westminster House. "Joy in Our Hearts" will be given by Jean Wichers and Ruth Katherine King.

Activities at Wesley Hall on Sunday begin with recreation at 5 p. m., and lunch at 5:50, followed by the league program at 6:30. Miss Calkins, returned missionary from the Orient will speak.

Ten members of Sigma Eta Chi became active following initiation ceremonies held before Christmas. Those initiated were: Caroline Perkins, Elaine Larson, Marion Terrill, Miriam Wilke, Virginia Grandfield, Barbara Drayer, Louise Wells, Helen Jones, Jody Hahn, and Betty Clark.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Eck Holland on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

Amistad Meets Needs Of Unaffiliated Coeds

By Dora Lee Dauma

"I guess we're just the forgotten chicks!" sighed the sloppy-Joed coed as she gurgled the last drop of 'coke' from her glass.

She slumped down further in the Canteen booth.

"We're not Greeks, we don't live in an organized independent house, we're new on the campus—how are we ever going to get acquainted with anyone!"

Amistad Organized

To meet the needs of this group of unaffiliated women, Amistad was organized on the K-State campus last spring.

Amistad—Spanish for "friendly"—was organized with the idea of promoting social and political effectiveness, and bringing these women closer to the campus.

A mixer started the Amistad ball rolling and soon afterwards a committee started work on a constitution which was adopted in May. A semi-formal party was held just before school closed and it is planned that this and other parties will become annual affairs.

60 Members Now

About 60 women are now active members in the organization with approximately 150 more who are eligible to join. After attending three meetings any unaffiliated woman student is eligible for active membership. Meetings are held every first and third Wednesdays of the month at 7:30 p. m. in Calvin Lounge.

Cabinet members for this year include: Maurine Pence, president; Louise Darby, vice-president; Alberta Steuwe, secretary-treasurer; Barbara Rogers, program chairman; and Maxine Wilson, corresponding secretary. Miss Eva Mullen is sponsor.

YW Cabinet Meets

The YWCA cabinet group and their advisory board held a joint meeting and dinner at the College Tearoom Monday night. Vernelle Blevins, Lois Johnson, Dorothy Cochran, Roberta Townley, and Aylo Albertson, were the students who gave reports on the inter-collegiate conference which they attended at Estes Park last June.

Miss Iva Mullen and Miss Helen Moore, who attended the faculty seminar also gave reports. Group singing was led by Lois Johnson, and accompanied by Margaret Parker. Mrs. Arthur Peine and Roberta Townley presided.

Student Dance At USO Friday

The big "Thank You" dance and party, which is being sponsored by the YWCA and the YMCA in appreciation of the generous support in the Community Chest drive, will be held tomorrow, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock at the downtown USO. The guests at the party will dance to the music of a Fort Riley dance band, made up from the 36th Corps, under the direction of Lt. Gertseema.

The dance will be held in special honor of the veterans of the World War II and their wives or dates. All Kansas State College students and their dates, as well as all servicemen, are invited and will be admitted free of charge. The students are asked to bring their activity books.

KS Coeds Give To Russian Relief

"The local Russian War Relief committee wishes to thank the Kansas State coeds who participated in the 'Christmas Ship' campaign," said Mrs. F. C. Fenton, chairman of the committee.

The contributions made by Kansas State coeds made it possible to fill three large Red Cross cartons with warm clothing for the Russian war orphans. The estimated value of the gifts was between $400 and $500. The gifts included both new and used clothing—sweaters, coats, dresses, socks, suits, underwear, and baby clothing. In many cases each gift was tagged with the name and address of the donor.

A letter of appreciation from New York headquarters has been received by Mrs. Fenton. In the letter it was emphasized that it was a fine thing to hold the Russians as well as to create good feeling between the two peoples.

The campaign was so successful nationally that a second ship is being filled, and a fourth carton will be sent from Manhattan this month. Anyone desiring to contribute to the Russian War Relief should contact Mrs. F. C. Fenton, Mrs. Arthur Peine or Mrs. A. A. Holtz.

Service Club . . .

The Home Economics Service Club will retake their picture for the Royal Purple Tuesday at 5 p. m. in the Illustrations Building.

Lucille Graper, treasurer of the Service Club, announced that only members that have paid their dues for the year can have their pictures taken.

Award Scholarship

Dora Lee Dauma, dual senior in industrial journalism and General Home Economics has been awarded a $100 scholarship by the national organization of Delta Delta Delta, social sorority.

The scholarships were awarded January 1 to women students in colleges where there are chapters of Delta Delta Delta.

College Requests Equipment Funds

To enable the College gradually to build up its laboratory equipment, funds equal to those appropriated in 1942-43 have been requested of the State Board of Regents.

Two years ago, in view of the unavailability of such equipment, the legislature reduced the item from $15,000 to $10,000 a year. Hence, President Milton S. Eisenhower has pointed out, the needs have accumulated. In 1931-32 the annual appropriation was $20,000.

Some of the important items requested: reconditioning of the hydraulics laboratory, $4,500; freezing and thawing equipment for use in testing building and road materials, $7,500; distillation equipment, water softener and vacuum system for the chemical engineering laboratory, $2,800; research television station for both research and instruction, $5,000; electric mixer for institutional management, $900; replacing 15 microscopes, $2,250; and potentiometer for use in soils studies, $350.

Other needed items are: irrigation pump for horticultural experiment farm, $750; centrifuge for Department of Bacteriology, $750; ultra-centrifuge for dehydration research, $4,000, and many others.

YW Elects Blevins

Vernelle Blevins was elected president of the YWCA at a meeting Tuesday. The election was held to fill the vacancy created when Roberta Townley is graduated. The post which Roberta Townley held as District Council Representative for Kansas State College will be filled by Frances Ewart.

These new officers will hold these responsibilities until the March election when the new officers will be elected for the next term.

To integrate human life around central focusing ideals, and to supply the motive power as well as the technique for attaining these ideals—that is the highest effort of education.—Abba Hillel Silver.

YW To Study In Workshop Next Semester

Tentative plans for at least seven workshop groups for study and action have been made and were presented to an audience of YWCA members Tuesday. These groups, which will have their first meetings February 6, will replace the YWCA interest groups during the second semester, and will convene once a week at a time and date decided upon by the members of the individual groups.

Members of the YWCA will be contacted in the near future and asked to sign a card stating their preferences as to the group which they wish to participate in.

World Groups

The World Organization group, under the leadership of Jean Kays, will study and discuss postwar peace plans as their main topic. Dorothy Cochran, who will be in charge of the Political Effectiveness group, has made plans to present public debates on some of the vital political questions confronting us, both on the campus and in the nation. One subject which they plan to discuss in detail will be military conscription for women.

An attempt to help free this campus from all segregations because of racial differences in the student body will be made by the Racial Equality group, which will be under the direction of Frances Ewart. Women who are members of any of the minority groups on the campus are being given a special invitation to join this group.

"Our Christian Faith"

A group called "Our Christian Faith" will be divided into three sections, all working towards the same goal, but in somewhat different ways. Ruth Fenton and Aylo Albertson will lead a group which will make inquiries into the background of Christianity. Anne Gardner's group will visit churches to study their creeds and certain symbols of the churches. Kay Hosmer and Jean Selby, with their group, will discuss the everyday problems which are met on the campus, and the methods of meeting these problems the Christian way.

Geraldine Irving will be in charge of the group called Full Employment. Some topics for discussion will include employment for women after the war, equal pay for equal work, and the aspect of students as employers and employees.

A Program Group

The Program Group will be led by Marjorie Stewart, and they will study program techniques, as well as plan programs which they will direct and present for the large YWCA meetings.

Mary Shuss and Margaret Parker will direct the work of the Community Service group. This workshop will be active in helping care for children of army parents or working at the Red Cross.

Robertsons Start New Home Ec Fund

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Robertson have established the Laura Falkenrich Baxter loan fund for use by junior and senior students in the School of Home Economics who are preparing to teach. Alumni Secretary Kenney L. Ford announced.

The Robertsons started the fund with a check for $100 and indicated they plan to add to the fund from time to time. Mrs. Robertson is the former Virginia Baxter, who was graduated from the College in 1939 with a degree in home economics. Joseph E. Robertson was graduated from Kansas State College in 1940 with a degree in milling industry. Lieutenant Robertson is photographic officer at an air base in Tucson, Ariz. Their home is at 2510 East Seneca, in Tucson.

Mrs. Robertson's mother, Laura F. Baxter, is an associate professor of home economics education at Kansas State.

4-H Club Meeting

The Collegiate 4-H Club will hold their regular meeting in Recreation Center in Anderson Hall, Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. There will be election of officers at that time.

Royal Purples

Graduating seniors or any other students not planning on being in school next semester may buy a 1945 Royal Purple by paying the remainder of their activity fee at the business office, K-105. The balance due from first semester students for the book is $2.04 if it is to be called for here at the College. If the book is to be mailed the price is $2.50 to cover wrapping and postage costs.

Elect Johansen New Editor

Phyllis Johansen, senior in Industrial Journalism, has been elected editor of The Kansas State Collegian for the spring semester of 1945, according to C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications. The selection was made Monday by the Board of Publications.

Miss Johansen has served as associate editor of The Collegian during the past semester and will replace Mary Jane Jones who is graduating at the end of this semester. Ahda Somers McCoy's successor as business manager of the paper has not yet been named by the Board.

Miss Johansen is prominent in campus affairs, being president of Chi Omega, a member of the Student Council, and active in the YWCA. She will choose her staff soon. The first edition of The Collegian under the new management will be February 1.

The Board of Publications consists of three faculty members and three students. Faculty members of the Board are R. R. Lashbrook, E. T. Keith and H. W. Davis; student representatives are Arthur Roseberg, Mary Louise Markley and Gene Spratt.

KSC Journalists To Topeka Capital

Students and faculty members of the Department of Journalism will make their annual trip to Topeka January 29 to assist on the Kansas Day edition of the Topeka Daily Capital.

This year no staff has been appointed, and Kansas State students will do special assignments on Kansas Day activities in the state capital working with regular members of the Daily Capital staff.

The following faculty members will accompany the group: Fred Parris; E. M. Amos, associate professor; C. J. Medlin, assistant professor and graduate manager of student publications; and Jane Rockwell Koefod, assistant professor. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the journalism department, may be able to stop there for the day upon his return from Chicago.

A tentative list of students making the trip has been released, though, according to Fred Parris, there are likely to be additions and subtractions. The list includes: Mary Jane Jones, Jean Wainwright, Dorothy Cochran, Maxine Crawford, Dorraine Dorf, Joan Harjung, Norma Jean Mauk, Dick Dodderidge, Tess Montgomery, Joan Neibarger, Wilma Lisher, Alice Marie Mead, Phyllis Johansen, Lucy Wells, Athol Furman, Lucille Shoemaker and Dale Sorenson.

Give $2,000 To Fund

President Milton S. Eisenhower has acknowledged receipt of a gift of $2,000 to the College from an unidentified donor. The gift was made through the Kansas State College Endowment Association "for educational purposes."

In accepting the gift President Eisenhower said he was pleased to know that Kansas and other midwest industrial men are finding it desirable to cooperate with Kansas State College by providing gifts and endowments to be used by the College for industrial research and scholarships.

Such gifts, the President pointed out, are of mutual advantage to both the College and industry.

SGA Sponsors Stamp Dance Friday Night

The Student Governing Association will sponsor a War Stamp varsity tomorrow night at the Avalon ballroom from 9 until 12 p. m. Admission per couple or for men stags will be the purchase of at least $1 in War Stamps in place of paying the regular admission.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Dick Dodderidge and his orchestra. "War Stamp sales have not been up to last year's level and I hope that the students will cooperate to make up the loss by coming to the varsity and buying War Stamps," said Phyllis Johansen, War Stamp chairman. "The varsity is really free," she added, "when the dance is over you'll still have the stamps, so it really costs you nothing."

Expenses for the varsity will be paid by the Student Governing Association.

Students Perform At Music Recital

Advanced music students will give a recital tonight in the College Auditorium at eight o'clock. They are the students of Richard Jenson, Hilda Grossmann, Clarice Painter, and Charles Stratton.

Jacqueline Timmons will play an organ solo, "Toccata (Suite Gothique)," by Roellmann. "Lullaby (Jocelyn)" by Godard will be sung by Dorothy Wilson. Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song," Op. 67, No. 4 is a piano solo to be played by Ruth Sawyer. Phyllis Frazier will sing "Dost Thou Know That Fair Land" (Mignon) by Ambroise-Thomas, and "Come Love with Me" by Carnevali. Rachmaninoff's "Humoreske" is a piano solo to be played by Eula Mae Taylor. Lois Johnson will sing "My Harp of Many Strings" by Lucke. Grieg's "Adagio" (Concerto in A minor) will be played on the piano by Margaret Parker and Richard Jenson will play the orchestral part on the organ. "Into the Night" by Edwards and "In Italy" by Boyd will be sung by Lucile Graper.

Maxine Elling will play a piano solo, "Arabesque No. 2" by Debussy. Campbell-Tipton's "A Spirit Flower" will be a vocal solo by Marion Terrill. "Dances Fantastiques," Op. 1 by Shostakovich is a piano solo to be played by Jacqueline Timmons. Doris Paus-tian will play a piano solo, "Polch-nelle," Op. 3, No. 4, by Rachmaninoff.

KS Faculty Attend Journalism Meet

R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism, and Dean R. I. Thackrey will attend the annual meeting of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism in Chicago Friday and Saturday of next week. The meeting will be in the press gallery of the La Salle Hotel.

Mr. Lashbrook is on the nominating committee this year for officers of the association. Dean Thackrey is a member of the Council on Education for Journalism.

The program includes such talks and discussions as "Studies in Newspaper Behavior," "Science Writing," and numerous research reports on various phases of journalism and education for journalism.

Colleges must have accredited schools or departments of journalism in order to be members of the association. Kansas State College is one of 35 such colleges in United States.

Students to Kansas City

Georgena Hines, Elaine Larson, Ruth Petticord and Gladys Goff went on an advertising trip to Kansas City, Mo., for the Collegiate 4-H Club's "Who's Who?" Friday. They were accompanied by their state leader, J. Harold Johnson.

YW Sisters

Any girls who are interested in becoming active YW sisters for the girls who will be enrolling as new students this coming semester, are asked to call or see Lois Johnson, or turn their names in at the YW office.

36 Candidates For Degrees At Winter Commencement

Thirty-six seniors and graduate students are candidates for degrees to be conferred by President Milton S. Eisenhower next Saturday, January 27. The second annual winter commencement will be held in the College Auditorium at 10 a. m.

Y-Orpheum Date Set

March 17 is the date chosen by the YMCA for its 1945 Y-Orpheum. Entrants thus far are Amicossembly, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and all eight sororities on the campus.

"We would like to have more independent organizations entered and we also need single acts," said Em-bert Coles, chairman of the annual event.

Scripts of the acts to be presented must be turned in to Prof. Earl G. Hoover or Coles by February 9. These scripts should be approximately eleven minutes long.

Trophies will be given to the winners of first and second places.

Alumni Compliment Seniors At Dinner

A dinner given by the Kansas State College Alumni Association complimenting all graduating seniors will be January 26 at 6 p. m. in Thompson Hall, according to Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary. Seniors, who will be graduated January 27, may obtain their complimentary tickets at the alumni office in Anderson Hall.

The principal address of the evening will be given by Dr. Margaret M. Justin, dean of the School of Home Economics.

Mrs. Donna Duckwall Brainard, Arch. '30, Abilene, secretary of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, will be the toastmistress. Roberta Townley, Abilene, a senior in home economics, will give the response for the seniors. Shirley Marlow, Manhattan, a senior in music education, will sing a solo.

Former K-Stater Flies On Raid Over Japan

A former Kansas State student, Tech. Sgt. Ernest Hilyard, was with the first group of B-29's to raid the Jap mainland at Yawata on June 15, 1944. Sergeant Hilyard told of some of his experiences recently while visiting his parents on furlough in Manhattan.

Sergeant Hilyard explained that on the first mission they were over enemy territory for 13 hours. The sergeant, who has been overseas since March, has been on 10 missions over Formosa, Manchuria and Japan. He reported that they met opposition, in several instances strong, on some missions while on others there was no opposition at all.

The former K-Stater is a tall gunner in the 11-man crew. He believes "that position is safest because there is the most protection connected with it." His ship, "Gone with the Wind" received its only flak hole on the first daylight raid over Yawata on August 20.

He says his biggest thrill is when all the men are assembled in a room and an officer unveils a map of the target. Not until then do the men know what their mission will be.

Select Next Play

"Incognito," a mystery comedy in three acts, has been chosen as the Kansas State Player's second production of the year, according to Prof. Earl G. Hoover, director. The play will be presented in March.

First try-outs were held last night. All students, Kansas State Players or others interested, may try-out again Friday evening from 7 to 9 in the College Auditorium. If a student wishes to try-out but is unable to attend on these nights, he should contact Prof. Hoover or Craig Bracken this week. Final try-outs will be Monday and Tuesday evening in Education, Room 206.

In a Down Beat poll readers voted Duke Ellington the leading swing band of 1944, Charlie Spivak the top sweet band, Dinah Shore the best woman singer, and Spike Jones the "King of Corn."

Dr. Bryan S. Stoffer, president of Washburn Municipal University, Topeka, will speak on "The Task Ahead." The Rev. Charles T. Brewster, pastor of the Congregational Church, will give the invocation and benediction.

No Vet Candidates

All schools of the College with the exception of the School of Veterinary Medicine are presenting candidates for degrees.

Graduating seniors and faculty members in academic attire will assemble in Anderson Hall and from there will march to the College Auditorium. Music will be furnished by the Department of Music.

The list of candidates by schools and degrees are:

School Of Agriculture

Bachelor of Science in Agriculture: Harold Leroy Hackerott, Alton.

Talks On China

"Youth Remakes China" was the topic which Philip Lin, a leading Chinese student, discussed at assembly Wednesday morning. He was introduced to the student body by Dr. S. A. Nock.

Mr. Lin spoke of the work Chinese students are doing to educate the masses in their own country at the present time, and how they hope, with America's help, to build a modern industrial China after the war.

Jacqueline Timmons, a sophomore in music at the College, played "Toccata" by Roellmann as an organ prelude.

Mr. Lin has been on the campus several times before during the two years he spent at Hays and six months at Lawrence. He appeared yesterday under the auspices of the East and West Association, an organization sponsored by Pearl S. Buck.

Exit . . .

This issue marks our exit as Collegian editor as surely as next Saturday marks our exit from Kansas State College. Both are momentous events, events over which we could "wax sentimental" to the nth degree, but, as usual, are prevented from doing so by our two arch enemies, Time and Space.

Needless to say, both the editor and staff have had their ups and downs, their off and on moments. Needless to say, there have been times when we were willing to chuck the whole thing in the Kaw, and needless to say, from the looks of several issues we might as well have. But, needless to say, we enjoyed every minute of it, even the "offest" ones.

This semester we inaugurated the new tabloid size Collegian, doing our best to cram complete campus coverage into its 20 columns. Special thanks for the job go to the members of the staff, Phyllis Johansen, Athol Furman, Dorothy Cochran, Joy Talbot and Lucy Wells. Their jobs were well done.

More bouquets to reporters Maxine Crawford, Dorraine Dorf, Dora Lee Dauma, Jean Wainscott, Wilma Lisher and many others who helped on the job.

Our best wishes for a successful editorship to our successor, Phyllis Johansen. We have no qualms about putting the reins into her capable hands. May her term be as much fun and worry and happiness and heart-break as ours has been.

To you, the students at Kansas State who have borne the brunt of our cursing and congratulating, our failures, mistakes and occasional successes, we offer the hope that your stay here may be as pleasant and profitable as ours has been. Yours is not an easy job, the studying and planning and preparing for a better post-war world in the midst of a restless, suffering war-torn one. But remember that it is "essential," even "critical," stick to it, do it well, and good luck!

Mary Jane Jones.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

With tongue in cheek and opium in pipe we bring you this week's "Chaotic Column" or "debris a la dirt." Do not give this column to the scrap paper drive but save it to show to your grandchildren that the age of innocence has long passed. (Ed. note)

Farewell blithe spirit. (We've got to get some class into this column.) It is with a feeling of mixed spirits, a little seltzer water, and just a dash of bitters that we, D. Dodderidge and J. Neidig, take fond leave of this newspaper (and we use the term loosely).

As you know this is the last article that we will write for the Collegian, (hold the applause) so if you are not included merely look in the student directory and read your own name two or three hundred times.

The social weekend started a bit early this time with the Senior Sneak being held Thursday. The Sneak was sort of an all-senior mixer. They poured all the mixer into all the seniors. The country club is now a mecca for the eighth semester flonds. Anyway I heard them say, "You better mecca 'nother drink, my glass is empty." Now, every time the bell in Anderson rings seniors, wherever they are, turn toward the country club and bow three times.

Dave (1/3 of the K-State Sigma Nu chapter) Underwood led a group of "Glad Grads" into the Sosna during the afternoon. Sam, his usual jolly self, came forward and grasped Dave's hand warmly. Then he swung him over his head and into the third row. He used a bit of ju jitsu. The seniors all enjoyed the picture except a policeman who had already seen it.

The "Thank You" dance at the USO Friday was met with hearty approval by the students. I wouldn't say the girls outnumbered the boys but when "Dagwood" Wedman with his broken leg was forced to dance I thought that was going too far. I've never seen so many girls since I dropped a cigarette in front of Van Zile Hall.

We now come to the crowning event of the week-end. The Phi Delta dinner dance. The banquet itself was lovely, liver and onions superb and the Chef's special, "Ooze a la Fly-spray" was delicious. But the dance held at the chapter house was even better. Believe me, it was a HONEY. The actives are still looking for a STOOL pigeon who pulled a dirty trick. I won't say what it was, but with waffles it goes good.

The Van Zile house party was really a jam session. Dodderidge and his nervous nine were on hand to provide plenty of noise to cover up the screams of the stag line. In fact they raised the roof 4 3/4 inches (This is an official report from Building and Repair. Ed. note). Phil (Rural Fred Astaire) Kiser spent the evening near the punch bowl, and everytime anyone came near it he would punch them. (It was fruit punch. Ed. note).

We will now take time out to thank the various people we have ribbed from time to time. We're certainly glad no one has gotten mad. The doctor says we can remove the cast by next week. We especially want to thank "Big John" Winters for being such a good sport. Now since we have Winters in such a good mood here is Collich Life, part VI, by quaint old Uncle Big Johnathan.

Collich Life, Part VI

Fourteen semesters of knowledge
Has just about quenched my thirst,
So let me tell all college freshmen
The first seven years are the worst.
My college days are ending,
My work is almost done.
While I've stood seven winters
K-State's stood only one.

So, let me leave you with this thought.
As I have said before,
I may be leaving now, my friends,
But, I'll be back for more.

Well, the "Cat" has meowed for the last time, frands, and the body is being carted off to the zoology department. It's really been swell writing to you, for you and about you, but both of us are hibernating for the duration. You can look us up at gopher holes 28 and 29 at Memorial Stadium.

Joe (If my feet are as flat as my jokes, I'll be back the second semester) Neidig and Dick (Kay Kyser is also a Sigma Nu) Dodderidge.

Three K-Staters Missing In Europe

Three former Kansas State students have been reported as missing in action during December in the German offensive. They are Lt. R. S. Parker, Lt. Jack Kilkenny Jr., and Lt. Robert Anderson.

Lieutenant Parker attended Kansas State and was president of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. His wife, the former Jeanne Jaccard, received the telegram from the War Department while in San Antonio, Texas, where she has been living with his parents. Lieutenant Parker was in Belgium when reported lost on December 6. He entered the Army in June, 1943, and received his commission at Ft. Benning, Ga., in June, 1944. He went overseas in October.

Lieutenant Kilkenny is reported missing in Germany as of December 17. He attended Kansas State where he took extensive ROTC training, was a member of Scabbard and Blade and Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He left here with a group of ROTC men in June, 1942, and went to Camp Callan, Calif., for basic training. Lieutenant Kilkenny returned to the College in the fall and in January, 1944, he went to Officers Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Ga. He received his commission on June 20, 1944. After being stationed at Camp Atterbury for a time he went overseas in October. Lieutenant Kilkenny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kilkenny live at 513 North Sixteenth.

The word of Lieutenant Anderson was received by his wife, the former Virginia Gemmell. He was reported missing in action in the infantry on December 21. Lieutenant Anderson was graduated from Kansas State in 1944 in Business Administration. He was president of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity. He received his commission at Ft. Benning, Ga., and left for overseas duty in October. His home is at Partridge. Mrs. Anderson is now at the University of Southern California taking an occupational therapy course but expects to return to Manhattan soon.

More than 400,000 copies of College publications were distributed in response to requests from farmers and homemakers in 1942-44.

★ Bars and Stripes ★

Second Lt. Robert G. Bensing, f. s., has recently been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement over enemy territory. Lieutenant Bensing is a pilot on a B-17 Flying Fortress.

Russell D. Osterhout, f. s., recently received his second lieutenant's commission as a bombardier at the Carlsbad Army Air Field.

Lt. Bruce Robertson, f. s., is now at Kennedy General Hospital, Memphis, Tenn., recovering from infantile paralysis.

Ens. Luman G. Miller, former editor of the Belleville Telescope, and editor of the Royal Purple in 1938, has completed eight weeks' training at Hollywood Beach, Florida, and has been assigned to a five month's course at Harvard University, in the communications branch of the Navy.

Seamen 1/c Don Messenheimer, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Dick Collins, Beta Theta Pi; Charles Beardmore, Sigma Nu; Earl Couchman, Sigma Nu, and Guy Shelley, Sigma Nu; are now attending radio school at Gulfport, Miss. All of these men were on the campus last year.

Lt. Col. Richard J. Seitz, f. s. 1937-'39, has been cited for gallantry in action in Les Arcs, France. Colonel Seitz was enrolled at Kansas State in the School of Agriculture. He is now in the infantry.

Capt. Charles P. Schafer, f. s., and member of Kappa Sigma, has completed his four weeks training in Chemical Warfare School. And will now return to his station where he will serve as a unit gas officer and chemical warfare instructor.

M/Sgt. Charles H. Roy, f. s. in animal husbandry, has been awarded the Bronze Star "for meritorious achievement in support of operations against the enemy."

Lt. Col. Edwin S. Wiseman, former instructor in veterinary medicine, is now on duty with a Field Artillery Training Center operated in southwestern China by the Y-Force Operations Staff.

Wendell Amos, S 2/c, C. E. '44, visited the campus recently. Amos has been in the Navy since his graduation and is now stationed at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in radar school.

Efficient -- Courteous -- Dependable

The wires hum. It's a "31" order—important instructions for a train soon to arrive and for which the conductor must sign. The station agent sets the semaphore. The red light flashes its warning. The train arrives and rumbles to a stop.

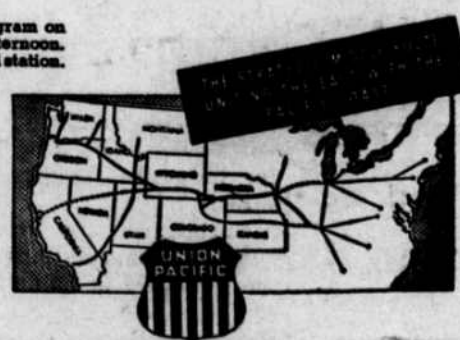

This is just one of many safety measures established by Union Pacific to assure reliable transportation of passengers and freight. War resulted in a tremendous increase in rail traffic. As might be expected, a large part of that traffic has been directed over Union Pacific's "strategic middle route" uniting the East with the Pacific Coast.

Through constant vigilance and tireless effort on the part of employees, thousands of men and trainloads of materials have been moved efficiently and quickly to aid the Allied cause.

The constant improvements in railroading, resulting in safe, efficient transportation, are due in large measure to the American system of encouraging workers to seek advancement through personal enterprise and initiative. We're fighting and working to maintain that spirit of equal opportunity for all.

AGGIES DROP HERINGTON FIVE 51-46

Lead Changes Ten Times; Spencer Scores 11 Points

By Dale Sorensen

Kansas State College high tossers came thru with a 51-46 victory over Herington Air Base Saturday night at Nichols Gym. It was a thrilling contest all the way with the lead changing hands ten times. Coach Fritz Knorr's Purple and White warriors drew away to a comfortable five point lead with seven minutes remaining of the game and were never seriously threatened after that.

Dana Atkins, former Junction City star, impressed the crowd as the most accurate shooter of the evening. Atkins sank five push shots, without hitting the rim after replacing Dave Weatherby early in the second stanza, who left the game on fouls. He was a threat every time he had the ball in shooting range.

Spencer Good

Dick Spencer, guard, who is one of Fritz Knorr's ablest defensive players, gave a brilliant performance both offensively and defensively, leading his teammates with eleven points. Dick was a superb floor man, playmaker and sparkplug of the team, playing the entire second half with the handicap of four fouls.

The game was rough and exciting all the way with both teams fast breaking and doing a lot of long passing characterizing a razzle-dazzle type of play which appeals to the crowd. Pitted against a titan outfit which has lost only two out of thirteen contests this year, the Wildcats never lagged. They tied the Air Base courtsters twelve times in this see-saw contest and finally forged ahead to win.

Surge Ahead

With seven minutes remaining in the second stanza the Wildcats surged ahead. Atkins tied the count at 32 all with his famous one hand push shot. Payton added a free toss, and then Atkins sank another push shot to increase their lead to three points. Spencer sank a push shot, Larry McClaughry tipped in a rebound and added a free throw to put the locals out in front 40-35. Bijelick of the Airbase having made three points during the Wildcat drive, Atkins and Spencer continued to lead the drive as Herington made a last minute attempt to knot the score.

Flores and Bijelick of the Air Base led their teammates with ten points each. Kennedy of the opponents, six foot four center showed some fancy ball handling and got most of their rebounds.

Locals Battle Cornhuskers On Home Court

Fritz Knorr's basketballers, still in the battle for Big Six championship, meet a once-defeated but nevertheless dangerous Nebraska quintet on the local hardwood at 7:30 Saturday night.

Nebraska and Kansas State have met once this season in a non-conference game at Kansas City, Mo. In that contest, the Wildcats came from behind to defeat the favored Cornhuskers 49 to 46 after trailing 31 to 27 at the half.

Nebraska At Bottom

Since their Kansas City meeting, both the Huskers and Wildcats have entered Big Six play. In league competition, Kansas State has fared better, holding a 55 to 54 win over Oklahoma and a 60 to 31 loss to Iowa State.

Nebraska has yet to win a Big Six game after two tilts with Oklahoma and one each with Iowa State and Kansas. Last week, the Cornhuskers engaged in three conference games losing to Iowa State 50 to 38, Kansas 48 to 33, and Oklahoma 48 to 45. The Sooner-Nebraska game went two overtimes. Sunday, the Lincoln team played the Norman (Okla.) Navy Sky-jackets at Norman and lost 57 to 34.

Nebraska is the biggest team in the conference this year, having the advantage both in height and weight. Moving with medium speed, their main dependence is on rebound play. "The team is in better shape than it has been for a long time," Knorr reports. The boys have all recovered from injuries sustained early in the season. Joe Ridgway, speedy letterman, is the only player who is not at present in first class condition. He is suffering from an elbow injury and a bad ankle which, although improving, still has to be taped.

Koopman Leaves

Ed Koopman, of Emporia, left the Wildcats last Thursday to join the Merchant Marine. Koopman, 6'2" guard, was the heaviest man on the team.

Now narrowed down to 15 ball handlers, the Aggies will lose Bob Robson, of Abilene, to the navy soon. Listed as dangerous for the Wildcats are two Husker forwards Hahn and Strahan. Buzz Hollins, at guard position, and Peterson, center, will also help make the battle a difficult one for the locals.

After the weekend fray the K-Staters will remain out of action for ten days during finals. On January 30 the team will journey down the Kaw for a clash with the Jayhawkers.

The probable starting lineup includes Ridgway and Dave Weatherby as forwards, Jack Kincheloe at center, and in guard position Jay Payton and Dick Spencer.

Nerve Systems for Battle Wagons

When U. S. warships go into action, telephone equipment transmits orders instantly, clearly. For the huge battleship "Wisconsin," Western Electric supplied two systems using equipment designed by Bell Telephone Laboratories.

1. Sound powered telephone system—with 2200 instruments connecting all battle stations. These battle phones operate on current generated by the speaker's voice, so damage to the ship's electrical power supply cannot interrupt communications.

2. Battle announcing system—with 20 transmitter stations and over 300 giant-voiced loudspeakers.

Helping to supply "battle talk" equipment for use at sea, on land and in the air is providing important work for many college graduates—both men and women—at Western Electric.

'Having A Wonderful Time'

With this our last column we want to thank all the society reporters for their cooperation, and wish to our successor the best of luck and lots and lots of social events.

Kappa Delta had chocolates Wednesday from Maxine Elling when she announced her engagement to Bud Colgrove, Phi Gamma Delta from Ohio Wesleyan. Sunday Helen Elling told of her engagement to Val Combs, VM '44.

Miriam Colyer, Clovia, passed chocolates Sunday announcing her engagement to James Stone, f. s.

More chocolates. This time at Van Zile Hall. January 7 Ida Fredericks told of her engagement to Otis Cross. Thursday Georgi Jean Scollick announced her engagement to Terry Clark, Phi Gamma Delta from Missouri University. Sunday's chocolates were from Betty Larson and Wayne Good, AGR.

Another engagement is that of Elizabeth Cadwell, HE '44 of Marquette to A/S Howard M. Harris of Kemp, Texas. Miss Cadwell is teaching Home Economics at LaCrosse. A/S Harris was formerly in the aviation training program at Kansas State.

Delta Delta Delta will have their annual party at the Avalon Saturday followed by a spread at the chapter house. The ballroom will be decorated by the pledges who have not disclosed the theme.

Alpha Delta Pi's province president, Mrs. H. L. Shipman of Wichita, was a guest of the chapter over the week end.

Church News

"The Christian Path on the Campus" is the topic to be presented by Beverly Gibson at Christian Endeavor this Sunday. The meeting begins at 5 p. m. at the Christian Church.

"Semester's Review" is the Saturday Niter which begins at 8 p. m. in Wesley Hall. Margaret Mustard and Mary Alice Streater are in charge.

Sunday activities begin at 5 p. m. with fellowship followed by cafeteria. Wesley League, which convenes at 6:30, is in charge of Elizabeth Knostman. Annie Gardiner will have meditations and Christine Teagarden will play a piano solo.

At 4 p. m. Sunday, members of the Baptist Youth Fellowship will present a service at the city jail. Following this, at 5:15, the fellowship hour at the church will be in charge of Jean Peabody, Jean Holmgren, Donna Robison, and Jane Massey.

A round-table discussion on "Evangelism" led by Rev. Gerald Grotey, will start at 6:30. Anyone who has questions on this topic should turn them over to one of the Evangelism committee, so that they can be discussed.

Sigma Eta Chi, Congregational sorority, has started work on garments for war victims.

Talks On KSAC

A series of "Good English" talks will be given by faculty members of the Department of English during the second semester of 1944-1945. These talks have been arranged for the College of the Air broadcast and will be given at 5:15 p. m. over KSAC.

The scheduled speakers and their topics for February are Nellie Aberle, "Misplaced and Omitted Words," February 14; E. H. Peterson, "Pronunciation of Some Names in Literature," February 21 and Anna M. Sturmer, "Some Interesting Facts about English Pronouns," February 28.

Formal Dances Take Spotlight

Dick Dodderidge's band played for the dance.

Phi Delta Theta members entertained dates Saturday night with dinner at the Gold Room of the Wareham Hotel followed by dancing at the chapter house. The Phi Delta flowers, blue and white carnations, decorated the dining tables and the chapter house. Guests received gold loving cups as favors.

Deans Honor Holton

The College Council of Deans has expressed its appreciation and the appreciation of the College and friends throughout the state to Dr. Edwin L. Holton, who has retired from the Council after nearly 27 years of service.

Dr. Holton left the council when he was relieved of his duties as dean of the summer school, in accordance with a Board of Regents age policy. In a resolution expressing their appreciation members of the council pointed out that Dr. Holton "by his enthusiasm, sincerity and educational leadership has been an outstandingly valuable member in the deliberations of the Council of Deans throughout more than a quarter-century."

The resolution thanked Dr. Holton for his valuable, generous and unselfish service which he had given to the council and to the College.

Thank You Dance

Approximately 800 students attended the YW Thank-You Dance which was held at the downtown USO last Friday night. A band from Ft. Riley supplied the music for dancing, and the game room afforded entertainment for those who did not care to dance.

The monthly meeting of Quill Club will be held tonight at the apartment of Prof. Lucile Rust. Each member has been asked to write a sketch or story using "Tomorrow" as the theme. The meeting is at 7:30 in apartment 1 of the Tarrax Apartments on Larame.

Panhel Cancels Proposed Workshop

Because of the recent government order cancelling all conventions of over 50 members, Kansas State College Women's Panhellenic has dropped plans for their proposed workshop.

This workshop was to be held at the Kansas State campus March 3, and was to include representatives of all sororities at Kansas State College, Kansas University, Baker University, and Washburn University. The workshop was planned to promote better understanding and cooperation among sorority groups in Kansas schools, discuss common problems, and exchange ideas.

Kansas State Women's Panhellenic had almost completed their plans for the meeting which was to include registration, a luncheon, chapter training group forums, and a banquet in the evening. The general planning committee was Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt, faculty sponsor; Eleanor Allison, president of Panhellenic; Jeanette Putnam, Lucy Wells, and Jean Wise.

Special guests were to have been national officers of the various sorority groups. The workshop would have included over 200 sorority members from the four Kansas schools. At first the committee thought they might continue the workshop with only 50 members, but decided that a great deal of the value of the meeting would be lost with so small a group.

Pvt. Charlotte Clement f. s. 1940-'43, has been transferred to Camp Carson, Colo., where she has been assigned to the Army Service Force Convalescent Hospital where overseas soldiers are rehabilitated.

No Collegian . . .

Because of final examinations there will be no Collegian next week. The next issue will be February 1. This is the last issue of the current semester.

Boone Gives $1,000 To Endowment Fund

President Milton S. Eisenhower has acknowledged the receipt of gifts totaling $1,000 in cash from Fred I. Boone of the Boone Hotel Company, Manhattan. The gift was presented to the College through the Kansas State College Endowment Association and is to be used "for educational purposes" as directed by the trustees of the Endowment Association.

In accepting the gift, President Milton S. Eisenhower expressed "gratitude over the generous gift," and pointed out that a gift made for disposition by the endowment association enables the College to use private funds where they are most critically needed.

KSC Adopts Changes In Curriculum

Faculty adoption of a new college-wide program designed to assure sound training for citizenship and life in general while keeping to a high standard of scientific and professional training, has been announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

More than a year of hard study and spirited debate in committee and school faculty meetings preceded adoption of the new program by the general faculty of the College.

Although the changes affected every curriculum in every school in the College and were more sweeping than any in its modern history, they do not involve entry into new fields of study, faculty representatives said.

To Make Better Citizens

"As I see it the new program is a continuance of what we have always done but with the hope of doing it better," commented Prof. Harold Howe of the Department of Economics and Sociology, who was chairman of one of the faculty committees making the studies leading to the changes adopted. "The primary purpose of the changes is to broaden the education of each student and to make better citizens."

Basic to the new program are four new eight-hour comprehensive or integrating courses in each of the four great areas of knowledge: the physical sciences, biological sciences, social sciences and the humanities. They will be first offered starting next September.

"Demands of the specialized professions are so great today that students have very limited time for study outside their fields of concentration," said Prof. C. H. Scholer, head of the Department of Applied Mechanics and chairman of another committee which helped frame the recommendations now adopted after a year's study.

Broaden Students' View

"If the student must use that precious time dipping into little compartments of knowledge taught primarily for specialists in other fields, he has little chance of getting the broad view needed as a man and as a citizen of a democracy. The new comprehensive courses are designed to give this broad view," Professor Scholer added.

Under the program generally adopted, students would take comprehensive courses in the areas of knowledge outside their field of specialization; while in their specialties they would continue to take courses organized as before.

Each of the schools of the College has adopted two or more of the four comprehensive courses. Some departments, including Industrial Journalism and Printing, have included all four of the comprehensives.

Began Study Year Ago

Study of the work of the College by its faculty started on an intensive basis in December, 1943, when President Eisenhower named nearly 100 faculty members to committees and subcommittees to work on various phases of the program. All changes were first approved by the faculties of the five undergraduate schools, before being brought before the general faculty.

The objectives of the College educational program have been summarized as follows by President Eisenhower:

1. Provide sound technical or professional education.
2. Help each student obtain a working understanding of each of the great fields of human knowledge.
3. Help develop sound judgments in all fields with which democracy has to work and give students practice in arriving at those sound judgments.
4. Give the student an understanding, deep and abiding faith in democracy and a willingness to work for democracy.

Dies in Germany

Lt. Bruce P. Johnson, f. s., pilot of a B-17, died November 7 in Germany as a result of wounds received in action.

He had flown sixteen missions since going overseas in August and had been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Lieutenant Johnson's parents live at Salina.

Lost Articles . . .

The college post office requests that students who have lost anything during the last semester call for it at the general delivery window. They have a large accumulation of articles to be claimed by students.

Journalists Cancel Kansas Day Trip

News stories and feature articles, the work of 49 students who are enrolled in writing courses in the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, have been submitted to the Topeka Daily Capital for use in the January 30 edition of the newspaper, R. R. Lashbrook, professor and head of the department has announced.

For 23 consecutive years journalism students have made an annual trip to Topeka to help write the Kansas Day news for the Capital. However, this year Kansas Day meetings have been cancelled and since the O. D. T. is asking that nonessential travel be cut to a minimum the journalism trip also has been cancelled. In the past the students have served as city editor, telegraph editor, society editor, state editor, photographers and reporters combing the state capital for news. Numerous students who have not gone to Topeka for the day have supplied stories from their home towns.

Stories written by these people have been sent to the Capital for possible use: Dick Dodderidge, Council Grove; Louise Alexander, Hiawatha; Dean Hoppas, Menlo; Elaine Earhart, Hutchinson; Bonnie Woods, Salina; Betty Burton, Zella S. Barber, Lois Jean Walstrom, Dorraine Dorf and Marjorie Ann Tennant, all of Manhattan; Florence Smith, Summerfield; Jo Ann Neibarger, Tonganoxie; Elizabeth Crandall, LeRoy; Alicemahree Meade, Hays; Elizabeth Schlichter, Clay Center; Norma Jean Mauk, Eureka; Betty Russell, Coffeyville; Tess Montgomery and Mary Louise Carl, both of Salina; Betty Carr, Lindsborg; Nina Mae Clout, Winfield; Margaret Haggman, Courtland; Wilma Lisher and Martha Jane Adams, both of Belleville; Ruth Wilson, Quenemo; Phyllis Werner, Yates Center.

Barbara Blaine and Dorothy Ainsworth, both Wichita; Joellen Taylor, Kinsley; Gene Spratt, Ottawa; David Neher, Girard; Edwin E. Gordon, Hill City; Harold Stout, Kincaid; Jean Walmscott, Hazelton; Dorothy Cochran and Joy Talbot, both of Topeka; Dora Lee Dauma, Scott City; Athol Furman, Clearwater; Eunice Niblo, Muscotah; Lucille Shoemaker and Wilma Vance, both of Kansas City, Mo.; Betty Swan, Argonia; Pat Williams, Fort Riley; Phyllis Wells, Hutchinson; Mary Louise Markley, Wellington; Verona McKinley, Ness City; Mary Elizabeth Weeks, Fort Scott; and Evelyn Wood, Denison. Harold Shankland, Manhattan, a graduate student in the department, also contributed some stories for the issue.

Editor Chooses Collegian Staff

Phyllis Johansen, newly-elected Collegian editor, has chosen Jean Walmscott as her associate editor. Athol Furman will act as copy desk editor and be assisted by Helen Clegg.

Dale Sorenson will be sports editor and Lucy Wells will be society editor. Martha Jane Adams will assist with society.

Assembly Tuesday

"Square Pegs in Round Holes" is the topic of an address by George S. Beery, of the Whitewater State Teachers College, Whitewater, Wis., at the all-student assembly at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

Dr. Beery is the Registrar and Director of Personnel at that college. He has his Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin. He is lieutenant governor of the southern division of the Kiwanis Clubs in the Wisconsin and upper Michigan district. He also is vice president of the Wisconsin Education Association.

High School Game

There will be a basketball game between Manhattan High School and Chapman High School at the College gymnasium tomorrow night. The B teams will play at 6:45 p. m. and the A teams will play at 8:15 p. m.

Enrollment Reaches 1375

Total enrollment figure late Tuesday at the end of the two day registration period reached 1375, 450 men and 925 women, according to Miss Mary Kimball, registrar. It is expected that late comers will boost the total to a possible 1400. This figure compares favorably with the 1366 regularly enrolled students of the spring semester of 1943-1944.

The School of Home Economics still maintains the lead in number of students enrolled, with a 496 total; the School of Arts and Sciences is running a close second, however, with 482 enrollees. The veterinary students with 185 rank third, and the engineers fourth with 124, both schools showing but a small decrease in enrollment over last semester. Fifty graduate students hold fifth place and the School of Agriculture is low with only 39.

The incomplete figures for the six schools are as follows: School of Home Economics, 496 women; School of Arts and Sciences, 94 men, 388 women; School of Veterinary Medicine, 180 men, 5 women; School of Engineering and Architecture, 114 men, 10 women; Graduate School, 27 men, 23 women; and School of Agriculture, 36 men, 3 women.

The number represented as the total for graduate students is but a portion of the students taking courses in that school, since many seniors are taking graduate courses in connection with undergraduate work.

Hoover Chooses "Incognito" Cast

Suspense, mystery, and comedy highlight Richard Nussbaum's dramatic production of "Incognito" which will be given by the Kansas State Players early in March.

The cast, as chosen by Prof. Earl G. Hoover, director, are: Dale Knight, Erich Jagendorf; Owal Bracken, Capt. Mitchell; Bob Eschenburg, Fred Collins; Roy Drown, Hur Von Strumm; Georganna Baron, Miss Hildich; Rosemary Ensign, Trudy Blitt.

37 Students Get Diplomas Saturday

Thirty-seven students received diplomas at the second mid-term commencement last Saturday at the College Auditorium. They represent the Schools of Home Economics, Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Engineering and Architecture and Graduate.

Dr. Bryan S. Stoffer, president of Washburn Municipal University, gave the commencement address. His topic was "The Task Ahead" and was based on his foreign experiences.

The students and faculty members marched from Anderson Hall to the Auditorium in their academic robes. The Rev. Charles T. Brewster, pastor of the Congregational Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

"A genuine service to the future can be rendered by America by insisting that the rights and privileges which we demand for ourselves be extended to all peoples and races," Dr. Stoffer told the 37 members of the graduating class.

"We are not without fault in our own land," he warned. "Our hope lies with the youth who are not shackled by the prejudice of the past. To us the idea of freedom must be extended to all people who are capable of assuming the necessary responsibility. The United States can and should take the lead in the forward movement, for her own culture represents the growing synthesis of the best in the culture and organization of many peoples both in Europe and Asia."

Sigma Tau Elects

Officers elected at the last meeting of Sigma Tau are: Robert L. Schrag, president; James H. Glenn, vice-president; Roy Baysinger, recording secretary; Leonard Luehring, corresponding secretary; Chester Garman, treasurer; Homer Spiers, historian.

Artist Series Presents The Cossacks Wednesday

Songs the Red Army may be singing in its sweep across Poland will climax the musical program of the General Platoon Don Cossack Chorus Wednesday at the College Auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

The Chorus is the first of three events of the Manhattan Artist Series to be presented by the Residence Hall Committee for the

Cancel 1945 Farm And Home Week

The 1945 Farm and Home Week, scheduled for February 6 to 9 has been called off, according to President Milton S. Eisenhower.

"Because transportation is becoming one of the real bottlenecks in the war effort and in keeping with the O. D. T. effort to restrict travel, the College has decided to call off Farm and Home Week for the second time in 77 years," President Eisenhower declared.

The first Farm and Home Week in America, then called Farmer's Institute, was held at Kansas State College in 1868. Since that time nearly every state in the union has conducted a Farm and Home Week.

The only other year Farm and Home Week was not held in Kansas was in 1920 when President William Jardine called the event off because of the prevalence of influenza in the state.

In the place of Farm and Home Week the College will present a Farm and Home Week of the Air over Radio Station KSAC February 6 to 9, Mr. Eisenhower announced. Many of the speakers and program features will be included in the Farm and Home Week of the Air which will be presented from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., 12:30 to 2 p. m. and 4:30 to 5:30 p. m., daily, the regular times during which the station is on the air.

Although final plans for the week's schedule of radio programs have not been completed the radio station has already arranged some programs. Most of the programs will be presented by College staff members. The Homemakers Hour in the mornings will carry programs of interest to rural women and will have several other features included in the originally scheduled Farm and Home Week. On the Farm Hour from 12:30 to 2 p. m. several programs have been scheduled for the week: Tuesday, poultry; Wednesday, dairy; Thursday, agriculture; and Friday, livestock. The time usually allotted to the College of the Air in the late afternoon period of broadcast will be taken up by such programs as those for the country correspondents, rural pastors and the postwar planning conference. President Eisenhower will appear on one of the programs during the four-day session.

YWCA Workshop

The first meeting of the YWCA Workshop Groups will be held Tuesday at 4 p. m. The new Workshop Groups are replacing the Interest Groups of last semester.

Leaders of the different groups are: Mary Shuss and Margaret Parker, Community Service; Frances Ewart, Racial Equality; Dorothy Cochran, Political Effectiveness; Marjorie Stewart, Program Group; Ruth Fenton, Annie Gardner, Kay Hosmer, Jean Shelby, and Aylo Albertson, Our Christian Faith; Geraldine Irving, Full Employment; Jean Kays, World Organization.

"Interesting projects will be started in each group and every Y. W. member is invited to attend," said Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YW secretary.

dual purpose of bringing fine music to the community and of raising money to build residence halls for women at the College. The Committee has already sponsored several money raising events for this project.

The Cossacks, 27 former White Russian cavalry officers exiled after their last stand for the Czar in 1917, have forgotten their bitterness in their admiration for the success of the Red Army. In tribute, they sing the new songs of the Soviet as well as the beautiful liturgical music of the Russian Orthodox Church, exquisite, haunting folk melodies, and the wild Cossack songs with their exciting shouts and whistles.

In addition are the famous Cossack dances including the one in which the dancer juggles 12 knives from his forehead, shoulders and teeth. In the final Kozatchok, a dozen men join in the dance with spectacular leaps and whirls.

Mail orders for single admission tickets may be sent to Miss Emma Hyde of the Department of Mathematics at the College, according to Dean Helen Moore who is in charge of ticket sales. The box office at the Auditorium will be open three days before the performance from noon to 6 p. m.

The other two events of the series will be Metropolitan Opera artists. Marie Wilkins, soprano, is scheduled for March 7 and Charles Kullman, tenor, for April 24.

Eisenhower Writes Kansans Overseas

Many Kansas men and women in the Armed Forces overseas will be reading of their home state in an article written by President Eisenhower in the overseas edition of the Country Gentleman. The article which was written in the form of a letter contained approximately 2,500 words.

The life of Kansas as a whole was portrayed under such topics as campus life, "jelly joints," fraternity life, sororities, and enrolment. Also included in the letter were campus customs, military training, new deans and department heads, clothes on the campus, and signs of returning to normalcy.

The men and women will also be reading of the prospects of fishing and hunting in Kansas, how the colleges are liberalizing rules for admitting veterans, the meaning of the G. I. Bill of Rights and research work carried on at the colleges.

4-H Club Elects

Delbert Clark was elected president of the Collegiate 4-H Club at a meeting January 18. Other officers elected are Emagene Martin, vice-president; Betty Jo McCaustland, secretary-treasurer; Joyce Whiting and Virginia Grandfield, corresponding secretaries; Carol Jean Heter, reporter; Georgianna Bacon, song leader; Elaine Larson, pianist and Bernard Jacobson, marshal.

The Collegiate 4-H is entertaining all members and prospective members at a party tomorrow in Recreation Center at 7:30 p. m.

Farm and Home Week in 1944 attracted 1,185 people to the campus.

New Kansas Spirit Is At Kansas State

Although the score in the KS-KU game ended with KU on top, we certainly say that as far as spirit goes K-State was far ahead!

That little group of K-Staters tucked away in the corner of the KU auditorium really had the old Wildcat spirit. That goes for the team, too. For those of you who weren't fortunate enough to be there we might add that you could almost see the spirit in Knorr's men.

Perhaps the University Daily Kansan described the K-State spirit best when they said, "Coach 'Phog' Allen said that there is a new spirit in Kansas, and that new spirit is Kansas State. The K-State team is coming to Lawrence not with the feeling of being the underdog, but with the feeling that it is now 'the' school of Kansas."

"Kansas State is going to have a new field house soon," Coach Allen said, "and this will help to build up their team in athletics for no longer will the team have to play their opponents on a semi-foreign court as the KU team does. They will have the advantage of practicing and also playing on a familiar court."

"These K-State people are also scientific," the coach said, "for not only do they give their cows ultraviolet rays to produce more milk, but they are now turning these rays on their basketball team to produce more baskets."

Well, let's show "Phog" Allen that he's not far from right. Let's see that entire student body grouped together on the north bleachers—and let's yell—against Washburn, Missouri or whatever team it might be. Let's really prove to them that there is a new spirit in Kansas—and it's here at Kansas State!

No Changes Made . .

Most students believe with a change in semesters there will be a change in the Collegian. But just a word of warning—the Collegian will look the same—four pages, black and white, just like always.

There may be changes—but only those that the old editor will notice. So expect the same paper in your box each Thursday afternoon and we'll try to have it filled with what you want to read.

(P. S. Speaking of "what you want to read," we're sorry there is no Cat's Meow this week—but turn to this page in the next issue and we guarantee you won't be disappointed.)

Letters . . . TO THE EDITOR

To show those who made the "Battle Baby" possible what it meant to Kansas State men and women in the Armed Forces we are printing the following letter which is typical of those received in appreciation of that issue of The Collegian.

January 7, 1945
Burma

Dear Editor,

It was a pleasure to hear from "the hill" again and I can say it brought back memories of those four years that I'd like to live over again.

We heard all about the KS-KU game even over here and how the Big Six missed their guess on the game. I'll bet there was just as much celebration as there was in 1940 when I was there.

Sorry to read about the condition of most of the fraternity houses but guess with members so far away and the fact that the Army has most of us has something to do with it.

Was very interested in the post-war campus improvement plans and certainly hope to some day get back there and see the new buildings put up since I left. The Field House sounds best of all and is one thing the campus has needed for a long, long time. The Student Union fund was started while I was there and is another building sorely needed.

Of course, way over here in Burma any sort of building in the States would be good. Burma is one country that has not been in the news very much, yet I can assure you that there is a war on here and that bullets and shells kill you just as dead here as in the European War. I have seen plenty of front line action and have had close calls at times. However, right now I am back with headquarters trying to throw off some of the many Burma diseases. Malaria is the worst and really knocked me for a loop.

I played in the college band and orchestra all four years so was more interested in finding out about that but found that it didn't make more than a couple of lines telling about girls now being band members.

I thought I would just drop you a line and let you know my correct address just in case there are any more letters, newspapers, magazines, etc., coming this way.

Thanks very much again.

Sincerely,

* 1st Lt. Walter R. Wichser

Navy League Organized In Manhattan

The Manhattan Council of the Navy League of the United States has been organized among Manhattan business men and members of the College staff by Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, at the suggestion of Harry Darby of Kansas City, state director for the Navy League.

Members will attend a dinner in Topeka January 30, given by Mr. Darby, honoring Rear Admiral A. S. Carpenter, commander of the Ninth Naval District, Chicago. Charter members of the Manhattan council include President Milton S. Eisenhower, Dean Russell I. Thackrey, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton and Kenney L. Ford, all of Kansas State College; Evan Griffith, state war finance committee head; W. A. Gillman, president of the local Chamber of Commerce; Kenneth R. Chappell, former president of the Chamber of Commerce; Arthur Peine, C. C. Brewer and H. L. Wylie, Manhattan business men; Dr. J. D. Colt Jr., local physician; and

"Sandy" Moats Adds Cluster To Other Medals

For slashing into 90 enemy aircraft, of which he destroyed one and damaged another, and then blasting seven German locomotives in the face of intense ground fire, First Lt. Sanford K. "Sandy" Moats, f. s. '43, has been decorated with the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross. He was recently awarded the sixth Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal. A cluster signifies an additional award of the same decoration. The citation accompanying the cluster to the DFC read:

"The formation in which Lieutenant Moats was flying encountered three faggles of approximately 30 enemy aircraft each. Lieutenant Moats attacked immediately. In the engagement which followed, he expertly destroyed an ME 109 and damaged another. The enemy forces then slipped into the overcast and further contact was impossible.

"Although he was alone except for his wing man, Lieutenant Moats began to search for targets to strafe. He flew down a railroad line and fired bursts at four locomotives, causing each to blow up. As he attacked the fifth locomotive, the wing man notified him that he was in the midst of intense ground fire.

"Lieutenant Moats began to take evasive action, but he concentrated his fire on the locomotive and destroyed it. He destroyed a sixth locomotive, adroitly changing his course so that a wooded area protected him. Lieutenant Moats effected passes at another locomotive, but it was concealed in a ravine. He circled again, came in from above and scored hits, causing it to explode. On this occasion, Lieutenant Moats destroyed one ME 109 and destroyed seven locomotives. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this officer reflect the highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Lieutenant Moats, who flies the P51 Mustang "K," has destroyed four planes by himself and shared a fifth with a fellow pilot, all in the air. He is a member of the high-scoring 352nd Fighter Group, which has destroyed close to 600 enemy aircraft, both in the air and on the ground.

Roger Bacon, "the father of scientific research," was an English monk, born in 1214. He served many jail terms for sorcery because he preached of miracles, among them the airplane, automobile, steamship and the electric lamp; he called it. Bacon is said to have invented the air-pump and gunpowder.

One hundred four scholarships, fellowships and graduate and research assistantships totaling approximately $13,300 annually are available at Kansas State College.

R. M. Seaton, Manhattan newspaperman.

President Eisenhower indicated in his biennial report submitted several weeks ago to the State Board of Regents that the College would welcome a Navy R. O. T. C. unit.

Wildcats Lose Thriller To Kansas Jayhawkers

Playing before a packed field house of blood-thirsty fans the Kansas Jayhawkers managed to eke out a 39-36 win over the Kansas State Wildcats in the closing minutes of the game Tuesday night at Lawrence. The game proved to be a typical Kansas U.-K-State contest, with both teams fighting desperately until the last few seconds when Kansas U. pulled into the lead.

The score was tied three times in the last eleven minutes of the game, each time the Aggies rising to great heights and forging ahead again. Little Joe Ridgway and tall Dave Weatherby, Coach Fritz Knorr's ace forwards, led the attack.

Phog Allen's Jayhawkers capitalized on their free throws and sank thirteen, seven more than the Aggies. But the Aggies proved their court ability by caging 15 field goals, two more than their opponents from down the river.

Dave Weatherby, forward, tallied 13 points to place the Aggies in the scoring honors. Joe Ridgway, forward, took second honors by netting 9 points.

The Jayhawkers had the high point man of the evening in Charley Moffett who tallied 3 field goals and 8 free throws for a total of 14 points. Reynolds, the opposite forward, pushed 11 points through the net to place third on the list.

Kansas U. got off to an early lead, holding an 8-2 edge before the Staters got used to the floor. The Aggies drew up to within five points of the Jayhawkers but couldn't get any closer. The boys left the hardwood with the score 21-16, K. U. leading.

When the boys took to the court again the Wildcats lost no time in scoring. Dave Weatherby getting one from the side. However, they rapidly cooled off and K. U. increased their lead to eight points before the Aggies found themselves again. Joe Ridgway swished a long one through the net and added a free throw to close the gap to five points. Dave Weatherby nearly tied the game up with two beautiful push shots from the side and Joe Ridgway brought the loyal fans to their feet when he sank a long to put the purple and white warriors out in front 27-26.

Charley Moffett, got a free gift and knotted the score again at 27-27. Dave Weatherby came through again with those precious two baskets to send the Staters out in the lead 31-27. Reynolds was a life saver to Phog Allen's hopes when he tipped in two baskets to tie up the game again. The game didn't remain tied for long because Jay Payton came to life with a long that bounced around the rim for a while and finally went in. Bill Schultz added a free toss to increase the Wildcats precious lead to 3 points making the score 34-31. Moffett caged a field goal and Reynolds a free throw to put the Jayhawkers back on even terms with the Kansas State Aggies. It was now that Dick Spencer showed his ability to come through in the clutch by flipping the ball through the hoop from way out sending the Wildcats out in front 36-34. K-States hopes fell when Moffett added a free throw.

Tigers, Ichabods Invade K-State

The Washburn Ichabods invade the local hardwood floor Saturday evening seeking revenge for the 33-29 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Aggies earlier this season.

The Ichabods have had a successful season thus far. They hold a victory over Kansas U. earlier this season and have a record of 8 wins and 5 losses. Herington Air Base has beaten them so if comparing scores is any indication of who will win Saturday night, the Wildcats should hold an edge.

Monday night the Wildcats play host to the Missouri Tigers from Columbia. This is the first time this year that these two teams have met.

The Tigers will be playing without the services of their regular guard, Paul Collins, who graduated at the end of the semester. Coach George Edwards will probably start Gene Kurash and John Heimburger at forwards, Ed Michelson, center, and Earl Stiegemeier and Bob Freeman, guards.

Missouri has been defeated by K. U. 45-28 this season and by Oklahoma 43-27, but pulled a surprise 38-32 victory over the Iowa State Cyclones. Anything can happen Monday night when these two teams clash.

Wildcats Set Big Six Record

Kansas State College set a new Big Six record by scoring 70 points in making their bid for the Big Six basketball championship, romping over the Nebraska Cornhuskers from Lincoln 70-48.

Nebraska drew first blood in the fray when Costello sank a free throw but the Staters' own Dave Weatherby put the Wildcats out in front 2-1 by a push shot from the free throw circle. Strahan of the Huskers tied the score at 2-2 by another free toss. It was then that the Wildcat scoring machine got rolling and had forged ahead holding a 28-20 lead at the end of the first half.

Coming onto the floor in the second period the Huskers showed an inspired spirit. The Wildcats were cold in the first four minutes of the second half while the Cornhuskers, led by Peterson, closed up the gap in the score. The Aggie lead was cut to 30-26 and then 30-28. The K-Staters began to find the range and the Huskers never threatened again.

Dana Atkins, Jay Payton, Jack Kincheloe spirited the last quarter drive, scoring 8, 8 and 6 points respectively. The game ended with the K-State team rolling up 70 points for the new Big Six scoring record.

Jay Payton, stellar guard, collected the high honors for the Staters, scoring 16 points, followed by Jack Kincheloe with 12, Dave Weatherby with 11 and Dana Atkins with 10. The entire team entered into the scoring column, even Ralph Stuesser from the Northland scoring a field goal which ended the game.

Peterson was a big headache for the Wildcats hitting the hoop for the high honors of the evening with a total of 21 points.

YWCA...

The entire YWCA will meet in Recreation Center Tuesday at 4 p. m. and from there the different groups will go to their workshops.

YW Entertains Little Sisters

YWCA "little sisters" will be guests at a 1-hour get acquainted party at 7:30 p. m. tonight in Calvin lounge, Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YW secretary, announced today.

The evening's activities will include a brief program, group singing and special "meet your sister" program followed by refreshments. Vernelle Blevins, YW president, will emphasize the fact that women lead at Kansas State by introducing the following campus bigwigs: Phyllis Johansen, Ethelinda Parrish, Elizabeth Crandall, Arlene Shields, and Margaret McNamee.

The program will include group singing led by Jean Greenawalt; a reading by Carol Jean Heter and a vocal trio composed of Joyce Crippen, Ruth Fenton, and Patt Fairman.

The committee in charge of Lois Johnson includes Lois Meisner, Soterea Maduros, Patt Fairman, Margaret Parker and Wilma Ward.

Mrs. Downey urged new women students who were not assigned a big sister to attend. The party is arranged to promote early friendship among new students.

Tri Delt Party

Delta Delta Delta entertained January 20 with their annual formal party. "Club Crescent" was their theme. A silver crescent and silver stars against a blue background decorated the Avalon ballroom.

The receiving line was made up of president, Virginia Stoecker and Ernest Jackson; Dean Helen Moore, Dean Emeritus Mary P. Van Zile, Colonel and Mrs. Ullestad, and Mrs. Tom Branstetter.

Following the dance dates were guests at a spread at the chapter house.

The cold floors and strong draughts endangering health and comfort in many homes during the winter season soon may be eliminated—by electronics. Electronic controls so sensitive that they react even to the heat of a person's hand will do the trick, and the system will be less complicated in operation than the modern radio.

War II Veterans Sponsor Movie

The newly-organized Association of Kansas State College Veterans of World War II will sponsor the movie, "Meet Me in St. Louis," which will be shown at the Sosna Theater February 9 through 15, Victor Overholt, commander, announced today. Mr. Sam Sosna, owner of the theater, has given the men this movie to sponsor in order that they might earn money necessary to get their organization actively established on the campus.

Tickets are now on sale at several downtown business establishments and the men plan to set up a sales booth in Anderson Hall next week. The movie, which centers around the life of a St. Louis family when that city was host to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, stars Judy Garland and Margaret O'Brien. Such popular tunes as "Meet Me in St. Louis, Louis" and the Hit Parade topnotcher, "The Trolley Song," are included in the show.

There are 24 charter members of this organization which was recently established on the campus. It is open to all veterans of this war. Any veteran of World War II, who has been honorably discharged since the declaration of war, December 8, 1941, is eligible for membership. The Army, Navy and Marines are all represented in this new organization. Although there are no former WACs, SPARS or WAVES enrolled at Kansas State, these women will be welcomed into the association when they arrive.

Manhattan business men and civic clubs are backing this new campus organization 100 percent. Overholt reports. One of the local civic clubs is entertaining a charter member each week at its club meeting.

Officers of the association include: Stanley Stuart, vice-commander; H. O. Criss, adjutant; Delbert Longfellow, finance officer; V. C. Webb, sergeant-at-arms; and Howard M. Jones, historian. Dean R. I. Thackrey, who until recently served as a lieutenant in the Navy, is service officer for the organization. Dr. A. A. Holtz, a veteran of World War I, is faculty adviser for the group.

KKG Fellowship Offered KSC Women

Three $500 fellowships are again the offer of Kappa Kappa Gamma, to women graduates of Canadian and American colleges and universities where a Kappa chapter is located.

Available to fraternity and non-fraternity women alike, these fellowships are usually divided into the fields of science, art, and human relations.

Application blanks are now available at the office of the Dean of Women, as well as the local chapter. They should be obtained, at once, filled out and returned by March 1.

Reva King, Marjorie Spurrier, and Juliet Leong, all of Kansas State College, have received Kappa fellowships in previous years.

Buy War Bonds and help assure the future of the colleges.

Ushers...

College women who want to usher for the Don Cossack Chorus Wednesday leave your name with Kathleen Schmitt in the Dean of Women's office not later than 5 p. m. tomorrow.

NUMBER 17

17 Characters In College Play Here March 2-3

March 2 and 3 are the dates chosen by Prof. E. G. Hoover for "Incognito," second 3-act stage production of the Kansas State Players this year.

The play by N. Richard Nussbaum is a mystery comedy whose plot promises to hold suspense.

The 17 characters of the play do much to create and hold the air of suspicion and uncertainty. Erich Yagendorf, an espionage agent of the Third Reich will be played by Dale Knight while Georganna Bacon will play Miss Hildick, a predestined old maid. Trudy Blitt, a little on the smart-aleck side will be played by Rosemary Ensign; and Mrs. Thumbl, slightly on the drunk side will be Roberta Ince.

Betty Carr is a nervous high-strung young girl called Gertrude Shields. Carol Halbower portrays Mrs. Shulman, a sad-eyed, low-spoken non-Aryan refugee from Germany. A snobbish and aloof character is Kay Guhl as Mrs. Bascom and Herr von Stumm, a relentless and shrewd Nazi is played by Roy Drown.

Craig Bracken as Captain Mitchell of the U. S. S. Imperial is a tactful and good humored man. Helen Clark, a birdlike and fluttery young person and her "echo" Seedy Sloan are played by Shirley Prague and Lou Jean Fletcher. Ruby Wilson plays the part of Chic Johnson, seasick and from Claremore, Okla. Turner and Peterson, stewardesses of the U. S. S. Imperial, are Mary Brass and Carol Jean Heter. Sailors from the German U-Boat are Herbert Langer and Donald Larson.

$225 Gift To Memorial Fund In Journalism

The Journalism Memorial Fund committee today announced the receipt of a gift of $200 in cash from the Kansas Magazine Publishing Assn. This gift, plus a $25 series F War Bond from Ens. Mary Margaret Arnold, brings the total of the Journalism Memorial Fund to $1,916.

The fund will be used to perpetuate the memory of graduates and former students who lose their lives in the service of their country in World War II. Other gifts of cash or bonds are planned by various groups and individuals.

Many of the gifts, including the $200 from the Kansas Magazine are general in nature, while others are in memory of some individual. Miss Arnold's gift was in memory of Kendall W. Evans who was one of her associates on student publications at the College. Evans was graduated in 1942, Miss Arnold in 1943.

Journalism graduates and former students who are known to be casualties of this war include Maj. George T. Hart, Ens. John M. Williams, Lt. Stanley Dwyer, Pvt. Jack Eckhart, Capt. Alfred M. Makins, Lt. Ed Potter and Lt. Kendall Evans.

Eisenhower, Quiz Kids Match Wits February 18

President Milton S. Eisenhower has been asked to appear as a guest of the Quiz Kids on Sunday, February 18, when their program will broadcast from the Municipal Auditorium in Topeka at 6:30 p. m. CWT over the Blue Network.

The manager of the Quiz Kids program has asked that President Eisenhower be interviewed on the program, the proceeds from the entertainment going to the Shawnee Co. War Memorial Fund.

The Quiz Kids are the five grade school wizards who have been answering almost anything about everything at canteens, hospitals, and U. S. O. Centers all over the United States.

Adding another promotion for a Kansas State graduate, Capt. Emile F. Kientz (promoted from the rank of lieutenant) has landed in New York and will be sent some place in this area for hospitalization. Kientz was wounded in action December 16 in the European theater.

Star In Missouri Game

Dick Spencer, right, and Bill Schultz, left, are two members of Coach Fritz Knorr's hustling basketball club which is staging a brilliant fight to win the Big Six conference championship. Spencer, a guard, is a smooth floor worker particularly effective on defense. Schultz, a forward, found his shooting eye against Washburn and scored 15 points. He tallied 13 against Missouri.

World War II Vets Organize

Veterans of World War II who have enrolled at the College have organized into a group which promises to be one of the outstanding, growing organizations on the campus during the next few years. Twenty-four men of the more than 100 eligible students are charter members of the organization.

The organization, known as the Association of Kansas State College Veterans of World War II, is open to any veteran of World War II who has been honorably discharged since the declaration of war, December 8, 1941. Although there are no women veterans on the campus now, they too will be eligible for membership when they arrive.

As a means of raising funds to get their organization established, the men are sponsoring a movie, "Meet Me in St. Louis," which is being shown at the Sosna Theater February 9 through 15. They later plan to have a reception for the veterans who have enrolled in school for the first time this semester.

Officers for the semester are Victor Overholt, Ellinwood, commander; Stanley Stuart, Manhattan, vice-commander; H. O. Criss, Eureka, adjutant; Delbert Longfellow, Chinook, finance officer; V. C. Webb, Manhattan, sergeant-at-arms; Howard M. Jones, Aurora, Mo., historian; and R. I. Thackrey, dean of administration, service officer. Dr. A. A. Holtz is the faculty adviser.

"Be My Valentine" With Wartime Slant

Valentine, those wisps of lace and juicy sentiment, are going round the world this year.

From Bombay, Paris and belatedly, Manila come the familiar "Be My Valentine" greetings. Everything from Hawaiian Varga V-mails to beribboned air mails find their way across the waters.

The new trend in the hearts and flowers observance is another of the too frequent evidences of long distance love. But it is a chin lifter as the world waits for the Valentines day when Joe will dash over with a last minute box of drug store chocolates. And it is a Yankee deed. Who but a Yank would send a "pop-out" hula dancer 3,000 miles by air?

McNamee To Emporia

Mary Anne McNamee, I. J. '43, has joined the staff of the Emporia Gazette as a reporter. Until recently, Miss McNamee was in the public relations office of Boeing in Wichita.

Dr. Beery Speaks Of Post-War Jobs

"Today is good only today. We can so live today so what we do we will be prepared for tomorrow," Dr. George S. Beery of the Whitewater State Teachers College, Whitewater, Wis., told the student body in an assembly Tuesday afternoon. His speech was entitled "Square Pegs in Round Holes."

Doctor Beery emphasized two main points concerning people and their jobs. First, train today for jobs of tomorrow. That is today's problem although we may not recognize it until later. Second, consider the person. He added that great progress has been made to match individual qualities and abilities to individual jobs. There will be 10,000,000 people after the war looking for new jobs and they should start on one of their own choice.

Dr. Beery stated that a man must have wisdom, conscience and purpose. He must get wisdom for knowledge and understanding must be his goal. Without conscience a man is as useless as a B-29 without controls and the harder the conflict the dearer the outcome.

The speaker added that the job of jobs is the right employment of each individual. Dr. Beery concluded by saying, "Instead of having square pegs in round holes we must fit square pegs in square holes."

Cossacks No Longer Destined Bachelors

Cupid is no longer barred from the stage door of the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus. By a recent ruling, the members of this famous Russian chorus now may marry and still continue as members of the organization.

Just why the ban existed in the first place is a bit of a mystery. One explanation offered was that it was bad for the morale of the men to pine for home and children when they went on their world tours—and it was impossible to take the women folk along.

But now the bars are down, and cupid is mowing down the single Cossacks like nine-pins. Eight of the men already have married American girls, and have taken out their American naturalization papers, intending to make this country their home.

The Don Cossack Chorus appeared last night at the College Auditorium. They were the first presentation by the Artist Series. The Chorus will be followed by Marie Wilkins, soprano, on March 15 and Charles Kullman, tenor on April 24.

Business Students YW-YM Give Dance

Lt. Col. Fitzpatrick of Fort Riley will talk at a party sponsored by the YMCA, YWCA and college business students in Rec Center at 7:30 this evening. A record dance will be held during the evening.

Colonel Fitzpatrick is in charge of U. S. Army Security and Intelligence at the Fort and army intelligence will be the theme of his talk.

The party is a joint meeting of the three organizations but is open to the public.

K-State Receives Films From OWI

M. C. Moggie of the education department has received a group of films from the Office of War Information to be used on the campus. The visual education committee in the School of Home Economics has reviewed some of these films and is incorporating them in the home economics seminar. There are about 45 films which include information concerning the war and its effects. Some of the titles are "Bomber," "Building a Tank," "Food For Fighters," "The Price of Victory," and "Paratroopers."

K-State is one of four depositing and distributing centers for the films. H. G. Shankland, assistant editor of the extension division, is in charge of the distribution to various teachers, agricultural agents, cooperatives, local service and campus groups having a 16 mm. sound projector.

Plan Christian Forum Meeting

The 25th annual Christian world forum sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA assisted by the religious federation will be held February 23 to 25.

Leslie Roy Marston, Bishop of the Free Methodist Church will be featured speaker at the meetings. Bishop Marston, a recognized leader in the field of psychology, is a graduate of Greenville College, Illinois and Iowa Universities.

Margie Rasure and Art Roseberg are co-chairmen in charge of the forum. Assistant committee chairmen are Dean Tiemann, program; Jean Hayes, panel discussion; Elizabeth Raymond, publicity; Doris Gallaway, arrangements and Merle Eystone, finance.

Appoint Stark Business Manager

Elizabeth Stark, junior in industrial journalism, has been appointed business manager of The Collegian by the Board of Student Publications. She succeeds Ahda Somers McCoy who was graduated.

Dorraine Dorf has been appointed assistant manager by Miss Stark. Janey Hackney is also a member of the business staff.

Miss Stark who is from Scotia, N. Y., is active in a variety of organizations. She is a member of K-State Players, Phi Alpha Mu, Quill club and YWCA.

Coach Knorr's Wildcats, definitely championship-minded, won their right to temporary third spot by easily taking Missouri's Tigers 50 to 29 Monday, February 6, in Nichols Gymnasium.

While Dave Weatherby and Bill Schultz, forwards, were leading a 50-point barrage on the Tiger basket, cold Missouri shooting, coupled with a tight Kansas State defense which held the Tigers at long range, kept the Columbia, Mo., team pretty much out of the ball game. Missouri held the lead only once, 8 to 7, after six and one-half minutes had been played. Kansas State led at the half, 26 to 17.

Tigers slow in scoring

In the second period, four minutes elapsed before either team could score from the field. Finally, Dick Spencer, guard, laid in one for the Wildcats. Nine minutes of the half were gone before Missouri scored from the field. The second and last basket of the half for the Tigers came seven minutes later.

Weatherby led the game scoring with 16 points. Schultz had 13.

Y-Orpheum Scripts Due Friday

Plans for the 21st annual Y-Orpheum which is to be held March 17 are well under way. The event is a competitive program among the campus organizations sponsored by YMCA.

An eleven minute script from each organization is due Friday. They should be sent to Embert Coles, Y-Orpheum chairman, through the College post office. "If the scripts are not in by then I doubt very much if those organizations will be able to enter," Coles said.

"Male quartettes, girls trios or single instrumental or vocal acts are badly needed," Coles added. Anyone wishing to enter this non-competitive part of the program should notify Coles.

Trophies for first and second places will be put on display in the Canteen window as soon as they are received. The group acts will be judged by judges opinion and audience applause.

Campus organizations registered to enter are Amicossembly, Collegiate 4-H Club, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Clovia, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Pi Beta Phi.

Assistant at Van Zile

Margaret McNamee was appointed to fill Mary Lou Dunkerley's position of assistant director of food service at Van Zile Hall for the spring semester.

Movie Tickets . . .

Tickets for the movie, "Meet Me in St. Louis," are now being sold by the Association of Kansas State College Veterans of World War II. Tickets are also on sale at several downtown business establishments. Sam Sosna, owner of Sosna Theater, has given the men this movie to sponsor in order that they might earn money necessary to get their organization actively established on the campus.

When College Women Marry

(From Mills College Weekly)

(ACP)—Because of the numerous girls who came back from vacation either engaged or married, we of the WEEKLY, a bunch of old maids, view with bewilderment the galaxy of diamond studded fingers. It's a good thing. Girls should and will get married. We are proud also of the high percentage of alumnae with a Mrs. degree.

Our only hope for the new brides and fiancées is that they do not make their marriages an escape into mediocrity. So often a housewife becomes so embroiled in little things. Their worlds can become bounded by four walls. Their conversation can degenerate to Johnny's ailments, their newest recipe, an effective diet, or the latest bit of scandal. It is easy to make tempests in teapots. It is easy to become narrow minded by living a quiet life.

Married life has unbounded opportunities for the enrichment of one's life. It should be every girl's ambition to make a lovely home for her husband and family. But beyond that it is her duty to stay alive to the world as it progresses. Just as when she is in college, a girl becomes more perceptive, so all through life she should keep alive her interest in the world in order to enrich her own life and life of her family.

Furthermore, if it is her goal to make life truly beautiful for her husband and family, she must incorporate her love of beauty, and by this we mean music, art, and literature, into her own life. A woman has time for the esthetic side of life. While men must busy themselves with engineering, science and medicine, a woman is excused for her interest in music, art and poetry. A true wife can give a lot to her husband in his leisure time by helping him understand some of the beauties of life that he does not have time for in the business world.

Perhaps this is idealism, but women can afford to be a little starry-eyed. If we college women fail to lift our gaze beyond the routine of housewifely cares, we will become narrow minded as our world narrows.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Everyone having satisfactorily flunked their last semester finals they've all enrolled again upon deciding to give the professors another chance.

Speaking of chance Shirley Miller, Chi O, certainly took one when she went traipsing off to Texas and left SAE Ronnie Webster at home to twiddle his thumbs. Ah, these women with too many men!

Did you hear about the Tri Delt formal? You probably didn't as it turned out to be a military ball—you know, one of those affairs where you salute when you go through the receiving line. After the ball the company marched to chow at the chapter house. But there's just one thing we'd like to know—Isn't curfew for coeds supposed to be at one o'clock?

We hear that Gerald (the Kappas got me where they want me) Goetsch has been trying to wander, but mama "Do" will not let her little fawn go astray.

Oooh, what a party! Or are you one of the so-called "better kids?" By "better kids" we mean Kappas and Vets. The only thing we can't understand is why they all adjourned to the Scout Cabin—guess "Slim's" wasn't private enough.

We're thinking of instigating an eight day week at K-State as "Smitty" just can't seem to make his nights go around. Maybe he meant it when he said he believed in the old maxim "variety is the spice of life"—but what a life!

Phyl (I finally got one) Wells and Harvey (I over-estimated her ring-size) Haas are seen on the campus with that love-sick look.

As Dodderidge always found some way to mention himself when he was writing this column who are we to deny him his little joys. So—Dick Dodderidge—period.

So Jake (I'm a great guy—if you don't believe it just ask me) Mosier has finally decided to bestow his affection on one Betty Willey. Boy I mean!

The Delt (Chi O's preferred) party was really fun. We're still working on the case, however, of trying to find out how that one Pi Phi got there. Our only clue so far being that Davis WOULD have to be different.

BATTLE REPORT TO ALL HANDS

EVERY seaman and officer aboard our Navy's fighting ships instantly hears the call to action, follows the battle's progress over a special type of announcing system made by Western Electric.

On carriers the entire crew, topside and below deck to oilers and ammunition passers, can hear first-hand accounts direct from the pilots themselves on how it went "upstairs."

Meeting the communication needs of our armed forces requires all available manpower and manufacturing facilities. That's why telephone equipment cannot now be built for civilian use. After the war, Bell Laboratories' scientists and workers at Western Electric will turn again to their peacetime jobs of designing and making telephone equipment for the Bell System.

Ichabods Bow To Wildcats

By Dale Sorenson

Kansas State College's Purple and White Warriors showed plenty of reserve strength in mowing down the Washburn Ichabods from Topeka on the local hardwood courts 61-48 Saturday night.

Schultz and Atkins Lead Attack

The Wildcats were never behind as they chalked up their second consecutive win over Washburn behind the sharpshooting ability of Dana Atkins and sensational floor work of Ralph Stuesser. Atkins paced the Wildcats attack with 16 points, scoring fourteen of them in the first half. Bill Schultz never was in better form as he shared the scoring honors with Atkins hitting the hoop for 15 points. Stuesser was all over the floor, intercepting Washburn passes and setting up K-State plays.

Krone of the Ichabods stole the scoring honors of the evening from the Wildcat forwards as he scored 18 points. Dillard, Washburn guard, was runner up for the Ichabods tallying 11 points.

K-State got off to an early lead as they scored six points before Peterson, Ichabod guard, scored a free throw. Washburn rallied then and tallied nine points while the Wildcats were getting seven to bring the Ichabods within four points of the favored K-Staters. The Wildcats drew away from then on with Bill Schultz and Dana Atkins sparking the attack, Atkins scoring 14 points and Schultz 9 points the first half to bring the Wildcats to a half time lead of 35-21.

Knorr Uses Reserves

The Wildcats continued to lead the Ichabods in the second half by a considerable margin. Only once during the second period did Washburn attempt a drive. Midway during the second semester, with K-State leading by 20 points, the Ichabods made a drive scoring 7 points closing the Wildcats lead to 13 points. Coach Fritz Knorr sent in his reserves, using every man on the bench, for the last four minutes as the Wildcats turned down the Ichabods 61-48 as the final gun sounded.

Dates Of Big Six Games Switched

Scheduled dates for the K-State basketball tilts with Nebraska and Iowa State have been changed in a Big-6 switch, said Athletics Director M. F. (Mike) Ahearn.

The Wildcats will challenge Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, February 24, and will meet the Iowa State five Monday, February 26 on the local court. The games were originally slated on reverse dates.

Bruce Drake, Oklahoma University mentor, requested the switch. In order that the Sooners have ample time for a trip to New York to play in Madison Square Garden the week of March 1 they asked that the date of the February 26 game with Iowa be changed to February 24.

Drake told the coaches if the original schedule were followed his team would arrive in New York one and one half hours before the game starts. The three coaches concerned gave unanimous consent to the request.

Fritz Knorr, As Dark Horse, Coaches First Year Of K-State Basketball

FRITZ KNORR

Something sensationally interesting in Kansas State basketball has been added since Fritz Knorr, an unheralded mentor, assumed temporary duties as Wildcat cage chief this season. The basketball kids have put a threatening snarl into Wildcat basketball teams. Fritz's kids are determined to fight their way out of the cellar.

Nobody knew much about Knorr when this topsy-turvy basketball season got under way. He came to Kansas State two years ago as an instructor in physical education after teaching at Kansas City, Kan., junior college. Wartime situations had robbed Kansas State of its regular basketball coach and the "fill-in" job fell on the husky shoulders of Knorr. After all, Knorr had coached the A. S. T. P. team stationed on the campus last season to 12 victories in 15 contests. So, head men in K-State athletics wisely reasoned that the likeable, sincere Mr. Knorr might be able to put a team on the floor that could, at least, last throughout a rough 23-game schedule.

Taking a bunch of youngsters without college experience and teaming them with Jay Payton and Joe Ridgway—former Emporia State and Kansas State players respectively—Knorr started the painful job of building a winner. Yes, a winner! This new, temporary court coach doesn't think in any terms but victories and he and his "Fighting Wildcats" are still eyeing the win column despite their one-sided 60 to 31 loss at Iowa State January 6. The Wildcats' present record of six wins and five losses is ample indication that they are in the fight.

Admittedly, it doesn't appear likely to Big Six sports followers that Kansas State will end the current basketball season perched on a championship throne. That is expecting far too much from a gang of 18-year-olds, IV-F's and discharged service veterans. What does appear probable is the heart-warming fact that Fritz's kids are really "dark horses." They want to win—a factor important enough to make them dangerous in any contest.

Next to a winner, followers of cage teams love action. Anyone attending a Kansas State game is assured of thrills because Coach Fritz says, "I don't want the game to lag and I want my players going full speed at all times." And, brother, this 1945 Wildcat basketball version goes!

The system used by Knorr might be compared to the substitution system introduced at Notre Dame by the famous Knute Rockne. The Kansas State second team rates on almost even keel with the first quintet and at any stage of a thrilling contest Knorr may shoot an entire new team into the fray. "I don't necessarily substitute by teams," the coach explains, "but I want everybody going hard!"

with the Norman Navy Skyjackets, rated seventh among service teams in the nation. Not much information is available at this date about this team but their national rating proves they will be hard to stop.

Atkins, Schultz, Weatherby, Ridgway, Howard, Kincheloe, Stuesser, McClaghry, Spencer, Bell and Payton will make the trip. They will leave Friday and return Tuesday.

Wildcats Engage Three At Norman

The Wildcats take to the road Friday when they travel to Norman, Okla., to play three games. Saturday night they take on Oklahoma University; Sunday they play the Norman Skyjackets which is the Naval team from the South Base.

Oklahoma will be out to avenge the defeat they suffered from the Wildcats earlier in the season. They boast the conference's leading scorer in little 5 ft. 5½ in. Hines who currently is leading the Big Six with a game average of 13 points. Coach Bruce Drake's Roundball Runts have a season's record of ten wins and six losses. They boast wins over Kansas U., Norman Navy Zoomers, Nebraska, Missouri and Southern Methodist. Coach Drake has always emphasized free throws. Last year his team hit 105 of 150 free throws in Big Six competition for an average of 70 percent. The Wildcats will have to be careful of their fouling or the Roundball Runts will walk off with the game and the Big Six title. This game is very crucial to the Wildcats because the loss of this game practically eliminates the Wildcats chances for the Big Six crown.

Sunday the Wildcats take on the Norman Navy Zoomers. The Zoomers have beaten Oklahoma U. once and lost to them once so they will bear watching.

The final game of the road trip is

Intramurals...

Practices for the women's basketball intramurals begin Monday. The names of the squad members are to be turned in to the physical education department not later than today. Each organization is allowed one practice each week and must have at least three practices before playing a game. Only one team is allowed to the organization. Games will begin March 5.

Anyone interested in the open-hour swimming may apply for an intramural fee card at the business office. This includes everyone on the campus. Swimming hours will be at 4:30 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The table tennis entry blanks for men's intramurals can now be obtained at L. P. Washburn's office, N107, not later than Tuesday. Volley ball entries are due February 17. Teams, both independent and organizations, should get their names on the list at the bulletin board or the office before Tuesday. Not many teams have signed up, so all interested should get in touch with the intramural office as soon as possible.

SOCIETY

As the semester gets well under way... so does the society news.

Van Zile Hall had chocolates recently from Annie Gardner announcing her engagement to Pvt. Gordon Cunningham of Hartford now stationed at Fort Riley.

Alpha Delta Pi had roses Sunday announcing the marriage of Dorothy Basgall f. s. to Lt. U. J. Shroder November 26 at Kearney, Neb. Lieutenant Shroder is now serving overseas with the Army Air Forces.

Esther Hall HE & A 2; and Lt. Norman L. Graham '44 were married Sunday at the Christian Church in Manhattan.

The engagement of Dorothy Lou Wilson f. s. and Lt. Hugh Kirkpatrick f. s. has recently been announced. Lieutenant Kirkpatrick was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Kappa Delta sorority entertained presidents of all sororities and fraternities with a social hour Sunday afternoon at the chapter house. The recreation room was decorated with a carnival theme, and entertainment and refreshments carried out the same idea.

Highlighting the week-end activities will be a varsity at the Avalon Saturday night. See you then!

Delta Tau Delta elected the following new officers at a recent election: William Streeter, president; Ken Kendall, vice-president; Joe Young, secretary; and Ralph Fogelman, treasurer.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will entertain Saturday night with a semi-formal Valentine party at the chapter house.

Amicossembly Sells Tickets For Show

Amicossembly, organization for independent students, is sponsoring the sale of tickets to the show "Music in Manhattan" which will be shown today, tomorrow and Saturday at the Wareham theater.

Tickets are being sold by all of the women who live at independent organized houses.

Dorothy Cochran, president, said that proceeds from the show, and from the rummage sale that the group sponsored last week, will be used for a formal dance to be held in the spring.

Henderson Presented Water Pitcher

Ruth Henderson was chosen by the house boys of Van Zile Hall as the most efficient dietetics major at the dormitory during the past semester. She was presented the familiar aluminum water pitcher Friday night and her name was added to the list of dietetics majors chosen the most efficient in previous years.

The house boys based their choice on the speed that the work was done, attitude, promptness of meals and organization of help. This custom, started in the fall of 1937, was broken only once in the year of 1943-44 when the dormitory was occupied by the ASTP.

Announce Home Economics Lecture Program

From discussions of opportunities open to home economists to "an arm-chair trip around the world," is the varied and interest-catching program planned by the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club lecture board for the spring semester. The committee in charge of the lectures are Doris Dyal, chairman, Rachel Jacobs, Helen Hoover and Judy Cazier.

Senior students will attend a weekly lecture by Dean Margaret Justin and some smaller pre-professional groups are formed during the semester with department heads as leaders.

For the various sophomore and junior interest groups the board has planned a choice of four subjects including a series entitled "Around The World," talks on radio work, discussions of operas and a lecture series of "Our Community."

Freshman students will be aided in selecting their major field by discussions of home economics vocations. Margaret Raffington is faculty supervisor of all home economics lecture plans.

New Students . . .

Today is the last day for students who were not enrolled last semester to get receipts for a picture in the class section of the 1945 Royal Purple. Receipts may be obtained in the Student Publications Business Office (Kedzie Hall, room 105-D). Pictures of these new students will be taken at the Studio Royal Monday, February 12. Appointments must be made in advance by telephone.

Church Leader To Speak Here

Dr. Leslie R. Marston, bishop of the Free Methodist Church, will be the speaker at the 25th annual YM-YW Christian World Forum February 23, 24 and 25. Dr. Marston will also speak at an assembly at 10 a. m. February 23.

Dr. Marston is a graduate of Greenville College and the Universities of Illinois and Iowa. He was also president of Greenville College.

A nationally known lecturer and writer on child psychology, Dr. Marston is now executive secretary of the National Research Council's Child Development Committee in Washington, D. C. He is also a member of several other national child psychology groups and the author of a number of child psychology books.

Arthur Roseberg is in charge of the assembly February 23 at which Dr. Marston will speak.

At 2:00 Friday afternoon Bishop Marston will appear as guest speaker at the high school assembly. At 4:00 he will take part in a College student-faculty panel discussion. Dean Thackrey will be in charge of the faculty discussion and Jean Selby will handle the student side.

Saturday morning he will speak before the psychology and education classes at 8:00. At 9:00 he will speak before the sociology classes.

Sunday morning he will speak for the Java Club which meets at 9:00. This is a group of soldiers and the meeting will be held in the USO. At 11:00 he will appear as guest speaker at the Free Methodist Church.

Sunday evening there will be a students supper meeting, a union of all the young people's groups, at the Presbyterian Church.

He will appear again at a Union Service at the First Methodist Church at 7:45 p. m. Sunday.

Brown-out Dims Aggieville Lights

The brown-out has darkened Aggieville until it looks as though its streets are rolled up at dusk each evening instead of the usual 11. The nation wide brown-out order was made by the War Production Board.

Window lights which have previously burned all night are not turned on, no neon lights are permitted and people are asked to save as much electricity as possible in their homes. K's Gift Shop has been eliminating the use of electricity by burning candles in the window at night.

The purpose of the brown-out is to save scarce fuels used in the generation of electricity. Any consumer who violates the order is subject to penalties prescribed by Federal Law which may include the discontinuance of electric service at the direction of the WPB.

Grad Student Party

Graduate students, their families and friends will hold their first party of the semester Saturday night in Thompson Hall. Games, dancing and refreshments will highlight the evening's entertainment, which will begin at 8 and last until 11:30.

Dr. J. E. Ackert, dean of the graduate school, and Mrs. Ackert will act as chaperones. President and Mrs. M. S. Eisenhower, the graduate council, and the graduate assignment committee are special guests.

The Great Wall of China is 1800 miles long.

Will Dust Off Ye Olde Spirit At Pep Rally

K. U. IS COMING . . . or had you heard? Then let's hear how you feel about it tomorrow afternoon at the Wildcat Pep Rally at 4 in the Auditorium. It's high time we drag out ye olde K-State spirit and dust it off. If you've never been to a true K-State "dusting off" party . . . be there tomorrow! You're due for a real surprise!

But the Pep Rally is only the beginning . . . the game is at 7:30 p. m. Friday followed by the Wildcat Stomp sponsored by the Wampus Cats.

The spirit shown at K. U. by only a handful of K-Staters was so ear-splitting that the Jayhawkers approach cautiously expecting to see the roof fly off Nichols Gym Friday. The Pep Rally will be practice in lifting the Auditorium roof.

"President Eisenhower and Coach Fritz Knorr will speak but the rest of the program is a dark secret," Pauline Flook, president of Purple Pepsters, said with a bright gleam in her eye.

Purple Pepsters and Wampus Cats will be there in full force; the band will do its part; the cheerleaders will be ready with plenty of yells. What red blooded loyal Wildcat could stay away?

Attend the Pep Rally, the game, the Stomp and back up the Wildcats in their chance for retaliation. BEAT K. U.!!!

K-State Prints Veterans' Booklet

"Program for War Veterans," a booklet outlining the GI Bill of Rights and the Vocational Rehabilitation Bill in relation to Kansas State College, is off the press and will soon be ready for distribution.

The book says "Under the GI Bill of Rights a veteran is entitled to education or refresher work at government expense, at an approved college or other educational institution of his own selection. Under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act the veteran's preference largely determines the choice of the institution he will attend, although other factors must be considered."

The booklet tells who is eligible, the type of program offered, and the method of applying for admission. It outlines the postwar program of the College, describes organizations and activities, and estimates the living costs of a student.

Many requests for this type of booklet have been received from the men and women in service. Ten thousand of the books have been printed, and students who wish to have a copy sent to some one in the armed forces should leave the name and address in the Office of the Dean of Admissions.

Famous Dancers At Topeka

The world's most famous ballroom dancers, Veloz and Yolanda, with six assisting artists, will be at the Topeka Municipal Auditorium tonight at 8:30 for an evening of gay and glittering dances, songs, music, and impersonations.

In China white is for mourning.

SGA Launches Stamp Drive

Plans for selling war stamps in organized houses and among unorganized men and women students on the campus are near completion, according to Phyllis Johansen, War Stamp Chairman. The goal of the drive is to sell War Stamps to 90 percent of the students in order that the College may earn the right to fly the Treasury Minute Man Flag. A campaign similar to Kansas State's is being carried on at all college campuses.

SGA's goal of 90 percent will be reached by urging students to pledge to buy a certain amount of war stamps each week. A representative elected in each organized house will collect money for the number of stamps students pledged to buy and exchange it for War Stamps. This exchange will be made from Phyllis Johansen each Wednesday in Recreation Center from 3 until 4 p. m.

A record will be kept of these sales and at the end of the semester a prize will be awarded to the group having sold the most stamps.

The SGA will continue to sponsor war stamp sales at the booth in Anderson Hall on Wednesday of each week. Organizations that wish to sell stamps at this booth contact Phyllis Johansen.

Ticket Sales Hit New High

"It was the largest sale of tickets that has been sponsored by any activity in my fourteen years of experience" was the comment made by Sam Sosna, owner of the Sosna Theatre, regarding the World War II Organization's sponsoring of the movie "Meet Me in St. Louis" shown at the Sosna Theatre February 9 through 15. The proceeds are to be used for a reception for new members into the organization, according to Victor Overholt, commander. A special meeting will be held soon to make plans for the reception.

The executive board of the organization had charge of ticket sales. Tickets were sold in Anderson Hall and in several downtown business establishments. Presidents of the Greek and Independent organizations on the campus sold tickets in their respective houses.

Victor Overholt, commander of the Association of Kansas State College Veterans of World War II, expressed appreciation to Sam Sosna, downtown business firms, YM Office, and the student body for their cooperation.

Collegians . . .

Time of distribution for The Collegian has been changed to Thursday afternoon.

The change from morning distribution was made necessary by the help shortage in the printing department. It was pointed out that the delay will make it possible to include later news each week.

Present Representative Students Over KSAC

Six students have been chosen representative of their respective schools of the College. These students were presented February 9 to the College's Farm and Home Week of the Air audience over Radio Station KSAC. In former years the presentation was made at the annual Farm and Home Week banquet, which was called off this year.

Doctor's Degree To Eisenhower

President Eisenhower received an honorary Doctor of Science degree Saturday night at the Colorado A. & M. College, Fort Collins, Colorado. The degree was conferred because of his outstanding services in agriculture, education, and public affairs.

The degree was presented to Eisenhower at a program commemorating the 75th anniversary of the Colorado College in a ceremony at the student union building on the campus. He was given the degree by Dr. Roy M. Green, president of Colorado A. & M. and former instructor at Kansas State.

Both presidents were speakers on the program. President Eisenhower spoke on "Democracy in the Land-Grant Colleges." He suggested four definite goals for land-grant institutions. They are: (1) technical proficiency; (2) a deep understanding on the part of the maximum number of people of the physical, biological, social, and cultural world in which they live; (3) the fostering of cool, clear, discriminating judgment; and (4) to help each student-citizen on and off the campus, develop an abiding, fighting faith in our democratic free system.

President Green's subject was "What of the Future."

Jean Peck Heads Hospitality Days

Jean Peck, general chairman for the 15th annual Hospitality Days to be held April 20, has announced the members of the steering committee. Because of wartime restrictions on travel, the yearly event will be cut to one day of exhibits for Manhattan residents and College students.

Steering committee members and chairmen of committees include: Mary Alice Doll, program chairman; Pat Smith, exhibit chairman; Ruth Fenton, budget chairman; Doris Dyal, reception chairman; Betty Swan, publicity chairman; Helen Craft, hostess chairman; Marian Ober, poster chairman; Ruth Peddicord, sign chairman; Dorothy Huseman, high school chairman; Betty Jean Yapp, Hospitality Hop chairman; Gladys Richardson, badge chairman; and Dorothy Ruckel, secretary of the steering committee.

Advisers for Hospitality Days are Miss Margaret Raffington, Miss Dorothy Barfoot, Miss Jean Dunnigan, Mrs. Coral Aldous, Miss Alpha Latzke, Miss Ella Jane Meiller, and Miss Myrtle Gunselman.

Japanese remove their shoes before eating a meal.

The representative students are: Jacob Mosier, Hoxie, School of Veterinary Medicine; Jene Wise, Wichita, School of Engineering and Architecture; Mary Alice Doll, Larned, School of Home Economics; Harold Hackerott, Alton, School of Agriculture; Ethelinda Parrish, Manhattan, School of Arts and Sciences; and Thomas Thomson, Manhattan, Graduate School.

Jake Mosier, senior in veterinary medicine, is listed in Who's Who, served as officer of the College's Junior Chapter of the A. V. M. A., and is president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity. He also is dance manager for the S. G. A. varsity dances.

Jene Wise, senior in architecture, is the first woman to represent the students in the School of Engineering and Architecture. She is editor of the Kansas State Engineer magazine, vice-president of the senior class, president of the student chapter of American Institute of Architects. Jene is a member of Chi Omega social sorority, and served on the Pan-Hellenic and Inter-Fraternity Council. She was a K-State cheerleader for two years.

Ethelinda Parrish, senior in general science, has the highest grade point average in the entire senior class. Last semester she was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. Ethelinda is president of the Student Council and vice-president of Mortar Board. She has held offices in Plix, Dynamic, Quill Club, Wise Club, and YWCA. She is listed among Who's Who and is a member of Pi Beta Phi, social sorority.

Mary Alice Doll, senior in Home Economics, is a member of Mortar Board, chairman of the Home Economics Radio Club, a YWCA cabinet member, and a member of Clovia, national 4-H sorority. Mary Alice is an active member in the Collegiate 4-H Club and the Danforth group. She is chairman of the program committee for Home Ec Hospitality Days and is a freshman home economics counselor.

Harold Hackerott represents the school of Agriculture, won the Carl Raymond Gray scholarship. He was awarded both Phi Kappa Phi freshman honors and sophomore scholastic honors. Harold, who graduated last semester, was a member of Collegiate 4-H Club, the YMCA, Block and Bridle Club, and a member of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural fraternity, as well as the Farm House social fraternity. He was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, and Gamma Sigma Delta.

Thomas Thomson, graduate student, received his B. S. from the University of California in 1939. In 1940 he earned his master of science degree in chemistry at Kansas State followed by two years of advanced study at the University of Washington, Seattle. He will be a candidate for the doctor of philosophy in chemistry in May. Mr. Thomson has contributed to the knowledge of cornstarch in its use as a plastic. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Sigma Xi, national scientific society.

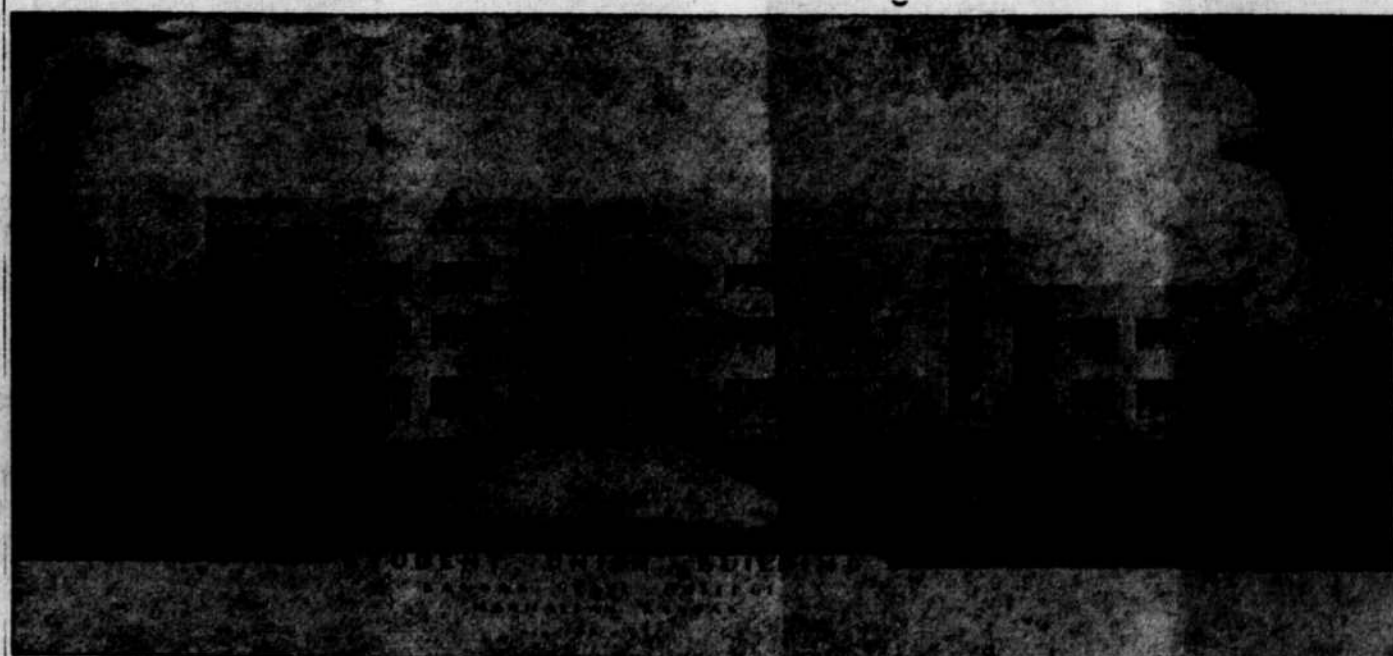

Don Cossack Chorus Scores Success Here

Under the auspices of the Residence Hall Committee, the Manhattan Artist Series presented the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus, Nicholas Kostukoff, director, to a large and very enthusiastic audience in the College Auditorium February 7.

The program was one which should have given the listener a clear understanding of our allies, the Russians. The religious music of Gretchaninoff, Lvov, and Tschalkovsky with its solemnity, its wealth of harmonic color, its many suggestions of bells, its solo chants gives an insight into the music of the Russian Orthodox Church.

The whole program was very satisfying. The members of the Manhattan Artist Series have started their venture well. The next number is the recital by Marie Wilkins, Metropolitan soprano, on March 15.—C. W. S.

An Architect's Drawing of the Proposed K. S. C. Student Union

Blue prints have been completed, the soil has been tested on the proposed site, and work is to begin as soon as materials are available on the construction of a Student Union Building for Kansas State College. Above is an architect's drawing of the $900,000 structure which is being financed through fees paid by students. The Union will be built west of Kedzie and south of Engineering Hall on the site used for years as a military drill field and by physical education classes. The exterior of the three-story modern structure will be of native white limestone.

Dig Deep . . .

When you're asked to buy at least one stamp a week in the new stamp drive remember that this small evidence of support to our fighting men is a minimum for any student enjoying the rare luxury of college in a world at war.

Dad is doubtless buying bonds back home, but that's HIS contribution, not yours. You should want to make your OWN personal contributions through self-denial as regularly as our troops make theirs.

The gesture is important—and so is the money. Twenty-five cents a week from a million college students is enough to pay for five P-47's a week!

Remember a stamp a week can fill a book in a short time—and keep in mind that a bond today is worth two tomorrow.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Success—at least no one has discovered our identity for a whole week now. Must be because we're such keen kids that no one would ever suspect our really truly fiendish nature. So, with gay abandon we shall proceed with our dirty work.

Is it true or are our old eyes playing tricks on us, that our dear senior class prexy and Miriam (my mother was a Kappa too) Hobbs have come to a parting of the ways? Couldn't be that Olsen loves his wine more than his woman?

Are you one of the lucky sororities? Have you been honored lately? If not just give 'em time—the AGR's we mean. Seems as though they've been giving each bunch of Greek girls the chance to prove their merit and if they fall—they merely trek gaily on to the next house for further investigation.

Overheard at the "Can."

"But I've got to find a girl to introduce to my mother." Delt—Coles.

"I've been trying in vain to get a date with that Alabama accent." Phi Delt—Hogue.

"Sure a good lookin' sweater you got on there, Wise." AGR—Smith.

"Shall I wear my frat pin out with Greathouse tonight?" Tri Delt—Myers.

"Steady or not at all." Sig Alpha—Bealer.

Incidentally, the Swig Alphas threw another one of them things Friday night, but the only thing that came of it was a proposed violet-hunt at Sunset Park. The dictionary before me states that a violet is "a low plant with a drooping head stalk." Man! Where they won't look for Rushees these days!

Betty (I love you Hal, but oh, that Hogue) Carr will receive her BWOC degree two Tuesdays from that Thursday.

The Deltas are now holding their Friday meetings on the Chi O's terrace. It's the only place the entire chapter can mutually congregate.

The (Call us anytime—our phone's never busy) Pi Phi's are having the time of their lives snobbing all the men (on the campus). There will be a meeting at 7:30 at Anderson Hall tomorrow night for all men who feel hurt. Charlie Ottman will preside. But that's beside the point—what we would like to know is how Ron Webster's Model "A" conveniently broke down Sunday. Rath and Heberer stayed in the car to keep the windshield from frosting while Bealer recited Shakespeare. They were on a picnic—dictionary states that a picnic is "a short excursion into the country by a pleasure party carrying their own provisions." Rath's on a diet!

acting in the forthcoming "Incognito." He accepted the part after much persuasion. Persuasion is French for mirror gazing. The only thing that Bracken lacks is self-confidence. He's afraid to confide in himself that Hollywood hires actors.

What's this about Embert Coles BMOC (Better Move Other Cars) alternation between dates with Dorothy "Willie" Wilson and Betty Hogan. Better watch that rut!

Walt Gage was seen Monday afternoon jovially picking the Pi Beta Phi sticker off the front of his car. Perhaps he feels KKG will be more appropriate after the smeared lipstick Sunday night. P. S. It rained in California.

The Kappas started an original idea in their scrap drive. We think it's a wonderful idea to be so patriotic and think the other sororities should follow the plan even if they haven't more than three trophies.

News Flash! It is rumored that Sig Alpha Gene Grim is going to join the Marines.

The Alpha Delta Pi's plan on retelling their house this spring after "Jungle Jim" Ungles and "Cueball" Olsen graduate.

The Kappa Valentine party was wonderful even if some did complain that the punch was only orange juice (but after all, we have to be good girls some of the time). The highlight of the evening was when Tom Tuttle and Helen Hoover passed chocolates. There were so many lines going that at active meeting this week Liz Humphries moved that next time they should pass chocolates earlier in the evening. Doris Johnson seconded the motion.

We can feel those knives at our throats so best we go hide until this time next week.

An Electrical Engineering graduate, Lt. Robert E. Schreiber, '43, has just received his discharge from the army and is living at 701 Sixth Street, Garden City.

Mrs. Samuel Kelsall, H. E. '33, writes, "My husband, Major Samuel Kelsall III is back in the U. S. A. after serving 31 months in Ireland, England, Scotland, N. Africa, Algeria, Tunisia, Italy. He returned in the best of health. Now we are stationed at the Office of the Vet. Hdq. at the Sixth Service Command, Chicago, Illinois." Major Kelsall graduated from the School of Veterinary Medicine in 1935.

From an Eighth Air Force Bomber Station in England comes word of the promotion of Robert G. Bensing from the rank of second to first lieutenant. Lieutenant Bensing, pilot of an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress, is a member of the 385th Bombardment group. He attended Kansas State College prior to entering the army air forces in February, 1943. He received his wings at Douglas, Ariz., in March, 1944.

S 2/c Ema Lou Bireline, I. J. '42, is now attending Control Tower Operator's school at the Naval Air Station, Atlanta, Ga. Before enlisting in the WAVES she was a continuity writer on the staff of radio station KSAL in Salina.

Capt. Elwin R. Prather, Eureka, is now serving as a Y-Force veterinary officer with a Chinese army in the Salween campaign to re-open the Burma Road. An official press release says, "To traverse the 12,000-foot passes over the narrow, precipitous trails of the Kaoli Kung mountains, it is necessary to use either Chinese coolies or the tiny Chinese pack horses. Keeping these animals in condition and treating them medically is one of the most important tasks of the Y-Force Americans assisting the Chinese. Captain Prather's work has been extremely valuable in this campaign." The captain was graduated from Kansas State College in 1941. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity and of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

With the American Red Cross service in the Pacific is Miss Bettie Fogelstrom, a former Kansas State College student. Miss Fogelstrom graduated in 1942 in Physical Education and is now with a group who aid in entertainment for the infantry.

One of the 420 young officers graduated January 10 from the navy supply corps school at Harvard was Russell Bernard Nixon, f. s. '43. Ensign Nixon has received his general service commission and will be assigned to duty in one of the newest ships as supply and disbursing officer.

Things have been moving right along for Lt. Robert T. Singleton, Ag. '43, since he left the United States three weeks ago. He joined a battalion of the 317th regiment just outside Wilwerwiltz on January 25, and went into the attack the following day as company executive. The next day he became acting company commander, and that night led his company in a night attack on Buchholz, in coordination with a platoon of tanks. It was all new to him, but so effectively did he clear the town and protect the armor from bazooka fire by the effective use of grenades that a veteran tank commander called it "the best job I've ever seen done by an infantry officer working with tanks."

Lt. Stewart D. Reed, pilot of a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 95th Bombardment Group, has been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while participating in Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi airfields, supply dumps and gun emplacements in support of advances by Allied ground forces on the continent. Lieutenant Reed was a student at Kansas State College in 1943. He is a member of the Fortress group which led the first American bombing attack on targets in Berlin, and which was cited by the President for its outstanding bombing assault on railroad marshalling yards at Munster, Germany, in October, 1943. The group also shared in a Presidential citation given the entire division for its historic England-African shuttle bombing of an important Messerschmitt fighter plane plant in Germany in 1943.

It's an A. P. O. address from San Francisco for 1st Lt. H. W. Stockhoff, Milling '40, who is now with the 69th Bombing Squadron.

Visiting the campus recently was Capt. J. R. Massey, who is back in the United States after 18 months in the China-India-Burma area. Captain Massey, Vet. '39, is now at Winter General Hospital in Topeka.

State High Schools Debate Feb. 23-24

Kansas State College will be host at the annual High School Debate Tournament February 23 and 24, Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the Department of Speech, announced today.

The subject of the debates will be resolved, "That legal voting age in the United States should be reduced to eighteen years." The department of speech is in charge of all debates, with Dr. Hill acting as chairman. It is estimated that there will be six schools participating in the event.

In the past the debate tournament has been held at Kansas University. This year it is to be divided with Kansas State entertaining a section of Class B high schools and Kansas University entertaining the Class A high schools.

KS Fighting Wildcats Hope to End Jayhawk Jinx

K-State's fighting Wildcats will attempt to break a 15-game jinx Friday night as Coach Phog Allen's Kansas U. Jayhawkers, humiliated by their 59-45 defeat by the cellar dwelling Cornhuskers, invade the hardwood court of Nichols Gym for their second encounter with their traditional rivals.

The Aggies haven't beaten the Jayhawkers since 1937 when they won 33-32 in a thriller that saw Jack Miller sinking a field goal in the last few seconds of the game.

Aggies Still Have Chance

The Wildcats still have a chance in the Big Six title race despite their defeat by the Sooners a week ago. A defeat for K. U. and a victory for K-State would give the Aggies four wins with three losses, while K. U. would still be in second place with a five-three standing.

The starting lineup for the Jayhawkers will probably include Dean Corder and Charley Moffet at forwards; Gordon Reynolds, center; Kirk Scott and Herbert Helms at the guards. Coach Allen plans to take 11 players on the trip.

Coach Knorr has been alternating two teams all year. By keeping a fresh five on the floor at all times he has established a style that the fans like. It provides a type of game that keeps the fans in a keyed up state of emotion every second of the game. Knorr probably will start his usual five with the alternate quintet in reserve.

K-Staters Greet 'One Man Gang'

One of the eleven hundred spectators that attended the Missouri-Kansas State game, was big, 200-pound, six-footer, Elmer Hackney, who was one of K-State's most outstanding athletes.

New students may not have recognized this "One Man Gang," as he was called, but while attending college here Hackney was Big Six Heavyweight Wrestling Champion; he was National Intercollegiate Shot Put Champion, and he was all Big Six fullback.

Hackney received football letters in '37, '38 and '39, and letters for track in the spring of the same years. He also has two years of wrestling to his credit.

Since his graduation in the spring of 1940, the K-State man has played professional football for several teams; spending the last season with the Philadelphia Eagles.

K-State Kids Nosed Out Twice

Purcell Naval Aerial Gunnery School nosed out the Knorr Kids from Aggietown 52-50 in an overtime game that provided plenty of thrills.

The game was tied at 46-46 at the end of the regulation playing time, when with 20 seconds of the overtime left, Net Staitz, navy center, came through with a one hand push shot that gave the Gunners the game.

Bill Schultz, Aggie sharpshooter, provided the majority of the fireworks for the Wildcats as he made 23 points and high scoring honors of the evening.

Knorr Kids ran into a one man team Monday night as Day, former C. C. N. Y. player, scored 27 points when the Norman Naval Skyjackets defeated the Wildcats 59-50.

Joe Ridgway and Bill Schultz sparked the Purple and White attack as they scored 12 and 10 points respectively.

O. U. Sooners Down Wildcats

Coach Bruce Drake rang in a new version of the Roundball Runts Saturday night as the Runts passed and dribbled to a 49-36 revenge victory over the Purple and White Wildcats. The loss dropped the Wildcats into fourth place while the Drake boys moved into undisputed first place.

Atkins and Payton Star

Dave Weatherby, a high scorer on the Wildcat quintet was held to one field goal and a free by Jack Landon, Oklahoma guard. Bill Schultz, smooth working forward from Shattuck, Okla., was unable to muster a field goal all evening. This gives you an idea how cold the Aggies were. However, Dana Atkins and Jay Payton bagged in 8 points apiece to ring the Wildcat scoring honors.

Don Buelow, Oklahoma guard, showed a burst of power and speed as he drove for 5 field goals and 4 free throws through the Aggie defense to cop the top scoring honors of the evening. Harold "Scooter" Hines, midget Sooner ace, hit the hoop for 12 points and Jack Landon, center, contributed 11 points.

Sooners Lead at Half

The Wildcats got off to a poor start as the Sooners put on a rally that found them with a comfortable 12-3 lead before the Aggies made a drive that all but put the Runts into a belated lapse. The Purple and Whites rallied on long one-handers by Jay Payton and Dana Atkins, coupled with a free throw by Jack Kincheloe to reduce the Sooner lead to 2 points, making the score 12-10. After this lone threat of the evening by the Aggies the Sooner offense really started clicking as "Scooter" Hines cut loose for a set up beneath the basket and Don Buelow scored a long shot to set the pace the rest of the half; Jay Payton produced one of the thrills of the evening in the closing seconds of the first half when he took a dribble away from Hines and hurled a tremendous long that swished the net as the half time gun sounded. The Runts left the hardwood with a 27-16 margin over the Aggies.

Coach Fritz Knorr's inspired Aggies returned to form in the second half and showed greater speed and driving power than they did in the listless first half. They scored 20 points in the second half as the Sooners collected only 22.

SOCIETY

Maybe it was the spirit of St. Valentine's Day or maybe not, but whatever the spirit was it brought chocolates and roses to Kansas Staters.

Helen Hoover passed chocolates Saturday evening at the Kappa Kappa Gamma Valentine house party announcing her engagement to Tom Tuttle, Phi Delta Theta.

Alpha Xi, Muriel Becker told of her engagement to Lt. Kirby Hayes with chocolates Thursday night. Lieutenant Hayes attended Massachusetts State College where he was a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Betty Payne and Lt. Edward Brooke Harry Jr., were married January 31 at Trinity Episcopal Church in Columbia, S. C.

Bernice Bale '42 and Capt. Clyde Gibson were married Sunday in Clay Center. She was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Captain Gibson recently returned from Europe where he was a navigator-bomber in the Army Air Forces.

The Shanty received chocolates recently from Beth Stratton announcing her engagement to Lt. Richard L. Haggard f. s. Lieutenant Haggard just returned from serving overseas with the Army Air Forces.

Betty Jean Foster of Hutchinson is Alpha Delta Pi's newest pledge.

Chi Omega pledges entertained Friday night with a Valentine party for Chi O's and their dates.

Clovie had chocolates recently from Ruth Salley '41 telling of her engagement to Gaylord Johnson of Olsburg.

Second semester officers of Clark's Gables are Neva Fleenor, president; Alberta Collier, vice-president; Margaret Petrie, secretary; and Mary Long, social chairman.

Doris Brewer of Bowling Green, Ohio is Pi Beta Phi's most recent pledge.

Co-Ed Court entertained Friday night with a Valentine party for dates.

President of the Shanty for the second semester is Doris Christiansen. Other officers are: Dorothy Hecht, vice president; Erma Bird, secretary-treasurer; and Mickie Spurney, song leader.

Alpha Delta pledges are planning a Western house party for Alpha Deltas and dates Saturday night.

Pi Phis were guests of members of the C. R. T. C. at a tea dance at Fort Riley Sunday afternoon.

The newly elected officers of Arcadia are: Hope Watts, president; Betty Nordyke, vice president; Mary Ann Wilkerson, secretary; Helen Borck, treasurer; and Ida Terry, social chairman.

Rita Hollecker is the new president of Annex II. Norma Jean Mauk is vice president; Doris Jodon, secretary; Geraldine Hamm, treasurer; and Barbara Wagoner and Sue Sawyer, social chairmen.

Suzanne McGrath of Ottawa is Delta Delta Delta's newest pledge.

Eleanor Adamson is now wearing the diamond of Ensign John Buxton f. s. of the Naval Air Corps.

Heberer Plans Student Shows

Plans have been announced by Prof. Miles Heberer of the Department of Speech for a series of student radio shows to be presented over KSAC, College radio station.

The first of these weekly programs which are written and produced by student broadcasters is to be "Books and Authors." It will be presented at 1:45 each Tuesday by Zella Barber and Betty Russell. The "Campus Newsroom," written by Lucy Wells and produced by June Behney will be featured at 1:45 on Thursdays. A third show, as yet unnamed, will offer a dramatic presentation of information concerning K-State's new revised curriculum and comprehensive courses. This program will be heard at 5:15 each Thursday beginning March 1. The technical assistants for these shows will be Dee Preusch and Lucy Wells.

The casts of these and other student broadcasts are composed of students. Auditions are to be held Monday and Tuesday at 4 p. m. in N 303. Those who wish to audition are asked to bring an article of about 300 words to read.

Professor Heberer places emphasis on the necessity of male participation.

Rushing Rules Are Revised By Panhel

Beryl Wesche and Nancy Bramwell are in charge of the Committee to Revise Rush Rules, Eleanor Allison, president of Women's Panhellenic, announced Tuesday.

The booklet which is sent out to rushees during the summer will be planned by a committee headed by Betty Gail Parker which includes Betty Jean Yapp, Jeannette Putnam and Ruth Fenton.

The schedule for Rush Week will be in charge of Lucy Wells and Marn Johnson.

The regular Panhellenic meeting was postponed last Thursday and will be held at 5 p. m. today.

Veteran's Bride Joins Service

A former Kansas State student recently was a very busy woman when she enlisted in the Army Nursing Corps, welcomed her fiancé home from overseas, married him, honeymooned and reported for active duty, all within a period of a few short days. Miss Helen Kunkel, f. s. '41, not only did all of this but she had the distinction of being the first woman in the Kansas City area to join the Army Nursing Corps in 1945.

Miss Kunkel completed three years of home economics and nursing training at K-State in 1941 and entered nurses training at the Trinity Lutheran School of Nursing in Kansas City. During her last year of training, she was a member of the U. S. Cadet Nurses Corps. Upon completing her training, she was on the nursing staff of Trinity Lutheran Hospital. Her husband, Thomas O. Richardson, electrician's mate second class, was a student at the College in 1939 and 1940, majoring in general science.

Mr. Richardson arrived in Kansas City December 30, after serving two years in the Southwest Pacific. He reported for further duty at the end of January.

After a three-day honeymoon, Lieutenant Richardson left for Camp Carson, Colo., where she is receiving a month's training. Mrs. Richardson hopes to be assigned to overseas duty after she has had experience in some Army hospital in this country.

Like an eager dog on a leash, the train waits at the station—impatient to start its long transcontinental run. The carman swings his lantern from side to side above his head. There's a swish of air as the engineer sees the signal to "set 'em up." That's railroad language meaning "test air brakes"... one of the many Union Pacific safety operations.

Over its "strategic middle route," uniting the East with the Pacific Coast, Union Pacific transports thousands of service men and women.

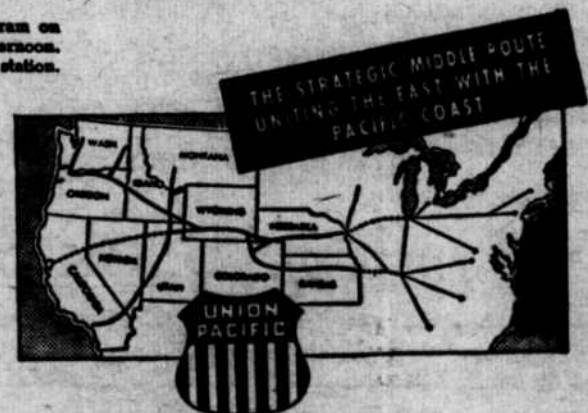

Carloads of materials and supplies are shipped, east and west, to home-front markets and ocean ports. It's a tremendous job but despite the problems of manpower and maintenance it is being accomplished with remarkable efficiency.

Marston Speaks To Students Tomorrow A. M.

Dr. Leslie Ray Marston, speaker of the 25th annual YM-YW Christian World Forum, will give the address at the student assembly tomorrow at 10 a. m. Art Rosenberg will introduce Dr. Marston, who will speak on "Rebels Against the Yoke." Other numbers on the program will include an organ prelude by Richard Jesson, Alma Mater, Scripture and prayer, Dean Tiemann, organ postlude. Lois Johnson will lead the singing.

Dr. Marston will also address the student mass meeting at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday at 6 p. m. His address will be entitled "Religion in the War." A hymn will open the program. The opening invocation will be followed by prayer. This meeting will be followed by a supper hour and informal discussion.

The committees for the YW-YM Christian World Forum are: executive chairmen, Art Rosenberg and Margie Rasure; panel committee, Jean Selby, chairman, Jean Kays, Charles Schwab, Dick Olson; general arrangements, Doris Galloway, chairman, George Wreath, Margaret Ramsdale, Roger Lachman, Georganna Bacon.

Program committee is made up of Dean Tiemann, chairman, Ruth Fenton, Phyllis Hickney, Elliot Babcock, Dorothy Alexander, Mary Louise Schneider; publicity committee, Libby Raymond, chairman, Nancy Bramwell, Thelma Rice, Frances Ewart, Ann Huddleston, Nancy Kilhan; finance committee, Merle Eyestone, chairman, Bernard Jacobson, Emmett Scott; cooperating agencies, the Christian Associations of the College and the Kansas State Religious Federation.

K-Staters 'Sound Off' For Team At Rally

There was nothing wrong with the pep that K-State students showed at the pep rally in the Auditorium, Friday afternoon.

The feature of the rally was President Eisenhower's announcement of the bill now before the State Legislature which may bring K-State the long hoped for field house. Also on the program were talks by Purple Peppers president, Pauline Flook and Wampus Cats, Dave Underwood. Another speaker was Coach Fritz Knorr whose story of a beaten Jayhawk brought cheers. A sample of basketball as it should not be played was shown by the tall and the short of K-State team, Joe Ridgway and Dave Weatherby. Yells were led by the cheer-leaders and the College band furnished the music.

Red Cross Drive Begins March 1

The Red Cross campaign for Kansas State will start March 1, M. C. Moggie, associate professor of education and chairman of the College campaign, announced today.

The drive will last for two weeks, beginning next Thursday and continuing until March 15. The quota for the College totals $3625, which is the same as last year's total. This includes the faculty and students as well as the employees of the College. Last year the students contributed $973 to the drive. A student chairman has not been chosen for the campaign.

Report Woods Killed In Action

Lt. Ernest E. "Larry" Woods, former Kansas State student, has been reported killed in action on January 31 while serving with the First Army in Belgium. His father announced his death Friday.

Lieutenant Woods attended Kansas State from 1941 to 1945. He was a student in the School of Arts and Sciences and member of the social fraternity, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. His wife, the former Anne Weeks, is with her parents at Fort Scott.

Professor J. A. Shellenberger of the milling department will talk on "The Pioneer Section" at a meeting of the American Association of Cereal Chemists in Wichita Saturday.

Date For Play March 2, 3

Earl G. Hoover, director, is giving final instructions to the cast of "Incognito," 3-act melodrama to be presented by the Kansas State Players March 2 and 3 in the College Auditorium.

"Who is Charles Locke?" is the question of the play. The American pleasure steamer S. S. Imperial is in South American waters. On board is Erich Jagendorf, a British spy who has eluded the Germans for months. Jagendorf radios a Nazi submarine and just as he is about to divulge the spy's identity to the U-Boat, he is murdered. The submarine commander, Herr Von Stumm, boards the vessel not only to find out who killed Jagendorf but also to find Charles Locke.

No one on board is named Charles Locke. Von Stumm, certain that Locke is a woman, narrows the suspects down to a group of women. They are Helen Clark and Seedy Sloan, two apparently silly girls from the Main Line; Mrs. Shulman, a non-Aryan refugee from Germany; Trudy Blitt, a typist from Brooklyn; Miss Hildick, a bespectacled school-teacher; Mrs. Bascomb, an attractive snob; Chic Johnson, afflicted with severe seasickness; and Gertrude Shields, a high-strung girl en route for Rio de Janeiro. With the U-Boat commander on board, there is danger in every scene.

All seats are to be reserved. The box office will open for ticket sales tomorrow, and will be open daily from 3 to 8 p. m. except Sunday. Students may reserve seats by presenting activity books at the box office. Downtown ticket sales will start tomorrow at Brown's Music Store, 429 Poyntz Ave. Mail orders may be sent now in care of Box 103, College Postoffice, Manhattan, Kan.

Sgt. Jim Miller Reported Missing

T/Sgt. Jim W. Miller, former editor of The Collegian, is missing in action in Germany since Feb. 6, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Miller, 1821 Poyntz, were notified Tuesday night by the War Department.

In his last letter written February 5 from Germany he told his parents he had had some time to think of home and take relaxation. He also told of a recent meeting over there with another K-Stater.

Miller was editor of the Collegian the summer of 1943, just prior to his graduation. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity and Scabbard and Blade.

He was sent to England in October, 1944 and went into combat Dec. 1. While on duty in England he visited Lt. Don Richards, also a former Collegian editor, who was in a hospital there.

Quill Club To Accept Manuscripts For Membership

Manuscripts for membership to Quill Club will be accepted until March 10, according to Miss Ada Rice, faculty sponsor. All students interested in creative writing are urged to turn in original work. The contributions will be judged by a committee composed of faculty and student members.

Applicants may submit poetry, essays, short stories, sketches, radio scripts, 1-act plays or creative writing of any sort. Prose work must have not less than 800 words, and two or more poems must be presented for the poetry division.

Three copies of the manuscript must be typed and double-spaced. They should be mailed or given to Miss Rice at A227.

Shakespeare Dinner

"Shakespeare in Scotland" is the theme of the program for the annual Shakespeare dinner which will be held April 9 in Thompson Hall from 5:30 to 8 p. m. Everyone who is interested in Shakespeare is invited to attend. Reservations can be made now with the Shakespeare dinner committee at the College post office.

Eisenhower Speaks On Quiz Kids Show

President Milton S. Eisenhower was guest speaker on the Quiz Kids show broadcast from Topeka Sunday night over the Blue network.

An audience of 3,100 Topekan who contributed to the Shawnee County War Memorial Fund witnessed the regular quiz show featuring the five young prodigies in a battle of wits.

In his brief speech President Eisenhower paid tribute to the famed youngsters and thanked them for making the trip to Kansas for the broadcast. He congratulated the citizens of Shawnee County who started the fund to provide living memorials to soldiers of this war. "I hope the group will return someday to receive the thanks of the veterans for whom the program was given," he continued.

Joe Kelley, master of ceremonies, quizzed the five youngsters; Pat Colan, 7, Joel Kupperman, 8, Ruthie Duskin, 10, Harvey Fischman, 14, and Richard Williams, 15.

President Eisenhower and his 14-year-old son, Buddy, dined with the children and their mothers Sunday noon in Topeka. Buddy spent the afternoon with Richard and Harvey. The President said the fact that the youngsters lead such normal well-balanced lives most impressed him in his talks with them and with their parents.

5 Schools Attend Debate Meet Here

Five teams will be entered in the High School Debate Tournament being held on the campus tomorrow and Saturday. The high schools represented will be Abilene, Horton, Russell, Stafford and Washington Rural High School of Bethel. Last year Russell won the district tournament at Ellsworth without loss of a single entry. Washington Rural High School won a seven team tournament with eleven wins and one loss.

First and second place trophies will be presented to the winners of the tournament by the Kansas State High School Activities Association. E. A. Thomas, commissioner of the organization, will make the presentations.

The debates, unless otherwise announced, will be held in Education Hall, with headquarters at the speech office G 205.

Each school has two teams participating in a "round robin" debate on the question: "That legal voting age in the United States should be reduced to eighteen years." The two people on each team will debate with each of the five other teams. Constructive speeches will be ten minutes and rebuttal speeches five. There will be an hour of debating time for each debate presented.

Members of the faculty, business and professional people and upper-class college debate students will act as judges. The public is invited to all debates.

KSC Appropriation Awaits Senate's OK

At a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the State Senate, Friday, a bill containing the appropriation for the long awaited field house and gymnasium at Kansas State College was approved.

The measure appropriated $2,657,000 in the next biennium for ten buildings at the five state colleges and Bell Memorial Hospital at Kansas City. Of the approved amount, Kansas State will receive $825,000, with $750,000 being used in the construction of the field house and men's gymnasium. The remaining $75,000 will be added to an existing appropriation of $50,000 to be used in the construction of a small animal research laboratory, having a total cost of $125,000.

Other institutions receiving appropriations as designated in the measure are: University of Kansas, $450,000; Bell Memorial Hospital, $350,000; Emporia Teachers College, $400,000; Pittsburg Teachers College, $300,000; and Hays Teachers College, $350,000. The bill will come before the Senate for approval this week.

Journalists See Film

"Good Neighbors" a sound movie on the role of newspapers, will be shown in journalism lecture at 4 p. m. in Willard 115.

KS Fans Fail To Hear Referee's Fatal Whistle

Kansas State and Kansas University athletes are weeping on one another's shoulders for both now know the pangs of losing a crucial sport contest in the final 20 seconds of play because an official's whistle nullified an apparent game-winning score.

Friday night Kansas State dropped an all-important Big Six conference basketball game to K. U. in the final 20 seconds when a field goal by Dick Spencer, Wildcat guard, was nullified by the officials. Dana Atkins, forward, who passed the ball to Spencer for the last-seconds shot, had double-dribbled before tossing to

9 Groups Enter 21st Y-Orpheum

Scripts of nine organizations entering the 21st annual Y-Orpheum March 17 have been approved by Prof. Earl G. Hoover of the speech department and Embert Coles, Y-Orpheum chairman.

A girls' trio of Pat Fairman, Joyce Crippen and Ruth Fenton will present numbers between several of the acts. However, "we still need one or two single acts," said Coles.

According to Coles, the show will probably be divided into two sections, those acts of a comical nature in one part and those of a more serious air in the second part.

The nine organizations now entering the competitive acts are Amicos-sembly, Collegiate 4-H Club, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Clovia, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi sororities.

"A superb script was handed in by each of these organizations so the 1945 Y-Orpheum should be a good show of campus talent," Coles added.

SGA Stamp Drive Begins Wednesday

The SGA Stamp Drive will begin action next Wednesday, February 28, according to Phyllis Johansen, War Stamp chairman. Notices have been sent by Margaret McNamee, corresponding secretary of the SGA, to all organized houses, informing them that their representatives must be elected before February 28. On that date they will meet with Phyllis Johansen in Recreation Center from 4 to 5 p. m.

Ninety percent of the students must buy war stamps in order that the College may earn the right to fly the Treasury Minute Man Flag. To reach this goal students are urged to pledge to buy a certain amount of war stamps each week. The representative of each house will collect the money for the number of stamps pledged to buy and exchange it for war stamps. Phyllis Johansen will be in charge of this exchange each Wednesday in Recreation Center from 4 to 5 p. m.

All college campuses are conducting a campaign similar to Kansas State's. It is the SGA's aim that the Minute Man Flag will wave continuously over our campus. War stamps will continue to be on sale at the booth in Anderson Hall on Wednesday of each week.

National Secretary For YWCA Here

"Kansas State College has a very alert group of students and it is one of the few campuses where the students are interested in education itself," was the comment made by Eleanor French, executive secretary of student division of YWCA. She is from the national office of YWCA which is located in New York City.

"The Time's Demand" was the title of Miss French's talk Tuesday afternoon before the YWCA members and students. "I am very much impressed and interested in the program the YWCA is carrying on here," said the national secretary.

Miss French met with the religious council on Monday afternoon and had dinner with the advisory board Monday evening. She met with the faculty group and ministers on Tuesday and had many student conferences.

Miss French left Tuesday evening for Colorado and the west coast where she will visit some of the other 600 units which make up the student YWCA throughout the country.

Gambling is probably the greatest national vice in China.

Spencer, Official Eddie Hogue ruled, and instead of the Wildcats snaring a 33 to 32 victory, Kansas University captured the win and stayed in the battle for the conference championship.

It was only last November that a similar incident happened in the annual K. State-K. U. gridiron battle. At that time, Kansas State took a thrilling 18 to 14 football game from the Jayhawks when a clipping penalty by a K. U. lineman cancelled Halfback Charley Moffett's 80-yard run to what might have been the winning Kansas touchdown. Then, as in Friday night's cage thriller in Manhattan, only 20 seconds remained before the final gun.

The Kansas State basketball loss was a genuine heartache to nearly 3,000 Kansas State rooters who were behind their team to the man, and emotions flared when Wildcat hopes for a Big Six championship went flickering with the official's goal-nullifying whistle.

After the game, several fans rushed onto the court, crowded around the officials, John Lance and Eddie Hogue, and loudly protested the contest's decisions. No blows were struck, the incident "cooled off" quickly and friendly K. U. and Kansas State players later mingled at a Wildcat varsity dance in Aggieville.

The entire affair might have been avoided, it was pointed out, if Kansas State had an adequate place in which to play its basketball games. In Nichols gymnasium, space is limited so that spectators sit just off the playing area and the cheers of the crowd frequently "drown out" the sound of the officials' whistles. Friday night's fans, unaware that Referee Hogue had sounded his whistle when Atkins double-dribbled, didn't understand why Spencer's goal was struck from the scoreboard. Consequently, the post-game incident.

M. H. Coe Resigns As 4-H Club Leader

M. H. Coe, state 4-H club leader since 1926, has resigned from the staff of the College, effective January 31. For the past year, Coe has been on leave from the College serving as director of the farm division of the National Safety Council, Chicago. He will continue in that position.

In commenting upon the work of Coe as state club leader, Dean H. Umberger, of the Extension Service, says, "During the time Coe was state leader, the number of 4-H clubs increased from 436 to 937 and the membership from 4,360 to 17,157. Club work is a means in which adult people who have enthusiasm in their daily routine have an opportunity to express that enthusiasm through leadership."

Coe came to Kansas State from Minnesota where he was a 4-H club agent and became animal husbandry specialist in the state club department in 1922. July 1, 1925, he became acting state club leader and a year later, became state club leader. At the time of his resignation, he had been associated with 4-H club work in Kansas for nearly 23 years.

M. C. Moggie Speaks

"The Reasons for Changes in the Curriculum" was the subject of Maurice C. Moggie, associate professor of education, when he spoke to members of Amistad, independent women's organization Wednesday night.

This was the first in a series of talks presenting the history and future plans of the College.

A questionnaire to discover what students actually know about Kansas State initiated the "Know Your College" program.

There are almost as many Norwegians in United States as there are in Norway.

Too Few People Rule All College Activities

To how many organizations do you belong? One—two—five—ten? Of this number how many actually contribute something to your college life—perhaps two—or three? How many are mere liabilities—taking time, energy and money which could be concentrated on fewer, more effective societies? Do you find that you'll have to drop school in order to go to meetings?

Look at the presidents of organizations—you'll find that there are quite a few duplications—the few ruling the many. These few started on some small task many years ago and since then people have been throwing jobs their way. This method of having a few people in all the activities limits leadership training to only a small percentage of the student body.

It seems that the Student Council has a committee working on a point system for activities. The idea they have in mind is that each activity will equal a number of points—and each student will be limited to a certain number of points each year. This, they believe, will foster leadership training among more students.

A plan similar to this is used on many college campuses.

So when the plan is completed by the student council—and later approved by the faculty council—give it support. All you need to do is remember what you have on your calendar for this week—and we'd guess that there's a meeting scheduled for tonight—tomorrow night, and every other day at five!

The Cat's M-E-O-W

The Pi Phis have finished their Hell Week and can speak to the men on the campus now. (But why don't they?)

The bets on the basketball game Friday night must have been high. We heard someone lost his shirt.

Overheard in the Canteen—"Why won't anyone speak to me anymore?" Sig Alpha Sorenson; "Just call me Flash," AGR Harold; "Aw, come on fellas, please pledge," TKE Schwab.

Can't seem to keep Hal Hogue's name out of this column, but why did the KKG's upon arising Sunday morning, find H. H.'s car parked in their front driveway?

Then there's the Sigma Nus who are now holding nightly meetings at Slim's so as to get acquainted with the new pledges.

And incidentally—for those who are wondering (and who is?) why the sad-sack expression on Arma Jo Smith's face? She was stuck with a pin. The cad? Bill Schultz!

We wouldn't say that there were a lot of Kappas at the Phi Delt House party Saturday night, but a Lieutenant from Fort Riley was sort of embarrassed when he discovered after waiting two hours in the living room for his date that he was in the wrong house.

The Alpha Delta Pi's threw a western style party Saturday night. We wouldn't say that they had a hard time getting dates, but we thought they were going too far when they hired a plane to fly over Fort Riley and drop invitations. P. S. They were just recruiting horses from the CRTC to lend an atmosphere to their party.

It is rumored that Hal (if I could just get my hands on that ref) Hogue has sent in for Charles Atlas free 90 day trial offer of Dynamic Tension. It seems that muscles may be a bit more persuasive than words.

and "Bobby" Sox pin up boy. He can be seen running around the Phi Delt any time of the night with his saddle shoes and plaid suit.

Incidentally it is rumored that Dick (NBC could use an announcer like me) Olson has been running errands for Dean Helen Moore lately in a vain attempt to obtain a list of all the girls on the campus.

The Tri Delt's passed so many chocolates the first semester that Sig Alpha Leonard Greathouse and E. B. Myers seem to be their last hope for chocolates this semester. We don't like to say anything but we heard that they were amusing themselves with bows and arrows.

Fud (I know there was someone in my bed last Saturday night) Lyons has a date with the local psychiatrist next Tuesday. Ed. Note—We don't think the date he had with Pi Phi June Sorenson had anything to do with the stupor he was in or did it?

The Pi Phis were accused of being wet blankets by their pledges last Thursday night, but it is the general impression that it was the other houses that were all wet. (We don't mean the Kappas either.) P. S. Kansas is supposed to be a dry state, too.

We nominate Lewis (Arthur Murray taught me dancing in a hurry) Runnels as the top hep cat of the campus. He seemed to have a new spring in his step Friday night and it kept getting one hair out of place.

P. S. We don't think he has naturally curly hair anyway.

Church News

A union program and meeting of all churches will be held at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the Presbyterian Church.

The Saturday Niteers will not have their roller skating party this Saturday. The leaders, Ruth Ann Loomis, Carol Shields and Peggy Markham, have made other entertainment plans for the group that evening.

A corporate communion will be Sunday at 8 a. m. at the Episcopal Church. Breakfast will follow immediately.

Ilene Kennedy, chairman of the missionary committee, will lead the BYF service Sunday evening at the Baptist Church.

Current news flashes and a chapter from Kerby Page's book "Living Creatively" are being reviewed by Sigma Eta Chi girls at their meetings.

Newman Club was represented at the Kansas State Sodality Union College Parley held in Atchison Sunday by Peggy Phelan, president of the Catholic organization, Patty Payer, secretary, Fred Parris, instructor in the journalism department, Marion Buckley, research assistant in milling industry, and the Reverend Ronald Schott, religious advisor of the group.

"The Family—Forever and Always" was the subject of the discussion. The next K. S. S. U. meeting will be May 5 at Kansas City, Mo.

Pre-Meds . . .

All Pre-Med students are asked to make application for medical aptitude tests in Dean Babcock's office as soon as possible. This test is required of all Pre-Med students before entering medical school.

History Prof's Son Perfects New Sponge

A surgical sponge, soluble in body fluids, has been perfected by John T. Correll, son of C. M. Correll, professor of history and government, within the past year. A former K-State student, Dr. Correll is a research chemist for the Upjohn Chemical and Pharmaceutical Company at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Previously the removal of sponges in surgery often caused hemorrhage. The perfected sponge is not soluble in water, but can be absorbed by the body. A surgeon can, therefore, sew it inside the patient's body.

Dr. Correll was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and worked in the chemical laboratory during his school years. He received his B. S. degree in Industrial Chemistry in 1932, his M. S. degree in 1933, and received his Ph. D. from the University of Iowa in 1936. Dr. Correll's wife, the former Frances Jack, was also a graduate of K-State, and received her B. S. degree in Music.

Patent rights for the sponge are vested in the company, and it has been given the name, Absorbable Sponge (Upjohn). Although it is still in the clinical and experimental stages, it is receiving cross-country usage.

Hospital Receives New Equipment

A new adjustable operating table for the College Hospital has been purchased recently by the Student Health Department. The new table is suitable for any minor surgery.

Dr. R. R. Snook also reports that a new ultra-violet machine and a new short wave diathermy have been ordered. These will greatly increase the efficiency of the physiotherapy division which is one of the most important in the department.

The new equipment has been purchased with money left over from local donations.

Fund For Internees

Congregational students at Kansas State are being asked to observe Lent this year by participating in a special nationwide drive. Funds will be used so that refugee Christian students interned in Switzerland may return to school.

The drive here was opened this week when a student committee under the chairmanship of Julia Munger sent out a letter to Congregational students.

Switzerland has become the refuge for thousands of European students. To maintain neutrality the Swiss have been forced to intern them, however. If sufficient funds can be raised through this drive to furnish food and maintenance for the students they will be allowed to enter Swiss schools.

Elect Stoltenberg

Eunice Stoltenberg was elected president of the Medical Technician's club at a meeting in Anderson Thursday night. Last year she served as vice-president of the group. She succeeds Marjorie McIner as president.

Joan Stoecker was elected vice-president; Pat McCrary, secretary; Charlotte Dorf, treasurer; and Helen Lawson, program chairman.

C. A. Dorf, chemistry instructor, is faculty sponsor for the club which was organized last year.

James Michael Green received his wings as aerial navigator February 10 in a ceremony at the San Marcos Army Air Field at San Marcos, Texas. As a graduate of the navigation school he received a second lieutenant's commission. Lieutenant Green graduated in 1943 from Kansas State College with a degree in Architectural Engineering.

Now serving with the Army Air Forces in India is Lt. Henry Wm. Wichers, f. s. Lieutenant Wichers is a photo interpreter with the Eighth Photo Reconnaissance Group.

A letter from Sgt. John W. Friedline, Ch. E. '40, says he is now in school at the Base Weather Station at Maxwell Field, Ala.

Marjorie Sanders, stationed at the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, N. H., as an instructor in the use of X-ray, has been promoted to the rank of full lieutenant in the WAVES. Lieutenant Sanders graduated from Kansas State in 1930 and later was technician in the office of the late Dr. L. E. McFarlane in Manhattan.

Capt. De Vere Kay, industrial journalism graduate in 1936, was recently released from the army and is now employed as director of the Civil Service in Topeka.

The Silver Star was awarded to Capt. Richard S. Haggman for "gallantry in action" while serving with the 95th Infantry Division in Germany. Captain Haggman graduated in 1936 in industrial journalism. He is now hospitalized somewhere in France.

Lt. Robert Arthur Anderson is reported missing in action in Germany since December 21. He was in an anti-tank company with an infantry division. Lieutenant Anderson graduated from Kansas State College last January and was president of Alpha Kappa Lambda fraternity during his junior and senior years. Commissioned at Fort Benning, Ga., on July 11, he was assigned to Camp Atterbury, Ind., and arrived in England early in November.

Home on furlough last weekend was Sgt. Herbert Vanderlip, former student in milling, and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity. Sergeant Vanderlip has been in the army since January, 1942, and is now with an armored field artillery battalion at Camp Bowie, Texas.

After several months in the South Pacific, M T Sgt. Finley Acker of the U. S. Marine Corps returned to the United States and is now taking officers training at Quantico, Va.

Cpt. Sidney Platt, veteran of 60 combat missions with the Ninth Air Force in Europe now holds not only the Air Medal and ten Oak Leaf Clusters, but a recently awarded Distinguished Flying Cross, the highest air corps award. Captain Platt, Arch. '39, was awarded the DFC on the basis of leadership displayed on three missions during which severe enemy action was encountered, including both ground action and enemy fighters. He served overseas approximately a year, flying a P38 fighter plane. He is credited with one Nazi fighter definitely shot down and two probabilities.

Letters addressed A. P. O. San Francisco, eventually reach Lt. John R. McClung in New Guinea, where he is in charge of a signal corps unit.

Engineering Heads Inspect Boeing Plant

A survey has just been completed by representatives of the K-State School of Engineering of various equipment in the Boeing Plant No. 2 in Wichita. The committee, composed of W. W. Carlson, head of the department of shop practice; R. G. Kloeffer, head of the department of electrical engineering; and Professor B. B. Brainard of the department of mechanical engineering checked the equipment which may be made available to colleges after the war.

The plant, which recently turned out its thousandth B-29, contains a great variety of general and specialized equipment which could be used in shops and engineering departments for both instruction and research.

As the plant is owned by the Defense Plant Corporation and operated by Boeing it is believed that after the war the government will release much of the plant's furnishings for use in various colleges throughout this area.

Kansas U Ekes Out 33-31 Victory Over Wildcats

Kansas State Wildcats lost sight of their fading hopes for the Big Six basketball championship as they bowed out to the Jayhawkers from Kansas U. 33-31 in a basketball drama that nearly ended in a riot.

In the closing seconds of the game, with K. U. leading 32-31 Dick Spencer, Wildcat guard, took a pass from Atkins and sank a one-handed push shot from the side to put the K-Staters ahead 33-32. It was then the crowd went mad; they rose as a body and rocked Nichols Gym with cheers that drowned out Referee Ed Hogue's whistle. Hogue claimed that Atkins had double-dribbled before passing the ball to Spencer. This ended the Wildcats' hope and with only seconds remaining they tried vainly to break up the Jayhawk stall.

Jayhawks Lead At Half

K-State scored first on a free toss by Dana Atkins, but the Jayhawks tied the score in a free toss by Gordy Reynolds and then jumped to an early 7-1 lead. The clock had ticked away 8 minutes before the unpredictable Wildcats scored a field goal, Dave Weatherby getting loose for a set-up under the basket. Dave came right back for a push shot and a free toss to cut the Jayhawkers' lead to one point. Owen Peck, Kansas U. center, showed a burst of speed and dribbled right through the Wildcats for a set-up to make the score 9-6. Dick Spencer got loose then for a one hand push to close the gap to a 9-8 lead. The lead-continued like this in see-saw fashion until a few seconds before the half when Peck made a rebound good and Moffett and Reynolds added free throws to give the boys from Mount Oread a 19-14 advantage at the half.

Wildcats Tie Up Game

The Wildcats tied up the game as 22 all 4 minutes after the start of the second stanza with a drive sparked by Jay Payton. Jay hit the hoop for 2 field goals, coupled with a free toss and push shot by Jack Kincheloe and a free throw by Ralph Stuesser.

Kansas U. scored 3 points in the meantime on Heim's free toss and Peck's set-up. The Allen tutored boys continued to lead the Knorr Kids for the rest of the game. The Jayhawkers leading 32-26, attempted to stall the remaining 4 minutes of the game, however Joe Ridgway, Jay Payton, and Dick Spencer nearly upset their strategy as they poured 6 points through the hoop to make the score 32-31. In K-State's attempt to gain possession of the ball, Peck was fouled and added a free toss as the final gun sounded with the Jayhawkers eking out a 33-31 victory over the K-Staters.

Herington Tops Wildcats 69-64

Herington Air Base, paced by guard Flores, nipped the Knorr Kids Saturday night 69-64, to square the accounts with the Wildcats for the season.

Joe Ridgway and Dana Atkins were hitting the first half and kept the K-Staters in the punning. Jack Kincheloe was in form the second half and he scored most of his points in the second stanza. Ridgway tallied 12 points, Dana Atkins scored 10, and Dick Spencer poured 4 field goals through the hoop.

Intramurals...

The men's intramural table tennis singles were played up to the finals last time, and the finals will be played next Thursday evening at 7:30. Wallace Lee Anthony and Rosencro Cordero, juniors in Veterinary Medicine will play the final game. Doubles will also be played at this game.

The men's intramural volleyball schedule has been made for 1945. Eight organizations are participating: The teams listed are Delta Tau Delta, Jr. A. V. M. A., Tau Kappa Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Alpha Gamma Rho, W. F. A. C., Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma. The first games will begin Tuesday. At 7:30 the Jr. A. V. M. A. will play the Delta Tau Deltas and the AGR's will play the W. F. A. C. At 8:15 the TKE's will compete with the Phi Deltas and the SAE's will play the Kappa Sigs. Six men constitute a team. A match consists of winning two out of three games. The scorer of each team should keep the scores on official cards to be secured in the intramural office, N107.

SOCIETY

Elections and initiations seem to be in season at the present writing of the column.

Marilyn Mulvihill, Delta Delta Delta, passed chocolates Sunday announcing her engagement to Marvin Shrout, S 1/c of Anderson, Ill., now stationed at San Diego, Calif.

Chi Omega initiated the following members Saturday and Sunday: Patricia Beck, Marjorie Caldwell, Mona Evans, Phyllis Evans, Patricia Fairman, Jean Hanley, Joan Dykeman, Ivy Hue Dickson, Virginia Lee Epp, Millie Heter, Betty Hogan, Genie Martin, Peggy Osterhout, Roberta Reinhardt, Pat Roth, Shirley Warner, Rebecca Tice, Viola Unruh, and Maxine Ylander.

Keim's Kabana received roses recently announcing the marriage of Betty Larson, f. s. to Harold Johnson, '43. Mr. Johnson is now the county agent for Clay county.

Kappa Sigma initiated the following members Sunday: Jack Kincheloe, Don Ransom, Cole Smith, Ralph Schreiber, Dick Stockman, and Raymond Steinbacher.

Phi Deltas and Sig Alphas entertained Saturday night with a "Come As You Are" houseparty from 9 to 12 at 508 Sunset.

Marjorie McCollom, '44, sent chocolates to Clovia Friday announcing her engagement to S/Sgt. E. J. Rose.

New Initiates of Alpha Gamma Rho are: James Burr, Werner Weiseth, Ben Hebert, Clarence Hardin, Teddy Ratcliff, Harold Carroll, Robert King, Robert Brown, and Harold Kinnard.

Van Zile Hall's new officers for the second semester are: Annie Gardner, president; Marian Ober, vice-president; Dorothy Straubinger, secretary-treasurer; Jody Hahn, reporter; Charlotte Lambert, songleader; and Nadine Lowrey and Doris Fieser, intramural co-chairmen.

Clovia had an hour dance with the Alpha Gamma Rhos as guests Thursday night from 7 to 8 p. m.

Ralph Alter is the new president of Kappa Sigma. Other officers elected were: John Fenyk, vice-president; Clayton Knappenberger, master of ceremonies; Dale Crawford, secretary; and Don Ransom, treasurer.

Keim's Kabana recently elected the following new officers: Merline Nutter, president; Mary Ann Schaeffer, vice president; Norma Gere, secretary; Georganne Fowler, treasurer; Ruth Maehtlen, songleader; Delores Wright, reporter; and Marie Rock, sports chairman.

Pauline Bunting is the new president of Chatterbox and Dorothy McGeorge is the new secretary.

Moore th' Merrier new officers for the second semester are Alta Mae McClaren, president, Dorothy Lowman, vice president.

Phyllis Taylor is the new president of Maison-elle. Iris Baker is vice-president; and Marjorie Bunge is secretary-treasurer.

Mary Margaret Bishop and Lt. James M. Green were married January 13 at the Church of St. Joseph in Harvard, Neb. Both bride and groom are graduates of Kansas State. Lieutenant Green was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

La Fiel received chocolates from Frances McFadden at a Valentine Dinner last Wednesday as she placed

Delta Delta Delta's newest pledge is Pat Murphy of Dodge City.

Charlene Louthan, Alpha Xi, was married Tuesday to Lt. (jg) Joe Schmidt, f. s. '43 of the Naval Air Corps.

Jo Ann Harjung is wearing the engagement ring of First Lt. Ray N. Edwards. Lieutenant Edwards was a sophomore on the campus when he enlisted in the Army Air Corps two years ago. Jo Ann will graduate in May.

Kansas Publication Features Van Zile

Van Zile Hall will be featured in the April 7th issue of the Kansas Farmer. Miss Florence McKinney, women's editor of the publication, visited the residence hall last week and discussed the plan with Dean Helen Moore and Director Dorothy Hamer.

A preliminary contest is being held in which twelve Van Zile girls are submitting stories. The best one will be chosen by Miss McKinney and published. Prizes shall be awarded for the two outstanding papers.

Eight pictures portraying various phases of life at Van Zile Hall were taken by Mr. Hanna Monday afternoon. The girls living at this hall will receive complimentary copies of this issue.

Students Present Third Recital

The third in the series of student recitals presented by the department of Music was given Tuesday in the College Auditorium.

The program included the following piano solos: Valse, Op. 34, No. 2, played by Maxine Elling; Polonaise in E Minor, Nancy Patterson; Intermezzo, Op. 76 No. 7, Mary Beth Jones; Polonaise in E Minor, Darlene Conrad; Second Ballade, Op. 38, Corrine Holm.

Vocal solos were: On Wings of Music and The Maiden's Wish, Norene Francis; Florian's Song and Snow Flakes, Inez Strutt; and Morning, Christine Budden.

Three violin solos were given. They were The Son of Puzsa, Eulalia Rallaback; Liebestreud, Nannette Martin; and Scottish Lullaby, Margery Dunne.

In 1942 more than 24,000 garments were completed by Kansas 4-H Club girls. That's a lot of stitching, girls.

Articles for Scientific Journals

Two articles based on research done in the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition appeared in January issues of scientific journals. "The Thiamin and Riboflavin Content of the Grain and Flour of Certain Varieties of Kansas-grown Wheat," by Doris Whitney, Helen Herren, and Beulah D. Westerman appeared in Cereal Chemistry.

The January issue of The Journal of Nutrition included an article by Dr. Beulah D. Westerman and E. H. Bayfield entitled, "Enriched Morris Type and Whole Wheat Flour as Sources of the B-Complex Vitamins."

Campus Red Cross Drive Opens Monday

The Red Cross campus drive for Kansas State College will open Monday and continue through Saturday. Prix, junior women's honorary organization, is sponsoring the campus drive under the direction of Jean Kays, president.

Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt and Prof. A. L. Pugsley are the faculty advisors for the student committees. The following Prix members are serving on committees: publicity committee, Dorothy Cochran, chairman, and Virginia Stoeker; booth committee, Rachel Gossard, chairman, Eunice Stoltenberg, Jean Selby, and Jean Kays; committee in charge of solicitation, Hope Watts, chairman, Mary Louise Markley, Ella Mae Stinson and Alberta Stuewe.

Students were asked to contribute as individuals, but organizations were urged by the drive chairmen to contribute from group funds. Red Cross individual membership cards and stickers will be sent to students who contribute $1 or more.

Miss Adlyne Moeller, who just returned from work with the Red Cross in India, told of her experiences in foreign service at the meeting of all organization presidents yesterday. Miss Hope Watts, junior in home economics, gave instructions to the presidents, who will solicit students through their organizations. Materials and instructions for the Red Cross drive will be mailed to the presidents by the end of this week. Ella Mae Stinson, junior in business administration, explained how the contributions could be turned in.

There will be a booth in Anderson Hall where students may contribute. Various campus organizations have been asked to help with the booth.

After the presidents have completed the canvass of organizations, they may turn in their money and receipts to Mrs. Schmitt in Anderson Hall, room 118B. All groups were urged to complete drives as early in the week as possible.

First YW-YM Forum Monday Afternoon

Leslie O'Rear, organizer of the United Packing House Workers and member of the CIO, will speak on "Organized Labor's Postwar Plans" at the first of a series of YW-YM forums in Recreation Center Monday from 4 to 5 p. m.

Dr. Mabel Smythe, Negro member of the economics department of Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Mo., will speak at the second forum Monday, March 12. Dr. Smythe's subject will be "Woman's Place in Industry." This meeting also will be held in Recreation Center at 4 p. m.

At the March 19 forum the subject will concern the place of returning service men. The speaker will be announced later.

A student-faculty panel will be held March 26. The employment situation will be the topic.

Dick Olson and Miriam Grizzell are the leaders in charge of forum arrangements. Other members of the committee are Dorothy Cochran, Joy Talbot, Shirley Gillan, Phyllis Hickney, Dorothy Ruckel, Wilma Vance, and Ethel Wilson.

K-State Receives Citizenship Fund

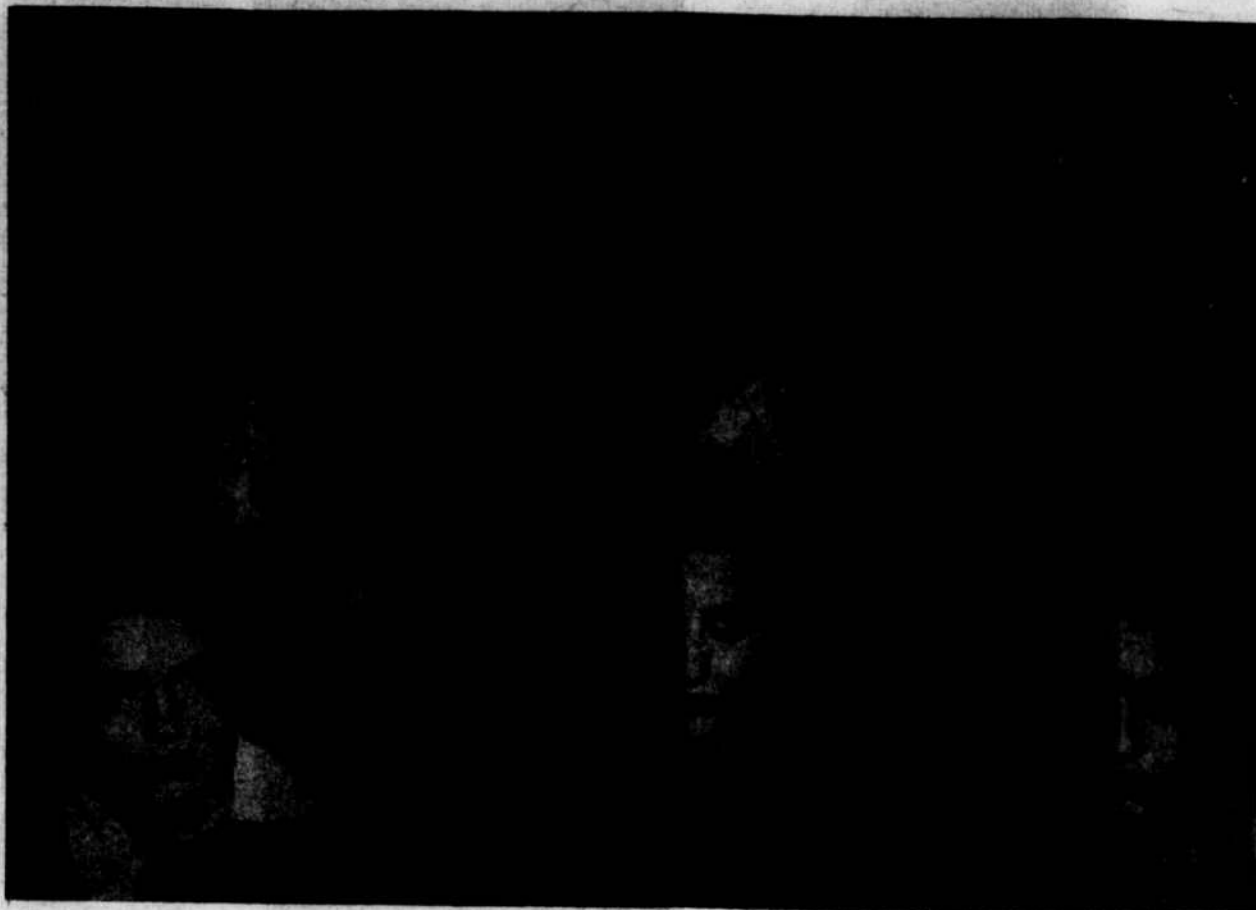

The William Volker Charities Fund has selected Kansas State College as one of the educational laboratories to teach better citizenship to Americans and to create a more active interest in preserving democracy.

Harold W. Luhnnow, one of the three trustees for the William Volker Charities Fund, states that the principal goal of this fund is to train teachers to teach citizenship more effectively and appealingly. To obtain this goal, the Volker fund has endowed Kansas State with $45,000 a year for five years.

Mr. Luhnnow stated frankly that the purpose of the Volker fund in giving money for the teaching of what he considers "citizenship for democracy" is not to aid colleges. It is to train more conscientious American citizens with a higher sense of duty to democracy.

The Volker fund is pledging $800,000 to further this end.

"Incognito" Cast

Field House Bill To Governor

The bill containing the appropriation for the Kansas State field house and gymnasium has been passed by the State Senate and House of Representatives and now awaits the Governor's signature.

Kansas State will receive $825,000 for the field house, gymnasium and a small animal research laboratory. The field house and gymnasium will cost $750,000 and $75,000 will be added to a former appropriation to construct the $125,000 small animal research laboratory.

Modern in all respects, the plans for the four story cut-stone field house and men's gymnasium contain a basketball court and seating space for K-State fans. In the wing housing the men's gym, a swimming pool 42 by 75 feet, fencing area, space containing equipment, and offices are included.

Dr. J. E. Ackert, Dean of Graduate Study, describes the planned small animal research laboratory as one of the finest in the country. This building to be located near the veterinary hospital will be three stories of cut stone. Built for the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, research in five fields will be carried on in this building under the direction of Dean L. E. Call, director of the experiment station.

Artist Series Presents Soprano

Marie Wilkins, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association, will appear March 15 at the College Auditorium as the second presentation of the Artist Series.

Petite coloratura soprano, Mrs. Wilkins was asked to substitute for Lily Pons in "Lakme" in November, 1942. The result was a sensational success, and an immediate contract with the Metropolitan. Besides her opera appearances, Mrs. Wilkins has been extensively heard in concert and recital.

Mrs. Wilkins' husband is Prof. Joseph F. Wilkins, head of the Department of Voice at the University of Kansas. Mrs. Wilkins grew up in Ithaca, N. Y., and has studied in Paris with Mme. Malnory-Marseillac, and in Italy with Maestro Cataldi.

Mail orders, beginning March 1, may be sent to Miss Emma Hyde of the mathematics department. Adult tickets are $1.75 and $2.50, and student tickets are $1.25, tax included. The box office will be open March 13, 14, and 15 from 2 to 6 p. m.

Moggie Speaks Wednesday

Maurine Pence, president of Amistad, announced that Maurice C. Moggie will speak Wednesday at 7:30 in Calvin Lounge on the subject, "The Reasons for Changes in the Curriculum."

The program which was announced for February 21 was postponed because of the weather.

Today's Short Skirts Termed Risque in '27

Today the K-State co-ed thinks nothing of going to classes with bare knees and short skirts, but there are probably a few faculty members who remember the "defeat of the knees" way back in 1927.

Wouldn't today's bobby-soxed co-ed laugh if next week's Collegian were to print in glaring headlines, "Bare Knees Routed at Co-ed College?" This same headline appeared in the Chicago Herald Examiner on April 2, 1927.

The 1927 Royal Purple records that sorority women of that year were called to a meeting and advised that the shortness of skirts made it imperative for the modern young woman to wear bloomers which reached to the tops of her long stockings.

An edict was laid down which stated that no woman student could attend a dance until attired in this manner. This action was taken when it was discovered one night at a fraternity dance that the girls were checking their bloomers with their wraps. The display of a bare knee or a few inches of bare leg meant that the co-ed must leave the dance and even faced the possibility of being barred from all College dances.

The Herald Examiner account of the issue stated that 'Manhattan dry goods stores report a decidedly increased sale of bloomers, one store declaring that it was sold out of certain greatly desired colors. They have rushed an order for more in order to keep up with the heightened demand.'

So it was that the "risque" co-ed of 1927 did her part in letting the world know what went on inside these ivy walls!

All of the major buildings on the campus are of native limestone, some of which was quarried on the College property.

Aptitude Tests . . .

College freshmen and transfer students who have not yet taken the College aptitude tests will have an opportunity to make up this deficiency on the evenings of March 5 and March 12. On these two evenings the aptitude tests will be given in Room W115 from 7 to 10:30 o'clock. Each student should report both evenings for these tests, bringing two sharpened number two lead pencils. All other materials will be furnished by the College. In order to be eligible for advancement in college standing, it is necessary that a student's aptitude test record be complete.

Students whose test records are not complete will receive notices from their deans. Any recipient of such a notice who believes that he has taken all the tests is asked to come to the Psychology Office, Room 104, Education Hall, some afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock to check his record.

Forum Series Ended Sunday

Unless America challenges its youth with a cause even greater than the present international conflict, American youth will turn to some idea or pagan loyalty other than Christianity, Dr. Leslie Ray Marston, bishop of the Free Methodist Church, declared Friday morning in addressing the opening session of the World Christian Forum on the Kansas State campus. Dr. Marston, a recognized authority in the field of psychology, also is executive secretary of the child development committee of the National Research Council.

Dr. Marston pointed out that in the 19th century a new morality sprang up which asserts the essential rightness of human nature. Doctrine standards have been leveled and patterns blurred. The fading of consciousness of sin has brought about the prevalence of sin, Dr. Marston said.

"Our forefathers sinned as much or more than the present generation but with a consciousness of sin. Too generally what we call sin is indulged in without qualms. With so many, sin is the ordinary course of everyday life," the speaker stated.

Youth is idealistic and searches a cause. Hitler, said Dr. Marston, capitalized upon the idealism of German youth. He has given it a cause. America should challenge its youth with a yoke through Christ, believes Dr. Marston. There must be a consecration of youth to Christ and a yokeship to him. Nothing more than personal dedication to Christ can save today's youth from paganism and the next generation from savagery, he concluded.

Friday afternoon Dr. Marston addressed a joint junior and senior high school assembly program and participated in a faculty-student panel on counselling at the College. He spoke to psychology, education and sociology classes Saturday morning. At a faculty-student luncheon Saturday noon Dr. Marston talked informally on current religious trends and the scientific religious approach to youth.

He was a guest of the Manhattan USO Java Club Sunday morning and spoke at the morning church service at the Free Methodist Church. At the student mass meeting Sunday evening he addressed the group on "Religion in the War." Dr. Marston's final World Forum talk was given at a union meeting of churches Sunday night when he discussed "Who Is My Neighbor?"

Omicron Nu Meets

Mrs. Lucile Rust, professor of home economics education, discussed high school home economics clubs at the meeting of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, Tuesday night at the home of Dr. Martha Pittman. Miss Eunice Niblo is president and Miss Alpha Latzke, clothing professor, is sponsor of the Kansas State chapter of this national organization.

KS Players Present Play This Week-end

Final rehearsals for the three-act mystery drama "Incognito" are in progress for its presentation by the Kansas State Players at 8:15 p. m. in the College Auditorium tomorrow and Saturday.

Tickets are on reserve in the Auditorium, every day from 3 to 8 p. m. All seats are reserved for the performances and students are advised to reserve their seats early.

Pauline Flock is assistant to the director, Earl G. Hoover, and Dean Tiemann serves as stage manager and director of lighting.

Working on "props" are Doris Marshall, Barbara Bross, and Marilyn Hurd who acts as head usher as well. Margaret Ann Cadwell is in charge of the costumes and Larry Jordan of make-up. Working on the stage crew are Carolyn Perkins, Betty Stark, Mary Ruth Bentley, Janie Hackney, Catherine Bowen, Margaret Petrie, Elaine Earhart, Sy Cohen, Arthur Allmon, and Charlotte Dorf.

Hospitality Day To Be April 20

"Looking to the Future" is the theme chosen for the 15th annual Hospitality Day, which this year will be limited to a one-day event on April 20. Travel restrictions have caused the home economics students to direct the annual open house toward local and College persons instead of the many high school groups over the state which usually attend Hospitality Day.

Plans are being made for a reception, an assembly and the usual Hospitality Hop, in addition to exhibits, Jean Peck of Arkansas City, general chairman, has announced. This year the various departments of the School of Home Economics are concentrating on single exhibits rather than several for each department. As in former years there will be exhibits in both Calvin and Anderson Halls.

Exhibits will cover the fields of clothing, food research, nutrition, nursing and child welfare, and art, while various phases of education, journalism and household economics will be incorporated into each display.

Russell High School Wins Debate Meet

Trophies for first and second place in the State High School Debate Tournament for Class B schools in Kansas went to Russell and Abilene High Schools, respectively. The tournament took place on the College campus last Friday and Saturday.

Students debated the question "Resolved that the Voting Age Should Be Reduced to Eighteen Years." Of the 20 debates which took place the judges awarded 10 to the affirmative and 10 to the negative. There were 11 split decisions. Manhattan business and professional people and members of the College faculty judged the debates.

Miss Ada Mae Gressinger coached the Russell high team while Harold Larson was coach for the Abilene team. Other high schools which participated in the event were Effingham, Stafford and Washington Rural High School of Bethel.

The Department of Speech, headed by Dr. H. T. Hill, served as headquarters for the tournament.

Home Ec Secretary Here

Miss Gladys Wycoff, field secretary of the American Home Economics Association and former member of the home economics faculty here, will be on the campus today. Plans are being made for a tea to be held in her honor in Calvin Lounge from 4 to 5:30 this afternoon. Home Economics club officers, seniors, and faculty of the school are invited to attend.

Camp Shows . . .

Anyone interested in participating in the shows to be given at Ft. Riley and the Winter General Hospital in Topeka who did not try out should contact Hannah Bacon or leave their name at the YWCA office.

KS Needs Honor Roll For Men In Service

Every week this paper publishes Bars and Stripes telling of K-Staters in the service and almost every week this paper publishes a story of some former Kansas State student or graduate who has given his life in World War II. You read these stories—feel a bit sorry, perhaps—and then go on your way. We're hoping that you will want to do more than that—that you will want in some way to show your appreciation to all K-State men in the service. We're hoping that you will want them to realize that you understand they are fighting for freedom and democracy—that they fight in order that colleges like Kansas State can continue to exist.

This College needs some form of recognition for K-Staters who have given their lives in this war, and also a permanent honor roll for those who have served in any branch of the armed forces. It seems to be the least we can do to let them know that we are proud of them—proud to know that they hail from Kansas State. We've seen many a servicemen on leave straining hard as he looks for the familiar name of a K-State friend on the incomplete list of men in the service in Recreation Center. We aren't tearing down the noble effort of the list in Recreation Center, but we're affirming the fact that K-State men in the service should be recognized, honored and praised with something lasting—a permanent honor roll by which we can show them our appreciation.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Everything was so dark at the TKE Blackout Party Saturday night that one stag said, "You got to have a miner's cap to tell what to cut in on."

Jill Broberg was adding to her wardrobe. She asked the dress store clerk "Have you anything shorter—this seems a bit too long." The amused store gal suggested Miss B. try the collar department.

Congratulations go to John Fenyk and Maxine Crawford for having survived this far the long hard winter with their brand of affection.

Albert (I try all the sororities) Van Wallerghen is still recovering from the strained muscles received at the KU basketball game.

We'd like to know more about the Tri Delta newly affiliated active Shirley (Big Brown eyes) Pray. We hear she walked all the way home from the campus the other night without any shoes on so no one would hear her! Oh Brother!

The Alpha Gamma Rhos have added a new item to the requirements for a pledge—the man must own a car. It is even rumored that they have even adopted the slogan, "An AGR must own a car!"

Home Management Houses

Students living in the Home Management Houses this semester have changed houses this week, according to Miss Tessie Agan, associate professor of household economics.

The five women moving into the Margaret Ahlborn Lodge are Juanita Billington, Evelyn Wood, Otie Cole, Eunice Niblo, and Betty Purcell.

In Ula Dow Cottage, the six new students are Louise Parcel, Marie Hendershot, Virginia Kriemeyer, Nina Fair, Marjorie Cederberg, and Evelyn Manson.

"A Message from Puerto Rico" will be the theme of a program tonight at 8 o'clock by the Cosmopolitan Club in Calvin Lounge. Everyone is invited to attend.

"Our Chosen Way in China" is the theme for Sunday evening fellowship at the Christian Church. Marvin Norby is vespers leader and Vala Don Davis is the forum leader.

"Kid Kapers" is the theme for the Saturday Nites next Saturday at 8 p. m. Leaders are Rosemary Bole, Merle Eyestone and Freda Peck.

The Fellowship Hour is at 5 p. m. on Sunday with Margaret Mustard and Marjorie Knostman as leaders. Cafeteria at 5:50 p. m. is in charge of Elizabeth Knostman and Marjorie Knostman. "Personalities of the Passion No. 1" is the topic of discussion at the Methodist Student Movement meeting at 6:30 p. m. The leader is Ruth Ester Kimball and Janice Miller has charge of devotions.

The members of Kappa Phi are to be guests of the patronesses at a formal banquet at the Methodist Church on Tuesday at 6 p. m. The meal will be followed by pledging and initiation.

The Newman Club will meet Sunday after the 9:30 a. m. mass.

BYF will meet at 6:15 p. m. Sunday at the Baptist Church. The Rev. G. H. Grotey is in Ottawa this week attending a Christian Emphasis Week.

Fellowship will meet at the Westminster House on Sunday at 5 p. m. "Love Will Find a Way" is the theme with Leona Helvey as leader. Phi Chi Delta will have a union meeting with Kappa Beta next Tuesday. "Live in Faith" is the theme.

"Students' Role in Reconstruction" will be the subject of the address to be given by Miss Marjorie Hyer, youth secretary of the Kansas Institute of International Relations from Friends University, at the annual meeting for all church organizations for women. This year, the Phi Chi Delta, Presbyterian organization, will be the hostess for the group meeting in Recreation Center, Tuesday evening at 7:30. Other churches represented will be Christian, Methodist and Baptist.

Miss Hyer is a native of Kansas and a graduate of Friends University. She has been active in the American Friends Service Committee, and has spent her summers in work camps throughout the country.

Betty Jo McCaustland is in charge of the meeting. Edith Willis is president of Phi Chi Delta. The meeting is open to all those on the campus interested in this problem.

11 K-Staters Get LaVerne Noyes Scholarships

Eleven K-State students have been named to receive the LaVerne Noyes Scholarships for the spring semester, according to Prof. L. E. Conrad, chairman of the scholarship committee.

The assistance is open to anyone who is a blood descendant of anyone who served in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States in World War I.

All of the students this semester have been given the award previously. Dora Lee Dauma has received it six times, Ruth Carlson, Betty Clark, Delbert Clark, Adelaide Swift, and Anabel Wood, five times; Elizabeth Grimes and Evelyn Wood, four times; Betty Lou Bhaer and Mary Parker, two times.

Other members of the LaVerne Noyes Committee besides Professor Conrad are Dean L. E. Call, Dean R. W. Babcock, Dean Margaret M. Justin, and Dean R. R. Dykstra.

Frank Lectures to Vets

Dr. E. R. Frank, professor in the veterinary surgery department, has recently returned from a trip which included Lexington, Ky., and Auburn, Ala. He lectured and demonstrated before the Veterinary Association of Kentucky and Alabama.

Red Cross Helps K-State Veterans

To Uncle Sam's uniformed men, whose well-being is one of the Army's major concerns, the American Red Cross is father, mother, sister, brother, wife and friend.

Miss LaVelle Wood, former dietitian at Van Zile Hall, is now stationed in Italy with a Red Cross unit. She has written to a friend at Kansas State telling how, at Thanksgiving, the club of Red Cross workers in Italy baked 15,000 individual pumpkin pies for the men in service. This is only one instance in which the Red Cross has helped to bring home closer to our fighting men overseas.

Larry Nieman and Roy Campfield, both veterans of World War II who are now K-State students praise the Red Cross. Nieman commented on the cigarettes provided by the Red Cross and the entertainment given soldiers in hospitals and on the fronts in various war theaters. Campfield was particularly grateful for "our first fresh water bath in 23 days" at a Red Cross station at Oran.

When Congress passed the act giving the Red Cross, in addition to its responsibilities under the Geneva Convention, full powers to act as the only American agency to serve with the country's armed forces, it made the Red Cross not only a medical relief organization but also a non-profit hotel proprietor, club director, disinterested banking concern and social service worker. The rivalry that existed during the last war has been completely wiped out by uniting all welfare activities into one large organization—the Red Cross.

Liberate Carl Rice From Prison Camp

A simple 19-word telegram received February 23 by Miss Ada Rice, professor of English, brought anxious days of waiting for word of her brother, Carl E. Rice, '97, a prisoner of the Japs, to an end. The telegram read, "Carl E. Rice, formerly of Santo Tomas, has been liberated by our invasion forces and is in good condition."

By return wire Miss Rice sent her 25-word message allowed by the war department to Mr. Rice. Since the war department wire said "formerly of Santo Tomas," Miss Rice believes that her brother was moved from Santo Tomas by the Japanese and was liberated from some other camp by invading Americans. Although she has received no direct word from Mr. Rice, she presumes he will return to the states as soon as transportation is available.

Carl Rice has been in Luzon since the Spanish-American War. In 1939 he retired as a Civil Service employee after 40 years of service. Since World War I he had been chief buyer for the quartermaster corps of the United States Army in Manila.

Major Chester H. Johnson, C. E. '38, is now stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Aberdeen, Md., as chief of the range crew section of the arms and ammunition division. Major Johnson is a graduate of Kansas State College and was associated with the Magnolia Petroleum Company before entering the Army.

Word was received here recently of the death of Lt. Fred Jones, who was killed in action January 1, 1945, in Belgium. Lieutenant Jones attended Kansas State College in 1940 and 1941 as a student in Electrical Engineering. His wife, Virginia Delano Jones formerly attended Kansas State College and was a member of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority.

In Holland now after six weeks of special duty in France is Sgt. R. C. Yapp, f. s. in agriculture. Sergeant Yapp was serving with the Signal Air Warning division of General Patton's Third Army.

Ens. W. R. Jones, C. E. '38, has written faculty members of his participation in the invasion of the Philippines at Lingayen Gulf. Ensign Jones' home is in Wichita.

Visiting the campus last week was Capt. Robert K. Nelson, D. V. M. '40. Captain Nelson, now serving in the Army Veterinary Corps, was on his way to an Atlantic coast post, accompanied by his wife and infant son.

Second Lt. Maynard L. Abrahams, navigator of the B-17 Flying Fortress, "Mugwump," has been awarded a third Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while taking part in Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on vital German industrial targets, and on Nazi military strong points. Lieutenant Abrahams was a student at Kansas State College before entering the AAF in July, 1942. Since then, as a member of the Third Air Division, he was one of a group which was cited by the President for its historic England-to-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft factories at Regensburg, Germany.

Lt. Carson E. Condry, f. s. in mechanical engineering, has been assigned recently to a veteran troop carrier group of the Twelfth Air Force. For distinguished service in the China-Burma-India Theater of Operations, Lt. Condry's group has been awarded the War Department Unit Citation. His group has also given outstanding performances in the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, Italy, and Southern France. Before joining the Army Air Forces, Lieutenant Condry was employed by the Olathe, Kansas Mirror.

Fighting moisture and fungus—communication's jungle enemies

Ever-present dangers to military communications are the twin enemies of the jungle—moisture and fungus. By impairing the efficient working of telephones and radios, they can halt vital messages as effectively as cutting the wires.

The long experience of Bell Laboratories engineers in designing telephone equipment for use under all climatic conditions has helped the Signal Corps in counter-attacking these enemies of the jungle.

Lessons learned in this wartime emergency will aid in building better communications equipment for war and peace.

K-State's Knorr Kids Bow To Iowa State's Cyclones

Kansas State College Knorr Kids ran into a title-bound Iowa State Cyclone here Monday night and dropped the deciding contest 44-39 in their bid for a tie for second place in the Big Six basketball conference. The Wildcats put a muffler on Jim Myers, Iowa State scoring leader, holding him to 7 points, but Feuerbach, his running mate, slipped through the Wildcat defense for 13 points to win the honors of the evening.

The Wildcats needed this win to preserve their chance to tie for second place with Iowa State. However, if the K-Staters defeat Missouri at Columbia Friday night and the Tigers turn around and win over Oklahoma the Aggies still will be assured of a first division berth and a tie with the Roundball Runt of Oklahoma.

Dave Weatherby, Joe Ridgway and Jack Kincheloe shared honors of the game with 8 points apiece. Jay Payton, clever guard, was not far behind with 6 points. Dick Spencer did a beautiful job on defensive and setting up plays on offense.

The greatest difficulty of the evening for the Knorr Kids was their inability to control the rebounds. This perhaps was the greatest factor in the Cyclone win.

Wildcats Enjoy Early Lead

Still playing the type of ball that the fans like to see, the Wildcats did not score for 3 minutes, but then started at a fast pace that swept them into a 10-5 lead. It was here that the Wildcats showed their greatest display of power of the evening. Little Joe Ridgway caged 3 field goals in a row and tossed in a pair of free throws, collaborating with Dana Atkins' one-hand push shot to bring the Wildcat lead up to 20-10.

The Cyclones waited until only 10 minutes remained of the first stanza, then held the Aggies scoreless for 6 minutes and collected 16 points themselves. The score stood at 26-20 in favor of Iowa State before the astonished Wildcats regained consciousness and scored a free toss. The Lou Menze mentored boys continued to lead until the half time, and when the teams left the court for intermission had a 29-25 advantage.

After intermission the Wildcats cut loose with a flourish that nearly tied the count as the score stood 29-31 in favor of the Cyclones after 6 minutes of play.

Wildcats in Last Minute Drive

It was tough pickings for the K-Staters as the Cyclones hacked away to a 40-30 lead with only 8 minutes remaining in the game. K-State reduced the lead to 6 points as Kincheloe and Schultz added free throws and Spencer broke through for a set-up. Jim Myers then cut loose with another field goal to increase their lead to 8 again. Bill Schultz came right back with a beautiful set-up. Chamberlain of Iowa State added 2 more points to the Cyclone score, their last of the evening. The Wildcats rallied on a hook shot by Kincheloe and a free toss by Weatherby, but time ran out on the Knorr Kids and the game ended, 44-39.

Wildcats Play Tigers Friday

Coach Fritz Knorr's basketball team will travel to Columbia, Mo., to engage the Missouri Tigers Friday night in their basketball finale of the year.

The squad leaves Thursday noon and will return to Manhattan Saturday night. Coach Knorr will take his usual two team quintet on the trip. Players making the trip include Jay Payton, Dick Spencer, Ralph Stuesser, and Jack Bell, guards; Jack Kincheloe and Larry McClaughry, centers; Dave Weatherby, Joe Ridgway, Bill Schultz and Dana Atkins, forwards.

Jay Payton, guard, and Larry McClaughry, center, have been sick with the flu this week but expect to be all right by Friday night. The rest of the squad is in excellent condition to make the trip.

Coach George Edwards' Tigers will be out to avenge the 50-29 defeat suffered at the hands of the Wildcats February 5 in their first encounter. Missouri has an unpredictable team this year as evidenced by their defeat of Iowa State.

The Wildcats need this victory to insure themselves of an undisputed fourth place. A loss for the Wildcats would put them in fifth place; and they would have to be satisfied with sharing the fourth place berth with the Tigers provided that Oklahoma defeats the Tigers when they play March 5.

K-Staters Down Huskers 55-47

Kansas State's high flying basketball quintet returned to form last Friday night as they downed the Cornhuskers of Nebraska 55 to 47 in a thriller that saw the Huskers in two last half rallies.

Dave Weatherby, tall Wildcat forward, was the big gun for the K-Staters, hitting the hoop for 17 points. Jay Payton continued to spark the team with his all around floor play. Bob Hahn led the Huskers with 18 points to walk off with honors.

The Purple and White led 31 to 21 at intermission but were threatened twice in the second semester by Husker drives that closed that comfortable 10 point margin to 4 points. However, the Huskers were never able to pull out in front of the Wildcats.

The game was a rough and ragged affair that saw 43 personal fouls being called.

Faculty Basketball Game Proceeds Go To WSSF

Arrangements have been made for a faculty basketball game to be held March 9 at Nichols Gymnasium. Lineups for the two teams, composed of faculty members, have not been announced yet, but it has been stated that President Eisenhower will be the referee.

Merle Eyestone and Charles Schwab are co-chairmen in charge of plans for the game, and publicity is being handled by Maurine Pence and Johnny Pallett.

Proceeds from the game will go to the World Student Service Fund. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Intramurals...

Wallace Lee Anthony and William Schwartz were the winners of the men's intramural table tennis doubles. Rosencro Cordero and Jose Diaz were the runner up team. The winner of the single table tennis tournament was Rosencro Cordero with Wallace Lee Anthony as runner-up. All these men are juniors in veterinary medicine.

Two new teams have been added to the men's intramural volleyball schedule. They are the Sigma Nus and the House of Williams. The next volleyball games will be played Monday, March 5. At 7:30 the Kappa Sigs will meet the Jr. A. V. M. A. and the TKE's will play against the Sigma Nus. At 8:15 the Sig Alphas will compete with the House of Williams while the Phi Deltas play against the Delta Tau Deltas. The last game for the evening will be played at 9:00 when the Sig Alphas meet the Sigma Nus.

Elect Meenen President Of Grad Club At Party

New officers for the Graduate Club elected at the graduate student party held Saturday night in Thompson Hall include F. E. Meenen, president; Mrs. Ernestine Veatch, vice-president; Roberta Shimer, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Elizabeth Engle, chairman of the entertainment committee. About 40 graduate students and their friends attended the party which was sponsored by Dean and Mrs. J. E. Ackert.

Football Practice Starts Monday

Coach Ward Haylett reports that spring football practice will start Monday. This will be the first time that K-State has held a spring football practice under wartime conditions. Candidates may check out their equipment anytime between now and Monday at the stadium.

Spring practice is scheduled to last for six weeks and at the end of that period Coach Haylett plans to have an intra-squad game.

K-State's Purple and White gridiron battlers of next fall will have 12 returning lettermen who plan to be here next fall. Ronnie Webster, Dave Weatherby and Dana Atkins, all 1944 lettermen are in the army air corps reserve and expect to be called up before the 1945 season next fall. The 12 returning lettermen are: ends, Harvey Haas, John Goforth; tackles, Dale Cowan, Robert King; guards, Russell Hardin, Marvin Norby, August Bogina; center, Harold Kinard; backs, Jay Payton, Bob Mooney, Max Harvey, Bill Clary. This should present a formidable squad from which Coach Haylett can build his football team for next fall. Also there are nine men still in school who gained valuable experience as squad members, but didn't make their letter. These are: ends, Burton Barnes, Howard Leitz; tackles, Bill Pritchard, Jim Harrison, Bill Schleety; guards, Ben Hebert, Clarence Deitchman; backs, Dean Hoppas, Stanley Heathman.

One Way to Untie A Knotty Problem

But there's a much simpler way. When you want a tie to match that certain suit—when you want a tie with character—one that is woven luxuriously and has right color combinations..

Then you'll 'cut' a path right to our showing of gay candy stripes, rich paisleys, and Spring tinted ties—all woven for long wear and hard chin usage.

Annex II will have an hour dance Monday night from 7 to 8 p. m. for all fraternities.

Mlle. Recommends K-State's Courses

The coming March issue of Mademoiselle commends Kansas State along with Syracuse University, Ohio State, Iowa State College and the University of Georgia on having a home economics-journalism combination in their curriculums.

"If you can write, you double your chances for success in food and nutrition," says Mademoiselle. The plea today is for graduates in home economics who can write. Food is the biggest field.

Calls for home economists have multiplied within the last two years in the fields of experimental cookery, nutrition, teaching, testing, research, hospital dietetics, school-lunch supervision and industrial feeding, but the demand for home economists to fill journalism and public relations jobs is even greater.

Some schools of home economics require no writing courses beyond the usual freshman English. At universities and colleges with both schools of journalism and schools of home economics, as Syracuse University, Ohio State, Kansas State, Iowa State College and the University of Georgia, dual enrollment is possible.

Indian Exhibit

An Indian exhibit has been set up on the second floor of Anderson by Miss Louise Everhardy of the Art Department.

"Indians of the United States in their Country's Service" is the theme of the display, and it shows Indian men and women in every branch of the service.

Examples of the art work of the Navajo and Pueblo Indians are displayed in cases and the walls are covered with illustrations from an Indian publication, and with photographs taken by Miss Everhardy.

The exhibit is on display now and will continue to be through next week.

Red Cross Campus Drive In Full Swing

A contribution of $15 made at the Red Cross booth in Anderson Hall Monday morning by Mrs. W. C. Burns, PEI, started the drive to reach the student goal of $1200. The Red Cross drive on the campus will end Saturday noon.

Jean Selby is in charge of the thermometer which will be placed in Anderson Hall near the Red Cross booth. The purpose of the thermometer is to measure the daily contributions. As the contributions rise, the thermometer will rise to the amount which was donated for that day. Presidents of campus organizations are urged to turn in their money and receipts to Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt in Anderson Hall, room 118B.

Rachel Gossard chairman of the booth committee for the student Red Cross drive, announced that the following organizations are helping with the booth: Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Clovia, Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Van Zile Hall and the Veterans Association.

Students have been asked to contribute as individuals, but organizations are to contribute from their own group funds. Red Cross individual membership cards and stickers will be sent to students who contribute $1 or more.

Y Carnival Will Be Week-End Attraction

The Y Carnival will be Saturday evening, from 8 to 11 in Nichols Gymnasium. The purpose of the carnival is to provide money to send Kansas State delegates to the annual YWCA summer conference held at Estes Park, Colo.

"Auctioning off the faculty members will be the most fun of the whole evening," says Betty Jean Hinds, chairman of the committee. To the highest bidder will go a dean who will make six beds in the house of the lucky person; some other member of the faculty will be obliged to write a theme for some student; a faculty member of the boys' physical education department will be a house-boy Sunday at one of the houses; still another will polish a student's shoes; while a member of the agriculture department faculty will answer the phone in some house. For that one night the professors will be under the thumb of the students.

Thirty cakes will be given away during the evening to the lucky persons who stop on the right number while doing the cake walk. In the girls' gym there will be featured a movie with a special added attraction. Persons will be picked from the crowd to start the carnival off with the Sock Hop. Photography will be a popular booth. Penny Pitching will interest many as will the taxi dancing which is to be held in the middle of the floor.

Those who want to get even with their enemies will have their chance come Saturday night as in the Gym will be a jail. For a small fee you can place your enemy in the jail and he, in order to get out, must put up a bond. If you are the superstitious type the fortune telling booth is the place for you; however, if spring fever is already in your bones and your young heart has turned to love there will be a booth for you, the marriage booth. Across the floor will be the divorce booth. Bingo and other games of chance will be going during the evening.

Hot dogs, cakes, cokes, candy, coffee, and donuts will be provided in a booth. Cards will be passed out entitling one to a free coke. Coats may be checked upon entering the Gym.

Those on the Y Carnival committee are: Mrs. Dorothy Downey, Betty Jean Hinds, Betty Jean Yapp, Anne Huddleston, Florence Merriam, Patti Piffer, Elaine Earhart, Jean Greenawalt, Beth Jarvis, Shirley Frelenmuth, Annie Gardner, Dorothy Ruckel, Carol Jean Heter, Helen Lawson, Hannah Bacon, Marilyn Hurd, Betty Swan, Gladis Golf, and Carol Colson.

Myrtle Gunselman, associate professor of household economics, spoke on consumers' problems Tuesday before the Woman's Club at Junction City.

T. B. X-Rays . . .

X-Ray examinations for tuberculosis will be given March 15-20 for all students. Student Health has sent out notices which give the date and hour of appointment for each student, and they will serve as an excuse from class at that hour. These notices will be distributed in the College Post Office by Friday night.

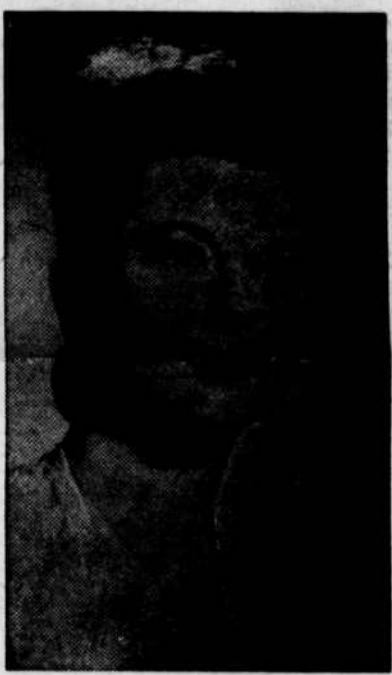

Marie Wilkins Here March 15

Marie Wilkins, Metropolitan Opera soprano who will appear at the College Auditorium March 15 in the second program of the Manhattan Artist Series, is a Kansas homemaker in private life.

She is married to Prof. Joseph F. Wilkins, head of the voice department at the University of Kansas and is the mother of a teen age daughter, Mary.

Profits from the Manhattan Artist Series will be used to bring more entertainment to the campus next year and to help pay for residence halls for women. Tickets for the concert are being ordered by mail from Miss Emma Hyde of the Department of Mathematics.

Mrs. Wilkins' success has all the elements of fiction. Two years ago in December, she unexpectedly took the leading role in "Lakme" when Lily Pons became ill with a sore throat. She had learned the entire role in eight days as part of her musical study in New York. During the spring of 1942, she had been one of the finalists in the Metropolitan's Audition of the Air and had pleased the conductor, Wilfred Pelletier, when he was in Kansas City. As a result of this success, she went to New York to study.

A former choir singer in Ithaca, N. Y., where she attended Cornell, she went to Paris to study voice when she was 18 and later was the first American to be graduated from the Scala Cantoreum in Paris. Joe Wilkins, a graduate of Cornell, and she were married in Europe and both went to Italy to study music. There, they found engagements with traveling grand opera companies for three years. Returning to the United States, they sang leads for the Schuberts for four years. Professor Wilkins, a tenor, then joined the music faculty at Kansas University where he is now teaching.

Faculty Members Speak to Veterans at Post Hospital

A series of lectures concerning scientific subjects are being given by faculty members of the Departments of Chemistry, Geology, Physics, and Zoology for war veterans at the post hospital rehabilitation center, Fort Riley, according to L. E. Hudiburg, assistant dean of the School of Arts and Sciences. These programs were arranged at the request of Maj. Wayne Burton, chief of reconditioning service.

The first program was given Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It consisted of a talk on the geologic features of this community by A. B. Sperry, professor of geology and a talk on victory gardens by Prof. W. G. Amstein and Dean L. C. Williams of the department of horticulture, division of college extension. The next program will be given by the department of physics.

President Eisenhower Speaks About W. S. S. F.

On March 23, students who wish to do so will have an opportunity to contribute to the World Student Service Fund. Because many may wonder why such contributions this year are separate from the Community Chest, I want to make this brief explanation:

The World Student Service Fund was formerly part of the War Fund. This year, however, the W. S. S. F. permanently withdrew from the combined War Fund drive, but information to this effect reached Kansas State College too late for the W. S. S. F. to be included in the Manhattan Community Chest.

Under the regulations of the Community Chest, it is not possible for the College to approve separate drives for funds. Hence, no drive for funds for the W. S. S. F. has been or can be approved. But many students who wish to contribute to the World Student Service Fund have expressed keen disappointment over the present situation. I have therefore approved, with the concurrence of the College Committee on the Community Chest, a limited program under which students may voluntarily contribute to the W. S. S. F. but there will not be an organized drive and no individual will be directly asked to contribute.

A student committee has planned two activities. First, a number of organized houses will have a "meager meal" on the evening of March 23, donating the amount thus saved to the World Student Service Fund. Second, all students will be given an opportunity to contribute by mail, through the College YWCA.

Next year, the budget of the World Student Service Fund at Kansas State will be presented to the Community Chest, as are the budgets of all other participating organizations.

Milton S. Eisenhower.

Cafes, Drugstores Plan Later Hours

For the past two years students have found restaurants and drugstores closed in Aggieville after dances and late shows. Faced by this fact, the Student Council has been cooperating with the Retailers Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for two months on the problem of keeping eating places open as late as 1 p. m. on weekends, particularly after college dances.

On February 2 when members of the Student Council met with the Committee, Ashley Monahan, owner of the College Drugstore, was appointed chairman of the committee to draw up a plan where by the Aggieville drugstores and restaurants would cooperate to serve the students. If their plan is accepted, the Council hopes it will go into effect immediately.

"The Council hopes, too, that the Students will give the plan their full support as the Aggieville retailers, in some cases, will be operating at losses to themselves in order to give the students a 'break'," says Ethelinda Parrish, president of the Council.

Hoover's K-State Players Intrigue Audiences With "Incognito" Presentation

"Incognito", Kansas State Player's second production of the year, received hearty applause from the audiences as the curtain fell on Friday and Saturday nights.

A comedy-mystery drama in three acts by N. Richard Nussbaum, "Incognito" held the audience in complete suspense until the end was reached with a sudden and unexpected twist. The plot was woven around a murder that occurred on board the pleasure steamer, the U. S. S. Imperial. Nazi spies, espionage agents, and a group of women on a pleasure trip complicated the solving of the murder. The leading question was, "Who is Charles Locke?"

Suspicion was narrowed down to a group of women. Much of the credit for the success of the play is due to their fine acting under the direction of Earl G. Hoover. Comedy was introduced through the actions of

Minute Man Flag Is Goal Of Stamp Drive

The spring War Stamp Drive sponsored by the Student Council is underway. The goal of the drive is a Treasury Minute Man Flag which will be given to the college if 90 per cent of all students buy War Stamps each week.

"Your parents may buy bonds, but this drive is make students feel that they are doing something to help by sacrificing cigarettes, cokes or candy bars to buy at least one 10 cent stamp a week. And remember—stamps fill books!" was a comment made by Phyllis Johansen, chairman of the drive.

The drive started yesterday when organization War Stamp chairmen met with Phyllis Johansen to exchange money collected from the individuals in their respective houses for War Stamps. The chairmen working on the drive are Helen Gritman, Alpha Xi Delta; Meriam Collier, Clovia; Roberta Reinhardt, Chi Omega; Joan Holecck, Coed Court; Miriam Dunbar, Hills Heights; Leonard Greathouse, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Betty Garrison, Chatterbox; Norma Perine, Aloha; Dale Crawford, Kappa Sigma; Ann Phillips, Annex II; Helen Barck, Arcadia; Jean Holmgren, Pi Beta Phi; Elaine Brown, Kappa Delta; Betty Rendall, Annex I; Elinor Bush, Moore th Merrier; Bernard Jacobson, House of Williams; Margaret Mustard, Maisonelle; Marilyn Hurd, Delta Delta Delta; Virginia Howard, Pal-O-Mie; Margaret Hannah, The Shanty; Louis Wempe, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Roy Drown, Delta Tau Delta; Ruth Maechtlen, Keims Kabana; Lois Jean Butcher, La Fiel; Duane Peterson, Alpha Gamma Rho; Geraldine McKirdy, Van Zile Hall.

Any organization that desires to sell stamps in the booth in Anderson Hall on Wednesdays should contact Phyllis Johansen. Since the beginning of the fall semester, the following groups have sold stamps at the booth in Anderson: Alpha Delta Pi, $1.30; Alpha Xi Delta, $69.55; Chi Omega, $7.10; Delta Delta Delta, $54.15; Kappa Delta, $53.55; Keims Kabana, $6.70; Kappa Kappa Gamma, $7.15; Clovia, $87.00; Mortar Board, $124.40; Pi Beta Phi, $18.75.

Advanced ticket sales will begin Wednesday in Anderson Hall. No seats will be reserved.

Lighting rehearsal for all organizations will be next Wednesday night. Full dress rehearsal will take place March 16. The time schedules for the rehearsals will be announced to the managers of the competitive acts by Embert Coles, chairman.

Student Council Plans Point System

Plans for a point system for College activities are being discussed by a committee appointed by the Student Council. The Student Council and Faculty Council must approve these plans before they will become effective.

The committee put a limit on the number of points each student may have in a year, and set up a table of point values for membership and holding office in each student group.

These point values will be based on the relative amount of energy and time consumed by the organization, and by the responsibility that it entails. Every campus organization, including all professional, honorary, religious and athletic groups, will be represented.

A study of 15 of the leaders on the campus is being made, and an average of their activities, translated into points, will be taken to determine the maximum number of points a student may have.

Dick Olson, chairman of the committee, said that the main objectives of the plan are to distribute leadership which will result in the more efficient performance of duty, and to encourage better scholarship by concentrating energies on fewer and more profitable enterprises.

Administration of this system as planned by this committee will be carried on by a board elected by the Student Council. A member of the Student Council will be chairman with a student representative from each school and one faculty member on the board. A secretary will keep the records and be responsible to the board.

4-H to Sponsor Movie

The Collegiate 4-H Club is sponsoring a movie at the Wareham theater to raise their funds for this semester. The movie chosen is "In the Meantime Darling" which is scheduled for March 8, 9, and 10th.

Tickets can be bought from Emogene Martin, chairman of the committee, or any 4-H Club member.

A healthy house fly harbors about a million germs.

Student Health Makes T. B. X-Rays

All Kansas State College faculty members and employees, who have not complied with the State Board of Regents regulations concerning tuberculosis tests of staff members, and all students will be X-rayed this month. The X-rays will be made without cost to them by the State Board of Health. The ruling requiring the examinations was made by the Council of Deans at a recent meeting.

The Riley County Medical Society and Tuberculosis Association are bringing the photofluorographic unit to Manhattan from March 15 to 27. The unit will be available to the College from March 15 through 20. It will be installed in the north end of the East Stadium.

Appointments for the chest X-rays are being arranged by the Student Health Service. Cards designating the time of appointments will be sent through the College postoffice.

Foxes never hunt in packs.

American Red Cross Needs Your Dollar

The Red Cross thermometer in Anderson Hall is climbing slowly—but too slowly—toward the goal set for Kansas State students.

If each student could realize the power and potential relief facilities in accumulated quarters and fifty-cent pieces, the thermometer would register above the student Red Cross Drive goal.

The Red Cross is the largest organization in the world to relieve suffering and distress. Your money was urgently needed in peace-time to aid the refugees and victims of nature's calamities—but now the peace-time work is insignificant to the task the war has brought to the organization.

The Red Cross needs an enormous amount of money to buy supplies for its needs. You'll never get a better dollar's worth. Subscribe to the Red Cross!

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Ye olde Kitty column last week wasn't what it should have been, or should have been more or shouldn't have been as it was or anyhow—we hope the following lines lend more to the dingy atmosphere of our fair college.

Some of the Tri Deltas went to Kansas City this week end on a shopping tour. Some confusion has arisen as to the type of tour it proved to be. Henchman's report: Several local babes seen in Omar room Saturday eve.

Waldo (Ruby lips) Gage seems to be fairing quite well in his new abode. We're not implying he lives there, but the KKG's were $43 ahead in last month's housebills.

Freda (consider the source) Boebel needs no longer to worry of his veracose veins since he received the literature from the Horn Elastic Hosiery Company. It is reported that the high flanker is contemplating the rental of the entire college post office to handle his fan mail.

The Kappas scored a near miss Saturday night when Hal Hogue passed chocolates in the traditional Hogue style. Fun is great stuff, but we sure were scared, weren't we Liz?

We hereby wish to serve notice to one Bob Underwood that Tuesday, February 27, was election day in Kansas City, Mo., and furthermore no groceries could be purchased before the polls closed.

The grapevine reports that some distant friend of Walt Gage's was recently married. He subsequently received the customary announcements and numerous small packages of love letters done up and blue ribbons. We suggest Waldo give the distant friend "jilted" gold earrings.

Geo. Melvin Chapman and Alpha Delt Harriet Donnelly made the trip to the aforementioned western home last weekend. The rumor has it that the purpose of the trip was to sell George's 4-H project in order to buy a new kitchen stove.

The Kappas weekly nominee for the big cake is the man who invented French windows. For further details consult any member of the local chapter.

Anyone having dirt to be included in next week's issue deposit it Dag Wedmond's drawers at the AGR house.

All for now!

Fred W. Meenen, who has been doing graduate work in alfalfa research in the Department of Agronomy, is to take the position as forage crop specialist at the Fort Hays Branch Experiment Station at Hays, March 5.

Magazine 'Prints' Farm, Home Week

The entire issue of the March 3 Kansas Farmer has been devoted to what the magazine terms a "miniature" Farm and Home Week. Included in the issue are many of the talks which had originally been scheduled for this annual event in February.

The editors in commenting on this issue write, "Giving up Farm and Home Week is a real sacrifice on the part of Kansas farmers. Nothing can adequately take its place. However, endeavoring to fill the gap left by absence of this worth-while meeting of farm people, Kansas Farmer in this issue attempts to bring you a 'miniature' Farm and Home Week, by presenting briefly some of the things Kansas State College would have told visitors had Farm and Home Week been held as usual. In dedicating this issue to Farm and Home Week that couldn't be, the editors of Kansas Farmer respectfully acknowledge the indebtedness to the College of Agriculture staff for cooperation in preparing this material."

The cover page of the magazine carries a picture of President Milton S. Eisenhower, a message from him and a picture of Anderson Hall tower. Photographs of other campus buildings and of various College staff members who contributed material for this issue are carried throughout the magazine.

Arthur Eapper, publisher of Kansas Farmer, in his editorial column, "Farm Matters As I See Them," praises the College and its contribution to the people of the state. The only article not dealing directly with the College is one on the Yalta conference by Cliff Stratton, '16, Washington correspondent for Kansas Farmer.

Evans Family Gives $200 To Journalism Memorial

A gift of $200 in memory of Lt. Kendall Evans has been made to the Kansas State College Journalism Memorial Fund by his parents, Dorothy (Woodman) Evans, f. s. and Morris Evans, Ag. '20, M. S. '25, of Las Cruces, N. M., and his brother, Paul A. Evans now in the U. S. Army. Lieutenant Evans received his bachelor of science degree in industrial journalism from the College in 1943. Lieutenant Evans was killed July 31, 1944, in a vehicle accident in Eye, Suffolk County, England. He was with the 1105th Quartermaster Company at the time of his death. He went overseas in September, 1943.

SPECS Campaign For Political Effectiveness

"What's your stand on compulsory military conscription during peace-time?" What would you say if a SPEC should stop you on the campus some day and ask you this question? Would your answer be hazy because you hadn't read or discussed peace-time conscription enough?

If so, get on the beam, because the Student Political Effectiveness Commission of the YWCA has begun an educational campaign on this timely issue. Opportunity will be given to students to write their congressmen, petitions will be circulated, and it is hoped that Kansas State College students will thus become "politically effective."

Student Political Effectiveness Commissions are now being organized on many college and university campuses. Within the national Student Christian Movement there are SPEC groups working on similar issues. Their purpose is to stimulate student thinking on problems that will be their problems in the postwar world.

The local SPEC was organized almost three weeks ago as a part of the revised workshop plan of the Kansas State YWCA. SPECS meet every week.

SPEC chairman Dorothy Cochran states that no students are barred from participation in this workshop. Other national, state and local issues on public affairs will be studied and acted upon also, she adds.

Veterans Here Do Good School Work

"Average and above average" is the way Kansas State College deans describe the work of veterans who have returned to the campus to continue their college work. In most cases the men have been out of school for several years and some have found it difficult to adjust themselves to school work. However, the majority is determined to make a success of college.

Kansas State has 96 students enrolled under the G. I. Bill of Rights and Veterans Rehabilitation program according to Dean R. A. Seaton, chairman of the veterans training committee. The number has been increasing steadily each semester since two men enrolled under the rehabilitation program a year ago. Although some of the men have had some college training, most of them are entering College as freshmen.

The first ex-service woman has yet to enroll here under either of the programs. The College officials have pointed out that women are eligible for college training under the two veterans' programs on the same basis as men. Subject to the approval of the Veterans Administration, the veterans can choose any recognized field of study or training which will fit them for gainful employment. All work offered at the College is open to them.

The registration of veterans at Kansas State College exceeds that of any other institution in the state public or private.

The Department of Home Study at the College has sent out 40,000 lessons during the past two years.

Two former Kansas State College students have been awarded Oak Leaf Clusters to their Air Medals for work done while participating in bombing attacks upon German war plants and upon Nazi military defense points and communication lines in conjunction with advances by the Allied armies in Western Europe. For "courage, coolness and skill" Sgt. Walter W. Wilmot, a waist gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress, received his cluster. First Lt. Robert G. Bensing, f. s. in electrical engineering, received his cluster for "meritorious achievement." Lieutenant Bensing pilots a B-17. Both men are members of the 385th Bombardment Group of the Eighth Air Force.

Capt. Harold F. Harper, C. E. '34, writes from the Philippines that he is doing mostly public health work there. Formerly he was a malaria control officer on New Britain and Guadalcanal.

Lt. Herschel R. Larkin, who has been in a hospital in England, is now at Halloran General Hospital, New York City. Lieutenant Larkin, f. s., was wounded while serving with an infantry unit in Bastogne.

First Lt. Norman F. Niemeier Jr., f. s. in electrical engineering, was killed in action in China, February 16, according to a war department telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Niemeier of Manhattan. Lieutenant Niemeier piloted a P151 Mustang fighter plane with the Fourteenth Air Force in China. He held the Air Medal with one cluster.

Lt. Col. Donald R. Conard has been appointed deputy commander of the Aloe Army Air Field at Victoria, Texas, by the post commander, Col. Stoyte O. Ross. A graduate of Kelly Field, Texas, Colonel Conard has served in flying and administrative positions at Randolph Field, Lake Charles Army Air Field, and Aloe Field. Colonel Conard graduated from Kansas State College in 1941, where he took an active part in baseball and track.

Experiencing his finest coaching season is Capt. Paul E. Fairbank, Kansas State graduate in 1933, who is handling the fortunes of the powerful Frederick Army Air Field, Okla., Falcons. With the end of the season drawing near, Captain Fairbank's quintet has copped 25 out of 30 games against some of the toughest competition in the Southwest. One of the members of Captain Fairbank's team is Lt. Ray Kuka, former Notre Dame star. Lieutenant Kuka was an air cadet on the Kansas State College campus in 1943 and after finishing his training here was transferred to Texas.

Col. Lloyd H. Dalton, '33, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while participating in medium bombardment missions totaling more than 100 hours. Colonel Dalton, who has been in service since 1936, first commanded the Tactical Force of Major General Howard C. Davidson's Tenth Air Force, and since last September has been commanding officer of the famous 12th "Earthquakers" Group. While attending Kansas State College, Colonel Dalton was an outstanding athlete and won letters in football and basketball.

Sgt. Warren W. Wakeman, f. s., has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal "for exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity." Sergeant Wakeman landed in North Africa in July, 1943, and is currently serving as a clerk with the Mediterranean Air Transport Service in Italy.

Lt. (j. g.) Oscar Norby, f. s. '42, has been in the Southwest Pacific area on board the USS San Diego, where he and the ship's crew weathered the typhoon which hit recently near the Philippines. He was in the landings on the Philippines.

With the First Army in Germany is Lt. Merrill Werts, '44, who is serving as an Intelligence Officer with his group. He is near the Duren Sector.

Fighting Wildcats Lose Final Game Of Season

Coach Fritz Knorr's basketball team played their final game of the season last Friday night at the University of Missouri Tigers turned them back 45-42, despite a last minute Wildcat rally.

The Purple and White warriors put a momentary scare into the victory-bound Tigers in the last few minutes of the game as the Wildcat sharpshooters, Joe Ridgway and Jay Payton, closed the comfortable 10-point margin that the Tigers were enjoying to 3 points before they could recover the ball. Then Coach Edwards, taking no chances, rushed his starters into the game and froze the ball for the remaining 30 seconds.

Wildcats Tie Up Game Twice

Kansas State drew the first blood of the evening on Jay Payton's long shot, but the Tigers were not to be outdone and came back with 2 quick baskets to move out into an early 4-2 lead. The Wildcats tied the game up at 4 all, but the Tigers again moved out in front on a rally that saw Bob Helms and Leonard Brown providing most of the fireworks. Again the Wildcats rallied and knotted the score at 12 all, but the Missourians drew away again as Johnny Helmsburger, Brown and Helms potted field goals to move the Tigers out to a 22-17 half time margin.

The Knorr mentored boys ran into a stalemate in the second stanza as the Tigers ran up a 13 point advantage in the first 5 minutes before Dick Spencer came through with a couple of baskets to close in on the sharp-shooting Tigers.

Payton Wins Scoring Honors

Jay Payton, scored 16 points to bring him the individual scoring honors of the evening. It was his phenomenal shooting from way out that kept the Wildcats in the running the first half. Joe Ridgway, K-State's own midget forward, netted 10 points to get the runner-up honors.

The Tigers scoring honors were evenly divided among the teams. Brown and Helms led, however, with nine each.

The box score:

Haylett Appeals For Football Men

Despite the cold weather which ascended on the Wildcat gridiron camp, spring football has begun. Practice is being held under the stadium at the present time, but as soon as the weather permits, Coach Ward Haylett plans to practice outside.

Most of the returning lettermen and squad members have reported. However, Coach Haylett wishes to make a special appeal to boys in school who have had no previous football experience. Coach Haylett stated that during spring football practice is the time to gain that valuable experience. All men planning on coming out for football next fall should be out for spring football. Despite the fact that there are 12 returning lettermen there is still a chance of making the team.

Coach Ward Haylett also wishes to make an appeal to men who think that they are going to be drafted. He advises that they come out for football anyway because there may be a chance that they will be still here next fall.

Mail Pamphlets To War Veterans

"A Program for War Veterans," a booklet designed to acquaint World War II veterans who are interested in college training, with Kansas State, is being sent out by the office of admissions.

Included in the 19-page booklet are a letter from President Eisenhower, the G. I. Bill of Rights, the Vocational Rehabilitation Bill of Rights, a discussion of the fields of training offered at the College and a brief history and other facts concerning Kansas State. A postcard to be returned by the veterans is sent with each pamphlet.

The mailing list includes veterans hospitals, the war manpower commission, Kansas selective service boards, separation centers, Kansas USO organizations, Kansas American Legion posts, chamber of commerce groups and mayors of all towns in the state, libraries, county agents and home demonstration agents, the recreation center and service clubs at Ft. Riley, alumni and former students who have been in touch with the College since Jan. 1, 1945, and any persons who request the booklet.

Students who wish to mail booklets to friends may obtain them from the office of admissions.

K-State Kats Finish Fifth In Big Six Race

By DALE SORENSON

Big Six Standings	W	L	Pts.	Op.	Pct.
Iowa State	8	2	425	343	.800
Kansas U.	7	3	448	387	.700
Oklahoma U.	5	5	420	412	.500
Missouri U.	5	5	377	468	.500
Kansas State	4	6	445	448	.400
Nebraska U.	1	9	447	507	.100

Kansas State's High Flying Basketball team closed their 1945 basketball season by finishing fifth in the Big Six Basketball Conference. This perhaps doesn't sound so good to a lot of K-State fans, but if you remember back, only in one game were the Wildcats really beaten. The rest of the games were thrilling, hard fought contests that weren't decided until the final gun sounded.

This year's Wildcats, one of the biggest scoring aggregations in K-State court history, stayed in the thick of the championship race most of the season. Coach Fritz Knorr's all civilian team, including both conference and non-conference games, had a season's record of 10 wins and 13 losses.

Hats Off to Coach Knorr

Our hats are off to Coach Fritz Knorr and the splendid job he did this year as he assumed temporary duties as Wildcat cage mentor. It was no easy job in taking a group of 18-year-olds, 4-F's and discharged service veterans and molding them into a high scoring "Fighting Wildcat" machine.

In praising this year's Wildcat team one might look back into K-State's 1944 season's record and draw a comparison. The 1944 Wildcats won only one conference game while losing nine. In the non-conference tilts they fared better winning six and losing only four.

Ridgway Ends College Career

The Missouri game closed the collegiate basketball career of Joe Ridgway, midget forward who stole into the hearts of the K-State fans with his will to win. Joe has played two years on the Wildcat varsity. It also probably closed the playing career of center, Jack Kincheloe, forwards, Dave Weatherby and Dana Atkins, and guard Jack Bell as they probably will be inducted into the armed services soon.

Rifle Team Places Third

The K-State ROTC rifle team received a third place rating in the 1945 Hearst Trophy Matches for the Seventh Service Command. Competing with thirteen other ROTC teams in this Corps area, the team placed behind Iowa State and Wichita University by scoring 832 of a possible 1,000 points. Last year's team placed first in the Seventh Service Command and fifth in the nation.

Members of the 1945 team, each of whom will receive a marksmanship medal, are Gene Porter, Roger Lachman, Delmar Salberg, Duane Olsen and Charles Eslinger.

These matches were held between December 1, 1944 and February 15, 1945. The Seventh Service Command matches were judged by the school division of the military training division at the Corps Area Headquarters in Omaha, Neb. Comprising the Seventh Service Command are nine states: Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Wyoming, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and Colorado. All these schools participated in the contest.

Orear Speaks At Labor Forum

"Labor is becoming a spearhead of the developing trends in economic, social and political life," Leslie Orear, field worker for the Kansas City United Packinghouse Workers of America, told students Monday afternoon at the Labor Forum sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA.

For the economic reconstruction period, Mr. Orear outlined "an enduring peace with victory, prosperity, flowering of cultural and intellectual life, and a new division of social relations," as labor's conception of the people's need.

"To achieve these," Mr. Orear said, "labor unions will develop a comprehensive program." He pointed out a continuation of high production in international terms, and a high level of consumer income to solve domestic problems. "The American people are not prepared to accept retrogression after the war; we can't abandon the present standard of living," Mr. Orear stated.

The next forum is scheduled for Monday at 4 p. m. in W115. Dr. Mabel Smythe, professor of economics at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., will be the speaker. Her topic will be "Women's Place in Industry."

SGA Asks Return Of Questionnaires

Do you know your Student Council members? Are you familiar with the SGA Constitution? These are only two of the seven important questions contained in a letter which was sent recently to K-State students by the Student Council.

The Council is vitally interested in getting student opinion as a basis for revision of the SGA Constitution and in stimulating interest in student government. This is an opportune time for every student to play a part in democracy on our campus.

The letter stated that answers should be returned before Friday, March 2. Due to the late date which the letters were sent out, students are urged to return their letters as soon as possible.

Helen Dahl Member Of Broadway Chorus

"Seven Lively Arts," Billy Rose's Broadway hit, won a place in local interest. Helen Dahl, '44 music graduate from Kansas State College, is singing in the Lively Arts chorus.

Miss Dahl, daughter of Mrs. Carl Dahl, 1419 Laramie, graduated with honors from the music department last year. Since then she has been in New York continuing her music study and singing in various productions. During the summers of 1942 and 1943 Miss Dahl sang with the St. Louis Opera Company, returning in the fall of '43 to complete her music education degree.

Some of Miss Dahl's college hours were credited at Marymount College in Salina and Kansas State Teachers College in Emporia. While at Kansas State, she was prominent in musical activities and was presented frequently in music department recitals. She was a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

"Seven Lively Arts" has been drawing capacity audiences since it opened three months ago. The musical comedy is chiefly notable for mockingbird Bea Lillie.

More than 100 members of the College staff had entered the war service by June 30, 1943.

7 Organizations Will Compete In Y-Orpheum

Seven organizations will compete in the 25th annual performance of Y-Orpheum to be presented Saturday at 8 p. m. in the College Auditorium. The student skits will be packed with a variety of song and dance, comedy and drama.

The production, supervised by Prof. Earl G. Hoover, will include acts by these campus organizations: Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Clovia, Collegiate 4-H Club, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Pi Beta Phi. Embert Coles is YMCA manager.

Pete Gross, a magician from Fort Riley, will provide entertainment between the 11-minute competitive acts. Pat Fairman, Joyce Crippin and Ruth Fenton, members of the trio known as the "Melodyanns" will sing several selections. Pat Hartnett will be featured in an acrobatic dance performed on a piano bench.

Tickets are now on sale at the YMCA office in Anderson Hall. There will be no reserved seats.

Complete dress rehearsal for all organizations competing will be tomorrow night in the Auditorium.

Kappa Deltas will turn back the pages of Grandma's diary in "Gone Are The Days," directed by Ruth Schubert, while the Alpha Delta PIs will flip the pages of "Esquire" in the "Varga Calendar Girl," directed by Lee Massey.

Kappa Kappa Gammas have gone all out for varsity football according to Doris Hickey, director of "Times Are Hard All Over This Year . . . Or Are They?"

Mingling melody and sentiment the Chi Omegas directed by Phyllis Johansen will present "Angels of Mercy."

Current campus cuties at Kansas State will be depicted by the Collegiate 4-H Club in a "Style Revue."

Pi Beta Phis will give a comedy variety show . . . "One Night of Vaudeville . . . Or No Wonder It Died," directed by Helen Lawson.

Old fashioned portraits with bits of old tunes compose the Clovia act, "The Family Album." Dorothy Wilson is in charge.

Mike Ahearn will present the trophies to the winning groups. Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt, H. W. Davis and R. R. Lashbrook will judge the competitive acts. Winners will be selected from the opinions of the judges and by audience applause.

Dean Tiemann is in charge of lighting effects.

Stamp Drive Still Underway

A goal of 90 percent of the students purchasing War Stamps per week has been set by the Student Council. Students are being contacted through organizations.

The following organizations have turned in money in exchange for War Stamps: Chatterbox, Keim's Kabana, La Fiel, Maisonnelle, Pal-O-Mie, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Sigma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Van Zile Hall. This constitutes only a small percentage of the students in school.

The total of stamps sold at the booth in Anderson is $681.50.

Those organizations who have not cooperated with the war stamp chairman are: Aloha, Arcadia, Clark's Gables, Coed Court, Hill's Heights, Moore th' Merrier, The Shanty, Trammal, Alpha Delta Pi, Clovia, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Annex I, Annex II, and House of Williams. Those who have not turned in their money should contact Phyllis Johansen.

YM Sponsors Dance

An all-college dance at the U. S. O. on April 6th is being planned by the College YMCA. Guests of honor at this dance will be the officers and nurses of the newly established evacuation hospital at Fort Riley. Some hundred officers and fifty nurses are expected to attend. This is the second dance to be sponsored by the YMCA this year.

Hill Speaks At Dinner

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the Department of Speech, will speak at a dinner of the Marshall County Teachers' Association Saturday.

Kansas State's New Field House and Men's Gymnasium

This is an architect's conception of the new Field House and Men's Gymnasium which will be constructed north of Memorial Stadium with funds appropriated by the 1945 legislature. The $750,000 structure will be built of native limestone. In addition to providing space for athletics events and physical education classes, the new Field House will provide housing facilities for such groups as 4-H Club Roundup which meet annually on the campus.

Schoeppel Signs Appropriation Bill For KSC Field House, Animals Lab

A field house and a small animals research laboratory for Kansas State College became assured March 8 when Governor Andrew F. Schoeppel signed an appropriation measure which included funds for the construction of these two buildings. Construction will begin as soon as materials are available.

Governor Schoeppel signed into law the bill appropriating $2,675,000 from the state's special one-fourth-mill educational building tax for a building program for the next two years at the five state colleges of Kansas. The sum of $750,000 for the Field House and Men's Gymnasium at Kansas State was the largest single item in the bill.

The assurance of a field house at the College climaxes five years of agitation on the part of students, alumni and friends of the College. It was on March 25, 1940, that student leaders on the campus met and formulated the battle cry—"Let's Have A Crackerjack Field House Instead of a Crackerbox Coliseum." The first student group to promote work for a Field House was headed by Joe Robertson. Other members were Al Makins, Jim Stockman, Norris Holstrom, Carl Roach, Gene Fair, Bill Beezley, Don Crumbaker, Leslie Edgington, John Eyer and Fred Eyestone.

In April of that year students staged a Field House rally. Members of the basketball team attired in barrels took part in a parade declaring, "We might as well be without pants as without a field house." Jack Gardner was coaching his first season of basketball for the Wildcats. He displayed his interest for a Field House where his team could be seen in action by outsiders as well as students. He became known as "Jack The Builder" Gardner. On April 30, 1940, a cornerstone for the new building was laid with great ceremony by Gardner on the proposed site north of Memorial Stadium.

Students sent a petition to Governor Payne Ratner May 1, 1940, in which more than 3,000 students urged the construction of a Field House. They requested that the Field House be placed first on the building list.

Although student interest died down during the summer, it came back in full force in the winter of 1940-41. The campaign of the second year was guided by a permanent student Field House committee headed by Don Makins. Other members included Jack Haymaker, Bob Wells, Pierce Wheatley, Ray Bukaty and Mary Griswold.

K-Staters were urged by The Collegian to write their legislators. During the Christmas holidays of 1940, rallies were staged by students in their home towns. The climax to the Field House drive was January 13, 1941, when nearly 1,000 students led by the College band, ROTC and cheer leaders paraded through Aggieville and the business section of Manhattan. The parade in which the Manhattan Junior Chamber of Commerce participated was six blocks long. Townspeople who took part in the parade displayed signs which read "I haven't seen a game in the crack-box since 1920."

Senator Rolla W. Coleman of Johnson County, introduced a bill to create a 10-year building program for state colleges of Kansas to the 1941 session of the legislature. Opposition was great against the bill and it was killed by the senate ways and means committee.

A request for a Field House and Men's Gymnasium was placed at the head of the building list by President F. D. Farrell in his biennial report June 30, 1942. It also headed the list of requests for buildings submitted to the Board of Regents by President Milton S. Eisenhower in his biennial report June 30, 1944.

Beach Speaks At Assembly

Dr. Frank A. Beach, Chairman and Curator of the Department of Animal Behavior at the American Museum of Natural History, New York, will speak at an assembly Tuesday at 9 a. m. The subject of the address will be announced later.

A visitor on the campus from Monday morning until Wednesday noon, Dr. Beach will hold informal conferences with students. He will also be present at the zoology seminar Tuesday at 4 p. m.

Dr. Beach received his master's degree at the State Teachers College in Emporia. After graduation he received his Ph. D. at the University of Chicago. From Chicago Dr. Beach moved to Harvard University where he served as research assistant in Neuropsychology for two years. In 1938 Dr. Beach joined the staff of the American Museum of Natural History.

The visit of Dr. Beach on the campus is sponsored by the Science Club, Sigma Xi, Assembly Committee Fund, the Departments of Zoology, Animal Husbandry, Dairy Husbandry, and the Graduate School.

Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the Department of Speech, led an open forum on "Postwar Education" at the Salina USO Sunday.

Income Taxes . . .

Any student who has earned less than $500 in 1944 is entitled to a refund of all taxes withheld from his wages. The Federal Income Tax form is due today. Prof. H. M. Stewart of the economics department has volunteered his services to students in filling out these forms. Professor Stewart has the Income Tax forms and asks that any students desiring help call on him as soon as possible.

Auction Service Of Faculty Members

Various faculty members were at the mercy of the student body at an auction of faculty services at the Y Carnival March 10. Hannah Bacon, Hutchinson; Marjorie Manahan, Wellington, and Beth Jarvis, Kansas City, bid approximately $3 each for the pleasure of having a coke date with President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Genial Frank Myers of the Department of Athletics, will be serving dinner to the Pi Phi's one of these Sundays. The sorority won the bid on Mr. Myers as a houseboy. Dr. A. A. Holtz, YMCA secretary, will invade the upper floors of the Alpha Delta Pi house to make six beds for that organization.

Spring will find Dr. W. E. Grimes pushing a lawn mower over the Chi Omega lawns as his part of the Y Carnival faculty services bargain. One of the women of that sorority made the highest bid for his services.

Miss Barbara Kelley, Garden City, was the highest bidder for the services of Prof. H. W. Davis in writing a special letter which a girl can send to her G. I. boy friend. As the result of the auction Miss Anna Sturmer of the Department of English, will write a theme for Philip DeBrucque, Tulsa, Okla.

During one of the Alpha Delta Pi's busiest date nights escorts will find Dean R. W. Babcock, School of Arts and Sciences, welcoming them into the house as doorman. Dr. V. D. "Tiny" Foltz will answer the phone for half an hour for an organized group designated by Miss Ethelinda Parrish, who bought his services.

Rosemary Maloney, Kansas City, Mo., was the high bidder to win a date with Dr. Fayne H. Oberst, School of Veterinary Medicine.

This is only a partial list of the tasks members of the faculty will be doing since offering their services at a Y Carnival auction.

The people of Italy and Spain generally wear overcoats until July.

Dr. Smythe On Labor Forum

"Postwar employment will present a serious problem due to the change of women's place in industry and the fact that many want to stay in their present jobs," Dr. Mabel Smythe, professor of economics at Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., told students and faculty Monday afternoon at the Labor Forum sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA.

"Only a great expansion in civilian production will provide jobs for returning servicemen, men in essential industry and the many women who will have dependents after the war," Dr. Smythe showed that jobs cannot be distributed but must be given to the proper person.

"There are 18 million women now employed in industry, and a great many of them will need work following the war," stated Dr. Smythe. She outlined the women needing work as: "Single women with no homes; those who must help the family financially; women who enjoy working and are psychologically unfit for home life; some who are needed in industry for their talents."

"Reconversion will take time," she said, "so we must not win the war and reconvert later. We must have in mind where we're going or we may get on the wrong road."

Dr. Smythe received her A. B. degree at Mount Holyoke College, M. A. degree at Northwestern University, and a Ph. D. degree at the University of Wisconsin. Her publications include articles in "School and Society," "The Journal of Experimental Education," "The Association of American Colleges Bulletin," "The Negro College Quarterly."

The next forum is scheduled for Monday at 4 p. m. in Recreation Center. Stan C. Swenson, director of U. S. Employment Service in Manhattan will speak on "The Place of the Returning Serviceman."

Marie Wilkins Gives Concert At 8:15 Tonight

"Ave Maria" by Schubert and Mozart's "Alleluia" are among the familiar and varied numbers to be sung by Marie Wilkins in her concert tonight at 8:15 in the College Auditorium. A lyric-coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association, Miss Wilkins is the second to appear in the Manhattan Artist Series.

Assisted at the piano by Winifred Gallup, Miss Wilkins will sing "The Nightingale and the Rose" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, the "Laughing Song" from "Die Fledermaus" by Strauss, and the aria, "Je Suis Titania" from "Mignon."

From Handel's "L'Allegro," she will sing the recitative, "Let Me Wander Not Unseen" and the aria, "O Let The Merry Bells Ring Round." Another Handel selection will be "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me" from "Semele."

Miss Gallup will present two piano numbers, "The White Peacock" by Griffes and "Artist's Life" by Johann Strauss-Schutt.

Profits from the Manhattan Artist Series will be used to assure a similar series next year and to help build residence halls for women on the campus. The third and last program of this series will be the Metropolitan tenor, Charles Kullman who will appear here April 24.

Student Council Election April 6

The Student Council election will be held April 6 in the Administration building of each school. The polls will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Nine members are elected annually to the Student Council. Each school of the College has that proportion of members which its enrollment bears to the total enrollment. The quota of candidates from each school receiving the highest number of votes are declared elected. There shall be a minimum of one member from each school, and a minimum of one woman elected from the School of Arts and Sciences. In electing, no names may be written in.

The number of Council members from each school according to present enrollment figures are: one each to the Schools of Agriculture, Engineering and Architecture, and Veterinary Medicine; three each to the Schools of Arts and Sciences and Home Economics making a total of nine members.

A student is eligible to be a candidate to Student Council if he has the rating of sophomore or above, if he plans to be in school next year, and if he is eligible due to grades to participate in extra-curricular activities.

Candidates to Student Council are nominated by the presentation of a petition of nomination signed by 25 S. G. A. members from that candidate's school. Petitions must be filed with Arlene Shields, Council Recording Secretary by March 24. The Student Council has voted that since only 41 students are enrolled in the School of Agriculture, petitions from that school will be accepted if they have 10 signatures.

The present Council members are: Arlene Shields, Jean Peck, and Margaret McNamee of the School of Home Economics; Phyllis Johansen, Maurine Pence, and Ethelinda Parrish of the School of Arts and Sciences; Dick Olson, School of Veterinary Medicine; Charles Schwab, School of Engineering and Architecture, and David Neher, School of Agriculture.

Revision of the S. G. A. constitution is still in process so that no changes in the constitution will be put to a student vote at this time.

Three members of the Board of Student Publications will be elected at the same time. Their qualifications and eligibilities are the same as the Student Council members. Any student on the campus may sign the candidates petition to the Board of Student Publications.

The names of the candidates for the Board will be on all the ballots. Each voter will vote for three members. The three receiving the highest number of votes will be elected.

K-State Students Are Wet Blankets

We hear a lot these days about "nothing to do"—"nowhere to go." Students are forever looking for greener pastures—"If we could only get away where there is something going on," they say.

We suggest that these students instead of wishing for the greener pastures really look at the entertainment offered at Kansas State. This week's College Calendar lists numerous events which could be enjoyed by K-State students—if they would only attend them. For example, tonight the Artist Series is presenting Marie Wilkins, as good a soprano as any city in the nation could offer. But when students hear the word "soprano" they turn up their unintellectual noses and say, "not for me."

Most students are not aware of the "lift" which one gets from beautiful music well done. They do not realize that beautiful music can be an inspiration to perseverance, quality, courage, belief in the triumph of the beautiful and good which we need more than ever in war time. It makes, hard, dreary jobs—like daily school work, like getting along with our friends, or like convalescing from a wound—seem easier and more possible. It's an escape—but one which sends us back to reality better able to face it.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Dale Sorenson (ADPI—Kitchen Slave) fills water glasses only half full. No water shortage on Mortgage Hill—merely a habit of Slave Sorenson's. He forgets that there's only one ingredient to be poured into these glasses.

Some confusion has arisen as to what the Sig Alphas were celebrating last Friday night—whether it was Founder's Day or the launching of the Shangri-La. Because we are all confused, we also would like to know just where the party was being held—behind the screen or in front of it. Maybe Doris Johnson and Jim Ungles could straighten us out.

WARNING: Everyone be sure that you are on your best behavior these next few weeks as we hear that the charter members of a certain organization are on the lookout for pledges. Hearsay has it that this club is to be the elite of all elite and the final goal of one's college career. Here's hoping they put the "bee" on you.

Overheard at the Can: "But, I always wear a flower in my button hole." TKE—Harold.

"Wanta help paint our car?" Sigma Nu—Durham and King.

"What kinda drawers are you talkin' about?" AGR—Wedman.

"But I always thought the Beta's were such nice boys." Kappa—Collins.

"I tell ya—I don't have anything to do with it!" SAE—Sorenson.

We hear the Chi O's and Kappas were quite panhellenic the other night down at Meadow Acres. Maybe they should go out of town more often.

The Pi Phis lift their heads proudly and say "We can't take blind dates." Which may be true but it's strange how often they forget their date's name when it comes to introductions. What I mean is—

"Times are rough all over this year" say the Kappas. Example A: Now with Swift and Louthan the Alpha Xis have nine dateable men in their house.

Bulletin! Dick Olson and Mugs Monroe report that Sunset is in fine shape (you just have to wear your hip boots).

Student Council —NOTES—

The following topics were discussed at the last Student Council meeting: Student Hangout—Student Council decided to ask the Palace Drug, Mannings Cafe, Johnson's Cafe and Kiser's Cafe to stay open until twelve midnight on Friday and Saturday nights. If that is not agreeable a plan of rotation was suggested.

Campus Film—It is planned to send the movie film taken of campus scenes to high schools to interest them in Kansas State. David Neher is to contact Dr. Howard Hill to see if the Speech Department could send a student to the high schools to explain the film.

Student Council Election—Before election the Student Council plans to have a meeting to present the candidates for positions on the council. Monday following the election an assembly will be held to announce and introduce those members elected.

Orchestras—Jake Mosier was present at the last Student Council meeting. He read a letter from Howard White which stated that several bands might be available: Nat Towels, Eddie Haddit, and Lee Baron. The possibility of having one of these bands come to Kansas State was discussed.

Varsities—The Council decided to have one varsity weekly following this week-end.

Activities—Activity Limiting Committee gave their report. The report was discussed and a few changes were made. The report will be published in the Collegian. The council will get student opinion on the matter before it is actually put into effect.

Students Give $849 To Red Cross Drive

Students contributed $848.34 to the Red Cross drive which ended Saturday noon, according to Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt, Assistant Dean of Women. The quota for this year was $1200.

All organizations had not turned in their contributions to Mrs. Schmitt on Tuesday.

Last year $513 was raised on the campus, with a quota of $375, 27 percent over the quota. This year, with the reduced enrollment, the students profited about $300 more than that raised last year.

M. C. Moggie, assistant professor of education was chairman for the Red Cross drive. Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt and A. L. Pugsley, professor of engineering and architecture were in charge of the student drive which Prix, junior women's honorary organization, sponsored.

Organize Alumni Group
K. L. Ford, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, and Prof. V. L. Strickland, of the Department of Education, attended an alumni meeting in Concordia recently. A Cloud County alumni association was organized and nine directors were elected from alumni living in that county.

As their first project the association will undertake the raising of $2,000 in gifts to be given to the Kansas State College Endowment Fund. The money will go into the general fund to help build new women's dormitories.

WSSF To Sponsor 'Meagre Meal'

The committee in charge of the World Student Service Fund at Kansas State hopes to raise $1,000 through their "Meagre Meal" project in which all of the organized houses have been asked to cooperate. The first of the meals was served Monday night at the Pi Beta Phi house.

A speaker will be sent to each house to explain the purposes of the W. S. S. F. The menu which has been suggested by the committee, consists of bean soup flavored with onion, and a vegetable salad sandwich made of carrots and cabbage.

Chairman of the campus committee is Dean Tiemann. Other members are Helen Dameron, Maurine Pence, Merle Eyestone, Ayle Albertson, Dr. Martha Kramer, Bill Guerrant, Johnny Bob Pallett and Vernelle Blevins. President Eisenhower is one of the vice-presidents of the world organization.

The fund, which provides relief for students and professors who are victims of war, is the American student's part in the world enterprise of student-to-student help.

Church News

Mariana Mueller is in charge of the bridge party Sigma Eta Chi of the Congregational Church is having at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Mary Holland, Tuesday. This group has just completed twenty wool skirts for war victims.

Kappa Phi will meet Tuesday at Wesley Hall at 7:30 p. m. Mary Briles is in charge of the program which will be based on the theme "Together we Lift a Mighty Chord." The Saturday Niteers will have a backward party Saturday at 8 p. m. at Wesley Hall. Dorothy Bemis is in charge of the lesson on "Personalities of Passion No. 2" at Wesley Hall at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

A chaplain from Fort Riley will be guest speaker at the Christian Youth Fellowship Forum on Christian Paths for the Service man. Leora Bently is planning the vesper program.

Phi Chi Delta is holding an initiation dinner at Westminster House at 5:45 p. m. Tuesday. After the initiation Dr. Randall C. Hill will show some pictures.

The Citizenship Committee headed by Maurine Pence and Frances Ewart will present the lesson to Baptist young people Sunday. Women of Theta Epsilon are asked to watch the Church bulletin for time and place of their meeting Tuesday.

A MEMBER of THE CLASS OF 1945

Spickness and spanness were de rigueur in the colleges of the 1840s. This portrait depicts a member of the Class of 1845 attired for the Junior Prom. Observe the height of his stock and the costly ruffles on his shirt.

In that same year, 1845, the Mexican War was imminent. Railway Express service was 6 years old. The colleges were few. Now, a century later, America is fighting a global war, the colleges are counted by thousands, and our service is nation-wide.

Today, the colleges are training students for the armed services; and the rail and air facilities of Railway Express are being largely utilized for the speeding of war-goods shipments. So, to help all concerned, please do three simple things with your 1945 home packages and baggage: Pack them securely—address clearly and adequately—avoid abbreviating state names.

The little island of Saipan today has communications facilities greater than those of Hartford, Connecticut.

Without this vast array of telephone, teletype and radio apparatus—much of it made by Western Electric—Saipan could not play its key part as an army, navy and air base in the great drive our fighting forces are making toward Tokyo.

When you realize that Saipan is only one small island—and that many more bases must be taken and similarly developed—you get some idea of the job still ahead.

Today the manpower and manufacturing facilities of Western Electric are devoted to meeting our fighters' increased needs. That's why there is not enough telephone equipment for all civilian requirements.

Two K-Staters On Big Six Honorary Basketball Team

Two Kansas State basketball players, Jay Payton, a guard from Emporia, and Dave Weatherby, Neodesha forward, have been named on the all-Big Six honorary team selected by the Associated Press, conference coaches and sports writers. Payton was placed on the first team and Weatherby won a spot on the second.

Sharing first team honors with Payton were Jim Myers, Iowa State, forward; Gordon Reynolds, Kansas, forward; Bob Mott, Iowa State, center; Jack Landon, Oklahoma, guard.

On the second team with Weatherby were Harold (Scooter) Hines, Oklahoma, forward; Art Peterson, Nebraska, center; Gene Kurash, Missouri, guard; and Bill Block, Iowa State, guard.

Payton, a discharged war veteran, is a junior at K-State and probably will be available for the entire season next winter. This was his first year in the Big Six, although he competed for Emporia Teachers before the war. He played his high school ball at Newton. Payton's experience and court generalship helped lead Coach Fritz Knorr's young Wildcats to one of the most successful seasons in K-State history. The Associated Press praised the Wildcat guard's ability to make long shots and passes, both plain and fancy throws.

Weatherby, a freshman, was one of the deadliest shotmakers in the conference. He finished fourth in Big Six scoring with a 10-point game average. At times, the A. P. said, Weatherby was capable of playing on the all-Big Six first team but his weakness on defense prevented the honor. Lanky Dave, an 18-year-old, probably will be lost to the squad next year as he is expected to report to the army air corps soon.

On the United Press all-star selection, both Payton and Weatherby were named on the second team with Payton receiving co-captaincy honors.

Elect Ridgway Cage Team Captain

Joe Ridgway, senior forward from Oberlin, was elected honorary captain of the Kansas State basketball team at a cage-team dinner given Thursday, March 8, by Mrs. Fritz Knorr, wife of the Wildcat coach.

Ridgway, the only letterman on the 1944-45 Wildcat squad which won 10 games and lost 13, scored 144 points during the season. His record was surpassed only by Freshman Dave Weatherby, Neodesha, who tallied 187 points during the season.

Ridgway, smallest man in the Big Six conference this past season, played with the K-State A. S. T. P. team during the 1943-44 season and with Kansas State in 1942-43. He is enrolled in the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Miss Elizabeth Stewart of the Home Economics Department, completed her copy for a bulletin entitled "Cookie Jar." The bulletin went to the State Printer last week.

Spring Practice Is Underway

Coach Ward Haylett is very pleased with the fine turn out for spring football practice, but he is still looking for new prospects. Coach Haylett reports that 28 men have turned out for practice.

The coaching staff has been drilling the men on fundamentals of blocking, tackling and passing. In the remaining four weeks of practice team plays will be emphasized.

An attractive schedule has been drawn up for next fall. Washburn at Topeka is back on the schedule and the Marquette Hilltoppers at Milwaukee, Wis., have been added to the list of foes that the Wildcats will meet next fall.

"Several new prospects look like they have possibilities," says Coach Haylett. "Some of them who have reported for practice regularly and made a fine showing in practice are Bascona, Brandeo, Armstrong, Campbell, Durham, Newson, Sage, Schriener and Smith."

Quill Club Meets Tonight

Quill Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in A227 for a regular meeting, according to Miss Ada Rice, faculty sponsor. The meeting will be over in time to attend the Marie Wilkins' concert.

Manuscripts that have been submitted for membership to Quill Club will be read and discussed. All members are urged to attend because new members will be elected.

SOCIETY

Sigma Alpha Epsilon initiated the following members Friday afternoon: Ronnie Webster, Walter Gage, Arthur Rosenberg, and Tom Lyons. Friday evening a Founder's Day stag dinner was held at the Wareham Hotel followed by a dance in the Flame Room.

Alpha Delta Pi initiates are Cathryn Bowen, Peggy Brown, Ro Jean Burgwin, Jean Crawford, Barbara Dial, Phyllis Fredrickson, Mary Jeanne Miller, Pat Martin, Maria Norman, Ruth Norman, Jo Ann Petrich, Rowena Pippin, Glennis Potter, Della Gray Smith, Mary Eleanor Smith, Suzanne Smith, Eleanor Striegel, and Wilma Ward. At the formal initiation dinner Sunday Maria Norman was awarded the scholarship ring. Jean Crawford received second high scholarship recognition and Rowena Pippin got the award for the best pledge theme.

Isabelle Neal, Chi Omega, f. s. and Ensign Harold Elmer f. s. of Manhattan were married Sunday in Salina. Ensign Elmer was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Doyle Kern is the new president of TKE. Other officers are Larry McClaughry, vice president; Lewis Runnels, secretary; Joe Lundholm, treasurer; Albert Maxfield, pledge master; and Gene Spratt, reporter.

Edna Espenshade passed chocolates at Arcadia recently announcing her engagement to A/C Robert Houlton of Abilene. A/C Houlton is now stationed at Memphis, Tenn., as a member of the V-6 Navy Training Program.

New officers of Kappa Kappa Gamma are Doris Dickey, president; Mary Ann Luhnnow, standards chairman; Barbara Houghton, recording secretary; Joann Yapp, corresponding secretary; Helen Hoover, treasurer; Dorothy Ainsworth, registrar; Barbara West, rush chairman; Bettye Webber, pledge captain, and Doris Johnson, social chairman.

Pi Beta Phi formally pledged Ida Frederick Tuesday.

Formal recognition dinner was held Saturday night by the Kappa Deltas. Norma Van Buren received recognition for making the highest grades in the pledge class, and Elizabeth Grimes, for making the highest grades in the active chapter. Lois Meisner was named outstanding member.

Adelaide Swift is the new president of Alpha Xi Delta. The following members were elected to other offices: Marion Asher, vice president; Kathleen Peterson, secretary; Edna Gilmore, treasurer; Muriel Becker, social chairman; and Flo Hineman, rush chairman.

New officers of Hill's Heights are Betty Pressgrove, president; Marion Dunbar, vice president; and Patty Adams, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. George Hemminger of Lincoln,

Neb., province president of Alpha Xi Delta, was a guest of the local chapter this week. A formal dinner was given in her honor Tuesday evening.

Members of Chi Omega sorority were guests at a tea dance for enlisted men Sunday at Fort Riley.

"Framed" Men Contest Held By Home Ecs

"The Most Handsome Man in a Frame"—Would you like for your brother, father, sweetheart or your sister's boyfriend to claim that title? Home Economics students will have the opportunity to display their "pin-up (or is it frame-up) boys" next week in Calvin Hall and place them in competition for that illustrious title of "The Most Handsome Man in a Frame."

The Home Ec Club is sponsoring the contest and only students enrolled in Home Economics are eligible to enter the photographs of their men. Registration for the contest will be in Calvin Hall Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and the pictures must be placed on display. Each student may enter as many pictures as she wishes. There is an entry fee of ten cents per picture.

Photographs will be judged by three faculty members and the winners will be announced at a barn dance in the women's gymnasium Thursday night.

Roberta Ince is chairman of the contest. Committees are: publicity, Carol Shields, Marie Oberhelman, Mary Alice Duer; barn dance, Barbara Rogers, Marjorie Bunge, Mary Peddicord; invitations, Peggy Cheatum, Lola Warden; contest, Betty Swan, Faye Sloan, Emily Kirk and Gladys Goff.

Social Club Meets

The College Social Club met in Recreation Center on Monday, at 2:45 o'clock. Guests were former members, housemothers, and graduate assistants. The receiving line included: Mrs. M. S. Eisenhower, Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. Ned W. Kimball, Mrs. George Farmer, and Miss Mary Lou Dunkerly.

The program was an old-fashioned melodrama, "Curse You, Jack Dalton," presented by seven members of the club. Those who poured were Dean Helen Moore, Mrs. Eisenhower, Mrs. R. R. Snook, and Mrs. Roger Smith.

Formal Is Planned

The annual spring formal, sponsored by Amicossembly, will be March 23 from 9 to 12 p. m. at Thompson Hall. Harold Hunt's orchestra will play. The dance is for independent students only.

The receiving line includes Dean Helen Moore, Miss Dorothy Hamer, Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt, Mrs. E. E. Rogers, Miss Eva Lyman, and Hope Watts, president of Amicossembly. Housemothers of independent organized houses will be chaperones. Refreshments will be served.

Tickets will be on sale soon. Only 150 tickets may be sold, and women of the independent organized houses will be given first chance to buy them. The rest of the tickets go on sale at a booth in Anderson Hall on March 22 and 23 to other independent students.

Action Exhibits Will Be Hospitality Day Feature

Action exhibits will be a feature of the 1945 Hospitality Day, April 20, according to Gladys Richardson, chairman of Hospitality Day exhibits committee. Actual demonstrations of food preparation, time saving helps, and clothing construction will be in progress on that day.

Members of the committee are: Dorothy McIntosh, food research; Pat Putnam, nutrition research; Shirley Gessell, clothing; Betty Sharp, textiles; Betty Gail Parker and Mary Dressel, art; Mrs. Alice Klema, child welfare; Jean Selby, nursing; and Arlene Shields, home economics and business.

NUMBER 23

Alpha Deltas, Kappas Top Orpheum Acts

The Y-Orpheum Oscar went to Alpha Delta Pi sorority and the Kappa Kappa Gamma skit won second place in the 25th annual Y-Orpheum competition Saturday night. A skit by Kappa Delta was given honorable mention.

The winning "Varga Calendar Girl" skit was directed by Lee Massey. Twelve Varga girls beautifully costumed to represent the months of the year emerged in turn from a huge replica of the cover of an Esquire magazine. Charles Eslinger sat on a park bench watching the beauty parade as a sextet of can-can girls chanted jingles for each of the months. In the finale Eslinger sang "Day Dreaming" with the Varga girl chorus.

The dressing room of the Kansas State coed football squad was the scene of "Things Are Rough All Over" which won the second place trophy for the Kappas. Coach Nina Heberer was giving the "boys" a last minute pep talk before a game with K. U., when word of the war's end was brought in by a news boy. Gerald Goetch appeared to represent Kansas State men returning from the wars. The act ended as the girls abandoned the football game shouting "Beat 'em next year." Doris Dickey was the director.

The reminiscent "Gone Are the Days" presented by the Kappa Deltas was honorably mentioned by the judges. As a little old lady sitting in a rocking chair remembered her youth, two couples pantomimed her memories and a 1945 version of them. Phyllis Hugos as grandma picked up her skirts and did a tap dance to bring the skit to a hilarious close. Ruth Schubert was in charge.

The Chi Omega's "Angels of Mercy" depicted the work of American war nurses. A chorus of girls dressed in white formed a huge V to sing "Angels of Mercy" with Lois Johnson as soloist. Phyllis Johansen was Chi Omega director.

The Clovias opened "The Family Album" to reveal the ancient family skeleton of "Wild Cat Kelly," baby pictures and wedding portraits of grandma and grandpa.

The Pi Phis returned the audience to vaudeville days with "One Night in Vaudeville, or No Wonder it Died." Rosemary Atzenweiller was featured as vocal soloist. Helen Lawson was manager of the act.

Between-act features included a hypnotic demonstration by Pfc. Pete Gross of Ft. Riley, an acrobatic dance by Pat Hartnett and several selections by "The Melodyanns, Ruth Fenton, Joyce Crippen and Patt Fairman.

Mike Ahearn presented the trophies as a representative of the group of judges which also included Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt, H. W. Davis and R. R. Lashbrook.

Coeds Say Gallagher "Ideal" A. P. Man

Two Moore Th' Merrier girls, June Rucker and Barbara King, recently followed the good old American custom of expressing their opinions, and found themselves in newsprint. A letter from the two students appeared in the "Letters to the Editors" section of the March 5 issue of Life magazine.

Pictures of war correspondents had appeared in an earlier issue, and the two girls decided to pick one as their "ideal" correspondent. Life published their letter:

"We have decided that A. P.'s correspondent, Wes Gallagher, is the correspondent we would most like to correspond with."

Faulkner Speaks On Radio

The seventh in the series of Good English talks presented by faculty members of the Department of English will be given on March 28 over KSAC at 5:15 p. m. J. O. Faulkner, professor of English, will talk on the subject "Diction: Improperities."

Seniors . . .

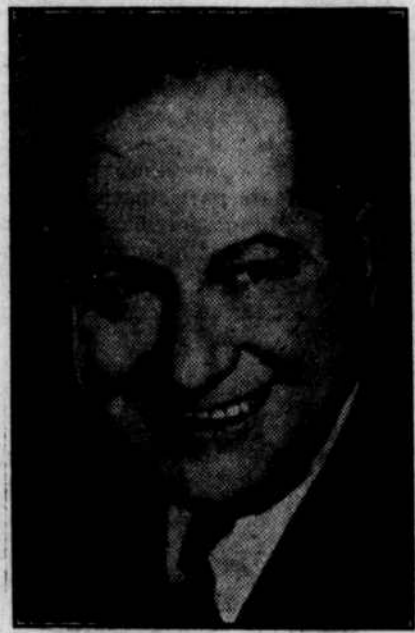

Seniors! Orders must be placed for invitations for the May commencement by March 27 at the sales counter in Kedzie Hall. All invitations must be paid for in full at the time of placing the order.

Independents . . .

Election of Independent candidates for next year's Student Council is in Anderson Hall today from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Romberg Will Appear Here

Sigmund Romberg and his concert orchestra will appear at the College Auditorium on Thursday, April 12, at 8:15 p. m. His orchestra is composed of sixty artists including outstanding soloists. Mr. Romberg is the famous composer of "The Desert Song", "The Student Prince", "Maytime", "Blossom Time", "New Moon", and the new Broadway hit, "Up in Central Park".

This concert is sponsored by the American Association of University Women. The proceeds will be given to the women's residence hall fund.

Tickets will be on sale from April 2 to 12 at the Brown Music Store and the auditorium box office from 3 to 8 p. m.

K-Staters Enjoy Marie Wilkins

The Manhattan Artists Series presented Marie Wilkins, lyric-coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association, to a very enthusiastic audience at the College Auditorium March 15. Mrs. Wilkins' program was quite varied. Each individual number was carefully projected with reference to the style demanded. Her musicianship was beyond question, everything being in the best of taste. Tonally the lyric songs were more satisfactory and pleasing than the coloratura ones.

She has a very good command of all the fireworks of the coloratura, scales, arpeggios, accented trills, etc. The Proch variations, the dell'Aquila "La Villanelle," the Strauss "Laughing Song," the Thomas "Je suis Titania" ably demonstrated this side of her art. More satisfying, however, were the Handel and Mozart arias. Most attractive also were three songs by Falla and Longas. The Schubert "Ave Maria" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "The Nightingale and the Rose" were especially fine, exhibiting fine control over shading.

A rather carefully considered use was made of a rather wide dynamic range in singing. The "Norwegian Echo Song" was especially pleasing in this respect. Mrs. Wilkins sang a number of encores including Howells' "The Stuttering Lovers," Somervell's variation in the style of Strauss on "Long, Long Ago," Offenbach's "Doll's Song" from the "Tales of Hoffman," and the "Last Rose of Summer."

Mrs. Wilkins was accompanied by Winifred Gallup who also played a group of two piano solos.—C. W. S.

Prof. Pelton, Cpl. Myrvik Present Recital Sunday

Miss Marion Pelton, assistant professor of piano, and Cpl. Norman C. Myrvik, stationed at Fort Riley, will present a recital Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Manhattan USO. It is sponsored by the Department of Music.

Corporal Myrvik recently won the regional contest in the tenor division held at Omaha for service men. Before joining the armed forces, he was a member of the faculty of Augsburg College, Augsburg, Minn.

Miss Pelton received her degree at the University of Wisconsin, and studied at the Brussels Conservatory, Brussels, Belgium.

Phi Alpha Mu Ranks Highest Scholastically

Phi Alpha Mu, honorary organization for women in the School of Arts and Sciences, heads the scholarship list of 22 campus organizations for the first semester with a 2.39 grade average, Miss Mary Kimball, College registrar, announced today. Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, had a 2.38 average, and Mortar Board, honorary organization for senior women, had a grade average of 2.28.

The 10 high ranking organizations were Phi Alpha Mu, Omicron Nu, Mortar Board, Prix, Mu Phi Epsilon, Sigma Tau, Quill Club, Theta Sigma Phi, Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Heading the list of the various types of organizations were: honorary organizations, women, Phi Alpha Mu, mixed, Quill Club, and men, Sigma Tau; professional organizations, women, Theta Sigma Phi, mixed, Business Students Association, and men, American Society of Mechanical Engineers; and sororities, Pi Beta Phi.

The entire scholarship list as released by Miss Kimball includes: Phi Alpha Mu, 2.39; Omicron Nu, 2.38; Mortar Board, 2.28; Prix, 2.23; Mu Phi Epsilon, 2.14; Sigma Tau, 2.06; Quill Club, 2.04; Theta Sigma Phi, 2.00; Pi Beta Phi, 1.87; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1.86; Clovia, 1.82; Alpha Delta Pi, 1.79; Delta Delta Delta, 1.72; Business Students Association, 1.726; American Society of Mechanical Engineers, 1.71; Chi Omega, 1.70; Alpha Xi Delta, 1.698; Kappa Delta, 1.690; American Institute of Electrical Engineers, 1.27; American Institute of Architects, 1.26; Agricultural Association, 1.23; and K Fraternity, 1.18.

Blueprint New Field House

Kansas State's dream-come-true Field House, to be constructed when building materials are available, will provide an ultra-modern haven for athletes, physical education students, coaches, instructors, sports fans and such groups as 4-H Club members, who hold annual meetings on the K-State campus in Manhattan.

According to preliminary plans drawn by the College Department of Architecture, the Field House and gymnasium will be built of native limestone and located just north of Memorial Stadium. The main entrance will face east toward the Student Union which probably will be constructed at the same time.

The interior of the Field House proper will be 175 feet wide and 315 feet long and will have a dirt floor suitable for indoor football practice, tennis, hockey and similar sports. A removable section of wooden floor will be installed over part of the area for basketball games and other events, and there is to be adequate space for installation of an indoor running track.

Along the north, east and west sides of the Field House interior will be a U-shaped balcony with seats built similar to those in the football stadium. Ample space will be provided below the balcony for erection of temporary seats. It is estimated the Field House will seat 7,500 persons. The height of the ceiling will range from 38 feet near the side walls of the building to 80 feet in the center.

The gymnasium part of the L-shaped building will be a section built onto the west side of the Field House. The new gym, chiefly for physical education work and athletics department offices, will be a five-story building.

Glass brick panels on each end of the Field House will facilitate lighting in the spacious natural limestone building.

Award to Van Winkle

Professor and Mrs. W. A. Van Winkle have received the Purple Heart, awarded posthumously to their son, Richard J. Van Winkle, who died of wounds received in action on January 7.

Van Winkle was serving in a tank battalion in the European theatre of operations when wounded. He attended Kansas State for one and a half years before entering the Army. His father is associate professor in the chemistry department.

K-Staters Exceed Quota In Red Cross Campaign

With late gifts to be recorded and one department still unreported, Kansas State College already has oversubscribed its Red Cross goal $664.84. Dr. Maurice C. Moggie, chairman of the campus drive, reports. Faculty, employees and students have contributed $4,289.84 to the drive. The whole drive was 18.3 percent over the original quota.

Beach Speaks At Assembly

Dr. Frank A. Beach, chairman of the Department of Animal Behavior at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, addressed the student body at an assembly Tuesday morning in the College Auditorium.

To explain how animals are influenced by early habits, Dr. Beach showed a film which pictured the different social habits of young sheep that were fed at birth by man as contrasted with sheep of the same age which were fed by the ewe. Similar examples in the training of geese also were shown in the film.

Social behavior of adult human beings depends on early training in childhood just as behavior of lower forms of animals depends on their early experiences, Dr. Beach told the students.

"Since animals show different scales of intelligence," he concluded, "their learning scales can be compared with the various learning scales of human beings."

Dr. Beach addressed the zoology department seminar Tuesday afternoon and also had informal conferences with small scientific groups and with individuals.

"Meagre Meal" Becomes Reality

Students in organized houses will eat a "Meagre Meal" tomorrow night in cooperation with a program sponsored by the World Student Service Fund.

Helen Dameron is in charge of the arrangements for the event. Student representatives talked at organized houses Monday and Tuesday nights to explain the work of the W. S. S. F. in connection with World Student Relief. Speakers were Aylo Albertson, Helen Dameron, Frances Ewart, Merle Eyestone, Margaret Parker, Ruth Fenton, Maurine Pence, Lois Johnson, Dean Tiemann, and Joan Stoecker.

W. S. S. F. is an educational and fund-making organization which operates primarily in the colleges and universities of the United States in order to raise money for world student relief which goes to students and faculty members who are victims of war in all parts of the world.

Next week a poster with pictures of former Kansas State students who are now prisoners of war will be put up in Anderson Hall. This poster will be behind a barbed wire fence as a reminder of the need for the work which is done by the World Student Service Fund.

K-Staters Attend Wichita Conference

Last weekend Frances Ewart, Jeanne Patterson, Mary Brass, Rai Upchurch and Judith Cozier attended a conference held for young people of college age at Friends University in Wichita. They studied the problems of building international peace, eliminating racial tension, providing economic justice and making religion a need on the college campus.

Two outstanding purposes led the young people in their thinking. These were to gain information about the nature of the job to be done and to fellowship together and mutually strengthen each other in our common concern. Speakers for the conference included Ethel Alpenfels, anthropologist of the University of Chicago and William J. Faulkner, dean of the Chapel at First University and Maharry Medical College.

On Saturday afternoon those attending the conference were divided into three groups. Each group went out into the city to put into practical use their knowledge of dealing with these vital problems. Their visit included the settlement sections and the Negro children's home.

Independents Elect SGA Candidates

Independent Student Council candidates are being selected today at a primary election in Anderson Hall. Nominees were chosen at a meeting in Recreation Center Monday. In the Student Council election April 6 three members will be elected from the School of Arts and Science and three from the School of Home Economics. One member each will be elected from the Schools of Veterinary Medicine, Engineering and Architecture and Agriculture.

Home economics nominees are Hope Watts, Margaret Bennett, Annie Gardner, Rachel Gossard, Jean Renau, Jean Greenawalt, and Louise Darby.

Frances Ewart, Dean Tiemann, Jean Waincott, Elizabeth Flippo and Carol Halbower are the nominees from the School of Arts and Science.

Engineering nominees are Otis Cross, Dick Smith, Dick Stockman and Stanley Stuart. Myron Kromminga, Glynden Easley and John Woodbridge are the nominees from the School of Veterinary Medicine.

Independent candidates for the Board of Student Publications will be chosen from the nominees, Betty Engle, Dorothy McIntosh, David Neher, Jean Selby and Dorothy Cochran.

Eisenhower Keeps Coke Date With Coeds

A coke date with President Milton Eisenhower pays dividends when the "coke" are transformed into chocolate malts.

At the Y Carnival auction Hannah Bacon, Beth Jarvis and Marjorie Manahan were the successful bidders for a coke date with the President, and Monday at 4 p. m. he called for them in his car and took them to the Canteen.

Attention Seniors!

Senior class meeting will be held tomorrow at 115 Willard. Commencement announcements and other matters concerning the senior class will be discussed at this time.

Holton To Topeka

Dr. E. L. Holton attended a meeting of the State Board of Education in Topeka, Monday. He is a member of the State Board.

The Art Of Giving...

Behaviors are revealing of attitudes. How do we show a sympathetic attitude to those who are in trouble or need?

We can be sympathetic by our reassuring presence when we can give food, write notes—or maybe just visit friends. But say that these people in need live in China—or other parts of the world. These people who have lost their home, family, friends, and livelihood can not be visited. But we can always send gifts.

If we send only our surplus our gift will lack the warmth of personal sacrifice. If we put aside some of our own food, the Chinese hungry will receive both the gift and the giver.

The cohesiveness of society is based on sympathy and cooperation. In these troubled times anything we can do to cement friendship will bring closer the days of international neighborhood. We must remember that when we're asked to give...

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Spring has come! So again we take to the rolling green hills of Sunset. Sunset, that's the land of picknecks—picknecks consist of blankets, Sig Alphas, Kappas and 3.2. Sometimes there's even some food (usually frowned upon by the elite).

At last the little bird has come to roost. Dagwood (I love 'em all) Wedman finally decided to bestow his affectionate Ford V-8 on one Charlene Warner only to have the Coast Guard move in. Is it "anchors away" again, Dag?

Well-reared Ray Walker stole the show at the recent Y-Orpheum. He wore a rose nightgown so flattering to most Power's models.

Speaking of Y-Orpheum, wonder who emptied all those bottles for the Pi Phis? Jean Smith was overheard saying, "Why did I have to break my leg before all the Chi O's became Angels of Mercy?"—Were those really ADPis?—Wonder what the Kappas would do without Goetch (from recent rumors they may have to). The Clovias enacted their favorite living room scene, looking at the family album. And the K-D's got honorable mention, but we'd still vote for the 4-H girls.

Overheard at the Can: (Waving the box in his hand)—"I got some Kleenex too, Freda!", Phil Kyser.

Apology: Sorry we mentioned Olson and Monroe together—they aren't yet! Our apologies to you Mugs, we knew you weren't that kind of girl. It was just a temptation to play cupid, you know.

Question of the week: Will Craig Bracken take the lead or will he not? (Stage managers are essential too.)

Once upon a time a little man, whose first love is women (whose isn't) and the second motorcycles made a trip to visit his old hometown flame. The story goes that his Annex I dreamboat had to spend a dreary week-end alone.

Embert (Sam Goldwyn) Coles appears to be following in the footsteps of C. B. Bracken (B stands for Barrymore, you remember). Heard Bracken turned down four movie offers last week. They wanted him for a stand in for Frog, Roy Rogers side kick.

Tom Tuttle wishes it to be known that senior sneak tryouts will be held each and every Friday night from now until such time he feels the cast is ready for the final production. Ed. Note: Dean Helen Moore and Dr. Holtz will assist him.

Since the Alpha Deltas won the Y-Orpheum the old telescope at the domicile of 508 Sunset has really seen hard days (correction—nights) P. S. Jake Mosier's room has a northern exposure.

Well, kids gotta go hoe the rubarb now. Since the rain the weeds are about to take over. See you all next week.

Student Council —NOTES—

At the last meeting of the Student Council it was reported that Manning's Cafe in Aggieville has consented to remain open until midnight every Friday and Saturday night in cooperation with the S. G. A. request.

An opinion of the students on the plan for the limitation of activities will be taken at the time of the Student Council election. The entire system as presented by the committee will be published in the next issue of The Collegian.

Ethelinda Parrish and Dick Olson met last week with Roy Durham, chairman of the committee on budgets and admissions of the Community Chest. The meeting was called to request that the W. S. S. F. be included in the Riley County National War Fund and Community Chest next year.

The Student Council will hold an assembly April 4 at 4 p. m. in Recreation Center. At that time the candidates for Student Council will be introduced.

The newly-elected members to the Student Council will be announced at an assembly April 9 at 4 p. m. in the auditorium. The campus film will also be shown at that meeting.

Church News

The Christian Youth Fellowship will have a Consecration Service led by Mary Long, at the Christian Church next Sunday. Lella Reed is planning the vesper program. Fellowship hour starts at 5 p. m. and will be followed by vespers and the consecration service.

The Wesley Saturday Niter will be a scavenger hunt at Wesley Hall at 8 p. m. Sunday morning, Methodist students will have a Palm Sunday breakfast at 8:30 a. m. at the Church. Tickets for this may be obtained in Illustrations Building. Neva Jean Fleener is planning the Passion Week Communion Service, to be held at Wesley Hall at 8:30 Sunday evening.

The Sunday evening program is being planned for Baptist young people by Irene Gehrke and Dora Lee Duma. It will be at the Baptist Church at 8:30.

Wise Club of the Episcopal Church will have Sunday breakfast at 8 a. m. at the Church, to be followed by Communion Service.

The Lutheran Church is also having a breakfast Sunday morning at 8:30. Tickets may be purchased from Helen Carlson, Dean Tiemann or Charlotte Dorf. There will be a short service before breakfast.

Point System Limits Activities

A point system which will limit student activities has been passed by the Student Council and is now up before the faculty council for its approval. A student poll, for opinions on the system, will be taken at the time of Student Council election on April 6.

The committee appointed by Student Council to devise the plan, wrote to the Big Six schools for information about their point systems. The only replies received so far were from Iowa State and the University of Nebraska. Both schools have point systems in effect, but the mechanics of their plans are slightly different from the plan proposed for Kansas State.

If the system that has been devised goes into effect, a part-time secretary will be hired to file cards, similar to Dean's card, which list the activities of each student. The secretary will also check the number of points used by each student.

When deficiencies are discovered by the secretary, the case will be brought before a standing committee elected by Student Council. This committee will be composed of one Student Council member who will act as chairman, one faculty member, and one person as representative from each school.

The main objectives of the point system are to distribute leadership, in order to increase efficiency in the performance of duty, and to encourage better scholarship by concentrating energies on fewer and more profitable enterprises.

The committee put a limit on the number of points each student may have in a year, and devised a table of point values for membership and holding office in every campus organization, including all professional, honorary, religious, social and athletic groups. Point values are based on factors of time, energy and responsibility.

Y W Election Thursday

Next Thursday will be the election of YW officers for the coming year. Every member has a chance to nominate the person of her choice. Nominations may either be sent into the Y office or given at the booth in Anderson. The booth will be open all day.

Recently assigned to the AAF training command radio school at Sioux Falls Army Air Field is John A. McCoy. Now training as a radio operator mechanic, Private First Class McCoy will become a member of a bomber crew upon completion of the 26-week course.

A letter received from Sgt. Robert J. Callahan informed his parents, Prof. and Mrs. J. P. Callahan, that he had been wounded March 2 while in action with the Fifth Marine Division on Iwo Jima. Sergeant Callahan, f. s., first entered the service in February, 1942, as a member of the Marine paratroopers. He was sent to the Pacific battle area in March, '43. Returning to the United States early in 1944, he was transferred from the paratroopers division into the Fifth Marine Division and after a few months additional training, was sent again to the Pacific in September, 1944. In Sergeant Callahan's letter he said, "... It was on March 2, about noon, when I was shot in the right arm between the elbow and wrist. The bullet went through but broke my arm. I also was shot in the thigh, but it is not so serious as my arm wound." A previous press release told of his participation in the capture of Mount Suribachi, where he was in charge of his unit of flame throwers.

For "meritorious achievement" while participating in aerial flights over the Southwest Pacific area, Lt. James W. McKinley, f. s., recently was awarded the Air Medal. Flight bombardments were directed against enemy installations, shipping and supply bases.

First Lt. George A. Fredrickson, a bombardier on a B-17 Flying Fortress, is on leave in the United States after serving for the past few months in England. Lieutenant Fredrickson is a former student of Kansas State College where he was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Capt. Jack Haymaker, serving in an infantry unit with the First Army, was wounded in action in the European theater. Evacuated to Belgium, he expects to be moved back to the front lines later. Captain Haymaker graduated from Kansas State in 1941, entered the Army with a reserve commission and received his advance training at Fort Benning, Ga.

TRACKING DOWN TROUBLE

This laboratory, ready to move anywhere on short notice, runs down "crimes" against good telephone service. Finding these threats is one of the many jobs of the Bell Telephone Laboratories' scientists.

The "criminals" are such things as threads of lint, traces of acids, or sulphur compounds in the air—any of which might damage telephone equipment.

In their interesting war work Bell Laboratories' scientists have been on a new kind of hunt. They have tracked down different materials for those now hard to get, found others that would serve in special conditions, and have detected in captured equipment the kinds of material the enemy uses.

These are some examples among many of the ways Bell System research is helping to serve America at war.

Twenty-Nine KS Men Report For Grid Drill

Twenty-nine men have reported to Coaches Ward Haylett, Charles Socolofsky and Fritz Knorr for spring football practice at Kansas State.

Included in the list are eight of 12 lettermen who Coach Haylett says have a "strong chance" to be on hand for the opening kickoff next September. The eight are: guards August Bogina, Girard, Marvin Norby, Pratt, and Russell Hardin, Knightstown, Ind.; center, Harold Kinard, Ruffin, S. C.; tackle, Dale Cowan, Wichita; end, John Goforth, Choteau, Okla.; and fullbacks Bill Clary, Kansas City, Mo., and Bob Mooney, Mankato. Ronnie Webster, Manhattan, halfback, has reported but may be lost to the Army air corps.

Among the lettermen who have not reported are Harvey Haas, Junction City, end; Bob King, Broken Arrow, Okla., tackle; and Jay Payton, Newton, quarterback.

Newcomers and last season's non-letter winners who have checked out suits are George Bascom, Manhattan; Charles Armstrong, Muscotah; Burton Barnes, Phillipsburg; Roy Campfield, Topeka; Clarence Deitchman, Kansas City; James Durham, Concordia; James Harrison, Mulvane; Stanley Heathman, Kansas City, Mo.; Laurel Henry, Newton; Ben Hebert, Menlo Park, Calif.; Dean Hoppas, Menlo; Carroll Nelson, Clifton; William Pritchard, Randolph, Wis.; William Schleety, Geneva, Neb.; Ralph Schreiber, Ransom; S. S. Sage, Darrell Sharp and William Dreese, all of Council Grove; James Shively, Moran; and George (Bucky) Smith, Long View, Texas.

Practice sessions started March 5 and since that time most drills have emphasized calisthenics, fundamentals and learning of plays. There has been some dummy scrimmage. Charles Socolofsky is working with the backfield candidates while Fritz Knorr tutors the line hopefuls. Head Coach Haylett divides time between football and spring track.

Swenson Speaks At Third Y Forum

"Most of the returning soldiers want to work in their home communities for good wages," Stan C. Swenson, director of U. S. Employment Service in Manhattan, told students and faculty Monday afternoon at the Labor Forum sponsored by YWCA and YMCA.

"Our biggest problem now is in convincing them that they have been misinformed about the huge resources civilians are piling up. They want to reap the 'big money' before taking advantage of training offered them in the G. I. Bill of Rights and Public Law 16," stated Mr. Swenson.

The local U. S. Employment Service's program includes finding new jobs, and giving counseling and informational services to the returning veteran. "We have had no particular trouble in placing them so far," Mr. Swenson.

The last in the series of forums will be held Monday at 4 p. m. in Recreation Center. A student-faculty panel, composed of Phyllis Hickney, Art Rosenberg, Ethelinda Parrish, Dr. A. A. Holtz, Dr. V. L. Strickland, and Professor W. H. Pine, will sum up all of the talks given the last three weeks.

Dr. R. L. Parker On Leave; Aids Bermuda Ag Department

Dr. Ralph Parker, professor of entomology, is on a three month's leave in Bermuda where he will serve as consulting entomologist to the Department of Agriculture. His trip came as a result of a research paper written by Dr. Parker which attracted the attention of Bermuda entomologists.

Dr. R. C. Smith, Department of Entomology head, said Parker's paper was written after research on a juniper midge, a tiny fly, which destroys cedar trees. A similar insect has been attacking cedars in Bermuda, the only tree which grows there.

A member of the Bermuda Department of Agriculture, while at Cornell, read the paper and contacted Dr. Parker for assistance. Dr. Parker volunteered to go to Bermuda and was immediately accepted. While there he will also work on other insect problems prevalent in that area.

Men's softball and tennis intramurals begin the first week in April. All who wish to enter must have entry blanks filed in the physical education office, N107, by March 30. Newly organized teams may get entry blanks from Prof. L. P. Washburn in the physical education office. Anyone planning to enter the tennis tournament may also get a blank there.

A golf tournament will be held this spring at the Manhattan Country Club. The date of this tournament has not been announced.

Women's basketball tournament ended Tuesday with Kappa Kappa Gamma as the winner with a score of 12-3 over the Alpha Delta Pi's. Clovia and Kappa Delta reached the semifinals.

Next on the schedule is the swimming contest. The list of entrants must be in the office by tomorrow. Practices will start Monday at 5 p. m. and will continue Mondays and Wednesdays at 5 p. m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p. m. Everyone must have two practices before competing. There will be individual events as well as team competition.

Union board members of Michigan State College at a recent meeting asked a coed to see her ring. They had heard she was engaged. The senior coed had the grace to blush and explained that the story must have started when she put a diamond ring on her left hand so she could get into an over-filled marriage class.

SOCIETY

Pat McCrary, Pi Phi, announced her engagement to A/C Kenneth Hunt now stationed at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo. More Pi Phi chocolates were from Virginia Buster as she chained the TKE pin of Bob Stainbrook to her own.

Joanne Stoeker is the new president of Delta Delta Delta. Other new officers are Jill Broberg, recording secretary; Margaret Parker, pledge trainer; Coral Wilson, corresponding secretary; Marge McInteer, rush captain; Phyllis Gfeller, social chairman; and Dorothy Ruckle, house manager.

Kappa Deltas had chocolates Wednesday night from Evelyn Scholz as she placed the diamond of Pvt. Don Potter on her third finger, left hand. Private Potter's home is in Frankfurt. He's now stationed at Fort Ord, Calif.

Virginia Grandfield was formally pledged by Clovia Tuesday.

Virginia Flook, HE '45, told of her engagement to Lt. Bill Burton by passing chocolates to the Tri Deltas Sunday.

Rosemary Ensign of Coffeyville is the newest pledge of Alpha Xi Delta.

Van Zile Hall had chocolates recently from Harriet Fisher announcing her engagement to S 1/c Bob Edgar of Sterling who is now stationed at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Alpha Delta Pi had open house for officers from Fort Riley Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m.

Annex II entertained with a Coke Dance Sunday afternoon for enlisted men from Fort Riley.

James Davis and Roy Drown were initiated by Delta Tau Delta March 14.

Van Zile Hall entertained women of Annexes I and II Monday evening from 7 to 8.

Alpha Gamma Rho will hold their annual Rose Dance at the Avalon Saturday night from 8:30 to 12.

Maurine Pence announced her engagement to Lt. Raymond E. Harbaugh of Akron, Ohio, when she passed chocolates at Theta Epsilon recently. Lieutenant Harbaugh is now stationed at Fort Riley.

Cosmopolitan Club Plans 'Feast' Soon

The annual banquet, "Feast of the Nations," of the Cosmopolitan club, will be held April 14, at the Methodist church, according to Leora Bentley, president. The club will celebrate Pan American Day, because of a majority of South American members.

Each year, members of the club do their own cooking, and prepare dishes of their native countries. Angelina Lepori and Dr. Martha Kramer are in charge of the foods committee.

There will be a few tickets available to the public.

Los Angeles covers a greater area than any city in the world.

K-State Grads Meet At Winter General

An officer woke up in Winter General Hospital, Topeka, recently only to find that the man in the adjacent cot was his former school mate. The two men who were reunited were Second Lt. Gerald McMasters, Ag. Ad. '40, and Capt. Emil Kientz, Ag. Ad. '39.

The men discovered they not only were both in the First Army but also had participated in the same battle. Captain Kientz's division had relieved the division in which Lieutenant McMasters was serving in a battle in Germany.

Captain Kientz spent 28 months in the Aleutians after which he was stationed at Fort Benning before going to the European Theater. This was his second wound. He formerly taught vocational agriculture at La Cygne. Lieutenant McMasters was teaching vocational agriculture at Auburn when he entered the service.

Home Ec's Dance At 'Agnes' Acres'

"Agnes' Acres" will be the name given to the women's gymnasium tonight at the barn dance being held for all home economics students. At the end of the evening the winner of the "framed" men contest, held earlier this week, will be announced. The party will begin with group singing at 7:30 and will end at 9:30 with the prize winning picture announced.

Half of the women will wear blue jeans and farmers' shirts, while the other half will dress as their dates in plain cotton dresses. Each woman must have a so-called "date." During the evening they will participate in square dancing and social dancing. Those on the dance committee are Barbara Rogers, Marjorie Bunge and Mary Peddicord.

Show Films Today

Three films will be shown today at 4 p. m. at the home economics lecture. "Report from Russia," "Here's China," and "Right of Way" will be the titles of these War Information films.

The "Talking Fence"

You're rolling along through mountainous western country. Suddenly your train stops. Ahead—a signal light has turned red. The "talking fence" has flashed its warning to the engineer.

Technically known as the "slide detector fence", it is erected parallel to Union Pacific tracks as a protection against falling rocks, trees or other possible obstructions. Any such object striking the fence breaks an electrical contact, "setting up" signals miles down the track to warn trains approaching in either direction. A trainman must then make a thorough inspection before trains can proceed.

Union Pacific uses every possible precaution to safeguard its passengers and freight ... troops and war materials ... transported over its Strategic Middle Route uniting the East with the Pacific Coast.

The "talking fence" is but one of the many safety devices developed by our nation's railroads. Such improvements result from enterprise and initiative; characteristic American traits that built the Union Pacific ... that built Your America, land of equal opportunity for all.

23 KS Students Nominees For Student Council

Candidates for Student Council will be introduced to one another at a meeting Wednesday at 4 p. m. in Recreation Center. All present Council members will attend and the candidates will be given a chance to speak.

Nominees for Student Council from the respective schools are: School of Agriculture—Merle Eye-stone and Gene Spratt; School of Arts and Sciences—Dean Tiemann, Frances Ewart, Jean Wainwright, Dorothy Wilson, Virginia Stoecker, and Mary Ann Luhn; School of Home Economics—Ruth Hodgson, Evelyn Scholz, Hope Watts, Rachel Gossard, Louise Darby and Mary Louise Markley.

Candidates from the School of Veterinary Medicine are Glynden Easley and Ralph Stuesser; from the School of Engineering, Stanley Stuart and Claud Shelor. Board of Publications candidates are Maria Norman, Eunice Stollenberg, Jean Selby, Betty Engle and Bob Jackson.

Elect YW Officers In Anderson Today

Kansas State women students will cast their votes for YWCA officers in Anderson Hall from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. today.

Candidates for president are Aylo Albertson and Frances Ewart. Aylo has been a member of the YWCA cabinet and was the worship co-chairman. She was active in the religious faith workshop and is a Y office hostess. She attended the Estes Student Conference in 1944. Frances also has been on the cabinet besides the leadership council and is a past publicity chairman and workshop leader. She has attended several conferences and is an office hostess.

Margaret Parker and Betty Jean Yapp are the candidates for vice-president. Margaret has been on the YWCA cabinet, freshman fellowship and was active on the hostess committee, music groups and community service worship. Betty Jean has been active in the YWCA cabinet, leadership council. She has been the dime-dance chairman for two years and was on the bazaar committee in 1944.

The two candidates for secretary are Gladys Goff and Beth Jarvis. Gladys was an active member of the leadership council and was carnival booth chairman. Beth also is in leadership council and was active on the bazaar committee, college sister program, hostess committee and was a carnival booth chairman.

Candidates for treasurer are Florence Merriam and Bonnie Smith. Florence has been in leadership council and freshman fellowship. She was program chairman in workshop and a member of the carnival central committee. Bonnie was co-chairman of the Christmas bazaar and was active in the YWCA cabinet.

YWCA members are requested to leave names of women for cabinet positions in the YW office some time this week.

Labor Panel Ends YW Forum Series

A student-faculty panel, composed of Dick Olson, Dr. A. A. Holtz, Phyllis Hickney, A. F. Peine and Art Rosenberg, discussed the talks given during the last three weeks in the YWCA Labor Forum series in Recreation Center Monday afternoon. This was the last meeting in this series.

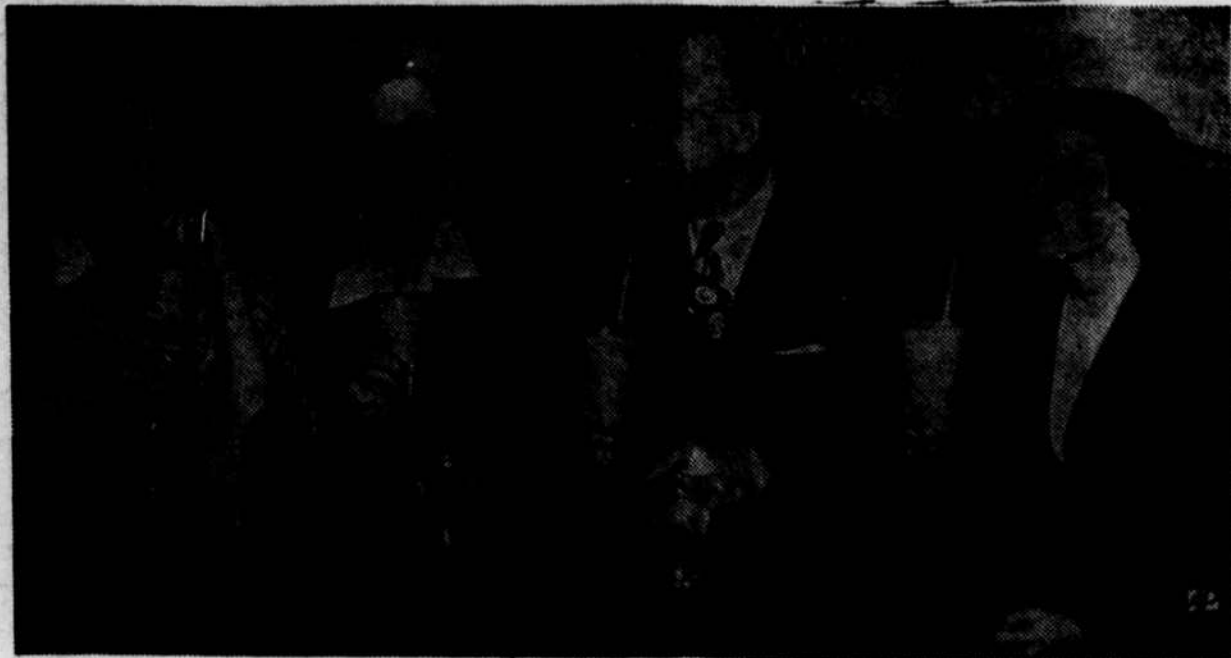

They emphasized that husbands, sweethearts and brothers returning from the war will hold the determining factor on whether or not women would continue to work in industries. Men will expect the home life which they have been fighting to preserve.

Stress was placed on the broader outlooks of future labor leaders. Due to more and higher education, especially in economics and sociology, the labor leaders of tomorrow will have a greater understanding of labor and its problems, thus helping to make an industrial democracy.

At the close of the session, Dick Olson announced that plans were being made for another Forum series on "Love and Marriage."

Persons dying in Nigeria are not buried until all of their debts have been paid.

A Date with the President

President Milton S. Eisenhower keeps "coke date" with coeds who won him at the YWCA Carnival auction. The group celebrated the occasion with malts at one of the students' favorite jelly joints. The women, who paid approximately $3 each to have the pleasure of sipping malts with K-State's president, are, left to right, Beth Jarvis, Kansas City; Hannah Bacon, Hutchinson; and Marjorie Manahan, Wellington.

YW-YM Sponsors Easter Assembly

Faculty members of the music department will present the College Easter Assembly, Wednesday at 2 p. m., sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA.

Miss Hilda Grossman, assistant professor of voice, will sing four selections. One of Miss Grossman's numbers will be "Song of the Open" by the present day composer, La Forge. The other numbers will be, "Evening in May" and "Lullaby" by Brahms and "Wohin" (Whither) by Schubert. Miss Grossman will be accompanied by Miss Clarice Painter.

Mr. Lyle Downey, assistant professor of music and director of College band and orchestra, and Mr. Richard Jenson, assistant professor of music and organ instructor, will play "Sonata in A Minor for Cello and Piano" by Schubert. This was originally written for a now extinct instrument, the Arpeggione.

"Symphonic Variations for Piano and Orchestra" by Franck will be played by Mr. Charles Stratton, associate professor of music and piano instructor, and Mr. Richard Jenson. Mr. Jenson will play the orchestral part on the organ.

GI Framed Flame Wins Picture Contest

Pvt. Edward J. Lidinsky was named the "most handsome man in a frame" at the Home Economics barn dance last Thursday night. The picture, belonging to Verna Lee Butcher, was given first place by Judges Opal Hill, instructor in the art department, and Gertrude Lienkaemper, clothing and textiles instructor.

Marilyn Larson received the prize as the "most typical barn dance character." Judges for that event were Margaret Rafington and Eva McMillan, assistant deans of Home Economics.

The women's gymnasium, called "Agnes Acres" for the evening, was decorated with hay, corn, harnesses and saddles. Frank Myers, assistant director of Physical Education, led group singing.

Coles, Wilson, Hollecker Enter Debate Contest

Embert Coles, Dorothy Wilson, and Rita Hollecker will represent Kansas State College in the Missouri Valley Oratorical Contest at Wichita this weekend. Embert Coles and Dorothy Wilson will enter the debate contest which is on the question of compulsory peacetime military conscription. Rita Hollecker is an entrant in the oration contest and Embert Coles will give an extemporaneous speech in other contests of the event.

Iowa State, Oklahoma, South Dakota State, Nebraska University, Kansas University, Wichita University, Texas University, and Kansas State will be represented at this annual event. Dr. Howard T. Hill, head of the speech department, is coaching the Kansas State group and Dr. A. A. Holtz will accompany them to Wichita.

Home Ec Lecture Today

Mrs. R. F. Gingrich will lecture on "Girl Scouts" before the Home Economics students today at 4 p. m. in Calvin 208.

Royal Purple Queens Receive Fan Mail

Two Kansas State College beauty queens have become pin-up girls to several score of servicemen stationed in outposts dotting the globe.

The fan letters began to pour in after photos of Betty Gail Parker and Arma Jo Smith, queens of the 1944 Royal Purple, appeared in the August overseas edition of Country Gentleman magazine.

A Flying Fort crew has named their ship "Queen of Kansas State" in honor of Betty Gail. In identical letters each girl was nominated "number 1 pin-up girl" of the South Pacific by the same group of engineers who evidently did not suspect that two beautiful coeds might compare notes.

The fan mail, written with typical Yank ingenuity, contains samples of most of the lines in the doughboy books down to and including the old "haven't I met you somewhere?" line. But no matter what the method of persuasion, the appeal is "I am lonely, won't you write and send a picture."

The servicemen's praise was inspired by the typically American beauty of the two coeds which made the men say "We'd rather come home to you than to Grable."

These two coeds, who were elected beauty queens of the Royal Purple by a group of servicemen last year are active in a variety of campus organizations and are officers in their sororities.

Betty Gail, a blonde, is 20 years old, lives in Manhattan and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She is a senior majoring in home economics and art. Arma Jo, who is a brunette, 18 years old and a sophomore, lives in Kansas City, Mo. She is studying languages at Kansas State and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

K-State Plans V-E Day Assembly

The College has planned a V-E Day assembly for the day of Allied Victory in Europe. The college whistle will blow at the time of the first announcement of the victory. If the college whistle blows between 3 p. m. and 8 a. m. the assembly will be held at 9 a. m.; if the whistle blows between 8 a. m. and 10:30 a. m. the assembly will be held at 11 a. m. that day; the sound of the whistle between 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. will indicate that the V-E Day assembly will be held at 4 p. m. that day.

"The National Anthem" will open the assembly in the College Auditorium. The Rev. W. U. Guerrant will read the invocation. Three World War II Veteran speakers will be introduced by Dr. A. A. Holtz.

Patriotic music will precede a speech given by President Eisenhower. Following his speech the audience will sing "America." The Rev. B. A. Rogers will pronounce the benediction.

Sophomore women are asked to send grade point averages, activities, and state whether or not they plan to be in school next year to Jean Kays before Saturday. This information is for the membership drive conducted by Priv, honorary organization for junior women.

Increase Funds By $117,000

Kansas State College received an annual increase of $117,000 in appropriations for salaries, wages, maintenance and laboratory equipment for the next biennium as compared with the present biennium which ends June 30, 1945. Increases in the appropriation bills signed by Governor Andrew F. Schoeppel include $82,000 more a year for the next biennium for salaries and wages; $30,000 more a year for maintenance and repairs and a $5,000 annual increase for the laboratory equipment fund.

Items Unchanged

Annual appropriations which remain the same as for the present biennium include the President's contingent fund $500, extension work $100,000, Northeastern Kansas experiment fields $6,000, and $5,000 each for the Southeastern Kansas experiment fields, the South Central Kansas experiment fields, the Southwestern Kansas experiment fields, the North Central Kansas experiment fields, and the bindweed experiment fields; veterinary research work $15,000, industrial research fellowships $5,000, milling and baking research $7,500 and supplemental summer instruction service for veterans $25,000.

Of the new items included in the budget for the next biennium, $92,500 is for grass utilization and pasture management investigations at Manhattan and Hays for the next two years. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated for the purchase of equipment to modernize the College mill. An equal amount was allowed to modernize the College creamery. Other new items are $10,000 for soil surveys in the state and $5,000 for the improvement of campus roads and walks for the two-year period.

For Second Year Only

Money appropriated for the second year only of the biennium included condensing equipment and auxiliaries of heating and power plant $25,000, resetting boiler No. 3 in the heating and power plant $25,000, and water softening equipment $12,500.

Other items included in the budget for the next biennium are $124,500 for a new small animals hospital ($49,500 of which was reappropriated) and $42,000 for three new home management houses ($28,650 of which was reappropriated). The College also received $750,000 for construction of a Field House and Men's Gymnasium.

SGA Spring Ball Features Lee Baron

Lee Baron, one of today's leading swing maestros, and his orchestra will play for the SGA Spring Ball at the Avalon April 28 from 9 to 12 p. m.

Mr. Baron's orchestra is composed of nine pieces and has played for numerous top jobs recently, such as the Tromor, Des Moines; Cherot Ballroom, Omaha; Sky Lon Ballroom, Sioux City; and the Frog Hop, St. Joseph.

Tickets will be limited to 300 couples and sold at a booth in Anderson and by Student Council members.

Hit Composer Presents Show Here In April

Sigmund Romberg, the composer of the Broadway hit, "Up in Central Park," and his troupe of sixty artists will appear at the College Auditorium on Thursday, April 12, at 8:15 p. m. He is also the composer of "The Desert Song," "The Student Prince," "Maytime," "Blossom Time" and "New Moon."

Mr. Romberg has a photographic mind for music. He can pick up a completely unfamiliar piece of music, play it over once, close the sheet and promptly play the entire thing through by memory. He admits that his wife is his most outspoken critic, but she is also his first public since he plays his brain-children for her before they have actually taken form. He recalls carrying a score of "Lover, Come Back To Me" in his pocket for several days before getting up enough courage to play it to her.

Mr. Romberg has had record crowds at his concerts in other cities. In Kansas City he smashed Enrico Caruso's 25-year-old record and also topped concert artist attendance figures in Oklahoma City and Atlanta, Ga. "When times are good, people want to be amused," he says, "but when times are hard, they want to be soothed." He confesses his only headache now is how to keep up with his laundry.

The concert is sponsored by the American Association of University Women. The profits will go to the women's residence hall fund. Tickets are on sale now at the Brown Music Store and the Auditorium box office from 3 to 8 p. m.

Students Discuss World Organization

Fifty students and faculty members met Saturday afternoon to discuss the possibilities of having a World Organization Conference on our campus. This is a movement which will help the students to become better acquainted with world affairs.

Joy Talbot, Margaret Parker, Jo Ann Stoecker, Dorothy Cochran, Mary Alice Doll, Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt and Mrs. R. I. Thackrey attended a meeting at the University of Nebraska on March 9. Fifteen hundred N. U. students took an active part in the Peace Conference. Thirty houses and organizations chose countries of the world they wanted to represent. Twelve committees were made up of representatives of each country. Each committee worked on different problems such as treatment of war prisoners and boundaries. During the last week in March they had two plenary sessions at which a peace treaty was unanimously ratified.

The students and faculty members were so impressed with the conference at Nebraska University that the meeting was called Saturday to discuss possible adoption of a World Organization Conference here. The world-wide conference in San Francisco on April 25 may set up some sort of world framework that may be used as a basis. Definite plans are being made to set up a World Organization Conference but they have not as yet been announced.

Clovio Pledges Top Scholarship

The Clovia pledge class, with a grade average of 1.926 placed first in the fall semester scholarship report of K-State's eight sorority pledge classes. This report, sponsored by the Senior Women's Panhellenic, lists three girls with three-point averages for the past semester. These girls are Loretta Stricklin, Clovia; Ruth Anne Wolfe, Pi Beta Phi; and Charlotte Dorf, Alpha Xi Delta.

The other pledge classes and their ratings are Pi Beta Phi, 1.887; Delta Delta Delta, 1.717; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1.695; Kappa Delta, 1.588; Alpha Xi Delta, 1.529; Chi Omega, 1.339; and Alpha Delta Pi, 1.282.

Easter Holiday Monday

Students will have their first and last holiday of the semester Monday when they receive a one-day Easter vacation. The one-day break in regular classwork is the only one included for the spring semester under the accelerated wartime educational program.

Students Look Ahead To Post-War World

These are momentous days. An effective world organization to maintain peace must be established soon. Representatives of the United Nations will meet in San Francisco in less than a month for that purpose.

The U. S. State Department has asked for opinions on the Dumbarton Oaks proposals. President Roosevelt returned from Yalta with the request that the Senate pass on a world organization plan before the end of the year.

For the first time in history men have waged total war; no person has not felt the sting of this war. Most thinkers today believe that it is possible to maintain "total peace"—provided that enough of us are willing to work toward that end.

As students we must become aware of such vital matters as the Dumbarton Oaks suggestions and the outcome of the San Francisco conference. Our brothers and classmates are fighting a war for us. Can't we, in turn, do our part by being intelligent, informed citizens of the world?

K-State students are not asleep in these matters of world organization. There is a plan under way now on our campus whereby we students can really study the problems of our world. Let's get behind it 100 percent!—Dorothy Cochran.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Sunset goes of last weekend give forth with the info that picnic prospects for the coming season are very dark. Of course, you remember these are the days when the sayings of the April fool are prevalent, so bear it in mind while reading the material included in this week's column—

Hate to complain with war conditions and all but Sunset was mighty crowded on the nights of last weekend. Six people that I had never seen before were also enjoying the use of my blanket.

Strolling along highway 24 west of town on one of the beautiful evenings we've been having was Dick (I'm just trying to even the score) Dodderidge and a luscious blonde companion. He and his pack horse friend were last seen headed west. She with six blankets and he with the food (one package of potato chips). Ed. Note: Score now reads Tri Delt, 99, Dodderidge, 1.

Another good man has fallen by the wayside of the trail of Chi O Joan Dykeman. Dave (I tried anyway) Underwood feels he is qualified to act in the capacity of Dorothy Dix's Advice for the Lovelorn Club.

Larry (the hunted) Watts and Jean (the hunter) Hanley had a nice reunion in Topeka Saturday. A joyous time was had by all, especially the hunter.

We hear the KKG house is to close its doors soon to hold a bivouac week in the woods southwest of town. Doris (running mate of the quarter circle U) Johnson, Arma Jo (Crisco) Smith and Liz (Red Dog) Humphries have been doing some exceptionally good reconnaissance work since the snows melted.

This week can not go by without mentioning the AGR formal. 'Twas one of the "better" parties—if you don't believe it, ask Dick Spencer and Betty Burgess who were having an exceptionally good time.

H. E. Club Aids Red Cross

The Home Economics Service Club is working with the Red Cross this semester. The girls in the service club will report to the Red Cross rooms downtown on Tuesday to help pack kits for the navy. Betty Jo McCaustland, chairman, reports.

Student Council —NOTES—

The committee planning the point system for the limitation of activities is now reallocating points for activities as recommended by the Faculty Council.

Candidates for the Student Council will be introduced at a meeting Wednesday in Recreation Center at 4 p. m. Student Council members will be present and the candidates will be given a chance to speak.

The Student Council has amended the Peace Pact with K. U. The amendments are: (1) The Student Council shall enforce the terms of the K-U-KS Peace Pact regarding property damage during the entire school year rather than merely during football season. (2) In the event of damage to property at KU or to that of any other school by Kansas State students, the Student Council will make those students financially responsible for the damage.

Election for Student Council and Board of Student Publications members will be held April 6. There will be a joint meeting of the old and newly elected Student Council members on April 10.

Student Opinions Reported To SGA

"Returns from the questionnaire sent to every student on the campus by the Student Council," said Ethelinda Parrish, "were good." They are not yet complete but a general idea of the results have been obtained from the returned questionnaires.

It was found that nearly seventy-five percent of the students were not familiar with the S. G. A. Constitution. Just one-half of the students knew the names of one-half of the present Student Council members.

The fact that students do not vote on the qualification basis but on the party basis in the selection of Student Council members was brought out. Some did not know the qualifications for a Student Council member.

Eighty-seven percent of the students felt that there should be at least two meetings yearly for all students. A few voiced the opinion that there should be two meetings a semester for all students and the attendance should be compulsory.

Only seventy-eight percent of the students felt they would go to the Student Council if they were met with a problem of student interest.

A large percentage felt that the faculty supervision of Student Council was adequate. Some felt that the control of the Faculty Council should not be absolute as students can make wise decisions. The students felt that the Student Government of Kansas State was weak because of lack of student meetings and student interest. They felt that more publicity is needed and that more information should be given out about Council meetings.

Lack of student body "oneness" was emphasized. They felt that the divisions into the social groups, even the Independents, was undemocratic.

Others felt that the Student Council should furnish final examination schedules without charge, handle complaints about poor teachers and poor teaching methods, do more for the war effort, encourage enrollment of veterans, and make stricter requirements for constructive activities of campus organizations.

English Proficiency Tests

The English proficiency tests will be given April 3rd for all first semester Juniors and all transfer students who do not have credit for these tests. These will be given in Willard 115 from 7 to 10 p. m.

Students who will take these tests are to report to Dean Babcock's office today, Friday and Saturday to get their assignment numbers.

Heter and Harlow Win 4-H Awards

Two Kansas State College women are among the 1944 winners of the State 4-H leadership award, formerly known as the Washington trip honor, according to the state club department at the College. The two are Carol Jean Heter, Bon Ame 4-H Club, Rice County; and Virginia Harlow, West Beloit 4-H Club, Mitchell County. The two young men who received awards are John Good, Monmouth 4-H Club, Crawford County; and Jim Pratt, Sunshine 4-H Club, Sheridan County.

Carol Jean's club record shows that she has completed 35 projects in six years. She is a sophomore in home economics and is an officer in the Collegiate 4-H Club. Carol Jean, whose home is at Sterling, is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority.

Outstanding in all phases of club work, Virginia has completed 34 club projects and has had eight offices in her local 4-H Club. She also is a sophomore in home economics. Her home is at Beloit.

Since the outbreak of the war, the National 4-H Encampment in the nation's capital has been cancelled and the topflight leadership winners are sent instead to the American Youth Foundation Camp at Shelby, Mich., with expenses paid.

Church News

The regular Baptist young people's meeting will have a music program, "Life of Christ in Songs," which will be sung by the senior and youth choirs Sunday evening. Candlelight communion will be a part of the service. "Stewardship of Tomorrow" will be the theme for Theta Epsilon's meeting on April 3 at the home of Mrs. L. L. Longsdorf, 1100 Thurston. Geraldine Gehrke is in charge of the program.

Congregational Sigma Eta Chi will meet with Mrs. Mary Eck Holland at 1638 Osage Tuesday evening. The program will be on music appreciation and Schubert's Unfinished Symphony and other classics will be played. A chapter of Kerby Page's book, "Living Creatively" and a newscast will complete the program.

Christian Youth Fellowship of the Christian Church is planning a Baptist service for Easter Sunday evening. This is a part of the Church's 75th anniversary program which will continue through the next week. Kappa Beta will have election of officers at their regular meeting at the church on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

An outdoor meeting and sack lunch will take the place of Wesley Foundation's regular Sunday evening meeting. Maurice Hull is in charge and there will be a guest speaker. Kappa Phi entertained its national sponsor, Mrs. H. M. Le Sourd, at a potluck dinner at 6 p. m. at Wesley Hall Monday.

Phi Chi Delta of the Presbyterian Church will give a lesson on "Live in Deed" at their regular meeting at Westminster House Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Jean Greenawalt will lead the lesson.

A non-denominational chapel will be held in Illustrations tomorrow from 12:30 until 3 p. m.

As the Nazis are driven further into Germany, the Air Transport Command base of the European Division has had to increase its tempo proportionately. American soldiers and Seabees, American and English civilians, and WACs all work together at increased speed to meet the essential demand. Pfc. Virginia Naylor, Cimarron, Kansas, is assigned to this station as a Finance clerk. She has been in the WACs since May 31, 1944, and has been stationed in the European Division, USAAF Air Transport Command for the past three months. Private Naylor attended Kansas State College for two years before entering service.

Lt. Darrel Russell, overseas with 143rd Infantry Division, was reported missing last October, then discovered to be a prisoner in Germany. Recently his parents received a letter from him written January 1, from Aflag, Germany. He wrote of meeting two former Kansas State students, Robert McIntyre and Bob Kirkpatrick.

Now stationed at Arlington, Va., with the Army Signal Corps, is Lt. Horton M. Laude, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Laude. Dr. Laude is a professor in the Department of Agronomy. Lieutenant Laude graduated in 1937 from the Department of Agronomy and took graduate work for two years at Oxford University in London under a Rhodes Scholarship. He returned at the outbreak of the war and completed work for a Ph. D. in Botany at the University of Chicago in 1941. He then entered the service.

In Manhattan on brief furlough from Seattle, Washington, was C.P.O. Fredrick J. Palmer, f. s. C.P.O. Palmer took part in six naval battles in the Pacific, served on the Northampton which was sunk in the South Pacific, and was recently promoted to Aviation Chief Machinist Mate. He will return to a naval air base on the west coast for reassignment.

Lt. Russell R. Goff, formerly stationed at Kansas State with the air corps, now is with the Chinese detachment at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, San Antonio, Texas.

Recently promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant, was Jack Evans, f. s. in Chemical Engineering. He flies a B-24 bomber and is based in the Netherlands East Indies. He is now leader of the 424th Bomber Squadron.

Robert J. Alsop, pilot of the "Snoopers", a 13th AAF Bomber Command Liberator Unit, has been promoted to the rank of captain. Captain Alsop has participated in 40 missions over strongholds such as Truk, the Mandated Islands, Yap, Palau, Woleai, Borneo, the Celebes, and has participated in shipping searches in the South China Sea. He was awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of an additional Air Medal a few days before receiving his promotion in rank. He is now serving as an assistant operations officer. Besides his many missions over enemy territory, Captain Alsop is credited with the sinking of two ships and several barges.

Home on leave last week was Ensign Luman G. Miller, Belleville. An Industrial Journalism graduate in 1944, Ensign Miller will report at San Diego at the end of his leave.

Marietta Spencer, H. E. and Art '43, is doing special work in Washington as a WAVE. Her address is Marietta G. Spencer, Sp. Q 2/c, U. S. Naval Observatory, c/o George Gignras, Washington 25, D. C.

Transferred to Sioux City, Iowa, from Hobbs, N. M., is First Lt. Jack Sayre, former student at Kansas State College. Lieutenant Sayre volunteered for the air corps and is now an instructor in instrument flying.

Col. Lloyd H. (Hank) Dalton has been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while participating in bombing missions totaling more than 100 hours. Graduated in 1934, Colonel Dalton was an outstanding athlete at Kansas State, lettering in both basketball and football. He entered the air corps in 1936, first commanded a tactical force of the Tenth Air Force, and since September was commanding officer of the Twelfth "Earthquaker" group in Italy. He is now in the Burma theater.

Sgt. Raymond Dale Allen, f. s., first reported missing in action, was recently reported killed in action in Germany as of December 26, 1944. Sergeant Allen was in an infantry glider regiment with the 82nd Airborne Division and went overseas in February, 1944. While at Kansas State he was enrolled in Agriculture and was well known on the campus as a member of the Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity and the Collegiate 4-H Club.

Lt. Jerry Porter, G. S. '43, has been reported killed in action in the European area. While in College he was a member of Acacia fraternity and prominent in athletics. Upon graduation he entered the army with a reserve commission. His wife, the former Patty Hodgson, and their young son are living with her parents at Little River.

Word has been received that Lt. John Cawley has been seriously wounded on the island of Iwo. Lieutenant Cawley received his degree in Physical Education in 1928, was a college athlete while in school, lettering in football in '36 and '37.

Dave Weatherby Cops Top Scoring Honors

Dave Weatherby, freshman forward from Neodesha, copped the scoring honors for the season from his high scoring Wildcat teammates with 187 points in 23 games. The freshman forward flash rang up 77 field goals, 26 more than his nearest competitor, Joe Ridgeway. Dave added 33 points at the free throw line in 58 attempts for a .569 percentage to bring his average for 23 games to 8.1 per game.

The freshman flash's nearest competitor for the scoring title was Joe Ridgeway, who poured 51 field goals through the hoop and continued his uncanny ability by dropping in 42 from the gift line to grab off record place honors on the high scoring Wildcat quintet.

Grabbing off third place honors was Jack Kincheloe, tall center from Cunningham, who rang up 135 points this season while holding down the regular center berth.

Close behind was Jay Payton with 130 points, only member of the Wildcat quintet to be chosen on the all Big Six starting five. Jay was a big gun offensively besides being a spark plug in setting up Wildcat plays.

From the free throw line Ralph Stuesser took the honors, dropping in 15 in 20 attempts for a percentage average of .750. Jay Payton was runner up for the free throw honors with .640 average followed by Dave Weatherby with a .636 average.

WSSF Benefits By Student Meals

Independent organized houses and sororities had "Meagre Meals" during the past week in cooperation with the World Student Service Fund drive on the campus. The money saved by serving such meals will be contributed to this international student aid organization. The campus quota is $1,000.

Potato soup and left-over meat sandwiches was the menu at Clark's Gables. At La Fiel and Maison-elle the meal consisted of bean soup and lettuce-tomato sandwiches. The Pal O Mie women ate bean stew and egg-carrot sandwiches.

Peanut butter and jelly sandwiches with potato salad and apricots was the "Meagre Meal" at the Alpha Delta Pi and Delta Delta Delta houses. Chi Omega members dined on bean soup and milk. Potato soup and crackers were served at the Kappa Delta house. Kappa Kappa Gamma's had bean soup and carrot-raisin sandwiches while the Clovia's had potato soup and lettuce-tomato sandwiches.

Ags Send Questionnaires To Students In Service

The School of Agriculture has submitted 200 questionnaires to former students of the school now in service. The questionnaires are concerned with the plans of the service men following their discharge.

Only 50 of the 200 questionnaires mailed two weeks ago have been returned. The cards returned so far indicate that a very high percentage plan to return to Kansas State. Most of them are planning to get a degree. From the number returned so far it is indefinite as to whether more prefer taking refresher courses or advanced courses.

Publish Article By Josephine Hahn

An article describing life at Van Zile Hall, written by Josephine Hahn, Bloomington, a freshman in industrial journalism, will appear in the April 7 issue of the Kansas Farmer, a Capper publication.

The description of the residence hall for women was prepared by Miss Hahn during the magazine-sponsored contest for students who make their home there. Miss Florence McKinney, woman's editor of the publication, arranged the article to emphasize the importance of adequate housing facilities for women at Kansas State College. Farm women of the state have undertaken to raise funds for the construction of a new residence hall.

Photographs illustrating the article were made by Floyd Hanna, College photographer. Entries in the contest were submitted also by two other students in industrial journalism, Elizabeth Ann Schlichter of Clay Center, and Janey Hackney of Wellington. All three young women will receive awards in the form of mounted photographs of Van Zile Hall and Miss Hahn will be paid for her article by the magazine.

Intra Squad Game Will Be April 14

Spring football practice is going along smoothly under the warm spring sun. Coaches Haylett, Socolofsky and Knorr are very pleased with the manner in which the practice is going.

The coaching staff is drilling the men in team plays with little stress on fundamentals in preparation for the intra-squad game April 14.

Kansas State's football hopes have been dimmed by the loss of halfback, Ronnie Webster and end, Dave Weatherby, to the armed services.

Track Prospects Are "Looking Up"

Coach Haylett reports that several new men have reported for track, and track team prospects are brightening up considerably.

New members which have come out recently are Bob Jackson, Alva Kelman, Dana Atkins, Burt Howard and John Hamilton. The track team suffered a loss, however, in losing Dave Weatherby to the air corps last week.

Coach Haylett hopes to be able to get a team together to enter in the Colorado Relays this spring.

Intramurals...

Editor's Note: Last week's column stated erroneously that Kappa Kappa Gamma was the winner of the women's basketball tournament. We wish to correct this statement with the following paragraph.

Arcadia came out on top by winning the final game of the basketball tournament last week. They won over Alpha Delta Pi with a score of 24 to 13. The Blitz Babes and Kappa Kappa Gamma reached the semi-finals.

Swimming practice for intramurals has started and all teams or individuals entered should check the schedule at the gym for try-outs.

Phi Delta Theta, Delta Tau Delta, Alpha Gamma Rho, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma were the winning teams in men's volleyball intramurals last Thursday. Winners last Monday were Jr. A. V. M. A., Alpha Gamma Rho, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma and the House of Williams.

Tonight ends the volleyball tournament. The AGR's play Jr. A. V. M. A. and the Deltas play the House of Williams at 7:30. At 8:15 the Sig Alphas meet the TKE's and Sigma Nu plays W. F. A. C. At 9 it's Kappa Sig vs Phi Delta Theta.

Soft ball intramurals begin April 4. All entry blanks must be filed in the men's physical education office, N107, by March 31.

Post Casualty Pictures Of Journalism Students

Pictures of journalism graduates and former students, who are known by the department to have lost their lives or to be missing in World War II, will be posted in Kedzie Hall. This is part of the work of the Journalism Memorial Fund Committee.

Journalism graduates and former students known to be casualties of this war include Maj. George T. Hart, Washington, D. C.; Ens. John M. Williams, Parsons; Lt. Kendall Evans, Las Cruces, N. M.; Pvt. Jack Eckhart, Almena; Capt. Alfred E. Makins, Abilene; Ens. Ed Potter, Oswego, killed. Lt. Stanley Dwyer, Hastings, Neb., and Sgt. James Miller, Manhattan, were reported missing.

Approximately $2,100 has been received by the Journalism Memorial Fund Committee as contributions of relatives and friends of these men. The fund will be used for teaching, research, scholarship, or awards which the donor may designate.

Campus Undergoes Spring Cleaning

Prof. R. F. Gingrich, assistant maintenance superintendent of Building and Repairs, announced that the "spring cleaning" for the campus is in full swing.

The office of the Dean of Women has been redecorated and plans are being made for the redecoration of Recreation Center. Structural changes have been made in the Registrar's office and an insulite ceiling put in.

The meats laboratory, which was used as an army mess kitchen last year, has been remodeled, and will be ready for occupation next week.

The property across from the tennis courts, which was given to the college through the Wareham estate, will be remodeled for the use of the Extension Division.

A new walk will connect the Engineering and Military Science Buildings with the Power Plant. The Campus Department will have charge of landscaping the area.

Select Speakers For Hospitality Day

Dr. Lita Bane, head of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Illinois, will be the assembly speaker for Hospitality Day, April 20. In keeping with the Hospitality Day theme, Dr. Bane will discuss the future of home economics. Formerly president of the American Home Economics Association, she received an honorary doctor's degree from Kansas State College in May, 1938.

Active in home economics since her graduation from college, Dr. Bane has taught and has done extension work. She served as associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal for five years and was employed in food conservation work of the Department of Agriculture during the last war.

Dr. Bane received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois and has studied at Columbia University and the University of Chicago. An active leader in adult home economics education, Dr. Bane taught at the University of Wisconsin and Washington State College before becoming head of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Illinois.

Sears Scholarship Winners Selected

Sixteen recipients of the second annual Sears, Roebuck Foundation scholarships for women in home economics have been announced by Dean Margaret M. Justin of the School of Home Economics. A total of $2,500, nine awards of $200 each and seven of $100 each, will aid these outstanding high school students in starting their college educations next fall.

The $200 awards are granted to Carolyn Anderson, Admire; Betty Lou Blackburn, Arkansas City; Mary Lou Kirk, Topeka; Donna Jones, Cottonwood Falls; Virginia Eddy, Topeka; Lillian Lacy, Onaga; Dorothy Long, Abilene; Darlene E. Reed, Hope; and Ruth Steiner, Lebanon.

The $100 scholarships will go to Meridell Byler, Newton; Carolyn E. Cameron, Atwood; Virginia Lee Chamberlin, Gardner; Patricia Deltz, Topeka; Mary Louise Madden, Auburn; Eleanor Sommer, Manhattan; and Phyllis Woodard, Downs.

AGR's Entertain At Pink Rose Dance

Alpha Gamma Rho entertained their dates Saturday night at the annual pink rose formal.

The Avalon ballroom was decorated for the occasion in the fraternity colors of green and gold. A trellis bordering the band shell was covered with pink roses. The Greek letters of the fraternity were spotlighted in the background.

John Paul Jones and his orchestra from Salina played for the dancing.

Mrs. Olive Kipfer, former A. G. R. housemother, was a guest. Alumni present were Dr. Melvin Scoby, McPherson; Dr. Neil Conaly, Wellington; Willis Walstein, Hutchinson; and Edwin Kline, Kansas City.

Transfer students comprise about 25 percent of the undergraduate student body at Kansas State College. About 35 percent of the transfer students come from junior colleges.

K-State Players...

There will be a meeting of the Kansas State Players in Education 206 Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. At that time the new cast and crews for the play "Over 21" will be announced. Also a report will be given concerning the organization's becoming a part of the National Collegiate Players.

K-State Dietitians Serve Overseas

Of the 33 Kansas State College students who in the last 10 years have received bachelor of science degrees in home economics after majoring in dietetics and institutional management and are now in the Army, 17 are serving overseas. These women are scattered from the Southwest Pacific to Italy and from Africa to England and France. At least one of their number, Lt. Helen Tipton, H. E. '41, Paola, is on a hospital ship.

Many of these women are working under adverse conditions. Lt. Margaret Blaylock, H. E. '43, Mankato, has her tent pitched in an apple orchard, somewhere in France. She says she has no mattress but is more than thankful for the electric lights. Lt. Ruth Baldwin, '40, Manhattan, who is stationed in Italy, has served meals to patients scattered through 104 buildings.

It's not all so hard, however. Some of the women have had undreamed of experiences. For instance, Lt. Doris Klammann, '42, of Belleville, who had never been as far as Kansas City at the time she received her degree, served tea recently to the Queen Mother Mary of England.

Lieutenants Ethel Olney, '34, St. Joseph, Mo.; Elizabeth Allbee, '39, Marshall, Mo.; Frances Moss, '35, Lincoln; Betty Boehm, '41, Manhattan; Elaine Carson, '42, Clay Center; Irene Kenneke, '42, Wichita; and Marian Jensen, '43, Hays, are all with the armed forces somewhere in the Pacific region.

Women in the European theater include: Lieutenants Thelma Harman, '38, Indianapolis, Ind.; Winifred Needels, '39, and Evelyn Smith, '40, both of Salina; Helen Perkins, '42, Kansas City; Una Morlan, '27, Courtland; and Irene Tolliver, M. S. '37.

Home Ec Election

The Home Economics Club election will be held next Thursday and Friday afternoons in Calvin Hall. The candidates are: President, Betty Swan and Betty Jo McCaustland; vice-president, Dorothy McIntosh and Rachel Gossard; lecture board, Ruth Deewall and Roberta Ince; secretary-treasurer, Hope Watts and Jean Suter.

YW Backs WSSF Booth In Anderson

YWCA is sponsoring a booth for the World Student Service Fund this week in Anderson Hall. WSSF gives students of the college campus a chance to help former students who are prisoners of war. The WSSF is organized in 15 countries. It provides books, study materials, food, clothing, medical supplies, and aid wherever it is needed.

One dollar will supply notebooks and paper for a prisoner of war for six months. Ten dollars will supply condensed milk for a Russian student for a year. Two hundred dollars will make it possible for a relocated Japanese-American or refugee student to go to an American college. A thousand dollars or more will operate one student center in China for a year with facilities for bathing, recreation, reading and self-help.

Kansas State has 40 former students who are now prisoners of war. Pictures of a few may be seen in the show case in Anderson Hall.

Soloists Featured By Romberg

Featured soloists of the "Evening with Sigmund Romberg" program which the famous composer brings to the College Auditorium, April 12 at 8:15 p. m. will be, left to right, Lorna Byron, Victoria Schools and Ann Andre. Romberg's program is being brought to the Kansas State campus under the auspices of the American Association of University Women.

SGA Adopts New Election Rules

New rules which will govern the Student Council election tomorrow are:

Members of the student council shall be in charge of the polls. Student council members shall be the only persons having access to the names of persons who have or have not voted. The student council member in charge of the polls shall not leave the polls at any time while he is in charge.

There shall be no electioneering in the building where voting is taking place.

If parties are represented on the ballot, each party shall be required to furnish judges to be at the polls while voting is taking place.

Members of the faculty council on student affairs shall be asked to observe that the rules governing conduct of the election are not violated.

Members of the Student Council shall count the ballots following the election.

The Student Council shall appoint three judges representing the Faculty Council and the student body at large who shall observe the counting and who shall certify the results of the election to the President of the Council and the President of the College. The exact number of votes cast for each candidate shall be recorded in the Student Council minutes.

From each school the candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected to the Student Council. At least one woman shall be included in the quota from the School of Arts and Sciences.

It shall not be considered legal to write in the name of any candidate for the Student Council.

Any violation of the above regulations shall be treated as a disciplinary case, except that publicity may be given to that case.

Dance . . .

An all-school dance in honor of officers and nurses of the 315th General Hospital at Fort Riley will be held at the U. S. O. tomorrow night from 8:30 until 11:30 p. m. Harold Hunt and his orchestra will play for the dance sponsored by the College YWCA and YMCA.

Girl With Camera Records KS History

Who is the girl with the camera? Dee Preusch, Royal Purple and Collegian photographer, IJ3, keeps busy covering campus activities taking pictures for the college yearbook. On a typical busy weekend Dee looks in on nine or ten parties snapping scenes of each.

"An amusing discovery I have made in this work is that vanity so often described as purely feminine is just as prominent among masculine subjects of my pictures," Dee Preusch commented. Meeting people and noting their various reactions also interests this campus camera girl.

Dee Preusch takes pictures at athletic events, formals, programs and school assemblies. The picture she took at the Thanksgiving assembly of Helen Griggs appeared in the national music magazine, Musical America. Several shots of Lt. Walter Ehlers, Manhattan hero, were sent to papers throughout the country.

Interested in writing, radio, and photography, Dee Preusch plans to combine these fields when she graduates. A course in photography taken here started this "picture shooter" on her way. Although interested in photography when in high school, Dee Preusch had her first pictures published after coming to Kansas State.

Dee is a member of Quill Club, creative writing organization, and the School of Arts and Sciences honorary women's fraternity, Phi Alpha Mu.

YW Election Results In Tie

Election for officers of the YWCA last Thursday resulted in a tie for presidency with candidates Frances Ewart and Aylo Albertson receiving an equal number of votes. A second election is being held today in Anderson Hall to determine the winner.

Officers that have been filled are: vice-president, Betty Jean Yapp; secretary, Beth Jarvis; and treasurer, Bonnie Smith.

Any women who are interested in becoming members of the YWCA cabinet should turn in their names to the YWCA office this week.

North America is a million square miles larger than South America.

Plan To Issue Annuals May 10

All copy for the 1945 Royal Purple has been sent to the printer according to Elizabeth Crandall, editor of the yearbook. She hopes that the book will be ready for distribution by May 10.

The covers will be completed by the end of this week and will be shipped to the bindery, but because of help shortages in both the printing plant and bindery, a definite delivery date cannot be given.

Sixteen hundred and sixty copies of the annual are being printed this year, and 164 books have been purchased by the College and Student Council to be sent to high schools in the state. These books will be distributed by the journalism department to the schools from which the majority of students come.

Hoover Chooses "Over Twenty-One"

Prof. Earl G. Hoover has chosen "Over Twenty-One" by Ruth Gordon as the spring stage production for Kansas State Players. Betty Caldwell will star in this play to be given May 4 and 5.

The supporting cast includes Armo Jo Smith, Ralph Fogelman, Craig Bracken, Embert Coles, Pauline Flook, Dean Tiemann, Dorothy Wilson, Seymour Cohen, Joan Scheu.

"Over Twenty-One" has been described as a gay, glib, daffy and enormously funny comedy, giving the star opportunity for a zesty and hilarious performance.

It is the humorous story of what goes on in a tricky cabin in a Florida auto court, where lives an editor trying to get wings as an aviation cadet. The editor's authoress wife arrives on the scene in time to boost her discouraged husband over the top just as he had become convinced that the ability of learning is gone when a man passes the age of twenty-one.

Visa-Versa Varsity

A "Visa-Versa Varsity" sponsored by the Purple Pepsters is scheduled for April 21 at the Avalon ballroom. It will be a "woman asks man" sport dance and women may come stag.

Apples will not grow in Florida.

Romberg Brings Concert Group To Auditorium

Sigmund Romberg and his concert company will present some of his best-loved compositions next Thursday at the College Auditorium. The well-known composer has gained additional laurels recently with his 77th Broadway musical, "Up In Central Park." This musical comedy, a smash hit on Broadway, tells of the colorful days of Boss William Tweed of New York and of New York's backyard, Central Park. With the book by Herbert and Dorothy Fields and containing such Romberg songs as "Close As Pages In A Book" and "When She Walks In The Room," "Up In Central Park" is assured a long run before the nation's theatergoers.

The music for this production and 76 others is from the pen of an Austrian emigrant who entered this country 35 years ago, unable to speak English and practically penniless. In his native Austria Romberg never received a formal music education but at the age of seven he began the study of the violin and a year later learned piano rudiments under his father's tutelage. At 16 he composed his first musical work, an Austrian march.

From his childhood in the gay, near-mythical city of Vienna he gained the background and musical feeling which is so prevalent in his beloved operettas. Through his musical genius Vienna is again brought to life in the concert stages of America.

Romberg came to this country in 1910 and after working in a pencil factory and playing the piano in a Second Avenue Cafe, he finally gained recognition of his musical talent. His first show, "The Whirl Wind of New York," was produced by the Shuberts in 1913. Since that time the rate of his musical output has been magnanimous. Between 1914 and 1919 he composed 22 Broadway productions including the ever-popular "Maytime." "Blossom Time" was produced in 1924 and a year later his "Student Prince" began its long run. Three of his works—"Maytime," "Desert Song," and the "New Moon"—have the distinction of having been made into pictures twice. The latest was Warner Brothers production of "Desert Song" starring Dennis Morgan.

In 1942 Romberg began a series of road tours to bring his music directly to the people. Since then more than a million people have thrilled to his melodies. His current show features three noted soloists who will appear with the orchestra, Victoria Schools, Ann Andre and Lorna Byron. His Manhattan appearance is being sponsored by the American Association of University Women. Tickets are on sale at the Brown Music Store or by mail order from Miss Emma Hyde, Box 361, Kansas State College.

Collegian Surveys Work of K-State Student Council for Year of 1944

As one Student Council term has drawn to a close and a new one begun, the old Student Council members paused a moment in retrospect of their record for the past year.

"I think this year's Student Council has done an excellent piece of work," was a statement made by Dean Helen Moore when stressing her appreciation for the accomplishments of the student governing body. "They have been alert to student needs and interests and have instituted several movements for the welfare of students on the campus," the dean concluded.

To sum up the work accomplished by the Council this year, the Student Council president, Ethelinda Parrish, pointed to numerous activities, such as adjustments made in regard to the betterment of student governing. They sent out questionnaires to every student on the campus asking their opinions for making student governing more effective, and are now in the act of revising the SGA constitution, which contains material usually found in the by-laws. In this connection, they also revised the special privileges section of the SGA social regulations and drew up election rules for class elections and Student Council elections where no rules existed before.

Student committees were appointed to draw up a point system for limiting participation in activities, which has been reviewed by the councils and is being adjusted. Standing campus committees, such as the Apportionment Board, Organization Control, Holiday Board, and Student Union, were appointed by the Council, who in turn received these various committee reports.

The Student Council Board of Public Relations worked with the college Board of Public Relations on college publicity. They secured $200 by vote of the Board of Regents to send Royal Purples to high schools, and succeeded in sending twice as many as were sent last year. The K-Book was published and mailed to hundreds of prospective students for the first time, and assemblies are being planned which will be presented in Kansas high schools to interest students in coming to K-State.

The War Stamp booth and spring stamp drive are credited to the Council's activities. They also conducted the National War Fund Community Chest Drive among students, which went $800 over the quota reaching approximately $2000; approved W. S. S. F. contributions and are working to get it included in the War Fund and Community Chest drive next year.

Various activities were carried on by the Council to make adjustments and improvements in the college itself. The "no smoking" rule was removed by taking a poll of student opinion and recommending to the President that it be made a proclamation. The Council sent a letter to Chief of Navy Personnel in Washington, D. C. requesting that a Navy ROTC unit be established on this campus.

The Council sponsored a church night in cooperation with the city churches; had charge of and rented out a public address system; helped to sponsor a postwar education series to explain curriculum changes; objected to high rates charged by Building and Repair; held hearings for discipline cases; and met with President Eisenhower and presidents of pep organizations to discuss ways of inspiring better demonstrations of school spirit.

The Student Council worked with the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce for a student hangout, but progress was halted temporarily by the OPA midnight curfew.

Also in connection with the College, the Student Council played Christmas carols from Anderson tower; had a column in The Collegian for the first time for Student Council activities; and amended KU-KS peace pact.

In addition they have conducted the more or less routine affairs of the job, including sponsoring all-college mixers with YM and YW; having charge of class elections; printing Student Directory in Collegian; sponsoring SGA Varsity and pep rallies.

For the first time the Student Council conducted all Homecoming activities including Homecoming Ball, activities at the game half, and selection of Homecoming Queen and is now sponsoring a SGA Spring Ball with Lee Baron and his orchestra.

Do You Let Politics Influence Your Vote?

Tomorrow is our day to prove that we want student government on this campus—not just politics! To be sure that we do have the best government possible, we must choose the candidates by their qualifications rather than their party. It's certainly not conceivable that the best qualified students would all belong to one party.

Isn't it possible that differences of opinion might be cultivated within an organized house? It seems to be the tradition at Kansas State that every member of a certain group votes the same—just as though they were poured through a mold to register the same vote at the ballot box.

When you go to the polls tomorrow—think! Don't be a weak character by voting as you are told to vote—make up your own mind and vote intelligently!

The Cat's M-E-O-W

The Easter bunny has come and gone and life at K-State goes on. What we mean is—love is in bloom—in fact you might even say Bill Streeter is susceptible. (Ed. Note: He's a very eligible bachelor, girls.)

Bill Schultz journeyed to K. C. recently to see his old alma mater take the western conference. Is it coincidence that Arma Jo Smith was seen at the A. G. R. formal that same weekend with a certain Sig Alph? Guess its true that while the cat's away the mouse will play.

If you didn't go home for Easter with someone you just don't rate. For example—Greathouse journeyed to Wichita with Myers; Beuhler made it there, too, to see Rath despite the fervent pleas of his many Salina women that he remain at home; Bobby Reinhardt went home with Max Harvey to find out how life would be with a vet; then there were Donnley and Chapman, Martin and Walker, and many of the other campus couples going in-law visiting. Oh yes! Olsen went home with Ungles!

Ungle's rating has shot up 90 degrees on the date barometer since he came back from Easter vacation with a car.

Overheard at the Can:
"We Tri Deltas don't let grass grow under our feet"—Broberg.
"Off with the old and on with the new"—Staley. (Wonder if she's sent those pins back yet.)
Kappas will open a box office at Slims to solicit dates for their party May 5. They ask men from 6 to 96 to volunteer for service.

Big John in relating his tales of the Easter weekend to Mary Teaford was overheard saying, "I fainted. They brought me to. So I fainted again." "Why?" Mary asked. "Well, they brought me two more."

We ADPT's are skinny kids
For this we all repent
But since we've left the farm for school

We ain't had nutrients.
Too bad it rained and rained and snowed and got the ground too wet for blankets, or did it?

X-Ray Reports

Seventeen hundred and fifty X-ray plates were completed in the time allotted for the use of the photofluorographic unit on the Kansas State campus.

Everyone who took the examination will receive a report of the radiographic interpretation of the examination from the central office in Topeka. The Student Health Service will have reports of positive cases.

Point System Put To Vote

The Point System devised by a committee appointed by Student Council, has been passed by both the Student and Faculty Councils and will be put to student vote at the SGA election tomorrow.

This system which will limit student activity, is designed to distribute leadership, lessen the burden on outstanding individuals, lead to better performance of duties, and create better scholarship.

According to the plan that is proposed, there will be a standing committee composed of one Student Council member who will act as chairman, one faculty member, and one person as representative from each school on the campus. A secretary will be selected from the committee who will be responsible for keeping the records.

The regulations concerning the Point System, state that a maximum of 50 points per semester will be allotted to each student enrolled in college undergraduate work. Student reports will be presented to the one who keeps the records within a week following election, participation, or discontinuance. The committee will have the authority to allot the appropriate number of points to new organizations, or to re-allot points when it is deemed necessary.

Special cases of activities, such as District, Regional, State or National officers will be under the jurisdiction of the committee, as well as cases involving one or two points over the maximum.

Recommendations for changes in the rules and regulations of the system will be approved by the Student Council and Faculty Council on Student Affairs before becoming effective.

Violators of the Point System regulations will be referred to the Student Discipline Committee.

The table of point values established by the committee is based on factors of time, energy and responsibility involved. Every campus organization, including all honorary, professional, religious and athletic groups, is represented.

The highest point values have been assigned to Student Council. In this organization the president is assessed 40 points, vice-president 36, other officers 33 and membership 30.

Presidents of sorority and fraternity houses are allotted 18 points, and major officers 12. President and major officers in independent organized houses count 10 and 8 respectively.

Participation in varsity basketball, football and track counts 15 points each.

Points have been assigned to staff members of all student publications. Royal Purple and Collegian editors are given 35 points each and the assistant editors receive 15 points. Editorship of either Who's Who or Kansas State Engineer counts 20 points. Other staff members receive points in relation to the work and responsibility of the position.

Points assigned to presidents range from 6 to 40, and the average is 12 to 18.

First Lt. James R. Jesson, recently stationed at Marfa Army Air Field, Texas, has been assigned to Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount's AAF Training Command Headquarters staff at Fort Worth, Texas, as assistant to the chief of the management control division. Lieutenant Jesson graduated from Kansas State in 1939 with a B. S. degree in education and attended the AAF Officer Candidate School in Miami Beach, Fla., in 1942. From this headquarters, the training command operates a nationwide network of flying and technical schools for individual training of virtually all AAF personnel, including pilots, bombardiers, navigators, gunners and technicians.

A former student of Kansas State College, Lt. Billy J. Hutton, was recently awarded the Air Medal "for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy," it was announced by 15th Army Air Force headquarters. Lieutenant Hutton is stationed in Italy with a veteran B-24 Liberator squadron that has flown more than 200 long-range bombing assaults against key industrial and transport targets throughout Germany's behind-the-lines war machine. The lieutenant's wife, Mrs. Betty Hutton, resides in Lyndon.

M/Sgt. Earl L. Bundy of Chanute is now a squadron inspector in Italy with a Fifteenth Air Force Liberator group which has been awarded the Distinguished Unit Citation, a combat honor which permits Sergeant Bundy to wear the distinctive blue and gold Citation Badge.

The first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to First Lt. Lawrence L. Elder, it was announced recently by Maj. Gen. Howard C. Davidson, Commanding General of the Tenth Air Force. Lieutenant Elder graduated from Kansas State College and was the proprietor of Varsity Cleaners, Boulder, Colo., prior to joining the armed forces. A pilot with a combat cargo squadron of the Tenth Air Force, Lieutenant Elder has chalked up 180 combat missions totaling 550 hours during his nine months of service in the India Burma theater.

Capt. D. L. Mackintosh has been spending a leave at his home, 1514 Humboldt, after two years overseas. Formerly a professor in the department of animal husbandry at Kansas State College, Captain Mackintosh has been a nutrition officer for the Fifth Air Force in the Southwest Pacific theater. After leaving Manhattan he will report to Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment.

James Duncan Lamont recently received his promotion from the rank of first lieutenant to the rank of captain. He is serving with an infantry regiment fighting on the Fifth Army front in northern Italy. Captain Lamont is a regimental veterinarian and wears the European Theater ribbon with one battle star. Before entering the army he attended Kansas State College.

Thelma Harman, a graduate dietitian from Kansas State, is now a first lieutenant with the 130th Hospital Unit in England. Her address is APO 26, New York City.

Speaking of Operations!

An invasion fleet of several hundred warships uses some 48,000 telephones—from 1,500 on a battleship to 10 on a motor torpedo boat. That's as many as are used by most cities of 160,000!

Our fighting men are using telephones, wire, switchboards, and other communications equipment in huge quantities. And Western Electric workers, peacetime suppliers to the Bell System, are busy meeting those needs.

That is why there are not enough home telephones right now. But we are looking forward to the day when the Bell System can again provide telephone service to anyone, anywhere, at any time.

Grid Prospects Bright After Spring Scrimmage

Wildcat football coaches wore a big smile last Thursday as they watched Wildcat gridders stage a 45 minute scrimmage in which 25 players participated. Head Coach Ward Haylett believes that with the gridders' fine showing in this scrimmage, K-State's football hopes for next fall are considerably brighter.

Coaches Charles Socolofsky and Fritz Knorr were equally pleased with the power that the backs displayed.

The hard hitting backfield is what caught the coaches' eye. Bill Clary, who played fullback for the Purple and White gridiron machine last fall, was shifted to center on one of the Wildcat eleven and Harold Kinard, 245 pound Wildcat center, played fullback in the practice scrimmage.

Heathman Stars

Stan Heathman, back who failed to letter on K-State's team last fall, was 145 pounds of dynamite during the practice scrimmage and displayed power and drive that is going to make him vital to the Wildcats' machine next fall.

Another player that impressed the coaches in the practice scrimmage was George Bascom, guard at Manhattan High School last season. He was moved to the fullback slot for the game.

Aptitude Tests . . .

The College Aptitude tests will be given Monday from 7 to 10:15 p. m. in rooms 101 and 115 of Willard Hall. Students who have already taken half of the tests will be able to finish at this session. Those who have taken none of the tests will have an opportunity to take the remaining half on April 23. These tests are being repeated for the convenience of students who were unable to take the tests in March. These students may be advanced in their college standing if they are otherwise eligible. Each student is required to bring two sharpened soft-lead pencils. All other material is furnished by the College.

Contribute $145 To WSSF Fund Here

Dean Tiemann, treasurer of the World Student Service Fund on the campus, said today that $145.29 has been donated to the organization through individual contributions and the "Meagre Meal" project. Some donations have not been reported yet, but the official collection ended last week.

The greater part of the sum came from organized houses who served "Meagre Meals" in cooperation with the WSSF and contributed the money saved to the international student aid organization.

Experiments Done on Frozen Meat

A newly equipped foods research laboratory in Calvin Hall is the scene of experiments on frozen meats by Miss Elsie Miller, foods instructor. Started this semester the tests are a part of the Agricultural Experiment Station program in home economics research on the campus.

Several pieces of equipment have been installed in the former food laboratory. A scientific triple oven, a press used to determine moisture content of the meat, and a pressure machine to test tenderness are being used.

Comparison of the meat that is started to cook while frozen and that thawed overnight is the object of these experiments. Palatability, tenderness, moisture content, and nutrient value are determined and compared.

Profs Conduct Study Centers

Courses in Educational Management and Principles of Guidance are being offered to teachers in Concordia and Salina under the direction of Prof. V. L. Strickland and Prof. E. H. Peterson, from the Education department. The study centers meet every week, for sixteen weeks. The classes are two hours long. Those taking part in the classes will be given three hours of college credit. Professor Strickland is teaching the course in Educational Management at Concordia and Professor Peterson is directing the Principles of Guidance course at Salina.

Art Exhibits

A rare old Spanish lace mantle, scarf, and mits are highlights of the show case exhibits in the second floor hall of Calvin.

These pieces of black lace were given to the School of Home Economics by a Manhattan resident. Other foreign articles of fashion interest on exhibit are a Petti Point purse and compact, two gold leaf-trimmed fans, and several pieces of carved ivory.

The eight verses of the song "America" were written in less than 30 minutes by Samuel Smith in 1832.

Plan Home Ec Day Exhibits

Crease-resistant fabrics, sweet potato flour and modern rooms that can be easily changed to fit the personality will be featured among the exhibits at the 15th annual Hospitality Day April 20.

The theme "Looking to the future" will be carried out in all the exhibits which will be open from 1 to 9 p. m.

Suggestions for room arrangements and decorations are planned for the art exhibit. In Calvin Hall 10 newly decorated kitchens, each with a modern theme, will be a part of the foods exhibit. Synthetic fabrics and familiar materials with new finishes that promise to be popular in the future will be on display in the Clothing and Textiles Department. A part of this exhibit is a comparison of the costumes worn by college women of 1920 and by modern coeds. The department's equipment, used in fabric testing, will be on display.

Products made from newly developed sweet potato flour are to be on display in the experimental cookery laboratory along with cakes made by the new short method of mixing. Cakes made from dried eggs and pastry made with new methods will be demonstrated.

Types of nursery school buildings and plans for community child centers are included in the child welfare exhibit. The nursery school will be open and one group of children will be in their regular class there. Demonstrations of practices in home nursing will be given and types of bandages used in home injuries will be made in the nursing exhibit.

Commercial home economics majors are preparing an exhibit to show what the future may be for college graduates in their fields. Among the opportunities described will be journalism work, demonstrating equipment and food preparation, and experimenting with foods and equipment in test kitchens.

Loan Funds Available To K-State Students

Loan funds consisting of $170,000 are available to Kansas State students. At the present time less than $10,000 of the amount is loaned out. The maximum is usually $250, and it is loaned to juniors and seniors who have been in school here for one semester and who have at least a "C" average. The interest rate on these loans is 6 percent, payable after graduation.

Short-time loans are available at the first of the semester, and are repayable before mid-term. Freshmen and sophomores are also eligible for these loans, as well as for other loans that may be paid during the following summer.

Lila Lou Loses Keepsake Watch

Lila Lou Johnston, Lindsborg, a freshman in home economics, has about lost faith in the well-known phrase, "It pays to advertise." Several weeks ago she lost her wrist watch in the College Library. She advertised for it, offered a reward, but still the watch is missing. The watch isn't just an ordinary watch as far as Lila Lou is concerned. It is the last thing her brother gave her when he left for overseas duty, where he is serving with the Ninth Army. She valued the watch as a keepsake.

Red Cross Representative To Give Swimming Course

Ray Strain, field representative of the Red Cross, will give a water safety instructor's course starting April 23 for five days. These classes, open to men and women who have a senior Red Cross certificate and are 19 years of age, will be held at 7 p. m. in the men's pool. Those interested in the course are asked to file their name with Prof. L. P. Washburn in the Men's Physical Education office as soon as possible. On completing this course, they are qualified as Red Cross Water Safety Instructors.

Home Ec Newsletter

The March, 1945 issue of the Home Economics Club Newsletter has been published and is now available to all Home Economics students. This issue was published by the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club. There are ten college clubs of this kind in Kansas, each publishing one issue of the newsletter.

Louise Darby is publicity chairman of the club at Kansas State, and was in charge of this issue. Arlene Shields is president of the organization, with Margaret McNamee as president of the state college Home Economics Clubs.

Mullen to Submit Pictures

C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of the School of Agriculture, has been asked to submit a group of pictures to a Chicago advertising agency. The agency intends to use them to convince a client to give scholarships to this and other land grant colleges.

The pictures which Dean Mullen will submit are of students and scenes in the School of Agriculture. There are also shots of Kansas State graduates who have now taken their places as successful farmers.

Aptitude Test Grades

Students who completed their aptitude tests in March may receive their test scores and have the meaning of their scores explained to them at the Testing Bureau, Room 214 in Anderson Hall. The students may come to the bureau on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday afternoons.

The theme of the dance will be centered around the veterinary medicine emblem, the Caduceus, which will be hung on the north wall of the hall.

Vitamin Experiments in Progress

Experiments to determine some of the B-Complex vitamins content and losses in meat during cooking, freezing, and processing are being carried on at the Kansas State College Experiment Station under the direction of Dr. Beulah Westerman, associate food economist at the station.

Vitamin content of wheat and flour, especially when these are enriched, is also being determined by experiments in the home economics program of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Riboflavin and thiamine content is being studied in detail.

To determine the vitamin content of foods, chemical, microbiological, and biological methods are used. The latter involves the use of white rats.

KSC To Hear Romberg Music Tonight At 8:15

Sigmund Romberg and a troupe of 60 top musical artists will be presented tonight in the College Auditorium beginning at 8:15. Included in the program are selections from Romberg's operettas—"The Desert Song," "The New Moon," "Maytime," and his latest Broadway hit, "Up In Central Park." The music of Strauss, Gershwin, Schubert, Sousa and Herbert will be played as well.

The concert orchestra will be arranged on the stage in a unique manner, so that Romberg faces the audience as he conducts. Another special feature of Romberg concerts is that he never plans a definite program, but allows the audience to make requests. His other numbers are selected from a group of standard songs.

Victoria Schools, Lorna Byron and Ann Andre are the soloists for the evening. Miss Schools, a blue-eyed brunette, was first discovered by Sam Goldwyn when she was 14; Goldwyn signed her to a movie contract. Then Rudy Vallee signed her for a 13-week engagement and featured her on a vaudeville tour with his band. Her next step was as co-star of the George Abbott Broadway hit "Best Foot Forward." Romberg became aware of Miss Schools' outstanding voice through her teacher, Estelle Lieblich. Miss Schools is also an excellent writer and has studied journalism at Stephens College and Columbia University. Her ambition—to sing at the Met.

Two Red-Heads To Sing

Lorna Byron, mezzo-soprano, is a stunning red-head. Her career embraces such diverse engagements as the "Follies Bergere," the Detroit Civic Opera, St. Louis Municipal Opera and New York's La Martinique. Miss Byron will sing many of the Romberg light classics as well as serious operatic arias.

The third soloist is another vivid red-head, Ann Andre. Her mother had once hoped to be a singer, so Miss Andre began her singing studies in Chicago at a private school. Her professional career began at 17. She has sung successfully with the Civic Light Opera Company of Los Angeles, in a revival of "Topsy and Eva" and in Clifford Fisher's "Follies Bergere." Miss Andre clicked in a big way in the modern presentation of Grieg's immortal music, "Song of Norway," current on Broadway, and recently married a tenor, Hal McMurrin, who was also starred in "Song of Norway."

This evening with Sigmund Romberg and his concert orchestra is being sponsored by the Association of American University Women. Profits will go to the Women's Residence Hall Committee. A few tickets will be available at the door tonight.

Nineteen Elected To Phi Kappa Phi

Sixteen students and three faculty members at Kansas State College have been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic organization. Students are chosen to membership in the society from the upper 10 percent of the senior class of each of the five undergraduate schools of the college and from the Graduate School.

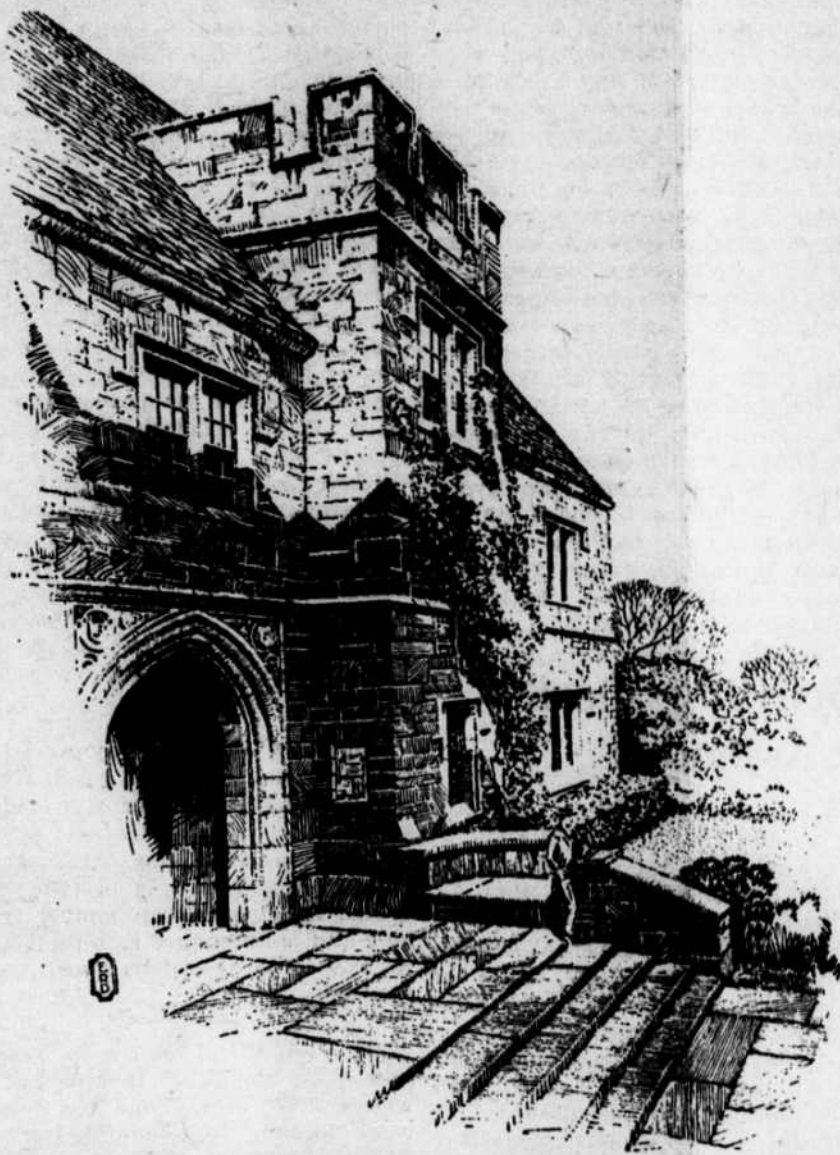

The new members listed by schools are:

School of Agriculture—Dale Alpheus Knight; School of Arts and Sciences—Joanne Aubel McPeck, Jewell Rosemary Botes, Marion Elizabeth Shields, Helen Louise Morgan, and Iantha Alice Terrill.

School of Engineering and Architecture—Robert Leroy Schragg; School of Home Economics—Mary Alice Streater, Arlene Leota Shields, Eunice Evelyn Niblo, Louise Schlicher Best, Ruth Eileen Redmond, and Alice Laura Beardsley; School of Veterinary Medicine—Joseph Newton Holt and James Max Ungles.

Graduate School—George Russell Moore; Faculty members—Dr. Donald J. Ameel, School of Arts and Sciences; Prof. Boyd B. Brainard, School of Engineering and Architecture; and Dr. Leah Ascham, School of Home Economics.

Military training was recognized as important at the College in 1865 by persons who had witnessed the border conflicts and the Civil War.

The Kansas Home Demonstration Council is backing a drive to raise $200,000 this year for use in the construction of this women's residence hall at the College. Rural Kansas women are having socials, rummage sales and dinners to raise their county quotas. One county is contributing a carload of Kansas wheat for the fund. In Riley County a local residence hall committee has had charge of the Artist Series presented at the College this year. Part of the proceeds from this series goes to the residence hall fund. The local chapter of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a concert tonight by Sigmund Romberg and his orchestra in an effort to raise funds for the hall.

Seniors Hear British Woman

Miss M. Craig McGeachy, director of the welfare division of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, has accepted an invitation to give the spring commencement address at the College May 20 in the College Auditorium. Miss McGeachy, whose home is in London, has been in England since last October and is due back in the States shortly. She will come to Manhattan to speak to the graduating class unless changing war conditions cause cancellation of her plans.

Miss McGeachy formerly was secretary of the British Embassy in Washington. She is the only woman ever to have had such a position in the British government. She is a Canadian born Britisher. Miss McGeachy, who has been close to the war through her work with UNRRA, will tell of conditions in Europe as they are now and as she has seen them.

Approximately 200 graduates will be candidates for degrees to be conferred by President Milton S. Eisenhower on May 20. Graduation will be at 8 p. m. in the College Auditorium. There will be no commencement recital on Sunday afternoon as in the past.

Although graduates of former years will go through the motions of class reunions, Kenney L. Ford, alumni secretary, is not expecting many back this year because of transportation difficulties. Questionnaires were sent to the older classes to determine how many K-Staters would be able to return for reunions. Only a few indicated they could return.

There will be the usual class luncheon at the College cafeteria May 19 at noon. The annual meeting of the alumni association will be at 2 p. m. in Recreation Center. Graduating seniors will be guests of alumni at the annual alumni-senior dinner Saturday night, May 19.

Bob Jackson Heads KS Engineer Staff

The "Kansas State Engineer" will be edited next year by Robert Jackson. Richard Smith will be the business manager, and Donald Ransom, assistant editor.

Dick Stockman was elected as feature editor; Claud Shelor will be the editor of illustrations and Charles Eslinger is the new circulation editor.

K-Staters Plan For Inter-Nation Security

One of the first steps in attempting to bring world problems before the student body was taken yesterday when the Speakers' Bureau of the International Security Assembly spoke to each organized house on the campus and explained the purpose and mechanics of the organization.

The International Security Assembly to be held next fall at Kansas State College was originated by a group of students interested in world peace problems. Various organized houses and campus groups, representing different nations and pressure groups, will make an intensive study of the vital problems of the countries. These problems will be handled later in committees, and resolutions will be presented before the Assembly for ratification this fall.

Any group of students wishing to participate may organize for that purpose or any existing group may join in the Assembly. Each organized group should select the country it wants to represent before Monday, making a list of five countries in order of preference. The list should be sent to International Security Assembly, Box 442. The planning committee will distribute the nations according to choices made as nearly as possible.

President Eisenhower has asked the planning committee to draw up a detailed statement of estimated expenses, and work has been started to secure prominent national speakers. Reference material is being gathered pertaining to the countries, and additional reading matter will be available in the library and in Recreation Center.

There is a possibility of correlation of this all-school project with many of the classes next fall. Radio programs and newspaper articles leading up to the San Francisco Conference will provide basic knowledge.

The planning committee was chosen by a large group of students last week. It is headed by co-chairmen, Mary Alice Doll and Lois Meisner. Other members are Margaret Parker, Stanley Stuart, JoAnn Stoecker, Joy Talbot, Phyllis Hickney, Dean Tiemann, Vernelle Blevins, and Dorothy Cochran.

A discussion of proposed peace plans will be held Monday, April 23, at 7:30 p. m. in Recreation Center. International conferences such as Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods and Mexico City will be studied. Several informed speakers will clarify the results of each conference.

The beginning, as the proverb says, is half the whole.—Aristotle.

Five Independents, Seven Greeks Win Election

Four Independents and five Greeks were elected members of the 1945-46 Student Council in the all-school election Friday, giving the Greeks a precarious majority in council representation.

Home Ecs Plan Reception, Tea

Hospitality Day activities, although limited by wartime conditions, will include the annual formal reception, a tea for Manhattan women and an informal dance for all visitors. The annual exhibition will be opened April 19 with a reception for faculty and students of the School of Home Economics. Exhibits will be opened on April 20 from 1 to 9 p. m.

Officers of the Margaret Justin Home Economics Club will be installed at the reception. Freshman counselors for next year, two senior women with the highest grade averages and the freshman student with the highest scholarship record will be recognized. Also to be honored are the home economics women elected to Phi Kappa Phi, all school honorary organization, and new members of the honorary home economics society, Omicron Nu.

The traditional Hospitality Hop will be replaced by an informal dance which all guests may attend in Recreation Center on Friday evening. Another new event this year will be the tea for Manhattan women Friday afternoon in Thompson Hall. In former years, a tea for high school girls and their teachers was given in Van Zile Hall.

The exhibits, representing each department of the home economics school, have been planned for homemakers, Manhattan residents and College students because travel restrictions will prevent high school girls of the state from attending. Manhattan women, through their various clubs, are being invited to attend the Hospitality Day events and to see the exhibits.

There will be a Hospitality Day Assembly April 20 at 11 a. m. when Dr. Lita Bane, head of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Illinois, will address the student body. She will discuss the future of home economics.

Shakespeare Dinner Held Monday Night

Shakespeare in Scotland was the theme carried out in the program for the seventh annual Shakespeare dinner Monday night at the College Cafeteria.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, who was formerly an American vice-consul to Edinburgh, Scotland, described the setting for Shakespeare's tragedy, "Macbeth." A study of the character, Macbeth, was made by Dr. F. D. Farrell. A colloquy on Lady Macbeth was given by Miss Margaret Cadwell and Miss Pauline Flook, both College students. A group of Scottish songs were presented by the Chi Omega trio, Lois Johnson, Thelma Dahl and Betty Brown. Miss Hilda Grossman sang two selections accompanied by Miss Clarice Painter. Mr. Lyle Downey played a cello solo accompanied by Mr. Richard Jesson.

Miss Anna Sturmer, associate professor of English, was toastmistress. Mortar Board members served the dinner.

Frances Ewart Is YW President

Frances Ewart was elected president of the YWCA for the coming year in a re-election which was held last Thursday. This second election was held due to the tie between Frances and Aylo Albertson. It was the first tie for YWCA president in the history of the College.

The newly elected president is a member of the YWCA cabinet and also on the leadership council. She has served as an office hostess and attended several YWCA conferences. Frances is also a workshop leader and past publicity chairman of the YWCA.

Thibet is the only country in the world that uses playing cards in religious ceremonies.

Forty-two percent of the student body voted in the election in which three members of the Board of Student Publications were elected in addition to student council members. Two Greeks and one Independent won the board positions.

Students also voted in the election 4 to 1 in favor of the Student Council proposal to limit student's individual activities. This plan, devised by a committee appointed by SGA, has been approved by both the Student and Faculty Councils. Now that the measure has the sanction of the student body, machinery will be set in motion to put it into effect.

The new Student Council members will meet Tuesday night to accept office and elect officers to serve during their 1945-46 school term. Board of Publications members will begin their 1-year terms at the annual dinner for Journalism students which the board will give in May.

The Student Council candidates listed by schools with number of votes received are:

The election winners were introduced at a Student Council assembly Wednesday. David Neher, chairman of the public relations committee of the SGA, was in charge of the assembly.

Art Roseberg, a retiring member of the Board of Student Publications, discussed the duties of the board before he introduced its new members. He explained that the board governs the two student publications, The Collegian and The Royal Purple, and that it elects the editors and business managers of each.

After explaining the new point system, Neher discussed the duties of the Student Governing Association. The SGA represents the entire student body and works in cooperation with the Faculty Council in the government of all student affairs. Neher introduced the new members according to the schools they represent.

A campus movie filmed last year when ASTP units were stationed on the campus was shown after a brief explanation by Charles Schwab.

Med Techs Meet Thursday

The regular meeting of the Medical Technicians' Club has been postponed. It will be next Thursday instead of tonight.

Aptitude Grades...

Students who took aptitude tests in March may call at the new Testing Bureau office any time to learn the results of their tests and to talk over the interpretation. The offices of the Testing Bureau were moved last Friday from Education Hall to their present location, Anderson 214. Anyone who wants to take other aptitude or interest tests may make an appointment with Dr. J. C. Peterson, professor of education, to take them at their convenience.

Should We Grade Our Professors?

(ACP)—As the semester draws to a close and courses begin to shape up, a majority of the campus population becomes more and more preoccupied with what final grades will be. But one group—the teachers—is exempt from this worry.

It has been generally accepted that grading students is an advisable procedure. But why not do the same for teachers?

A grading system for professors probably would include the student's evaluation of his professor's method of presenting his course, his organization of class materials and such qualities as his sense of humor and fairness. Students could fill out grading cards at the end of the semester and turn them in to their respective deans or to the registrar's office.

Two questions would have to be settled in relation to the grading system. In the first place, should the usual ABCDEF system be followed in judging professors? Although it would present the idea at a quick glance, there might be some opposition to giving any qualified teacher a grade of D or F. Perhaps designating them as "excellent," "fair" or "poor" would "soften the blow."

Such a system should have many advantages. Probably the first noticeable one would be the improved quality of teaching which would result. It might be brought home to teachers spending a great share of their out-of-class time on research or writing, that in a college or university, teaching is their primary responsibility.

After grades had been turned in once or twice, the faculty might understand better why students do or do not like their work. The other big advantage would be that the really good teachers would be more likely spotted by their superiors and marked for promotion, thus putting the selection on a basis of merit rather than on contacts.

The final results of this system should be to emphasize to college and university teachers that their main purpose is to educate the students studying under their guidance.

Overheard at the Can:
Do you have to be a Sig Alph to make the "Cats Meow?"—TKE Schwab.
Do all Sigma Nus date Chi O's?—Kappa Yapp.

Should have seen our Smitty and Dagwood chasing pigeons the other night. Could be that Smith wants to use them for messengers back to Nina at the Chi O house after he graduates this spring.

Sutter and Smythe just walked in so best we take our leave before we say something we shouldn't.

See you at the Chi O formal or Kappa picnic come Saturday. (Safe in predicting a Kappa picnic—they're always having them.)

Church News

Christian Youth Fellowship of the Christian Church will have an outdoor meeting led by Emily Ball next Sunday. The theme, "Our Chosen Way in Nature," will be expressed by devotions, Bible stories and songs. Kappa Beta will entertain the Sunday School class at a picnic Tuesday and installation of officers will be held at that time.

The Wesley Foundation "Saturday Nites" will hike beginning at Wesley Hall at 5:30 p. m. Saturday. The Rev. B. A. Rogers will give the second in a series of talks on "Healthy College Sex Life" for the Sunday evening meeting. Kappa Phi will have installation of officers Tuesday.

There will be a K. R. A. convention at the Baptist Church Saturday and Sunday with Mary Beth Fulton as the guest speaker. The main feature of the convention will be a banquet at the Church at 6:30 p. m. Saturday. The meetings will begin at 1 p. m. Saturday and continue through Sunday. Frances Ewart is planning the Sunday evening meeting.

The Rev. Ray Kearns, pastor at the First Presbyterian Church will speak to Phi Chi Delta on "Be of Good Courage" at their regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. at Westminster House Tuesday.

Sigma Eta Chi of the Congregational Church will have a Luknokin Service at their regular meeting Tuesday for church members. The service consists of candlelighting, pantomime, singing and reading.

Seven Initiated Into Sigma Xi

Seven men, six of them Kansas State College graduates, were initiated into Sigma Xi, honorary scientific organization, at the annual meeting of the organization Friday. Following the meeting Dr. E. Jack Coulson, one of the initiates, gave the annual Sigma Xi lecture on the chemistry of allergy. Dr. Coulson, a biochemist working on allergen investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture, was formerly on the Kansas State staff.

The initiation for the seven men took place in the College cafeteria following a dinner for members of Sigma Xi and a few invited guests.

The new members of Sigma Xi are: Travis E. Brooks, Ag. '40, M. S. '41, formerly of the botany department of Iowa State College, now serving in the Army; Dr. E. J. Coulson; Henry Wilbert Loy Jr., Ch. E. '30, M. S. '33, chemist, United States Food and Drug Administration; Gilbert G. Noble, C. E. '34, a member of the chemistry department at the College; Ralph W. Sherman, Ag. '24, entomologist with the U. S. D. A.; Thomas B. Thomson, M. S. '40, an assistant chemist at the College; and Dr. L. D. Wooster, president of the Fort Hays Kansas State College.

Eyestone Elected President Of Ags

At their regular monthly meeting last Thursday agricultural students elected officers for the Agricultural Association for the coming year. The new officers are: president, Merle Eyestone; vice-president, Floyd Blaser; secretary-treasurer, Ruth Wilson; Agricultural Student editor, Emmett L. Scott; Barn Warmer manager, John Scott.

For the first time since the beginning of the war the Association elected a full complement of officers. During other war-semesters the group elected only a presiding officer. C. W. Mullen, assistant dean of the School of Agriculture, said that the group thought it desirable this spring to elect the usual officers in anticipation of V-E Day and a probable increased enrollment in the School of Agriculture next fall.

Students Donate Clothes To Drive

The Community Service Group is sponsoring a clothing drive on the campus this week for the United National Clothing Collection. Mickey Terrar and Dorothy Ruckel are heading the committee in charge.

Clothing is to be sent to the war devastated areas. Topcoats, suits, jackets, shirts, all types of work clothes, sweaters, underwear, robes, pajamas, knitted gloves, skirts, shawls, dresses, aprons, jumpers, smocks and oxfords or high shoes of durable type with low or medium heels are needed most. Women's hats, derbys or high heeled shoes with open toes or backs or evening slippers are not acceptable. Shoes should be mated and tied securely into pairs.

All clothing should be taken to Recreation Center before Saturday.

Those working on the committee with the two chairmen are Betty Sue Hannah, Phyllis Taylor, Joan Myers, Roberta Reinhardt, Ellen Hauke, Roy Steinbacher, Alberta Collier, Juanita Billington, Duane Peterson, Lorenz Beuschel, Rita Hollecker, and Mary Belle Jenkins.

Loehwing Speaks At Assembly

"Recent Advances in Plant Science" will be discussed by Dr. Walter F. Loehwing, from the Department of Botany, University of Iowa, in an assembly Saturday morning at 10. This address, to be broadcast over radio stations KSAC and WIBW, is part of the 77th annual meeting of the Kansas Academy of Science.

Saturday afternoon, sectional meetings will be held from 2 until 4:15 p. m. Botany will be discussed in Dickens 108. The chemistry meeting will be in Willard 115. Talks on geology and physics will be in Willard 101. Psychology will be discussed in Education 204 and zoology in Fairchild 102.

This meeting is held jointly with the 21st annual meeting of the Kansas Entomological Society. At 11 a. m. there will be a business meeting and discussion of entomological problems in Fairchild 202.

Gamma Sigma Delta Holds Annual Banquet

The twenty-seventh annual banquet of the Kansas Eta chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta will be held tomorrow night at Thompson Hall at 6:30 p. m. Initiation at 5:45 p. m. will precede the banquet.

Dr. W. F. Loehwing, head of the botany department of the University of Iowa, will lecture on "Root Interactions of Plants" after the banquet. The lecture will be open to the public.

F. W. Atkeson was elected president of Gamma Sigma Delta for next year. Other officers elected are: Florence M. Stebbins, secretary; H. R. Bryson, treasurer; and L. C. Williams, vice-president.

Students who will be initiated into Gamma Sigma Delta Saturday night are George M. Fisher, Harold Hackert, Joseph Holt, Robert Jarrett, Derald Jernigan, Dale Knight, Jacob Mosier, Arthur Roseberg, James Ungles and Robert Yunghans.

Initiates from the graduate school are Carol L. Campbell, department of chemistry, and Leon G. Lungstrom, department of zoology. Faculty members to be initiated are James C. Bates, Richard T. Cotton, J. C. Frankenfeld, William G. Schrenk, Ralph E. Silker, and Thomas R. Thomson.

Mrs. Harold Nonamaker received word from her husband, Lt. Harold Nonamaker, that he is a prisoner of war in Germany. He had been reported as missing in action since December 19. Lieutenant Nonamaker received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from Kansas State College and was associated with the Farm Security administration before entering the armed forces.

For service in the China-Burma-India theater of operations, Capt. Claude A. Poland Jr. has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. Captain Poland, a former student of Kansas State College, is now a pilot with the Air Transport Command. He received the award upon completion of 300 hours of operational flight in transport aircraft over dangerous and difficult India-China air routes, where enemy interception and attack was probable and expected. In addition to the Distinguished Flying Cross, he holds the Air Medal and the CBI medal with one battle star. Captain Poland has been overseas 20 months.

Capt. Arthur W. (Wayne) Hjort, a Kansas State College graduate, is now commanding officer of a medical supply platoon at a strategic air depot in England. His organization, which recently completed two years overseas, helps to keep bomber crewmen and maintenance men on Eighth Air Force bases supplied with medical needs.

In a letter Cpl. Merle R. Siegle, now with the AAF in the Pacific, writes, "We were gone for over a week looking for General Harmon. We searched for three days, flying over 12 hours each day. That long in the air is awfully tiresome. We flew at 500 feet over the water all the time and as far west as the International Dateline, although we didn't cross it." Corporal Siegle was a student at Kansas State in 1943 before entering the Army.

Side-by-side in beds in the same Navy base hospital somewhere in the Pacific are two graduates of Kansas State College. They are Lt. (jg) George Boone, who was serving on a destroyer escort, and Ens. Ivan Griswold, who has been at sea since last July on an LST boat. Both are being hospitalized for injuries received in falls—Boone with three broken ribs and Griswold with a broken knee cap.

Lt. (jg) Robert Rathbone joined his ship again at Gibraltar after completing courses at Caseo Torpedo Officers School at Casco Bay, Maine, and Sound School at Key West, Fla. He serves with the destroyer, Ordonaux. Rathbone flew from Washington, D. C., to Europe in 20 hours, arriving there March 17. Enroute he stopped in Newfoundland, the Azores and Morocco. Lieutenant Rathbone graduated from Kansas State College in Industrial Journalism.

A second Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal has been awarded to First Lt. Robert G. Bensing for "meritorious achievement" while participating in bombing attacks on military and industrial targets in Germany and enemy installations in the path of the advancing Allied armies in Western Europe. Lieutenant Bensing is an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress pilot with the 385th Bombardment Group. Before entering the Army Air Forces in February, 1943, Lieutenant Bensing attended Kansas State College. He received his wings at Douglas Field, Ariz., in March, 1944.

COLLEGE FADS AND FANCIES, CLASS OF 1850

Fads and fancies in college costumes are by no means modern phenomena. Here is a gay undergraduate of the Class of 1850. Observe his flowing collar and tie, his super expanse of Panama brim, and his studied air of nonchalance.

This was in 1850, when America was basking in peace. The Golden West was opening up, and Express Service was keeping pace. Today, there are few fads and fancies on the college campus. They have given place to the uniformity and efficiencies of war time. Thousands of students are concentrated on the needs of the nation in arms.

Railway Express is devoting its nationwide services, both rail and air, primarily to speeding war material. To help all concerned, you can do three simple things with your 1945 home packages and baggage: Pack securely—address clearly and adequately—avoid abbreviating state names.

Grid Practice Ends Saturday

Kansas State College's first spring football practice under wartime conditions will be culminated Saturday by an intra-squad game starting at 2 p. m. Twenty-nine Wildcat gridders will take to the field to turn loose their power before they hang up their football suits until next fall.

The final scrimmage will be similar to the 45 minute game staged by the Purple and White last Thursday. It will be played under game regulations and the lineups will be nearly the same as last Thursday's scrimmage.

The coaching staff will be watching Stan Heathman, 145 pound back who performed so well in the last scrimmage; and George Bascom, Manhattan High guard converted into a full-back.

There is a possibility that track events will be staged during the quarters and half. A track meet composed of Salina High, Junction City High and Manhattan High has been tentatively scheduled.

Intramurals...

Pingpong tournaments are being held within individual groups to find the group winners. These games may be played at home or if teams do not have access to a table, they may be played in the Gym, room 104. Lists of teams must be in as soon as possible. No definite date has been set for the finals but they will be held between April 25-30. Groups entered so far are Alpha Delta Pi, Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Clovia, Kappa Gamma, Chi Omega and Independents.

Women on the campus who would be interested in entering an archery tournament to be held between April 23 and May 4 should see Miss Geyer by Saturday. This is the Kansas Inter-collegiate Mail Shoot held among colleges in the state of Kansas. The Columbia Round with 24 arrows shot at 50 yards, 40 yards and 30 yards respectively will be the round used. Teams must be composed of 4 members each. The list of winners of the tournament will be sent to Miss Joie Stapleton at K. U. Results of the meets held all over Kansas will be sent to each school.

The tennis tournament will start April 23. All entries must be in tomorrow at 5 p. m.

Swimming meets are scheduled at 5 p. m. each evening. The Blitz Babes, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Chi Omega held preliminary events on Tuesday and the Alpha Xi Delta, Tri Delta, and Pi Phi on Wednesday. Today, the two best teams from each event will swim in the final meet which will be held at 5 p. m.

Alpha Gamma Rho and the House of Williams were winners in men's softball intramurals Thursday. Monday winners were Jr. A. V. M. A. and Kappa Sigma.

Games scheduled Thursday will be played tomorrow with Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Sig Alphas on the southwest

"West Point Of The Middle West" Located At Kansas State College

West Point on the Hudson, greatest producer of United States generals, has as one of its closest rivals Kansas State College located in the fertile Kaw River Valley at Manhattan.

From the ivy-draped, peaceful campus of Kansas State have come six of World War II's military leaders—a half dozen generals who are carrying many of the war's heaviest burdens on their star-decked shoulders. K-State also can boast of a Navy admiral, Rear Admiral Walter A. Buck of the Navy Supply Corps. He was graduated from Kansas State in 1913.

Maj. Gen. Emory Sherwood Adams; Maj. Gen. Glen Edgar Edgerton, Brig. Gen. J. E. Lewis, Brig. Gen. Harold Mark McClelland, Brig. Gen. Alden G. Strong and Brig. Gen. Joseph Sweet are all former students of Kansas State College.

First of the current Army bigwigs to receive a degree at the College was Major General Adams of the 1898 graduating class. He served with the 20th Kansas Division in the Spanish-American War, later enlisted in the regular Army as a private and served as a colonel in France during World War I. He became adjutant general of the U. S. Army in 1938 and because of his age was retired in 1942. However, General Adams now has been called back to duty in Washington, D. C., where he supervises distribution of the honor decorations awarded war heroes.

Major General Edgerton, former governor of the Panama Canal Zone, was graduated from K-State in 1904 and has spent his entire life since in military service. After leaving col-diamond and the Jones boys playing the TKE's on the east diamond. Both games are at 5:15.

Tuesday, April 17, at 5:15 Kappa Sigma plays the House of Williams on the northwest diamond, the TKEs play the AGRs on the southwest diamond and on the east diamond Jr. A. V. M. A. meets the Jones Boys.

The golf tournament is Saturday, April 14, at the Manhattan Country Club.

A list for doubles in tennis intramurals will be posted on the men's intramural bulletin board this weekend.

lege he completed a course at West Point and entered the engineers' corps, a branch of the Army in which he has served continuously for 37 years. At present he is on duty in Washington.

Brigadier General McClelland, K-State graduate of 1916, is now one of General Henry H. Arnold's right-hand aides in Army Air Corps direction and is serving in the European Theater of War. Brigadier General Strong, class of 1911, was last reported as a commandant in Bermuda, while Brigadier General Sweet, 1917, is stationed with an Army in Iran. Another Kansas State general, Brigadier General Lewis, is located in an area not revealed.

Turning out generals for wars is not a new thing to Kansas State College. During World War I, only West Point furnished more top-flight military men. One of the best known Kansas State generals is General James G. Harbord, who was graduated from the College in 1886 after he worked his way through school selling milk.

General Harbord, now chairman of the Board of Directors of the Radio Corporation of America, tried for a West Point appointment following his graduation but failed to receive it. He then enlisted in the regular Army as a private, won his commission and went on to become one of the nation's greatest fighting men. It was General Harbord who commanded the famous Second Division in Belleau Woods when the Americans stopped the German drive on Paris in 1917.

Essay Contest Open To Agriculture Students

Swift and Company has announced their ninth annual College Essay Contest open to any male student in the School of Agriculture.

The essay, not to exceed 1500 words, is to discuss methods employed by the meat packing business in marketing meats, poultry, eggs, butter, and cheese. The winner will receive a cash award of $55.00. It is to be used in making a trip to Chicago to participate in a market study program December 2-5, 1945. Last year's winner was Millard Spratt.

The first college building in the United States for the sole use of home economics was erected in 1898 on the K-State campus.

Tri Delt alum, Margaret Mack, IJ '43, passed roses Wednesday night announcing her approaching marriage to Herb Vanderlip, f. s. and member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. The wedding will be April 28.

Lee Wycoff, Kappa Delta, told of her engagement to T/Sgt. George Lane when she passed chocolates last week. Sergeant Lane's home is in Cleveland, Ohio, but he's now stationed at Camp Funston.

Alpha Xi Delta will entertain with tea Sunday from 5 to 6 p. m. in honor of Mrs. J. H. Parker, national secretary of the sorority.

Mary Louise Markley is the new president of Clovia. Other officers are: Dorothy Wilson, vice-president; Mary Collier, secretary; Ruth Peddicord, historian; Shirley Freienmuth, marshal; Pauline Madden, house manager; and Jean Anderson, chaplain.

Members of Pi Beta Phi had an exchange dinner with members of Delta Delta Tuesday evening.

Clovia entertained with an open house for women of the Collegiate 4-H Club Saturday.

Kappa Kappa Gamma had an open house for veterinary medicine students last Thursday from 7 to 8 p. m.

Women of Maison-elle entertained dates at dinner Saturday night.

TKEs will entertain with their annual Sweetheart Ball tomorrow night with a formal dinner and dancing.

Chi Omegas and Kappa Deltas are both having formal parties Saturday night.

Annex I will have open house for all College men next Monday night from 7 to 8.

Werner Weiseth is the new president of Alpha Gamma Rho. Other officers are: Dick Spencer, vice-president; Al Van Walleghen, secretary; and Oris Nipper, treasurer.

Evelyn Mitchell, H. E. '44, visited Aloha Cottage over the weekend, and passed chocolates Saturday announcing her engagement to Capt. Frederick Robert Snyder, P. E. '42. Captain Snyder was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is now stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky. Evelyn is a home demonstration agent in Spencer, Iowa.

Amistad Elects

The candidates for Amistad council have been chosen and ballots have been sent to each of the 125 members of Amistad, according to Maurine Pence Harbaugh, president.

Those names appearing on the ballot are Barbara Rogers and Arlene Wilson for president; Jaunita Luthi and Georgine Bischoff for vice-president; Dolores Tiemann and Elna Yowell for secretary-treasurer; Caroline Perkins, Darlene Knauer, Marjorie Ward, and Adele Bischoff for corresponding secretary; Mary Harper and Jean Selby for program chairman; Irene Gehrke and Eulalia Railback for social chairman.

Music Faculty Recital

Charles Stratton, associate professor of music, will be presented in a piano recital Sunday afternoon at 4:15 in the College Auditorium. Assisting Mr. Stratton will be Richard Jenson, assistant professor of music.

Included in the program will be Bach's "French Suite No. 5, in G major," Chopin's "Etude in C minor, Opus 10, No. 12" and "Andante Spianato and Polonaise, Opus 22," and Cesar Franck's "Variations Symphoniques for Piano and Orchestra." In the last number Mr. Jenson will play the orchestral accompaniment on the organ.

The recital is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

A technicolor film entitled "Canning the Victory Garden" will be shown today at 4 p. m. in Willard 101. The scenes are taken from Good Housekeeping test kitchens.

Chi Os Celebrate 50th Anniversary

The Kappa Alpha Chapter of Chi Omega entertained guests and alumni at a formal banquet at the Manhattan Country Club Saturday night. The dinner was one of a hundred held in the United States celebrating Chi Omega's 50th anniversary.

A program similar to those at the other anniversary dinners was conducted by toastmistress, Thelma Dahl, president of the chapter. The principal speaker of the evening was President Milton S. Eisenhower who spoke on "Fifty Years of Alma Mater," after which the Kansas State alma mater was sung.

Leafing through the pages of "The Owl," a Chi Omega publication, Mrs. Larry Spear reviewed the paper and spoke on "Fifty Years of Chi Omega." The remainder of the program consisted of singing Chi Omega and patriotic songs.

The dinner was served by candlelight on tables decorated with red snapdragons and yellow carnations. Place cards in cardinal and straw, Chi Omega colors, were folders made to hold the Chi Omega publication, "The Owl." White carnations, the fraternity flower, were placed at each cover.

Nineteen Pledge KS Fraternities

Eight Kansas State College social fraternities have pledged 19 men since February 12, Harold Howe, faculty adviser of fraternities has announced. Alpha Gamma Rho, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta, and Tau Kappa Epsilon have pledged three men each; Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, two men each; and Alpha Tau Omega, one man.

The new pledges listed by fraternities are: Alpha Gamma Rho, Harold W. Price, Carl Rehfeld and Ole Rollag; Alpha Tau Omega, August Bogina; Delta Tau Delta, Robert Morris and Patrick R. Welsh, Jr.; Kappa Sigma, Elmer Davis and William S. Kerby.

Phi Delta Theta pledged Ernest Jackson Jr., Leon L. Wick, and Robert E. Young; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Charles Henley and Donald W. Hofess; Sigma Nu, Arthur W. Allmon, James F. Coder and David V. King; Tau Kappa Epsilon, Elwyn Church, David Cochran and Dale Kinyoun.

Miss Bliss Talks On Good Grooming

Miss Gladys Bliss of New York, Barbara Gould Cosmetics authority on good grooming, will speak on "Your Appearance Counts!" before the students in clothing classes at 7:30 p. m. in Willard 115 on Monday.

Illustrating her lecture will be charts displaying a range of subjects from facial contours to actual textile fabrics showing this season's fashion colors. Demonstrations will be given to show how to apply make-up, how to arrange hair, and how to select accessories for the well-groomed college coed.

The main theme of Miss Bliss' lecture will be the importance of good grooming to economic welfare, to home and social life and to morale, which is even more important in these times.

Miss Bliss was invited to speak before the group by the department of clothing and textiles as part of the program of the School of Home Economics to widen the scope of the curriculum.

Miss Bliss will remain on campus Tuesday for appointments to give suggestions to college students. These appointments may be arranged through Miss Alpha Latzke, professor of clothing and textiles.

Home Ecs Honor Guest

Dr. Hazel Stiebeling, head of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of Washington, D. C., will speak tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Calvin 101 before a group of Home Economic students.

Tomorrow at 4 p. m. a tea will be held in honor of Dr. Stiebeling in Calvin lounge. The tea will be for the School of Home Economics staff and other faculty members cooperating with the Home Economics research work. At noon Friday there will be a luncheon at the Cafeteria.

Veterans' Wives Organize KS Veterans Auxiliary

K-State Veterans Auxiliary was chosen as the official name for the organization of wives of Kansas State veterans at their last meeting. Mrs. Delbert Longfellow was elected president; Mrs. V. C. Webb, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. T. L. Langford, yearbook chairman; and Mrs. S. M. McCully, gift chairman.

The organization was started when the wives of the veterans met at the home of Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower in December of last year. Mrs. D. C. Warren and Mrs. W. V. Schmitt assisted with the plans for organizing.

Regular social meetings of the auxiliary are held the second Wednesday of each month. All wives of K-State veterans are invited to attend. New wives should contact Mrs. Delbert Longfellow at 931 Blumont.

Student Recital Tuesday

A student recital will be presented by the Department of Music Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Auditorium according to Miss Clarice Painter who is in charge of student recitals. The public is invited to attend.

The last recital in the series, a formal one, will be given May 10.

The Smith-Hughes Act providing for the support of vocational education was approved February 23, 1917.

Elect Eyestone And Stuesser Council Heads

Merle Eyestone, representative from the School of Agriculture, was elected president of the Student Council for next year at the Council's meeting Monday night. Ralph Stuesser, representative from the School of Veterinary Medicine, will act as vice-president.

The office of recording secretary will be filled by Ruth Hodgson, from the School of Home Economics, and Virginia Stoecker, School of Arts and Sciences, will fill the office of corresponding secretary.

Stanley Stewart from the engineering school will act as treasurer and Dorothy Wilson, from the School of Arts and Sciences, will be pep chairman. The committee for public relations includes Dean Tiemann, Arts and Sciences, Mary Louise Markley and Rachel Gossard, Home Economics.

The new council and officers will assume their duties at the regular meeting next week.

Players Produce Gordon Hit Comedy

"Over Twenty One" will be produced May 4 and 5 in the College Auditorium by the Kansas State Players. The play was written by Ruth Gordon. The author starred in the leading role during the play's year run at the Music Box Theater in New York, its Chicago engagement and its tour of the country. Miss Gordon has the distinction of being the only actress in recorded history of the drama, here or in England, who ever wrote a play in which she appeared in the leading role. With the exception of William Gillette, no actor has ever starred in his own play.

In October, 1943, Ruth Gordon went to New York, fresh from Washington and keeping house for her husband, Garson Kanin. She took with her the story of the trials, laughs and experiences of Mr. Kanin in officer's candidate school. All this went into the comedy, "Over Twenty One," which, after a single reading, was accepted by Max Gordon for immediate production.

The Kansas State Players' production of "Over Twenty One" will star Betty Caldwell with Craig Bracken, Arma Jo Smith, Ralph Fogelman, Embert Coles, Pauline Flock, Dean Tiemann, Dorothy Wilson, Seymour Cohen and Joan Scheu. Prof. Earl G. Hoover is the director.

The plot concerns a couple in their late thirties and their trials and tribulations at the air cadet school in Miami, Fla. Much has been said that this is a "young man's war," but the 39 year old editor and his Hollywood scenarist wife set out to disprove this statement. How they do it and how he wins his second lieutenant's bars, in spite of the hardships of army life in an auto court, a scheming publisher and a hard-boiled colonel, is the body of Miss Gordon's comedy.

The opening of the box office for sale of tickets will be announced at a later date. Mail orders may be mailed to box 193, College Post Office.

Betty Gail Parker Wins Fellowship

Betty Gail Parker received word that she is the winner of one of the three Fashion Fellowships annually awarded to college seniors by the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers in New York. This is the first time that the honor has come to Kansas State.

Miss Parker won the award in the sixth annual nationwide competition held by the Tobe-Coburn School. Each fellowship entitles the winner to full tuition, valued at $750, for the One Year Course of this well-known school which trains young women for executive positions in fashion merchandising and advertising.

Winners of the other Fashion Fellowships are Mary Lou Egan of Pennsylvania College for Women and Beth Roche of Iowa State College.

Improved kerosene lamps were considered the highest luxury in lighting available at the College until 1881 when the College installed its own gas system.

Coeds Receive Actual Experience

Actual work in the various fields of home economics such as Gladys Richardson, chairman of the Hospitality Day exhibits, is doing here will be demonstrated by K-State coeds tomorrow when they show visitors that home economics is "Looking to the Future."

Artists Series Brings Kullman

Charles Kullman, American star of opera, concert, radio, screen, and recordings, will sing at the College Auditorium Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in the third and final program presented on the Manhattan Artist Series.

As a pre-med student at Yale University, Kullman thought it would be fun to relax by singing in the Yale Glee Club. The course of his life was changed by this extra-curricular activity. Because of his success as soloist with the Glee Club, he abandoned his medical career for one in music.

Mr. Kullman was graduated from Yale with a Bachelor of Science degree and won a scholarship to the Julliard School of Music, where he studied for three years. He then won another scholarship which entitled him to study at the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau, France.

In 1928 he returned to the United States, joined the music faculty of Smith College, and sang in such old operas as Monteverdi's "Orfeo" and the title role in Handel's "Xerxes."

Mr. Kullman later joined Vladimir Rosing's American Opera Company, where he made his initial appearances in the roles of Faust, Don Jose and Pinkerton. On February 24, 1931, he made his European debut in Berlin as the hero of "Madame Butterfly."

He returned to America in 1935 and made a triumphant debut at the Metropolitan Opera, appearing in "Faust," "Carmen," "La Traviata" and many other operas. He has always been interested in promoting opera in English.

Charles Kullman has been kept busy by the radio, recording, and motion picture industries. He has appeared regularly on a series of condensed versions of popular operas and operettas over the Columbia network and has made appearances on many weekly radio shows. On the screen he was seen in "The Goldwyn Follies" in which he sang the Drinking Song from "Traviata."

During the past two summers this young American has been performing at the Teatro Municipal in Rio de Janeiro, and in Sao Paulo. En route back to the United States, he gave concerts at Trinidad and Recife for members of the armed forces stationed at those bases.

The Charles Kullman concert is under the auspices of the Residence Hall Committee. Profits will be used to bring more entertainment here next year and to help pay for a women's residence hall.

Miss Alpha Latzke, professor of Clothing and Textiles, spoke at La Crosse and Larned last week at a county meeting of Farm Bureau women. "Recent Development in Textiles" was the title of her speech given at the annual spring tea.

Tokyo is not the largest city in Japan. Osaka is 100,000 greater in population.

Audience Enjoys Romberg Concert

One of the largest audiences ever assembled in the College Auditorium enthusiastically received Sigmund Romberg, his concert orchestra and soloists in a program of American music last Thursday night.

The light opera, comic opera and musical comedy of the twentieth century, which was presented by Mr. Romberg, featured his soloists, Victoria Schools, Lorna Byron, and Ann Andre.

Two years ago Sigmund Romberg started on a tour, determined to give America a chance to pass judgment on what he termed "middle-brow" music. It's the type of music that the followers of jazz call "high-brow" and that opera goers call "low-brow."

Selections from Romberg's current Broadway hit "Up in Central Park" were introduced to the Manhattan audience.

The appearance of Sigmund Romberg on the campus was sponsored by the American Association of University Women, and the profits will go to the Women's Residence Hall Fund.

Plans For I. S. A. Moving Forward

Twenty-one campus groups have selected countries which they will represent at the International Security Assembly to be climaxed here next fall. The nations were distributed according to choices made as nearly as possible by the planning committee. Any group that has not turned in a list of 5 preferences should send it to Box 442 as soon as possible.

Chi Omega chose Argentina; Tau Kappa Epsilon, Australia; Coed Court, Belgium; Alpha Delta Pi, China; women at 1415 Fairchild, Costa Rica; La Fiel, Czechoslovakia; Kappa Kappa Gamma, France; men at 1635 Laramie, Greece; Pi Beta Phi, India; Pal O' Mie, Ireland; Alpha Xi Delta, Mexico; Moore th' Merrier, Netherlands; Annex II, Panama; Clovia, Philippines; Kappa Delta, Poland; Annex I, Canada; Van Zile Hall, Russia; Delta Delta Delta, Great Britain; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, United States; House of Williams, Turkey; Keim's Kabana, Yugoslavia.

All Independents not in organized houses who are interested in forming study groups will meet today at 5 p. m. in Recreation Center with the planning committee and Amistad members to select their countries. A plan for geographic division of the town for independent students is under consideration.

Countries not yet chosen are Brazil, Bulgaria, Sweden, Denmark, Ethiopia, Guatemala, Iraq, Italy, Liberia, Luxembourg, New Zealand, Spain, Nicaragua, Union of South Africa, and Norway. Others may be added to this list.

Any student interested in belonging to a pressure group should sign his name on an ISA bulletin board in Recreation Center today. At least 5 pressure groups will be listed. They are Axis Germany, Axis Japan, labor,

Hospitality Day Opens With Reception Tonight

Hospitality Day of 1945 officially opens tonight at 8 with a reception in Thompson Hall for faculty and students of the School of Home Economics. Doris Dyal, Patricia Tilton, and Jean Kays are planning this event at which outstanding students of the school will be honored.

Tribute Paid To Roosevelt

Approximately 2000 students and faculty members paused Friday afternoon in an hour of memorial services for President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

An organ prelude by Richard Jesson consisted of "Panis Angelicus" by Franck, "Arioso" by Bach and "Adagio" (Octet) by Schubert. Invocation was given by the Rev. Charles R. Davies of the Episcopal Church. Cpl. Norman Myrvik sang "The Lord's Prayer." Comments were made and scripture was read by the Rev. J. David Arnold of the Christian Church.

President Milton S. Eisenhower addressed the assembly. "This is not a time for weakness, confusion, or hesitation, but for courage, determination, and dedication," he said and continued, "Though we are shocked by the passing of our President, we know the greatest tribute we can pay him on battlefields and farms, in factories, cities, and towns is to keep on marching toward the goals of military victory and lasting, just peace. The Commander-in-Chief gave his life, as thousands of others have done, for a noble cause."

"Every family in America that has lost one of its loved ones in this war has carried on in his memory. Now we are joined in a common loss and, thus united, we must carry on. The new President of the United States needs the help of every citizen, at home and abroad, to meet the grueling tasks of the years ahead," President Eisenhower concluded.

After singing the National Anthem by the audience, Msgr. A. J. Luckey of the Seven Dolores Catholic Church gave the benediction. In conclusion, "Come, Sweet Death" by Bach was played by Richard Jesson.

Eisenhower Begins Speaking Schedule

President Milton S. Eisenhower Saturday began one of the most intensive travel and speaking schedules he has undertaken since he returned home nearly two years ago.

In Emporia early Saturday afternoon, he addressed the Kansas directors of the American Association of University Women on economic problems of the Midwest in the immediate postwar period and the relation of these problems to education in Kansas. On the sixteenth President Eisenhower left for Washington, D. C., to attend the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, of which he is a member, and to serve as chairman of a national committee established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to plan agricultural extension activities for the coming year.

After a two-day breathing spell at the College on April 23 and 24, President Eisenhower will leave for a series of engagements in Northwestern Kansas, accompanied by Kenney Ford, alumni secretary. The schedule calls for 20 addresses in seven days before combined civic organizations, high schools and alumni groups in Belleville, Mankato, Smith Center, Phillipsburg, Norton, Colby, Goodland, Hays, Ellsworth and Salina.

He will return to Manhattan on May 2 for a short period in which to prepare and submit to the Board of Regents the Kansas State College budget for the coming fiscal year. Then he will leave to participate as speaker in the high school commencements at Herington, Junction City, Beloit, Clay Center and Marysville, breaking this trip to be on hand for the College commencement on May 19 and 20, and returning again for the Manhattan high school commencement on May 25.

The College radio station, KSAC, has broadcast 4,618 lectures during the past two years on educational subjects of interest to the people of the state.

"Futuristic Frolic," a jam session in Recreation Center tomorrow from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., will replace the traditional Hospitality Hop. Betty Jean Yapp is chairman of the committee planning this dance.

Assembly Tomorrow

Speaker at the Hospitality Day assembly tomorrow at 11 a. m. will be Dr. Lita Bane, head of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Illinois. Doctor Bane, who received an honorary doctor's degree from Kansas State College in 1938, will use the theme of this year's open house, "Looking to the Future" as her subject. Mary Alice Doll will preside and Margaret McNamee, president of the Kansas College Home Economics Clubs, will introduce the speaker. The Clovia trio, Eunice Niblo, Marion Terrill, and Dorothy Wilson, will sing.

Exhibits in Anderson and Calvin Hall will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. tomorrow. Glimpses of what the future may hold in houses, clothing, and foods are part of the displays of this 15th annual Hospitality Day. Jean Peck is general chairman of the event and exhibits chairman is Gladys Richardson.

A tea for Manhattan women is to be given in Thompson Hall tomorrow from 3 to 4 p. m. Harriet Dillard and Margaret Konecny have planned this new feature of Hospitality Day. Through the various clubs Manhattan homemakers have been invited to see the exhibits especially planned for them and to attend the assembly and tea.

Romberg's Pianist Plays For Freshman

When Norene Francis attains her ambition of teaching music, she will no doubt have many interesting things to tell her students about her college training. She can say, "Sigmund Romberg's accompanist once accompanied me."

Last Thursday Norene was practicing vocal numbers for the student recital Tuesday. An accompanist of Sigmund Romberg heard her in a practice room and came in.

He played the piano for her while she sang "The Answer" and "My Sweet Repose."

"I was really thrilled," Norene commented.

And who wouldn't be thrilled—first by having a voice good enough to attract a Romberg accompanist, and second by having him take time to play the piano for one to practice.

Norene added, "He said my voice is pretty good, but needs lots of training." This comment was added in all modesty by the freshman Music Education major.

Discuss World Affairs At Meeting Monday

Authorities on world affairs will discuss recent Allied conferences in relation to the forthcoming San Francisco parley before K-State students and faculty members at 7:30 p. m. Monday in Recreation Center.

Tentative arrangements have been made to have as guest speaker Captain Badigallo, of the diplomatic corps of the Bolivian government, who has been invited to represent his country at San Francisco. However, if he is able to secure reservations to travel to San Francisco he will be unable to attend the local meeting.

Prof. A. Bower Sageser, of the history department will discuss the Yalta conference; George Montgomery, professor of economics will discuss the Bretton Woods meeting; Roy Durham, instructor of political science in Manhattan high school, will discuss the Dumbarton Oaks conference and President Eisenhower will summarize the talks and discuss the San Francisco meeting.

The YMCA, YWCA, business students and Collegiate 4-H Club are jointly sponsoring the meeting. Dean Tiemann is in charge.

We Can't Afford To Stop Buying

With the opening of the Seventh War Loan, the individual purchaser will be called upon to a greater extent to invest in the war effort and save for peace. This means that a greater responsibility is being placed on you—students, faculty members, laborers, office workers,—everyone must assume his share.

This year there will be only two War Loan Drives and the government will have to raise almost as much money from individuals as in the three drives last year.

The Battle of Japan has just begun. It must be backed up, paid for, and fought for by a free people, intent on sweeping the Pacific clear of fascist hate—forever. And we still need supplies in Europe—supplies that must be paid for—by us!

We may think that we can skip that War Stamp this week and buy another hot fudge sundae. That is our business and all the flags waving in the world would not stop us. But our conscience can—if we would only stop to think. Is it an obligation, a duty or a privilege?

The Cat's M-E-O-W

The Kitty's meow grows feebler as his lives tick away. With this issue we figure he's about on the tail end of his eighth life. Of course, maybe some of you have already declared him dead.

Hear Davis is bathing in talcum powder these days. Seems as though there was a little doubt down at the Delt house as to whether the Phi Phi or Chi O's rate highest. Who knows? Like I said David couldn't breathe for three days.

Wouldn't like to say the Kappas were having any troubles getting dates for their rushes last weekend but they asked six PWs to take their guests out Saturday night.

Guess the Kappa Sigs don't believe in modern plumbing—at least Bucky was seen taking a bird bath out in the middle of Laramie Street last Saturday night. The rest of the brothers must have been too tired to take him home.

So there's to be a party of the famous Miami Triad. The pink and blue of our dear Betas! The blue and white of the ancient Phi Delt! and last, but might we say, foremost, the blue and white of the famous Sigma Chi!

But as for brains,
She ain't got none
And doesn't give a hoot.

The old reliable grapevine informs us that Charles (I'm too old for Norby) Eslinger was seen at the TKE formal with his freshman gal. The TKE party was all right—sort of a Ladies Aid with a floor show. We guess they thought their dates would be bored with them.

Norman Wins Scholarship

Maria Norman was presented with a $25 scholarship award by Phi Alpha Mu, honorary organization for junior women in the School of Arts and Science, at Calvin lounge last Wednesday evening. The award was presented by Mary Ann Luhnaw, vice-president of the organization.

Sophomore women eligible for Phi Alpha Mu next year were invited to dessert in Calvin lounge from 7:30 to 8:30 Wednesday evening. Eunice Stoltenburg, president, was in charge of the table where dessert was served.

Eisenhower's Hidden Talent Comes To Light

If we would turn back the pages of time at Kansas State to March 30, 1920, we might learn some "inside dope" about the president of our College, Milton S. Eisenhower. President Eisenhower was then editor-in-chief of the Collegian. Not only did he edit the Collegian, but in this particular edition, he made a plea to the coeds on the campus. Couldn't be that our president was worried about being a bachelor!

The following poem was taken from the Collegian dated March 30, 1920:

My name is—
Well—no matter.
I come from a farm
Out in western Kansas.
I thought I had heard
People say,
That this here
Leap Year
Was the time
When beautiful dames
Went around
Tappin' unsuspecting guys
On the shoulder
And asking them
To become
Their meal ticket.
Well—
I've been here
Six months
And I ain't even
Had the chance
To decline with thanks.
I must say
I think the girls
Are making an awful
Mistake.
I may not
Be as good looking
As Prof. Rogers
But I got just as many brains.
I am sure Prof. Davis
Has nothing on me
For looks,
Yet they are both
Kind, hen-pecked husbands.
Why is it, girls?
I can shake an awful
Wicked leg;
I play a durned good game
Of checkers;
And you'd be surprised
But I have lots
Of other traits
Every bit as devilish.
Address all applications
With matrimonial intentions,
Care of
The editor of the Collegian.
(The woman hater.)

Editor's Note: The name of the person making this plea is withheld on request but we may state that his first name has something to do with weights.

Give Demonstration at USO

A demonstration on "Plain Foods and Party Dress" was presented to wives of officers and enlisted men at the USO Tuesday afternoon by a class in fundamentals of demonstration.

Word has been received of Jack Remmele's promotion to the rank of corporal. He is now stationed with the Army in the quartermaster base depot on the Hawaiian Islands. Cpl. Remmele entered the Army in June, 1943, and was trained at Ft. Warren, Wyo., before going overseas in January, 1944. A graduate of Kansas State College, Remmele was employed at Gallup, N. M., prior to his entry into service.

Lt. R. T. (Dick) Schindling, a former student in mechanical engineering, was reported missing in flight over Germany on February 23. Lieutenant Schindling, whose home is in Leavenworth, was a sophomore at Kansas State in 1943 before joining the armed services.

Pvt. Marjorie I. Setter is convalescing at the AAF regional hospital, Miami, Fla., after a tonsillectomy. Private Setter entered the WAC in July, 1944. She attended Kansas State College two years prior to her entry into the service.

First Lt. A. Allen Appleton has been assigned as Publications Director at Ellington Field, Texas, according to word received here. Lieutenant Appleton served with the Eighth Air Force in England and was awarded the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters.

clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross for action there. He was returned to the United States in December and after a period at a California rest camp was assigned to Ellington Field. He and Mrs. Appleton, the former Gloria Gish, are making their home in Houston, Texas. Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Appleton are former Kansas State College students.

A letter was recently received from Maj. W. W. Bertz, who was taken prisoner by the Japanese at the fall of the Philippines. The letter, dated October 13, 1944, was headed Cabanatuan Prison Camp, in the Philippines, and inferred that he was being moved with a number of other officers to the prison camp on the Japanese mainland. He said, "Before departing I want to try to get a few lines to you to let you know I am in excellent health and weigh 150 pounds." The letter seemed quite optimistic and he apparently knew he was about to be transferred to Japan. A graduate of Kansas State College with the degree of DVM, Major Bertz entered the regular army soon after his graduation and was stationed at Ft. Riley before the war.

K Club Initiates Eight Members

The K club, fraternity for athletes who letter at Kansas State, held their meeting Monday for initiation of new members and election of officers for the coming year.

Eight new members were initiated into the fraternity. They are: Dick Spencer, Ralph Stuesser, Bill Schultz, Jack Kincheloe, Jay Payton, Dana Atkins, Larry McCloughry, and Harvey Haas. The K club membership now totals 20, having 12 old members previous to initiation. The old members are August Bogina, Dale Cowan, John Goforth, Harold Kinard, Robert King, Bob Mooney, Marvin Norby, Joe Ridgway, Jean Smith, Melvin Steifel, Jim Ungles, and Russ Hardin.

Election of officers was held at a short meeting following the initiation. Dick Spencer, star guard on the Wildcat quintet the past season, was elected president; Bill Schultz, who also earned a letter in basketball, vice-president and Russ Hardin, varsity football guard, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The K-alumni old timers in Manhattan gave a dinner for the active members at the College Cafeteria immediately following the meeting. Elmer Hackney, former K-State great, showed a colored motion picture of a pro football game between Detroit and Boston in which "One Man Gang" Hackney scored three touchdowns.

Barbara Gould Authority Speaks On Good Grooming

"If it's a date, if it's a career, if it's popularity—your appearance counts," said Miss Gladys Bliss in her lecture on good grooming Tuesday afternoon in Willard Hall. This Barbara Gould authority on grooming came from New York to speak to a group of students in clothing classes.

Explaining the important role grooming plays in one's own morale, in home and social life, and in economic welfare, Miss Bliss showed how women can improve their appearance. This season's new fashion colors were shown in actual textile fabrics to illustrate the makeup shade to be worn with each costume color.

Amusing cartoon sketches portrayed common errors in posture and showed methods of relaxing when nervous and mentally tired or when physically tired. Another sketch showed the correct posture for dancing, according to Arthur Murray.

There is no such thing as a moral or an immoral book. Books are well written, or badly written. That is all.

religion, and cooperatives. A list of current events relating to the ISA will be posted on the board in Recreation Center from now on. Also in that room will be reference material for the various nations.

A budget of $200 has been approved by College officials for the International Security Assembly, according to the planning committee.

Several pertinent and valid questions concerning its methods of organization have been received by the International Security Assembly. Students ask why so many organized houses were selected as the national units; why those persons living in unorganized houses were given so little time to choose their countries; and why the suggested program includes banners and songs of the countries as well as the sober study of their international problems.

The students, who were chosen from about 40 interested persons to act as the steering committee of I. S. A., admit that they have worked through organized houses because those form the most convenient groups for ready contact. Furthermore, by their inclusion of relatively large numbers of students, such houses are able to constitute study units more easily and more continuously.

The steering committee recognizes that it failed to give students who live in very small units adequate time to organize and wants them to know that they still may join with any house which is already a nation, may become some nation not already chosen.

sen, or may participate in one of the international pressure groups.

It is not intended that the International Security Assembly shall be a flag-waving affair, but for each nation to know some of its own national customs, symbols and songs seems a reasonable suggestion. The more the students of a given country can come to see its own ambitions and biases and try to iron them out in committee meetings with other nations, the better able they should be to appreciate the difficulties facing those world planners who will soon meet in San Francisco.

The meeting which will be held Monday evening at 7:30 in Recreation Center should be of especial interest to the members of all countries. Several speakers will explain the proposed peace plans.

5 Students Represent KSC At K. C. High Schools

Five Kansas State students journeyed to Kansas City this week to represent the College among high school students there. They were Betty Carr, Embert Coles, Pat Fairman, Joyce Crippen and Ruth Fenton.

The group gave a program of songs by Pat Fairman, Joyce Crippen and Ruth Fenton, and a technicolor movie depicting life on the Kansas State campus. The trip was sponsored by the SGA. The students were assisted in Kansas City by Walter Atzenweiler, president of the Kansas City Alumni Association.

Men trained by the College under Army training programs in 1943-44 totaled 2,243.

Formal Parties Highlight Weekend

The annual TKE sweetheart banquet and ball was held Friday evening at the Country Club. Miss Nancy Wilcox, Kappa Kappa Gamma, was introduced as the 1945 TKE sweetheart by Al Maxfield.

The receiving line included Doyle Kern, Della Gray Smith, Mrs. Pearl Remmele, Mrs. James Jackson, Prof. and Mrs. C. A. Dorf, and Prof. and Mrs. M. J. Caldwell.

The decorations in the dining room were carried out in black and white, and the ballroom was decorated in cherry and gray, TKE colors. Ross Schimmels' band furnished the music. At intermission the Melodianns, Patt Fairman, Joyce Crippen, and Ruth Fenton, sang "My Dreams Are Getting Better All the Time" and "A Little on the Lonely Side;" and Miss Alice Becker tap danced. At the close of the ball Charles Eslinger sang "Goodnight, TKE Sweetheart."

KD Formal

The Kappa Deltas entertained their dates Saturday evening at their annual spring formal. The chapter house was transformed into an underwater dream world with decorations of life-size under-water scenes portrayed on the walls of the rooms. At the mouth of a cave was revealed a partly opened treasure chest filled with jewels and an octopus lurking nearby. The couples danced under colored fish in blue-lighted rooms.

The receiving line included Barbara Davis, Francis Baysinger, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Millison. Out-of-town rushees were guests.

Music was furnished by recordings. Punch was served during the evening and at intermission.

Kansas Industrialist Celebrates 70th Year

Tuesday, the Kansas Industrialist celebrates its birthday with the completion of 70 years of continuous publication.

The paper was first issued April 24, 1875, during the term of John Alexander Anderson, the second president of Kansas State. The early volumes of the paper are filled with his writings. For 70 years The Kansas Industrialist has served as a channel for communication between the administration and the public, and the files of the paper furnish an authentic history of the early days of the College.

Prof. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing, is the Industrialist's present editor.

Along the Union Pacific main line—between stations—a signal flashes red. The train slackens speed and stops. The engineer grabs the whistle cord... one long and three short blasts. That's a signal to the flagman. It is his duty to give adequate warning to any train following. To do so, he walks a sufficient distance to the rear to insure full protection.

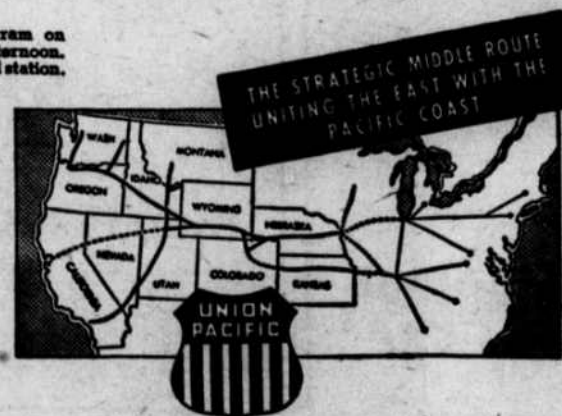

This is one of the many precautionary measures taken by Union Pacific—and other railroads—to protect passengers and freight shipments.

Safe transportation becomes increasingly important in wartime. Trainloads of troops and essential materials are constantly on the move over Union Pacific's Strategic Middle Route uniting the East with the Pacific Coast.

Just as the flagman protects his train, so is it the job of all Americans to provide for future security by buying bonds and saving them. Thus we can help stabilize industry and encourage the American trait of individual enterprise and initiative.

World Peace Explained Monday Night

"We must work out some sort of arrangement for a world organization which will provide for a means of cooperation between the victorious Allies or we will be on the road to the next war," said Dean R. I. Thackrey to a group of approximately 400 students and faculty members in a discussion of the possible outcome of the San Francisco Conference. The meeting was held in Recreation Center Monday night.

This meeting was sponsored by the Business Students Association, Collegiate 4-H Club, YMCA and YWCA. The committee consisted of Art Rosenberg, Stanley Stuart and Delbert Clark with Dean V. Tiemann as chairman and Dr. A. A. Holtz as faculty advisor.

Dean Thackrey was one of five speakers who discussed the peace conferences leading up to the San Francisco conference. George Montgomery, professor of agricultural economics at the College, spoke on the Bretton Woods Conference. Roy Durham, professor of Social Science from the Manhattan High School, talked on the Dumbarton Oaks Conference. The Yalta Conference was briefly outlined by Prof. A. B. Sageser, professor of history. Dr. A. A. Holtz, professor of economics and sociology, spoke on the Mexico City Conference.

The conferences were summarized by Dean Thackrey and he added, "The results of the San Francisco Conference will be merely the beginning of a long hard struggle to build a peaceful world."

"In the postwar period it is highly essential that we do have some centralized authority for our monetary and international relations. We should not postpone consideration of proposals set up at the Bretton Woods Conference until we feel we have a perfect arrangement," said Professor Montgomery.

Representatives of 44 countries met at Bretton Woods, N. H., July 1-22, to discuss monetary and financial problems we have had in the past and will have in the postwar future. Briefly, this proposal was to substitute cooperation for competition.

Professor Durham discussed the plan of the Dumbarton Oaks Conference which was worked out last fall, August 21 to October 7 by the Big Four: Russia, Great Britain, China and the United States. The new name for the World Organization suggested at Dumbarton Oaks was "The United Nations."

The general setup would be an assembly composed of all nations—meeting annually, each nation having one vote, to give general consideration to matters which are likely to lead to war.

The Yalta Conference, held February 11, marked a turning point in American history. Professor Sageser explained that the defeated Germany should be divided among France, United States, England and Russia, for military supervision. Plans were made at this conference for the San Francisco Conference.

Dr. Holtz, substituting for Captain Badigallo, a member of the Diplomatic Corps from Bolivia who is attending the San Francisco Conference as a representative of the Bolivian government, told of the Mexico City Conference.

At this meeting, all the nations agreed upon the same principles as the Monroe Doctrine, and it was again indorsed. Other orders of action were set up and agreed upon by the nations of the Western Hemisphere with the exception of Argentina.

Students To Apply For Editorships

Applications for editor and business manager of the Collegian, both for summer school and fall semester, and editor of the 1946 Royal Purple must be turned in to Prof. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing by May 4.

Application blanks may be obtained in K105. Any student who meets the scholastic requirements for participation in college activities is eligible to apply for these positions.

The year 1894 marked the introduction of electric lighting on the College campus.

Seniors . . .

Senior Class Picnic will be held at Sunset Park tomorrow and the group will meet at 3 p. m. at the Watertower across from Sunset Cemetery. A dance will be held at the Avalon tomorrow at 9 p. m. Tickets may be purchased from Mary Louise Monroe, Jean Peck, Gerald Goetsch, Marion Shields, Jean Smith and Jim Ungles.

Honor Students At Recognition Assembly

Malcom F. Stewart, professor of philosophy at Illinois State College, will speak on "The Conflicts of Philosophies" at the Twenty-Second Annual Recognition Assembly at 9 a. m. Wednesday. Honors in scholarship will be announced at this time.

Announcements of the American Institute of Architecture Award to be presented to the senior for excellence in architecture and the Chi Omega award in sociology will be made.

The senior in home economics with the highest grade average for four years will be announced, also, the one with the highest average for her junior and senior years. The Omicron Nu Freshman Scholarship winner for 1943-44 will be announced and honorable mention for freshmen and sophomores will be given.

New members of honor societies will be announced as well as honors won in oratory and extempore speech, debate and rifle competition.

Josh Lee Speaks At Assembly Today

Josh Lee, member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, is speaking at a student assembly this morning at 11 o'clock in the future.

Mr. Lee was the Oklahoma representative to Congress from 1935 to 1937, Senator from 1937 until 1943, and was appointed member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, February 1, 1943.

Mr. Lee spoke at a high school assembly earlier this morning and at 6:30 p. m. he will address a Chamber of Commerce forum dinner meeting.

Honorary Frat Installed Here

Because of the excellence of the dramatic activities of 10 members of the Kansas State Players, the thirteenth chapter of National Collegiate Players was installed on the campus last Sunday.

This organization, also known as Pi Epsilon Delta, is the most prominent honorary dramatic fraternity in the country. A strictly honorary society, it has as its aim the encouragement of leadership not only in collegiate dramatics, but in community dramatizations as well.

Howard C. Morgan, executive secretary and treasurer of the national organization was here to install the Kansas State chapter. Mr. Morgan, head of the speech department of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., first became interested in speech during his undergraduate days at Kansas University as a student of Dr. Howard T. Hill. Dr. Hill is now head of the speech department here. Morgan became a member of National Collegiate Players while securing his master's degree at the University of Wisconsin.

Prof. W. C. Troutman, who assisted Morgan at the Kansas State installation Sunday, was a charter member of the National Collegiate Players when it originated at the University of Illinois 26 years ago. Professor Troutman and Morgan initiated the officers of the new Kansas State chapter.

The new officers are Pauline Flook, president; Ralph Fogelman, vice-president; Craig Bracken, secretary; Dean Tiemann, treasurer; Margaret Ann Cadwell, historian.

The newly initiated officers took over the ceremony and initiated as charter members Betty Caldwell, Marilyn Hurd, Ruby Wilson, Carol Halbower and Emibert Coles. Following the ceremony, dinner was served in the Gold Room of the Wareham Hotel for the new initiates.

Asst. Prof. Earl G. Hoover is responsible for the installation of this honorary dramatic society at Kansas State. Since the fall semester of 1943 Professor Hoover has been working hard to establish such an organization on our campus.

Some of the famous speech schools of America belonging to the fraternity are University of Southern California, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin, University of Iowa, and Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

Students interested in drama, earn the right of membership in this honorary fraternity through their work in the Kansas State Players.

Context Of Revised S. G. A. Constitution

The student body will go to the polls May 11 to vote on the Constitution of the Student Governing Association as revised by the Student Council. The revised Constitution reads as follows:

PREAMBLE

The constitution and by-laws are adopted for the purpose of placing the control and advancement of student interests and activities in the hands of the student body. It is the firm belief that self government will cause increased responsibility among the students resulting in higher ideals and better co-operation, so that college administration of student affairs shall be unnecessary.

ARTICLE I—NAME

Section 1. The name of this Association shall be the Student Governing Association.

Sec. 2. The name of the executive body of the Student Governing Association shall be the Student Council.

ARTICLE II—MEMBERSHIP

Sec. 1. All undergraduate students enrolled at Kansas State College shall be members of the Student Governing Association.

ARTICLE III—MEETINGS

Sec. 1. Meetings of the Student Governing Association shall be held at least once each semester.

Sec. 2. Ten percent of the members of this Association shall constitute a quorum.

ARTICLE IV—STUDENT COUNCIL

Sec. 1. The Student Council shall consist of nine (9) members, each school having that proportion of members which its total enrollment bears to the total enrollment of the Student Governing Association.

Sec. 2. In case the membership of the Council shall fall below nine (9) members, the vacancy shall be filled by the Student Council, with the approval of the Faculty Council on Student Affairs.

Sec. 3. The officers of the Student Council shall be a president, a vice-president, a recording secretary, a corresponding secretary, a treasurer, and such other officers as the Student Council shall deem necessary.

Sec. 4. The officers of the Student Council shall be elected by the members of the Council at a meeting presided over by the President of the previous Council.

Sec. 5. A majority vote shall be required for the election of the officers of the Council.

quired for the election of the officers of the Council.

Sec. 6. Officers of the Student Council shall hold their respective offices in the Student Governing Association and shall perform such duties as prescribed to their offices.

ARTICLE V—ELECTION OF STUDENT COUNCIL MEMBERS

Sec. 1. Any member of the Association with a sophomore rating or above, who meets the scholastic requirements of Kansas State College to participate in extra-curricular activities, and who has paid the Student Activity Fee, shall be eligible for election to membership in the Student Council.

Sec. 2. The date for the election of members of the Student Council shall be fixed by the Student Council in office, but shall be in the Spring semester and prior to April 15.

Sec. 3. Election shall be by ballot.

Sec. 4. Each member of the Student Governing Association shall vote only on the candidates from his school.

Sec. 5. From each school, the quota of candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected to membership of the Student Council. It is provided that there shall be minimum of one member from each school and one woman included from the School of Arts and Sciences.

ARTICLE VI—DUTIES OF THE COUNCIL

Sec. 1. The members elected by the Council shall supervise the following special matters:

Vice-president Discipline
Recording Secretary Social Affairs
Pep Chairman School Spirit
Board of Public Relations
(3 members) Public Relations

Sec. 2. The Student Council shall act on matters of student interest and welfare, and specifically on matters concerning social affairs, student organizations, public relations, discipline, finance, and school spirit.

Sec. 3. The Student Council shall sit as a court for determining the facts in all cases involving violations of Student Governing Association regulations, and shall recommend to the President of the College the penalty for violation and the time and manner of its application.

Sec. 4. The Student Council shall elect a dance manager who shall manage all Student Governing Association varieties and shall be directly responsible to the Student Council.

ARTICLE VII—FACULTY APPROVAL
Sec. 1. All actions of the Student Council or of the Student Governing Association shall be considered valid and binding upon all students unless they shall be disapproved by the Faculty Council on Student Affairs and the President of the College.

ARTICLE VIII—INITIATIVE

Sec. 1. Initiative: (a) Any member of the Association may initiate legislation by presenting it in writing to the Student Council. If after thirty (30) days, the Council refuses to pass or act upon the proposition, it shall be submitted to the members of the Association in a special meeting. Any measure when passed by a majority of those voting shall be effective when approved by the Student Council, Faculty Council on Student Affairs, and the President of the College. (b) Any matter requiring action by the Student Council, that is not brought before the Council for a recommendation within one week after being submitted to the President thereof, may be referred to the Faculty Council on Student Affairs by the interested party.

Sec. 2. Referendum: Any legislation involving rules and regulations of the Student Council enacted during the previous year may be submitted to a vote of the members of the Association upon petition of ten percent of the members of the Association. Such legislation is annulled provided fifty (50) percent of the members of the Association cast their vote, with sixty (60) percent of those voting favoring the annulment.

Sec. 3. Recall: Members of the Student Council may be recalled upon presentation of a petition of ten (10) percent of the Student Governing Association to the Faculty Council on Student Affairs. The latter shall call a recall election. Provided fifty (50) percent of the members of the Association cast their votes, a sixty (60) percent vote of the number voting shall be necessary for recall.

ARTICLE IX—AMENDMENT

Sec. 1. Initiative: Amendments to this constitution may be introduced by any member of the Student Council and may be approved by a majority thereof, or by a petition of a hundred (100) members of the Student Governing Association presented to the President of the Student Council, in which case the Student Council must submit the amendment to the Student Governing Association for ratification.

Sec. 2. Ratification: The Student Council shall call an election to be held after the proposed amendment has been printed in two consecutive issues of the Collegian. Provided fifty (50) percent of the members of the Association cast their vote, sixty (60) percent of the number voting shall constitute ratification of the amendment.

Christian Movement Holds Conference Here

The conference of the Student Christian Movement for the Kansas District will be held at Kansas State tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday. Student Christian Movement includes YWCA, YMCA, and other affiliated church groups.

Lois Crozier, Regional Secretary of the YWCA, will speak at the first meeting of the conference, which will be held in Recreation Center tomorrow at 7 p. m. Miss Crozier will speak on "We Look at Our Student Christian Movement and Define Our Purpose."

At 7:30 a. m. Saturday the group will go to a breakfast at the cafeteria. The Rev. Charles Hulac, new Regional YMCA Secretary, will speak at the opening session Saturday at 8:45 a. m. on the topic "The Lost Radiance of the Christian Faith."

At 9:45 a. m. Saturday the workshop groups will meet. Peace time conscription and "San Francisco," clarifying our Christian faith, and campus racial issues will be discussed.

Saturday afternoon there will be a session for new cabinet members and officers. This meeting is one of leadership training for officers and chairmen. Saturday at 6:30 p. m. an international banquet will be held in the Methodist Church. Miss Marjory Hyer will speak on "World Student Christian Federation."

At 9 a. m. Sunday there will be a district council meeting to elect two district co-chairmen. Dorothy Cochran is a member of the District Council from Kansas State.

The first Farmers' Institute in America was conducted by Kansas State College November 14, 1868.

Lazy Students Cut Campus Into Jigsaw

Lazy Kansas State students have worn paths which cut the campus lawns into a jigsaw puzzle.

To keep students from cutting from the gym to the south entrance gate on their way to the Can, a row of shrubs was planted. Undaunted by a few bushes, K-Staters walk right through and have now begun to trample the shrubs. Other paths have been worn near the vet building, Kedzie Hall, north of the gym, and in many other places where the sidewalks take the long road.

Several former Aggies now in uniform on return visits here have remarked about the unsightly paths. One loyal K-Stater went so far as to inquire why we don't have the whole campus paved to save the poor overworked student a step or two.

But we believe there are enough sidewalks to accommodate the traffic. We have seen no one being pushed from the pedestrian thoroughfares since the ASTP units left the campus. Students should learn to turn square corners with the sidewalks instead of rounding them off into country paths.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Commencement draws closer and closer—underclassmen's eyes are filled with tears at the thought of bidding the big kids adieu. Pitch-necks are becoming more numerous—the seniors have that dreamy, far-away, won't-be-home-'til-morning look in their eyes—the Can is doing a rushing business—parties and parties galore—Sigs is certainly going to miss the kids—and last but not least we don't think Hogue's going to be able to make his statement come true. That's the one where he said he was going to marry someone before he graduated.

The Sig Alpha had their annual Violet Hunt Sunday. That's their nice name for a blanket party. Anyway one Ann Charlson came away wearing one Art Roseberg's frat pin in close proximity to her "key."

Now we come to the Miama Triad—that's a party with a sponsor to take the blame. Really was a swell party what with Broger's Conga Line.

We hear Jake Mosier and Betty Willy are still pinned so we guess it's safe to offer our congratulations—Congrats kids!

So the rumor has it that the Kappa Sigs have a key to the back door of the Alpha Xi Delta house—only the door squeaks!

Wonder what all those seniors were planning so secretly the other afternoon. Could it be another one of those "Watch us make history" sneaks? At least we'll give 'em credit for livin' instead of just existin' like lowly underclassmen do.

Seems as tho' the Abnormal Psychology class is taking along its own specimen in the form of Hogue to compare with those found in a certain institution on the Kaw. The traditional dark glasses raised considerable comment from the inmates. Even the speechless one wrote "What's the matter with that guy? Is he afraid of the light?"

Poem No. 4

We DDD's sure do get around
We are the all 'round climbers
We have variety in our house
At tubing we're old-timers.

Jim (I associate with Sig Alpha because I have to) Barbee really had a gay time with a certain rushee from K. C. at the Chi O formal Saturday night. She thought he was cute, too!

Show OWI Film 'Combat America'

A 60-minute OWI technicolor film, "Combat America," will be shown at the College Auditorium tomorrow afternoon at 4. The movie was produced by Clark Gable.

"Combat America" was produced at the command of General Henry H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces, as an orientation film for gunners training to serve in the European theater of operations. It was assembled and edited by Maj. Clark Gable, who also serves as narrator. He and two others who assisted with the film were awarded the Air Medal for the unusual combat footage they obtained.

The film follows the Flying Fortress crews of the 351st Bombardment Group from the end of their training at a Colorado training field to actual combat over Germany. It tells the story of the crews and the gunners, showing how they live, how they fight and how they rest.

Seniors . . .

All seniors expecting to graduate May 20 should go to the Business Office, A 102, and pay the commencement fee.

The Bronze Star Medal has been awarded to First Lt. Malvin G. Johnson for achievement in action. He is a member of the 60th Infantry, a regiment of the famous 9th Infantry division. Lieutenant Johnson received the award for outstanding action while preparing to launch an assault against an enemy position. As he and the company commander moved forward on a personal reconnaissance of the terrain, the two men were pinned down by intense enemy fire. "With complete disregard for personal safety, Lieutenant Johnson exposed himself to the heavy enemy small arms fire to make his way back to his platoon. Engaging the patrol in a fire fight, he killed one of the enemy and captured the remaining six." He has participated in the battles of France, Belgium and Germany and holds the Purple Heart for wounds received in Germany. Lieutenant Johnson was graduated from Kansas State College in 1943, attended Officers Candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., and has been overseas since last June.

Ensign Harold Elmer has reported to the Naval Air Station, Ottumwa, Iowa, for naval primary flight training. Ensign Elmer is one of more than 300 recently commissioned ensigns who will be given the four month primary course at the Ottumwa naval air station. A former student of Park College and Kansas State College, he received his commission after completing his midshipmen's course at Fort Schuyler, N. Y.

Lt. Col. Gordon H. Woodrow has been appointed to the position of deputy commander at Key Field, Miss. He succeeds Lt. Col. John Dyas. A graduate of Kansas State in 1940 with a degree in agriculture, Colonel Woodrow was a member of Acacia fraternity. He has just returned from spending three years in the European theater of operations. Colonel Woodrow wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with five clusters, Presidential unit citation, and four battle stars on his European theater of operations ribbon. His new position is in line with the policy of the Air Corps to reassign veteran combat pilots to new training commands.

A letter from Lt. Merrill H. Werts, now in a hospital in Utah, says, "I'm no longer fighting with the 69th division in Germany, but lying flat on my back out here in Utah. When I arrived here a couple of days ago, I was very much surprised to find another former K-Stater in my ward, Lt. Edwin Snapp. The army has a pretty good evacuation system. They had me patched up enough to move and flown clear out here in about a month." Lieutenant Werts continues by saying that he may be recovered enough to enroll at Kansas State next fall. His hospital address is Ward 11, Bushnell General Hospital, Brigham City, Utah.

Temple F. Winburn, assistant executive officer of the 13th AAF Fighter Command, has been promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel. Colonel Winburn was graduated in 1929 from Kansas State College, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. Having taken ROTC training in college, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve upon graduation. He was called to active duty with the AAF in 1941. In civilian life, Colonel Winburn worked for the United States Department of Agriculture. In his tour of duty overseas with the 13th AAF—the veteran Jungle Air Force—Colonel Winburn has served in the Solomons, Dutch New Guinea, and the Philippines. He has taken part in three major campaigns to neutralize and destroy Japanese air power in the Southwest Pacific.

Gene Hill Killed In Action

Second Lt. Eugene M. Hill was killed in action in Germany April 7, according to a war department message received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin O. Hill of Westmoreland. He had been overseas since last January and had seen active service in France before going to Germany.

Lieutenant Hill enrolled at Kansas State as a freshman in industrial journalism in 1940. He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism organization, and the Acacia fraternity.

Entering the army reserves in September, 1942, he was called into active service in June, 1942. He returned to Kansas State under the AST Program in 1943. Hill received his commission as a second lieutenant at Fort Benning, Ga., last July.

His father is the publisher of the Westmoreland Recorder.

KS Wildcats May Be Air-Minded Next Fall

If the final spring grid practice is any indication, the Purple and White gridders will be air-minded next fall. In the 45 minute scrimmage held last week Dean Hoppas, sophomore quarterback from Menlo, completed five out of six passes for three touchdowns, and Bucky Smith, transfer from Texas A. and M., completed two. John Goforth, end from Chouteau, Okla., was on the receiving end of most of their passes.

The Purple and White gridders rolled to a 19-0 victory over the Gold team in this final spring practice scrimmage last week. The Purple and White just couldn't be stopped as they turned loose their power time and time again to smash over into pay dirt.

The lineups were similar to their last practice scrimmage with graduating seniors bolstering the Gold lineup. However, the lineups were alternated at several times during the game with the Purple and White men playing on the Gold team and vice versa.

Taking to the air for touchdowns, the Purple and White team scored all three touchdowns on passes. Their first one coming after a drive to about the 40 yard line when Dean Hoppas, quarterback for the Purple and White, threw a 15 yard pass to Bob Mooney who ran for a touchdown. Stan Heathman powered his way over for the extra point.

The second touchdown came in the second quarter on a 20 yard pass from quarterback Dean Hoppas, to end, John Goforth, who was camped in the end zone. The final Purple and White tally was the result of a 70 yard sustained drive and an 8 yard pass completed by the Hoppas to Goforth combination.

Line Outstanding

The Wildcat coaching trio was very impressed with the results of the spring grid drill. They were especially pleased with the fine play of the line and the outstanding work of tackles, Dale Cowan and Mutt Durham; and guards, Russ Hardin and Marvin Darby. Coach Haylett believes that if necessary replacements are obtained, the Wildcats' forward line will be strong next fall.

The kicking was also a lot better than the coaches expected. Needless to say the passing received considerable comment.

Talent Search

Coaches Haylett, Socolofsky and Knorr have attended several basketball tournaments and track meets throughout the state in search of outstanding high school players to bolster the Wildcat line-up next fall. They have run into considerable difficulty with the high school athletes. Due to the new Army rule that 18 year olds when inducted go directly into the infantry, most of them join the Navy before their 18th birthday. This does not give them time to go to school for a semester or two before being drafted.

Caldwell Stars In Play Next Week

"Over Twenty-One" by Ruth Gordon will be presented May 4 and 5 in the College Auditorium under the direction of Prof. Earl G. Hoover. "Over Twenty-One" stars Betty Caldwell as a successful authoress, having a field day of following her husband from army camp to army camp while he strives for a commission. Clinging even closer than the well-known vine, she smooths his path, and is the central figure for a very amusing evening of entertainment.

Supporting Betty in the Kansas State Players' production of "Over Twenty-One" are Craig Bracken, Arma Jo Smith, Ralph Fogelman, Embert Coles, Pauline Flook, Dean Tiemann, Dorothy Wilson, Seymour Cohen and Joan Scheu.

The box office opens Friday, April 27 from 3 to 8 p. m. and will be open daily except Sunday. Mail orders may be mailed now to Box 103, College Post Office.

Lee Baron Plays At Ball Saturday

Lee Baron and his orchestra will play for the S. G. A. Spring Ball that will be held at the Avalon from 9 to 12 Saturday night.

Sponsored by Student Governing Association, the new members of Student Council have made the arrangements for the semi-formal dance. Original plans, however, were made by the retiring members of the Council.

Tickets are now on sale at a booth in Anderson Hall.

Alpha Deltas and Pi Phi had an exchange dinner Tuesday night.

Pi Phi celebrated Founder's Day with a banquet at the Country Club last night.

Lola Warden of Jetmore is now wearing the cardinal and straw pledge ribbons of Chi Omega.

Women of Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained dates at a barn dance at Thompson Hall Saturday night.

Greeks Entertain At Formal Parties

The Miami Triad Party, spring formal of Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi, was held Friday evening at the Country Club.

Matt Benton and his band furnished the music. Decorations carried out the theme with blue sky and palm trees giving the southern setting. Behind the band, the fraternities' letters in glistening silver blue appeared against a black background.

A formal dinner for the fraternity members and their dates preceded the dance.

Chi O Formal

Chi Omega entertained with a semi-formal dance in the chapter house Saturday night. The theme of the party was "Blue Hawaii."

As each couple stepped through the grass doorway, they were given leis. Ceilings of the rooms were decorated with white, blue, rose and fusia streamers. A large X and horseshoe made from white carnations hung above the fireplace.

Chi O's, out-of-town guests and dates danced to the music of recordings.

Students, Guests See H. E. Exhibits

Approximately 700 students, faculty members, and Manhattan residents were shown movies, style reviews, demonstrations of homemaking processes, and displays of classwork as they visited Hospitality Day exhibits in Calvin and Anderson Halls Friday from 1 to 9 p. m. Several high schools were represented, although wartime travel restrictions limited attendance.

Among the action exhibits which were featured in this year's home economics open house were cake-mixing demonstrations, bedmaking (hospital style), canning and freezing procedures, techniques used in wood and leather craft work, and the use of a newly-designed, wider ironing board was demonstrated.

Visitors watched Foods I students serving luncheons while using the ten newly-decorated kitchens in Calvin Hall. Commercial home economics women demonstrated how a recipe might be tested before releasing to the public.

Women representing clubs in Manhattan were guests at a tea in Thompson Hall Friday afternoon from 3 to 4 p. m. Many of the visitors attended the "Futuristic Frolic" in Recreation Center in the evening.

Ernie Pyle Once Manhattan Visitor Wrote Of Dr. Nabours' Grasshoppers

Word that Ernie Pyle, beloved newspaper correspondent, had been killed by Japanese machinegun fire was carried to his wife last week by Mrs. Elizabeth (Dickens) Shaffer, I. J. '22, widow of the late E. S. Shaffer, f. s., Albuquerque (N. M.) Tribune editor and lifelong friend of Mr. Pyle.

The death of Ernie Pyle recalled to Kansas State people his visit to Manhattan in 1938. In the spring of that year several members of the staff of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing at the College spent an evening at the C. E. Rogers home visiting with the small, wiry, roving correspondent who traveled when and where he wanted and wrote a daily column. During the evening the conversation got around to Dr. R. K. Nabours and his work with grasshoppers. Next day Ernie Pyle called on Dr. Nabours. Soon thereafter Pyle's column was devoted to Dr. Nabours and his grasshoppers.

This is the column Mr. Pyle wrote and headed simply "Grasshoppers." Manhattan, Kan., May 18—"Does a grasshopper know what it's doing?" I asked that of a man who has been intimately associated with grasshoppers for 27 years, and he said he'd been wondering the same thing.

It is his belief that a grasshopper hasn't the slightest idea what it's doing.

The grasshopper man is Dr. Robert K. Nabours, head of the zoology department of Kansas State College here.

Dr. Nabours has raised more than a million grasshoppers. He has 40,000 pages of records.

Dr. Nabours seeks to find out the mathematics of what happens to grasshoppers—in color, size and shape—after they're cross-bred down through eight and 10 generations.

Grasshoppers to Dr. Nabours are the same as guinea pigs and rats to medical experimenters. He's interested in the results, not the grasshopper. . . . But he isn't mean to them. . . . He simply lets them raise big families, and then sits around and takes notes on how the children turn out.

By crossing vari-striped hoppers, and then crossing and recrossing down through about eight generations, he finds that out of every 100 there'll be exactly so many striped one way, so many another, and an exact number all through the curriculum down to where there'll be only three of a certain kind in 1000.

It's always the same ratio. It makes a definite table. And this same table will apply to anything—humans, timothy hay, frogs, or golden bantam sweetcorn.

Consequently, all that the crop scientists now have to do is follow this table, cross up various kinds of wheat, and in 15 years they've got exactly the kind of wheat they want.

If I studied grasshoppers 27 years, I'd want to find out about their emotions—does a grasshopper have blue days; can a grasshopper sleep standing up, like a horse; do they prefer pipes to cigarettes; how do they say "I love you?"

Dr. Nabours has let his studies wander to the question of whether a grasshopper knows where he's going.

The answer seems to be no. The grasshopper jumps in the direction he's headed before he jumped.

Frankly, the grasshopper is just one jump (pun! pun!) ahead of a moron. He's just on the line between what scientists call the lower animals (woolly-worms and snails) and the higher animals (hogs and men). Here is the way you can tell:

The lower animals can reproduce themselves without fertilization by the male. Higher animals can't. Grasshoppers can do it both ways.

Sometimes a woman grasshopper can hatch a bunch of eggs without ever having had a man in the house at all. And sometimes she can't. So you see, she's just on the edge and doesn't know what it's all about anyway.

Grasshoppers breed about four generations a year. It takes humans a century to get through four generations. Dr. Nabours thinks people should take a leaf from the grasshoppers' page and have many more children than they do.

Dr. Nabours doesn't use Kansas grasshoppers. They're too big and would eat too much.

He gets his hoppers from Texas and Mexico. They're little bitsy things, about the size of a fly. They don't even eat grass. They just eat green scum off ponds.

Betty Jane Lunger Gets Chi O Award

Betty Jane Lunger, senior in Home Economics and Sociology, received the Chi Omega Sociology Award of $25 last night. This award was presented by the Kappa Alpha chapter of Chi Omega after a formal dinner at the chapter house.

A similar award in the social science field is presented at Chi Omega's 98 chapters.

The Kappa Alpha award is presented to the student with the highest grade average in sociology classes. R. C. Hill, professor of economics and sociology, assisted in choosing the recipient. Professor and Mrs. Hill were also present at the dinner and presentation of the award.

"Feast Of Nations" Held Saturday

The "Feast of the Nations," annual banquet of the Cosmopolitan Club, was held Saturday night in Wesley Hall. Sixty members and guests attended.

Dr. C. M. Correll of the history department spoke on America's part in the world's future. "The American Prayer" was sung by Lucille Graper.

The food for the banquet was from the countries represented by the members of the Cosmopolitan Club. It was prepared by the members.

The menu for the "Feast of the Nations" included Normandy fruit juice, Costa Rican "anoz con pollo," Greek salad bowl, "solata," Chinese spinach, "po-tsi," French bread, American ice cream and cake, and Spanish coffee.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGE, MAY 3, 1945

Number 29

"Over 21" Is Highlight Of Weekend

Final rehearsals are under way for the presentation of Ruth Gordon's light comedy "Over Twenty-One" directed by Earl G. Hoover. Betty Caldwell is starring in this Kansas State Players production to be given tomorrow and Saturday at 8:15 p. m. in the College Auditorium.

Reserved tickets are on sale in the Auditorium every day from 3 to 8 p. m.

"Over Twenty-One" blithely delivers a brilliant but amateur Army wife to an Army camp, and into the arms of her husband in time to push the man through all the trials of O. C. S. training and to graduate him 271st in a class of 352.

Betty Caldwell is the brisk and scheming Army wife. Craig Bracken as her husband is a one-day-old second lieutenant. Arma Jo Smith and Ralph Fogelman are a young newly married Army couple. Embert Coles portrays a hard boiled and explosive newspaper publisher. Dean Tiemann as Colonel Foley is every inch a military man. Dorothy Wilson, his wife is a well-dressed matron. Mrs. Gates, played by Pauline Flook, is Colonel Foley's mother-in-law. Seymour Cohen as a harassed Hollywood producer and Joann Scheu as his stenographer add to the sparkling comedy.

Margaret Ann Cadwell is the assistant director and Dean Tiemann serves as stage manager and director of lighting. His assistants are Seymour Cohen and Roy Drown. Joann Harjung is in charge of costumes. In the makeup department are Shirley Pray and Kay Guhl. Working on props are Mary Brass, Barbara Bross and Susanne McGrath. Catheryn Bowen, May Ruth Bentley, Margaret Petrie, Miriam Hobbs, Elizabeth Filippo and Rosemary Ensign are the stage crew.

Distribute Annuals Monday In Kedzie

The 1945 Royal Purple is expected to be shipped from the bindery this week-end, and the books will be ready for distribution Monday morning at 8 o'clock, Elizabeth Crandall Reed, editor of the yearbook announced.

Anyone who has paid the activity fee for two semesters is entitled to the annual without additional cost, and it is not necessary to present the fee cards in order to receive the book, C. J. Medlin, Graduate Manager of Student Publications said.

Each individual is requested to get his own book only during the rush on Monday. During the rest of the week, copies may be secured for persons who are not in school or who are ill.

The Kansas State yearbook will be distributed in Kedzie Hall on Monday from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1 to 5 p. m.

Students with initials A to K inclusive should call for their book in the Royal Purple office, 105E; and initials L to Z get their book in the office of the graduate manager, room 105C.

A few extra copies of the book were ordered and anyone wishing a copy may get it at the Royal Purple office.

Professor Medlin advises opening the books carefully the first time since the books have just been bound and the glue has not yet set. To do this, stand the book on its back, open it easily to the middle, and then turn to the back turning down 10 or 12 pages at once, creasing them gently at the binding edge. Repeat these instructions working the same way toward the front of the book. Opening the book properly the first time will extend the life of the book, Professor Medlin stated.

He that has once done you a kindness will be more ready to do you another, than he whom you yourself have obliged.—Benjamin Franklin.

Sororities . . .

A meeting for all sorority members will be held Wednesday in the Auditorium to discuss the new rush rules and rush week schedule for this coming fall. These rules have been made by the Panhellenic Council and every sorority must pass a final vote on them before they become effective.

K-Staters To Be Honored Tonight

These students will receive gold "K" keys for outstanding work on The Kansas State Collegian and Royal Purple this year at the annual Board of Student Publications banquet at the Manhattan Country Club tonight.

Point System Now In Effect At KS

The Point System, which has just been established on the campus, goes into effect this week. Today letters and record cards have been sent through the College post office to all organization presidents. The cards should be filled out and returned to the Point System Committee by Monday.

The purpose of the point system is for more equal distribution of campus leadership, to lessen the burden on outstanding students, for better performance of duties and for better scholarship.

Lists of campus organizations and offices with the number of points allowed per office have been placed in the YW office and one is in the YM office. Sorority and fraternity presidents receive 18 points; other offices in these organizations receive 12 points. Independent house presidents receive 12 points with the other offices receiving eight points. Points for offices in campus clubs vary from 6 to 18 points.

A maximum of 50 points per semester will be allotted to each student, except in special cases of activities, such as district, regional, state and national officers. Cases involving one or two extra points or special cases will be under the jurisdiction of the Point System Committee. Recommendations for change in the point system may be made to the committee. Violators of the point system regulations will be referred to the Student Discipline Committee. Stanley Stuart is chairman of the Point System Committee. Other members are Louise Darby, Jean Wainwright, Hubert Criss, Floyd Blaser and Al Van Walleghen.

Smith Heads Independents

Dick Smith was elected president of the Independent Student Party for 1945-46 at a meeting Monday night. Other officers elected for next year are David Neher, vice president; Joan Butcher, secretary; and Charles Armstrong, treasurer.

Honor Thirty By "K" Awards

Thirty students representing three schools of the College will receive awards of merit tonight at the annual Board of Student Publications banquet at the Manhattan Country Club. These students have done outstanding work on either The Kansas State Collegian or the Royal Purple or on both publications. Students who will receive keys are in the Schools of Home Economics, Veterinary Medicine and Arts and Sciences.

The students were recommended to receive gold "K" keys by the editors and business managers of the student newspaper and College yearbook and by C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications.

Eighteen will receive keys for their work on the Royal Purple. These will go to Elizabeth Crandall Reed, LeRoy; Dorothy Cochran, Topeka; Peggy Phelan, Mary Ann Luhnnow, Barbara West, Patricia Piffer, Ann Huddleston and Jean Holmgren, all of Kansas City, Mo.; Hanna Bacon, Hutchinson; Maxine Crawford, Goodland; Verona McKinley, Ness City; Elizabeth Schlichter, Clay Center; Barbara Bross, Abilene; Tess Montgomery, Salina; Joann Neibarger, Tonganoxie; Marilyn Hurd, Nickerson; Arleta Boyer, Manhattan; and Patricia Gretnier, Junction City.

Those who will be awarded keys for work on The Collegian include Athol Furman, Clearwater; Mary Jane Jones, Herington; Lucy Wells, Stockton; Phyllis Johansen, Holyrood; Lucille Shoemaker, Kansas City, Mo.; and Ahda McCoy, Manhattan.

Awards for work on both publications will be received by Dee Preusch, Healy; Elizabeth Stark, Scotia, N. Y.; Jean Wainwright, Hazelton; Dorraine Dorf, Manhattan; Joy Talbot, Topeka; and Dale Sorenson, Centuria, Wis.

Cattle disease and parasite control work was carried on intensively in 71 counties during the past two years.

I. S. A. Sponsors Assembly Tuesday

President Eisenhower will speak to the student body at an assembly sponsored by the International Security Assembly, Tuesday at 2 p. m.

R. R. Jesson, assistant professor of music, will open the assembly with an organ medley of national anthems, and Dorothy Cochran will give the invocation. Dean Tiemann will explain International Security Assembly on Kansas State campus. Hilda Grossmann, assistant professor of voice, accompanied by Mr. Jesson, will sing a group of folk-songs. Following President Eisenhower's address, the planning committee members and country chairmen will be introduced.

Members of the various houses representing countries will sit in a body, and banners will designate their places.

A meeting will be held today at 5 p. m. in Recreation Center for the country chairmen.

The planning committee has announced that Independent students, not living in organized houses, will be placed in zones next fall and organized. The committee also announces that Kappa Sigma chose to represent Germany, and Clark's Gables chose Luxembourg last week.

Capt. Christopher J. Bridgman, British officer in the 15th Punjab Regiment, will be on the campus May 11. At 4 p. m. that day in Recreation Center, Captain Bridgman will discuss his war experiences and the progress of the fighting in Southeast Asia.

Last Student Forum Tonight

"You and Courtship" will be the subject of a talk by the Rev. Raymond Kearns, Presbyterian minister, who will speak tonight at 8 in Willard Hall, Room 115. Rev. Kearns will speak at the last of two student forums which were sponsored by the YWCA and YMCA.

Dr. Carl Rogers, National USO director and professor of psychology at Ohio State University, spoke Tuesday afternoon on "You and Marriage."

Stewart Speaks At Recognition Day Assembly

Dr. Malcolm F. Stewart, professor of philosophy at Illinois College, spoke on "The Conflict of Philosophies" yesterday at the 22nd annual Recognition Day assembly.

Dr. F. L. Parrish, head of the history department, introduced Dr. Stewart and made the recognition announcements. Those groups not previously published are: Winners in Rifle Competition which include Elliot Babcock, George Bascom, Charles Eslinger, Dale Bruch, William Ellison, Roger Lachman, Jerome McCay, Gordon McCauley, Carroll Nelson, Duane Olson, Gene Porter, Albert Remsburg, Delmar Salberg, Emmett Scott, and James F. Spencer.

Eugene Donald Grim was awarded the Phi Lambda Upsilon Chemistry award. The Sigma Delta Chi Scholarship Awards went to Elizabeth Crandall Reed and Lucy Catherine Wells while Mary Ann Montgomery received the Arthur Capper Award.

Pi Mu Epsilon Mathematics Award was given to Roy F. Basinger, David O. Cochran, Paul S. Giovagnoli, Rita Hollecker, Joseph Lundholm, Edward J. Ramble, Robert Reinking and Ethel Rogers. Those who received the Pi Kappa Delta speech award are Ann Allison, Betty Carr and Ralph Fogelman.

The Phi Beta Kappa Award to the eight-semester senior ranking highest in the General Curriculum was won by Ethelinda Parrish Amos.

New Mortar Board members are Dorothy Cochran, Rachel Gossard, Jean Kays, Mary Louise Markley, Jean Selby, Ella Mae Stinson, Virginia Stoecker, Betty Swan and Hope Watts.

Students selected to Prix membership are Aylo Albertson, Betty Carr, Louise Darby, Patricia Fairman, Ruth Fenton, Ruth Hodgson, Frances Ewart, Annie Gardner, Jean Greenwalt, Carol Heter, Florence Merriam, Mary Margaret Parker, Jean Reneau, Dorothy Ruckie, Bonnie Smith, Dorothy Wilson and Dorothy Marie Wilson.

Thelma Jean Wise received a copy of the book "Mont-Saint-Michel and Chartres" for winning the American Institute of Architects' Award. This is awarded annually to a senior for general excellence in architecture. Otis Cross and Ernest Jackson are new members of Sigma Tau.

Display Art Exhibits Of Italy In Anderson

An interesting exhibit of Italian-made articles is being shown in the hall cases on the second floor of Anderson Hall. The articles were loaned to the art department by Mrs. Bessie Mae Norcross. Sent to her by her husband, Master Sergeant Norcross, the exhibit includes a blue taffeta hand-embroidered shawl and several baby articles made by the Nuns at the Vatican.

A hand made blouse is the background for mosaic and cameo jewelry purchased in Naples, Italy.

A doll, dressed in red and white polka-dot cotton, has the dark skin coloring of the Italian people and wears the brightly colored clothing typical of the people in that country.

Last week an exhibit of weaving from Peru, Bolivia and Chile was shown. This exhibit came from the private collection of Prof. Helen Allen, weaving instructor at the University of Wisconsin. The most interesting weaving comes from the economically poor countries, where there are no industries or crops to interest the cities or the export trade.

Vote On Constitution

Polls in Anderson Hall and the Veterinary Building will be open between 7:45 a. m. and 5 p. m. on May 11 for voting on the Constitution of the Student Governing Association as revised by the Student Council.

Applications . . .

Any student who meets scholastic requirements for participation in College activities is eligible to apply for editor and business manager of the summer school and fall semester Collegian and editor of the 1946 Royal Purple.

Applications must be turned in to Prof. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Journalism and Printing, today.

K-State's Courses At Too Fast A Pace

What do you remember that you learned last year—last semester? Ever since Pearl Harbor there has been a tendency at Kansas State to accelerate schedules—to cram in fourteen weeks the course that requires sixteen weeks. No doubt when such accelerated programs were instituted the war effort was in need of quickly trained men to carry out its demands. But the accelerated program has served its usefulness to the war effort.

It isn't expected that students entering college now will be ready to serve in some specialized field during this war. Their service will come in postwar time. They will not be suited for this postwar work if their education is so condensed that they vaguely remember generalities when four hazy years of college education are ended.

The cramming required to make satisfactory grades in daily work as well as in this present system of final week leaves the student with a blank mind when the rush is over.

Ask any student what he remembers from last semester. He may remember the courses he took, but to remember specific things necessary in post-college work, he can not. The pace is too fast—we need a slower, more thorough education at Kansas State.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Was that Sorenson-Olson-Tuttle brawl Saturday night another fraternity initiation? 'Twould seem the social life of one frat would be all the boys could handle.

Charles Schwab and the 1606 Fairchild boys are playing a new game. When they entertain their dates they give them a choice of four places to go. The four places to wit: Sunset, Blumont Hill, Country Club or Highway 24.

Peggy Brown, ADPI varga girl, was left alone in the gloom of the Shamrock Tavern Saturday night while her date Al Van Wallaghen took to relaxing on the sidewalk outside.

Egawd! What won't they think of next . . . we hear Big John Winters is up for mayor of Aggieville.

Forecast for next week: Low percentage of students attending classes—reason: People just love to see their own pictures in yearbooks.

Now that most of the seniors have recovered from their picnic, life at K-State goes on—drawing closer to the end with the Kappa party coming up this weekend, Olson's car running every now and then, farewell picnics—despite the rain.

Speaking of the senior picnic it was really fun—especially when the juniors came marching over the hill and stole a certain case and naturally the big boys went after them. I still can't figure out how that drunk chicken got there and why Larry Nelson had to go to the doctor the next day—of course, it's our frank opinion that it had nothing to do with the fact that he umpired the Sig Alpha-TKE baseball game that same day. Quite a game—must be because the SAE's had so many seniors on their team that came back for the game.

A. J. Smith received quite the letter the other day from Annapolis telling her how she'd been elected locker queen, etc., but what a let-down when the final paragraph stated that for five Wheaties box tops they'd even send her the locker.

ADPIs Susie Smith and Betty Olinger made their monthly trip down the Kaw for more groceries last week. Anyone interested in their items please see TKE Harold, their contact man. Evidently Shorty must have seen Susie because it seems that at dinner one night last week she was wearing a TKE pin chained to hers.

The formal dance Saturday night was really swell. The band was some sort of an envoy from the Latin American countries. One of them could speak English. And those glamorous long bobs they wore—poor Jackson, he just stood there gazing at them in envy. Cheer up "Burly" maybe it'll come in curly next time.

Flash from Sutter and Smythe: Sunset is a lovely place to spend a quiet Friday afternoon.

Church News

The Theta Epsilon senior picnic was held at the Baptist Church Tuesday evening. The senior breakfast was served at the Baptist Church Sunday morning honoring the high school and college seniors. Dr. C. H. Scholer of Manhattan was the speaker and Vernelle Blevins gave the Welcome followed by the Response from Roma Lee Kennedy. Mrs. Maurine Harbaugh presented the Memory Book to Geraldine Gehrke, who was chosen the outstanding junior of Baptist Youth Fellowship for this year. Toastmistress was Irene Gehrke.

The Baptist Retreat will be held Sunday at Sunset Park. The speaker will be Melvin Beck, president of the State Kansas Baptist Youth Fellowship, from Kansas City. Geraldine Gehrke is in charge of the tickets.

Christian Endeavor topic for Sunday night will be "Our Chosen Way in the Family." Lee Reed will have charge of the forum and vespers will be led by Vala Dawn Davis.

The Newman Club will have a picnic Sunday after 9:30 mass. This will be the closing meeting of the year.

Phi Chi Delta will meet Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. for a formal garden supper at the Westminster House. This will be the senior farewell meeting.

Kappa Phi members will meet from 6 to 8 p. m. tomorrow for their senior farewell dinner. There will be no "Saturday Niter" this week. An outdoor meeting and picnic supper will be held Sunday at 6 p. m. Members will meet at Wesley Hall.

Newly elected officers for Lutheran Student Association are: president, Dean Tiemann; vice-president, James Thangleburg; secretary, Arlene Wilson; treasurer, Elmer Davis.

"Bombing of Tokyo" Takes Place Tonight

The "Bombing of Tokyo," sponsored by the Manhattan Junior Chamber of Commerce, will take place at Griffith Field today at 8 p. m.

H. Elmer Nielsen, veteran of the South Pacific, will speak on the "Seventh War Loan." The fireworks display will be divided into three main parts. First, a novelty display, followed by a miniature bombing on Tokyo, and last, the American flag made with fireworks.

The Manhattan High School Band will give a concert and Cpl. Jean McClarin and Cpl. Melvyn Cobb will be featured in vocal numbers and duets. The remainder of the program will include a short memorial service honoring the army, navy, marines, air corps and nurses corps. The Kansas State College R. O. T. C. Color Guard will participate.

USO Heads Conduct Training School

Kansas State College is playing host to a USO directors training school which began April 24 and will end today. Thirty-nine USO professional workers were selected from all USO operations in the 14 mid-west and western states to attend the institute. A faculty of 11, mostly from the USO headquarters in New York, is conducting the school. Dr. A. A. Holtz, YMCA secretary, is chairman of the local committee. The group was invited to meet at the College by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Objectives of the training course may be summarized in this way: to provide for critical exchange and evaluation of experience by workers; to acquaint workers with current USO trends, needs and emphases; to study basic principles and methods in the major areas of USO work; and to provide demonstrations of the use of various program activities and skills in USO.

A lecture series includes such topics as "The Returned Service Man," "Understanding Individuals in War Time," "What's Ahead for USO," "Postwar Readjustments in National and International Affairs," and "The Changing Community." In addition to lectures there are forums, demonstrations and roundtable discussions.

The group is meeting on the second floor of the College Shops building.

4-H To Elect Officers At Meeting In Rec Center

Collegiate 4-H will meet in Recreation Center at 7:30 tonight to elect new officers. Nominations were made last week at a special meeting.

Nominees for next year are president, Bernard Jackson, Carol Jean Heter, Merle Eyestone, Robert King; vice-president, Beth Stratton, Charles Armstrong; secretary treasurer, Gladys Goff, Barbara Morris, Evelyn Scholz; reporter, Virginia Grandfield, Donald Swartz; corresponding secretary, Hannah Bacon, Delores Wright, Lola Warden, Pauline Wain; pianist, Elaine Larson, June Tucker, Margaret Richardson; song leader, Mary Beth Jones and Norrene Francis; chairman of ISA, Betty Jo McCaustland; marshal, Gilbert Herdt and Floyd Blaser.

Mrs. D. J. Eisenhower Is Chosen State Mother

President Milton S. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. D. J. Eisenhower of Abilene, has been chosen State Mother by the Kansas committee of the Golden Rule Foundation. Mrs. Eisenhower celebrated her 83rd birthday yesterday.

In addition to the President, Mrs. Eisenhower has four other sons living. They are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower; Edgar of Tacoma, Wash.; Earl of Charleroi, Pa.; and Arthur of Kansas City, Mo.

Staff Sgt. Creighton Siegert, f. s. '42, listed as missing in action since April 8, 1944, has been declared legally dead by the War Department. Sergeant Siegert was radio operator and gunner on a B-24. He arrived in England March 14, 1944, and is believed to have been shot down on his first mission.

Lt. John R. Hildebrand, f. s., took part in a powerful Thunderbolt attack from the 79th Fighter Group, 12th Air Force, against the vital Udine-Campo Formido airdrome in Northern Italy, scoring many hits on grounded Luftwaffe planes and anti-aircraft emplacements. Lieutenant Hildebrand attended Kansas State before being commissioned as a pilot May 23, 1944. Overseas since last November, he has flown more than 25 combat missions in Germany, Austria, Italy and Yugoslavia and has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious aerial service. His group, which has participated in seven campaigns, operates with the British Desert Air Force.

A press release from an Eighth Air Force fighter station reads, "For exceptional meritorious service in accomplishing with distinction numerous aerial operational missions over enemy-occupied continental Europe," 1st Lt. Sanford K. Moats has been decorated with a seventh Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal. He also wears the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster. Lieutenant Moats, who attended Kansas State College for three years, has credit for the destruction of 8 enemy aircraft, all in the air.

James R. Jesson has been promoted to the rank of captain at Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount's AAF Training Command Headquarters at Fort Worth, Texas. Captain Jesson is on duty as assistant to the chief of the management control section. From this Headquarters the Training Command operates a nationwide network of flying and technical schools to provide individual training for virtually all AAF personnel, including pilots, bombardiers, navigators, gunners and technicians. A teacher in civilian life, Captain Jesson graduated from Kansas State in 1939 with a degree in education. He attended the AAF Officer Candidate School at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1942.

Sgt. Donald H. Bowman now is a laboratory technician at the 180th General Hospital in France. A graduate of Kansas State, where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees, Bowman received his Ph. D. at the University of Wisconsin. Prior to entering the army, Sergeant Bowman was a research expert with the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster.

Helping to paralyze communication lines feeding German forces on the western front with supplies and reinforcements, is Second Lieutenant Dale C. Prentice, flying as a co-pilot on a B-26 Marauder medium bomber with the 323rd "White Tailed" group based in France. For his participation in the tactical aerial offensive, Lieutenant Prentice, who has more than 37 combat missions to his credit, has been awarded the Air Medal and six bronze Oak Leaf Clusters. A former student of the University of California and Kansas State College, he was employed as a bearing specialist by the Production Engineering Company, Berkeley, Calif.

Cage Practice Draws 11 Men

Kansas State is holding its first spring cage practice under wartime conditions. Now in the third week of practice, 11 men have reported to cage mentor, Fritz Knorr.

Practice is held three times a week or whenever intramural softball games permit. Men who have reported are Jay Payton, an all-Big Six guard last season, Dick Spencer, Jack Kincheloe, Burt Howard, Howard Leitz, Jack Larson, James Newberry, Harvey Arand, Jose Diaz, Bob Jackson and Dave King, formerly of the University of Arizona.

Of these only Payton, Spencer and Kincheloe are lettermen but Bill Schultz, letterman forward and Ralph Stuesser, letterman guard, will probably report later.

Danforth Award Goes To Neher

David D. Neher, junior in the School of Agriculture, has been awarded the Danforth fellowship, with Millard Eugene Spratt, Ottawa, chosen as alternate. These awards were based on evidence of leadership ability, good physical condition and a high moral character.

Mr. Neher will spend two weeks at the headquarters of the Ralston Nutrena Mills in St. Louis and two weeks at Camp Miniwanca, Shelby, Mich., from July 29 to August 26.

The Freshman award to the Danforth Foundation this year has gone to Charles D. Armstrong, Muscotah, freshman in the School of Agriculture. The first alternate is Harvey Arand, Belyue, and the second alternate is Donald W. Larsen, Peabody.

Armstrong will spend two weeks at Camp Miniwanca from August 13 to August 26. At Camp Miniwanca a fourfold life is emphasized: physical, mental, social and religious. Several hundred college students are chosen from leaders in respective institutions to be present at this camp. Both freshmen and junior students participate in the same program at camp in August.

Information received by Ruth Hodgson, president of the local Miniwanca Club, revealed the fact that 253 Kansans have attended this American Youth Foundation Camp in the past 25 years. A majority of these students were from Kansas State College and had been 4-H Club members. Also, a number of them had received part or full fellowships as mentioned above.

Native Dance Program

A program of native dances will be given by members of the Cosmopolitan Club at an open meeting tonight at 8 p. m. in C101. The public is welcome to attend.

Mary Hodgson, Blitz Babe, defeated Patty Piffer, Pi Beta Phi, in the finals of the ping pong tournament which were held last Thursday evening.

Games between the groups entered in the volley ball tournament began Monday at 5 p. m. and will be played throughout the entire week. Group winners will meet May 9 for the final playoff. Those contestants are Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Annex I, Blitz Babes, Delta Delta Delta, Chi Omega, Van Zile Hall, Kappa Delta, and Keim's Kabanana.

All 20 women passed the Red Cross tests for instruction in swimming and water safety which were held here last week. The women are now authorized instructors for teaching elementary swimming, life saving, and functional swimming.

A dance demonstration was presented by the intermediate dance class in the women's gymnasium Monday night at 8:30. At 10 a. m. Saturday the grade school children will present a rhythm dance program in the gymnasium under the direction of Miss Ruth Kriehn. The program is open to the public.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Gamma Rho, and House of Williams were winners of last week's softball intramurals.

Yesterday the Sig Alphas met The Jones Boys on the southwest diamond while the AGRs met the Kappa Sigs on the east diamond.

Tomorrow the Jr. A. V. M. A. will compete with the TKEs on the southwest diamond and The House of Williams against the AGRs on the east diamond.

Mondays softball games will be the Sig Alphas against the Jr. A. V. M. A. on the southwest diamond and the Kappa Sigs against The Jones Boys on the east diamond.

Big Six Legalizes Talent Scouting

With the passing of a new Big Six rule which legalizes scouting of high school talent, the Wildcat coaching trio has been busy interviewing outstanding high school players during the last few weeks. Head cage mentor Fritz Knorr said, "It's going to take a lot of scouting to produce a team that will draw a big enough crowd to fill the new fieldhouse."

In their talent search, Fritz Knorr was invited as guest speaker for a basketball banquet last Tuesday at Courtland.

Last Friday Coach Knorr officiated the Marshall County track meet and Wednesday he officiated the Pottawatomie track meet. Coaches Haylett and Knorr attended the Salina alumni meeting Tuesday night.

Religious Emphasis Week Next Fall, Oct. 28-Nov. 1

Plans for Religious Emphasis Week next fall, Oct. 28 to Nov. 1, are now being formulated by the Kansas State Religious Federation. During the week, deans are asked not to schedule any other events. As in the past, an outstanding person in national religious affairs will be the featured speaker at the various conferences, meetings, and assemblies.

Mrs. West Speaks To Dietetic Groups

As president-elect of the American Dietetic Association, Mrs. Beattie Brooks West will complete a two-week speaking schedule this weekend when she addresses the convention of the Minnesota Dietetic Association in Minneapolis.

The head of Kansas State's Department of Institutional Management was the guest speaker at two state conventions and at two city-wide meetings and was interviewed on the radio several times. In addition, she visited colleges and universities in the cities where she spoke.

Mrs. West told of the opportunities in the profession before the Missouri Dietetic Association's convention at St. Louis, April 20 and 21; the Greater Kansas City Dietetic Association, April 23; the dietetic group at Omaha, Neb., April 24; and the Nebraska Dietetic Association's convention at Lincoln, April 25. Her address on the same subject will be presented on the Minnesota programs which will be held tomorrow and Saturday.

Tri Deltas Give 1945 Scholarships

Delta Delta Delta sorority has announced their annual scholarships available to women students. Applicants may or may not be Tri Deltas, but should be juniors or seniors, working toward a degree. They must be women of fine character, who will be useful in the war effort or may be valuable citizens in the postwar reconstruction period, and who are in need of financial assistance because of economic dislocations resulting from the war.

Application blanks may be secured from Mrs. F. D. Coleman, 3050 Stratford, Lincoln 2, Neb. These must be completed and in her hands by June 1. The awards will be made July 1.

Miss Stella Harriss, associate professor of Chemistry, returned to classes Tuesday after spending nine weeks in St. Mary's Hospital with a broken arm.

Initiation Held For H. E. Association

The initiation ceremony for senior women in the School of Home Economics who joined the American Home Economics Association was held Wednesday, May 2, at 8:15 p. m. in Recreation Center. This was the first ceremony of its kind in the history of Kansas State.

Dean Margaret Justin, past president of the American Home Economics Association, presided at the service. She was assisted by Miss Margaret Raffington, assistant dean of Home Economics. The ceremony was formal and tea was served afterwards. A trio consisting of Marian Terrill, Dorothy Wilson, and Eunice Niblo sang "In the Still of the Night" and "The Star." Arlene Shields and Edith Willis planned the service and those in charge of the tea were Mary Long, Carol Shields, Marjorie Bunge, and Georgine Bischoff.

Graduation Speaker Is Dr. John Vieg

John A. Vieg, chairman of the Department of Government of Pomona College, Claremont, Calif., will be the speaker for baccalaureate-commencement May 20, President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced. Miss M. Craig McGeachy, director of the welfare division of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, was scheduled to speak at commencement but due to war developments she has not been able to return from London. Since the date of her return is so uncertain, it was decided to select another speaker and invite Miss McGeachy to appear on the campus later.

Mr. Vieg until recently was a member of the staff of the Division of Administrative Management, U. S. Bureau of the Budget, in Washington, D. C. In 1942-43 he was assistant chief of the reoccupation division of the Office of Lend-Lease Administration in Washington.

The speaker received his bachelor of arts degree in history and English in 1926 from St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn. In 1929 he was granted his master of arts degree in history by the University of Iowa. He received his Ph. D. in political science from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Vieg is a member of the American Political Science Association, the National Municipal League and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. He is the author of many articles and publications on various phases of government in the United States.

K-State Men See Separation Center

Five Kansas State College representatives visited the counseling and guidance branch of the War Department Separation Center at Fort Leavenworth April 25.

All men released from the Army to return to civilian life in the states of Kansas and Nebraska are handled at Fort Leavenworth.

Those who visited the center were Deans R. A. Seaton, R. W. Babcock and R. I. Thackrey; Dr. J. C. Peterson of the Department of Education, and J. N. Wood, associate professor of machine design.

Eisenhower Begins Radio Programs For Service Men

President Milton S. Eisenhower will speak over KSAC at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow to inaugurate a new radio program designed to discuss the problems of the ex-service man and to explain the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Last week Dr. A. A. Holtz, dean of men, who is in charge of the program explained the purpose, and gave a brief preview of the scheduled lectures.

Programs scheduled to date include talks by Deans Russell Thackrey and R. A. Seaton, and Dr. Sam Nock.

Greer Heads Service Club

Irene Greer, junior in home economics, was elected chairman of the Home Economics Service Club Tuesday. She will serve on the Home Economics Executive Council as well as leader of the Service Club for next year.

Transfer students comprise about 25 percent of the undergraduate student body at the College. About 35 percent of the transfer students come from junior colleges.

Kansas State's Honor Roll

The College Alumni Office during the war has tried to keep the war records of K-State men and women in service as up to date as possible. Included among the list of more than 4,000 Kansas State people in the service are 119 who have lost their lives in World War II. Thirty-seven men are prisoners of war and 34 are missing in action.

Undoubtedly these records are not complete. The Alumni Office would appreciate any additions or corrections to these lists. A list of those who have died in this war is given below.

Choose Editors For Next Year

Editors of the Royal Purple and The Kansas State Collegian for the coming year have been announced by the Board of Student Publications.

The editor of the 1946 Royal Purple will be Dorothy Cochran. Helen Clegg will edit the summer school Collegian and editor of the paper next fall will be Jean Wainscott with Dorraine Dorf as business manager.

Dorothy, a junior in industrial journalism, has been assistant editor of the Royal Purple this year. She is a member of the YWCA cabinet and the planning committee of the International Security Assembly and president of Mortar Board, honorary society for senior college women. She was assistant copy desk editor of The Collegian last semester.

Helen, who is a sophomore in industrial journalism, was assistant copy desk editor of The Collegian this spring. She is a member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority and of Quill member of the Wesley Foundation, Collegiate 4-H Club and Freshman Club, creative writing club.

Jean, a senior in industrial journalism, was assistant editor of the school paper this semester. She worked on the administration section of this year's Royal Purple and is a member of the planning committee of the International Security Assembly. She was Chancellor of Quill Club this year.

Dorraine, who was the assistant business manager of The Collegian this semester, is a junior in industrial journalism. She is the newly elected Chancellor of Quill Club and worked on the fraternity and sorority section of the Royal Purple this year. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

P. And G. Gives College $2,000

The Procter and Gamble Company of Ivorydale, Ohio, has granted Kansas State College $2,000 to cover the cost of a research project on the engineering operations in the manufacture of soap, the President's office announced today.

Work for the company, which operates a plant in Kansas City, will be conducted by the College's Engineering Experiment Station. Dr. John W. Greene, head of the Department of Chemical Engineering, will have charge of the project. A. E. Messenheimer, instructor in machine design, will devote half time to the project.

"Over 21" Makes Hit With KS Audiences

By Dorraine Dorf

"Over Twenty-One," the Kansas State Players' final production for the year, made an instantaneous hit with both the Friday and Saturday night audiences. Cleverly presented, the play kept the audience laughing throughout the evening.

Betty Caldwell starred in the role of Paula, a brilliant Hollywood writer who followed her husband to camp and succeeded in pushing him through O. C. S. Craig Bracken portrayed the 40-year-old newspaper editor, Max Wharton, who after the first day decided that men over 21 were not made to absorb the Army's education.

Much of the success of the play was due to the fine performance of the supporting cast. Opening the first act were Arma Jo Smith, as Jan Lupton, and her husband, Ray Lupton, Ralph Fogleman, a youthful, newly-crowned second lieutenant.

Dean Tiemann, a stiff, strictly military colonel, with his wife, Dorothy Wilson, and his over-enthusiastic mother-in-law, Pauline Flook, paid two visits to the Whartons which resulted in several humorous situations.

Embert Coles, as Robert Drexal Gow, a newspaper publisher, and Seymour Cohen as Joel I. Nixon, and his secretary, JoAnn Scheu, did their best to discourage the prospective lieutenant but, despite them, and in spite of lights that wouldn't work, a topsy-turvy kitchen and a temperamental window, Max Wharton proudly graduated 271st in his class of 352.

Ruth Gordon's lively comedy was directed by Prof. Earl G. Hoover. Credit also goes to the stage crew and the production staff for an evening of enjoyable entertainment.

Empty Bottles Help Disabled Soldiers

That empty perfume bottle on your dressing table may help some disabled soldier to recover the use of his hands.

The soldiers at Ft. Riley paint and decorate bottles in order to gain control and co-ordination of their hands. Many small attractive bottles are needed and are being collected by the Home Economics Service Club. The bottles may be left in a box in Calvin Lounge.

During the past two years more than 30,000 voluntary local leaders assisted the College in its wartime program of food production and conservation.

Combine V-E Day and ISA In Assembly Tuesday

The College whistle along with the Manhattan fire siren officially announced V-E Day in Manhattan at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Combining this announcement and the planned International Security Assembly program, K-State students and faculty members assembled in the Auditorium at 11 a. m.

Pettersen Is Beauty Queen

Kathleen Pettersen, Alphi Xi Delta, was proclaimed beauty queen of the 1945 Royal Purple when the K-State yearbooks were distributed Monday.

Kathleen and her three attendants, Lila Lou Johnston, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Elizabeth Hogan, Chi Omega; and Mary Iliff, Van Zile Hall were selected as Kansas State's most beautiful coeds by Karl Fitzer, a Kansas City, Mo., artist.

The 300-page yearbook bound in blue leather was edited by Elizabeth Crandall Reed with Mary Ann Luhn now as advertising manager and Dorothy Cochran as assistant editor. The theme "The College of Tomorrow" was used throughout. The six divisions of the book were introduced by pages showing the proposed buildings and an air view picture of the postwar campus. A 24-page feature section highlights the book.

As editor, Mrs. Reed expressed her thanks to President Eisenhower and his office staff for helping in the development of the postwar theme, to Paul Weigel, head of the architecture department, to Mrs. Jean Deyoe who drew the proposed buildings for the campus of tomorrow and to Marshall Walker, who drew the sketches for the end sheets.

"I appreciate the fine cooperation of the 37 staff members who worked on the book. It would have been impossible for me to have published the 1945 Royal Purple without their assistance," stated the editor.

More than 1,000 copies of the book have been distributed while a limited number remain on sale.

Pledges Denied Use Of Cemetery Map

Fraternity pledges and representatives of other organizations who have called at the home of Sam Shannon, cemetery sexton, to see the map of Sunset cemetery, will find this service no longer available.

The Faculty Council on Student Affairs at the College, in an effort to relieve Mr. and Mrs. Shannon of the nuisance, has written a letter to them urging the cemetery sexton and his wife to refuse information to persons who call at their home at inconvenient times. In fact, the Shannons are urged not to dispense such information at any time to persons who obviously are merely carrying out some initiation or pledge duty. This suggestion was made in an effort to eliminate the practice which has become a nuisance to the Shannon family.

For many years a favorite practice of various groups has been to ask their pledges to locate a certain grave or to obtain the date of birth and date of death of a certain person. Failure to locate the headstone in the cemetery usually resulted in a call by the weary and harassed neophyte to the Shannon home across the street from the cemetery entrance.

Student Council Sponsors Tour

In order to promote interest and enthusiasm about Kansas State College among high school students over the state, the Student Council sponsored its first tour of four schools last week. Those visited were El Dorado High School and Junior College, Arkansas City Junior College, Winfield High School, and Augusta High School.

Motion pictures of K-State were shown and explained by Pauline Flook and Merle Eyestone. The Melodianns, Patt Fairman, Joyce Crippen, and Ruth Fenton, sang two medleys of popular numbers.

The five K-Staters reported that many students out of each group talked to them about Kansas State and showed great interest in our College.

President Eisenhower gave the principal talk in which he told faculty members and students, "Peace must be positive; not negative. We are assembled today for two purposes, to express gratification that the war in Europe is over, and to inaugurate a program of building a permanent peace on the ashes of this war." He added that for human basic rights, millions have worked, fought and died, and for those rights the San Francisco conference must succeed.

"May 8, 1945, is a day for rejoicing and prayerful thinking," said the President. "We must contribute unflinchingly to order of the world. Kansas State begins today by launching an experiment to establish a system of security."

James BeDel, representing World War II veterans, addressed the student body saying, "Conquering Germany is a big step in the victory against Japan, but there are many nights ahead before the job is done. To succeed we must keep our heads straight and our eyes forward." BeDel is a former first lieutenant in the RCAF and flying instructor in Florida.

Dean Tiemann, chairman of the International Security Assembly, in outlining the peace program pointed out that college students represent the aristocracy of a country, and they must see to it that the peace of the world is guaranteed forever.

A medley of national anthems was played by the College band under the direction of Lyle Downey, associate professor of music. Invocation was given by Dorothy Cochran, and benediction was given by the Rev. B. A. Rogers.

Representing the Kansas State College veterans of World War II were Major D. C. Taylor, commandant of the ROTC; Dean R. I. Thackrey, special service officer; Victor Overholt, commander; Stanley Stuart, vice-commander; Hubert Criss, adjutant; Delbert Longfellow, finance officer; Howard Jones, historian; and James BeDel.

Lois Meisner and Mary Alice Doll introduced the planning committee of International Security Assembly and the representative chairmen.

Students Vote On Constitution

The student body will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on the Constitution of the Student Governing Association as revised by the Student Council. Polls in Anderson, Calvin and the Veterinary building will be open between 7:45 a. m. and 5 p. m.

"The Constitution and By-laws are for the purpose of placing the control and advancement of student interest and activities in the hands of the student body," says Merle Eyestone, president of the Student Council, and he continued, "It is the duty and privilege of every member of the Student Governing Association to vote for or against the revised form of the Constitution."

The context of the revised Constitution was printed in the April 26 issue of the Collegian.

YWCA Cabinets Outline Plans For Next Year

The retiring and newly-elected YWCA cabinets held a retreat at the Girl Scout cabin Friday night.

Plans for next year were made by the project groups. The newly-elected president, Frances Ewart, led the discussion.

Dorothy Cochran and Lois Johnson gave reports on the Estes Conference last summer and Vernelle Blevins, the retiring president, gave a summary of plans and responsibilities of the YWCA members.

Cosmopolitan Club Elects

Francisco Santiago was elected president of the Cosmopolitan Club at a meeting last Thursday. Other new officers are: Clara Louise Dubbs, vice-president; Saul Narotsky, secretary; and Mary Hodgson, treasurer.

--- Thirty ---

With this, we write our last words from the Editor's chair—it's "thirty" from here, but not the end of our ambitions and hopes for an improved Kansas State College and a better world.

Through this brief Editorship we have tried to give you the news you wanted to read, although we were somewhat limited by war-time conditions. We have tried to promote certain objectives and ideals for our school and for the world, hoping that we have succeeded.

We are glad that on the eve of our last issue, our nation—and the whole world—can experience a feeling of partial relief as victory in Europe is declared. We are happy in that it is one step nearer to the end—the end which means normality once again on the Kansas State campus.

And with this we close. May our hopes and ambitions materialize into a stronger student body which will promote a united, peaceful world.

The Staff

Veterans Endorse Grading Professors

The V-E Day Assembly not only honored the veterans of World War II on our campus but made the students realize that many more veterans will be returning to college soon. With this fact in mind, the students and faculty will have to learn to "grow up" to their GIs.

"Just let us alone, but treat us like men," says Victor Overholt, commander of the Veterans Association. Stanley Stuart, vice-commander, added, "We men do not want anything that is not coming to us, but we do want all that is coming to us."

The entire association of veterans supports the idea of grading college instructors. Just as they graded their superior officers in the armed forces as to their methods of instruction, their fairness and sense of humor, they believe it would be advantageous to the College and to the students to qualify their professors. As Norman Byers remarked, "We are here to be trained as men, and not to be treated as ten-year-olds."

The veterans agreed that the hardest things to adjust to on the campus were language, customs, and associations of people without rank. When asked if they found it hard to make their own decisions after being used to army orders, one veteran firmly replied, "Nope, my wife makes them for me!"

Ninety-six veterans are enrolled at K-State, the largest number of any college in the state. There are 35 enrolled in the School of Engineering, 29 in the School of Veterinary Medicine, 22 in the School of Arts and Sciences, nine in the School of Agriculture, and one in the Graduate School.—Norma Jean Mauk.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

This being the last issue please bear with us a little bit longer while we bring forth the contents which we have collected in our "Hope Chest."

Hope Chest for 1945-46:
We hope there will be more men on the campus next year so the Pi Phi can date, too.

We hope the Chi O's will change one certain rule—just so we can make them one of the gang.

We hope the Sig Alphas will carry on the old tradition of Olsen and Ungles—you know, the one where they spell Sig—Swig.

We hope the Sigma Nus will have a larger active chapter so they can all have a gay time in the Sigma Nu society.

ority house—(or had you heard that the girls had redecorated the chapter room in a more feminine style).

We hope the KKG's will learn that there are such things as closing hours and that the Kappa house is at 517 North Delaware and not at 619 North Twelfth (the "office").

We hope the war will be over so the Tri Deltas will have to turn again to the lowly students of K-State instead of all that brass.

We hope the ADPI's pledge some beauties next Rush Week because their reserve is getting low.

We hope the AGR's will look before they leap! Guess it takes all kinds of fellows to make up a frat though.

We hope the Phi Deltas are able to get rid of all their bottles by next fall so they can make room for the next Hogue.

We hope the Alpha Xi's are able to pay off their debt before the time again comes to have another R. P. queen.

We hope the Kappa Sigs are able to continue their weekly parties to keep up their morale.

We hope the Beta's pledge another man so they can change prexies next year.

We hope the Delta Tau Delta's get out of the rut and date some other sorority beside Chi Omega.

We hope the Kappa Delta's don't toe the line so closely next year so they can make the dirt column occasionally.

We hope the Sigma Chi's will start a chapter here next fall so A. J. Smith will have a smooch line to go through when the time comes.

And last but not least—we hope that Kansas follows in the footsteps of Missouri.

Now a bit of current news—Marlam (she's more to be pitied than censored) Hobbs' story is the one of the pure country girl who came to the city and who couldn't get her man until she dogged his footsteps on the "Slim" diet—and finally succeeded although a little changed.

Mugs Monroe, who has always prided herself on being one of the older girls evidently doesn't practice what she preaches—anyway every time we see her she's with baby-face Bucky Smith. Oh well, what's five years between friends.

Tom (Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde) Tuttle is quite the boy. In most stories you hear it's the man that's henpecked, but in this case it's the other way around.

Seems as though the Phi Delt basement dining room is serving "drinks" to mixed couples. At least they're open on Monday nights.

Sigma Nu Dave Underwood made his party Saturday night so exclusive that no one was there, including most of the Sigma Nus. Underwood—in case you don't know—is the Sigma Nu active chapter this semester. His idea of hell week was burlap underwear and paddles. After hell week, one question arose—who gave it to who?

Wonder what Phyl is doing now that Dodderidge is one. Nice that Fort Riley is so handy. But then we suppose Dick knows all about that.

The time has come so we bid you adieu with the advice not to do anything that you wouldn't want in the dirt column.

Editor's note: The Cat's Meow this semester was composed, as you undoubtedly know, by the S and S combination. And if you don't know who the S's stand for, as you probably do, it's Jackie Staley and Dale Sorenson.

Personal—Post War advice to a Vet. wife: Go to Dallas where men are men and they don't have 1:00 closing hours and they never heard of 3.2 Kansas beer. The only trouble is that while the cat's away the mouse might play.

Ag Newsletter Issued

Three hundred twenty-five copies of the May issue of "Servicemen's Newsletter" have been mailed from the dean's office in the School of Agriculture. More than 150 news items on servicemen were included and also a panel of pictures of the faculty, students and other employees of the Ag School. These publications are edited by C. W. Mullen, assistant dean, and Mrs. Gertrude Wheeler, his secretary.

The Distinguished Service Cross, the nation's second highest military honor, has been conferred upon Captain Leland C. Nielsen, former Kansas State student, now an A-26 Invader medium bomber pilot. Leading a flight of Invaders over a target in Germany, Captain Nielsen's plane was struck by a burst of flak, which smashed his cockpit window, wounding him severely about the face and knocking him unconscious. A crewman administered first aid to Captain Nielsen, who later landed at a friendly airdrome without further injury to himself or his crew. He has since recovered from his wounds and has completed more than 20 bombing missions over Germany. He also holds the Purple Heart and the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. A veteran of more than 50 missions as a B-25 pilot in the Aleutian Islands' campaign, Captain Nielsen is only 25.

Capt. G. H. Ingraham, who has been overseas for 35 months, called relatives in Manhattan Saturday to report that he had been returned to the United States and would be able to visit in Manhattan soon. Captain Ingraham, graduated from Kansas State in 1940, has served in both Italy and Africa having gone overseas from Fort Knox, Ky., in 1942.

Lt. Jack M. Muse, f. s., has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action, according to word received by his parents. He is now in the United States and is being hospitalized for a time as a result of wounds received in the same action for which he received the Silver Star. Lieutenant Muse entered the army in 1943 and received his basic training with the Kansas State ROTC unit at Camp Callan, Calif. He was commissioned at the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and had been overseas about four months when wounded. While at Kansas State, he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Word has been received from Pfc. Gene York that he arrived at Okinawa Island April 5 with the 96th Infantry Division. Private York, who attended Kansas State before going into the army, last July, left for overseas service in December. He had been on Leyte before going to Okinawa.

Lt. Col. I. J. Dalrymple, C. E. '27, is in Manhattan on three weeks leave after serving 39 months stationed in the Canal Zone. After termination of his leave, Colonel Dalrymple will go to Hot Springs, Ark., to a rest camp before being reassigned to another field of duty.

A press release from New York lists Keith E. Mead, f. s., as one of a group of 1065 men commissioned as Ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve. The group was the twenty-third class to be graduated from the Naval Reserve Officers Training School with ceremonies held in the Cathedral of Saint John the Divine, New York City.

Capt. Neal E. Worley, former student at Kansas State and now a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter-bomber pilot, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for making positive identification of a concentration of German tanks during the battle of the bulge on December 25 and then leading a dive-bomb attack on the enemy vehicles although his Thunderbolt had been damaged by flak. In addition to the DFC, Captain Worley, who has flown more than 100 dive-bombing and strafing missions with the 365th "Hell Hawk" group, wears the Air Medal with four Silver Oak Leaf Clusters and the blue ribbon signifying that his group has been awarded a unit presidential citation.

Combat wire moving up in a hurry!

Every unit ties in by telephone to report on contact between companies, and to discuss the next move.

That means combat telephone wires must be laid down with every forward push. And communications crews must work continuously repairing the breaks in lines torn by tanks and amphibians and blasted by artillery and mortars.

Our Armed Forces still have urgent need for huge quantities of communications equipment of all kinds. That's why there is a wait for home telephone service.

K-Staters Look Back On Pre-War Year

Have you ever wondered what college was like during the pre-war days?

Let's take a look at a typical year, 1939, for instance—say about this time in May.

Big news was that Elmer Hackney, Kansas State star athlete, had shattered another record in the Kansas relays by tossing the iron ball 52' 1 1/2". Plans were being made by local officials to support the building of a municipal airport. Revision of the Student Governing Association was the topic of the Y Forum.

Record crowds had taken in Hospitality Days, the number attending being 3,654. Seventy-eight high schools were represented. The students arrived by automobile. They were entertained in the customary manner by a box lunch, tour of the campus, lectures and a movie at the Sosna.

On the social calendar the Ninth Cavalry School was to give a circus which promised to draw many patrons from the College. The Kappa Sigs gave a spring formal that week and the Jr. A. V. M. A. held a banquet at the Wareham.

The Hospitality Hop was a huge success. It was held in the gym which took on the appearance of a metropolitan night spot. From painted windows dancers gazed on such famous skyscrapers as the Wrigley and Lucky Strike buildings.

The door to the gym was decorated with a long awning above which a neon sign reading "Casino International" was placed and inside the doorway fern and modernistic furniture decorated the lounge. The theme was carried to completeness with a floor show.

And with this is completed a round-up of the news way back in 1939 A. D.

British Officer Speaks Tomorrow

Capt. Christopher J. Bridgman, British officer on leave from Burma for the first time in five and a half years, will speak to several Kansas State College groups and to the Manhattan Rotary Club today and tomorrow.

His talk before the Rotary Club will be at noon today. He will speak at a meeting in Recreation Center tomorrow at 4 p. m. This meeting will be sponsored by all of the groups which have chosen countries in the British Commonwealth for their discussion groups for the International Security Assembly. Tonight he will be a dinner guest at the Pi Beta Phi sorority, which is studying India as part of the assembly organization on the campus.

Captain Bridgman is a veteran of nearly five years of fighting in Southeast Asia and in North Africa. He will discuss his war experiences and the progress of the fighting in Southeast Asia.

Before the war Captain Bridgman was a tea planter in Assam but with the outbreak of the war he volunteered for the Indian Army and was commissioned in India early in 1940. His two brothers joined the R. A. F. at the outbreak of the war. One was killed in action and the other was shot down over Germany and has been a prisoner of war for more than three years.

Senior Lecture Today

The last lecture for all senior women in Home Economics will be held today at 4 p. m. in Willard 101. Dean Justin is in charge of the program.

K-Staters Write Articles For Quill Club Magazine

Reflecting the spirit of creative K-State minds in a world at war, the 1945 edition of the "Mirror," annual Quill Club magazine, came off the press this week, according to Dora Lee Dauma, editor. The magazine will be on sale in Anderson Hall tomorrow.

Original sketches, short stories and poems in this year's issue were contributed by Martha Jane Adams, Dora Lee Dauma, Athol Furman, Marjorie Hawkins, Barbara Kelley, Alicemahree Meade, Tess Montgomery, Dee Preusch, Lucille Shoemaker, Elizabeth Stark, Joan Thompson and Jean Wainscott.

A railroad's roadbed has a lot to do with travel comfort. A well-built roadbed does away with annoying, sleep-disturbing bumps... like a boat breasting a choppy sea. It gives you "smooth sailing."

The kind of gravel used for roadbed ballast is an important factor. Union Pacific uses a special, sturdy type of crushed granite which stands up particularly well under wartime's heavily loaded freight and passenger trains. Then, too, it acts as a "cushion," resulting in more comfortable riding and less wear on locomotives and cars.

* Listen to "OUR AMERICA" radio program on Mutual nationwide network every Sunday afternoon. Consult your local newspaper for the time and station.

THE PROGRESSIVE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Thus, even the ballast used on the railroad's roadbed plays its part in efficient, 'round-the-clock transportation of troops and essential battle-line freight over Union Pacific's Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the Pacific Coast.

Future "smooth sailing" over life's highway can be assured by holding tight to the war bonds we now have... and, as an extra measure of economic protection, buying as many more as we can possibly afford.

Soterea Maduros will be the first to start her training. She will go to Bell Memorial Hospital in Kansas City July 1. Lois Grimm will start her internship at New Britain General Hospital, New Britain, Conn., in October. Vernelle Blevins and Frances Allison will begin their training in September. Vernelle will go to Duke University Hospital, Durham, N. C., and Frances will go to Philadelphia General Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa.

Amicossembly Elects

Amicossembly had their election of officers a week ago Wednesday, April 25. The new officers are: Mary Long, president, from Clarks Gables; Rosalee Engelland, vice-president, from LaFiel; Neva Jean Fleener, secretary-treasurer, from Clarks Gables; Patty Wilcox, social chairman, from Aloha Cottage, and Miss Eva Lyman, assistant professor of physical education was re-elected as faculty sponsor.

Brunette Beauty Reigns at K-State

Brunette beauty rules at Kansas State in 1945 as four dark beauties reign as queens of the Royal Purple. Queen Kathleen Petterson, chosen Kansas State's most beautiful coed, possesses the rare combination of dark beauty and scholastic talents recognized last year by Phi Kappa Phi. Kathleen is short, 5 feet, 2 inches, and blue eyed with a black feather bob. A sophomore, she is secretary of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, freshman home economics counsellor, a member of the YWCA, the girls' chorus, Collegiate 4-H Club and the home economics club. Her home town is Beloit.

Brownette Lila Lou Johnston, first attendant to the queen, measures 5 feet 6 inches, has sparkling blue eyes and a ready smile. A member of Alpha Delta Pi, she is a freshman in home economics. Lila Lou hails from Lindborg.

Pert Mary Elizabeth Hogan has long brown hair and matching brown eyes. She is a member of the YWCA leadership council and of Newman club. Mary Elizabeth is known to her Chi O sisters as "Hogey." A junior in journalism, she spends vacations in Kansas City, Mo.

Radiant is the perfect adjective to describe the beauty of Mary Iliff, Independent representative from Van Zile Hall, who was chosen third queen's attendant. Mary was elected secretary of the freshman class, is a member of Wesley Foundation, Collegiate 4-H Club and Freshman Home Economics Club. She calls Talmage home.

Students Present Recital Tonight

Climaxing the 22nd annual National Music Week, the Department of Music will present a spring recital in the Auditorium at 8:15 tonight. The formal recital will include piano and voice numbers by students of that department.

This recital is one of a series of programs which have been presented to the people of Manhattan and Kansas State students. The theme for the music week which was also used last year is "Use music to foster unity for the war and the peace to follow."

Other programs include a broadcast by the Civic Music Club at 5:15 tonight. Tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 the students of Miss Marion Pelton will broadcast a program of ensemble and solo music over KSAC. Programs which have been given during the week were a concert by the Lutheran Women's choir on Sunday, a recital given by high school students from the surrounding towns, a broadcast by the Women's Glee Club and a broadcast by the Manhattan Music Club.

This member of a Senior Class of that year is fashion-perfect for the occasion. Top-hats were sine-qua-non, and voluminous neckcloths muffled the spotless linen. Co-education was becoming fashionable, too.

That year, 1860, civil war was looming on the country's horizon. College campuses blazed with patriotism. Railway Express was ready, at the first summons, to put its services at the nation's command. Today, America is fighting a world-wide war. So, to help all concerned, please do three simple things with your 1945 home packages and baggage: Pack them securely—address clearly and adequately—avoid abbreviating state names.

Sears Roebuck Continues Scholarship Plan For Ags

The dean's office in the School of Agriculture has received a letter from the Sears Roebuck Foundation indicating that the Foundation expects to continue its scholarship program for freshmen in the School of Agriculture for another academic year.

Under normal circumstances, the Foundation finances 15 freshman scholarships in agriculture. Last year, the dean's office was able to find only three outstanding high-school graduates eligible for scholarship. Of the three, only two finally attended college. And at the present time, only one, Charles Armstrong, is in college.

190 Receive Degrees At Kansas State

Degrees were conferred upon 190 at baccalaureate-commencement services May 20 in the College Auditorium. President Milton S. Eisenhower conferred the degrees following an address by Dr. John A. Vieg, chairman of the Department of Government at Pomona College, Claremont, Calif.

"Democracy is a system of free political enterprise and its success depends upon the vitality of the spirit of the enterprise among its citizens," Dr. Vieg said. He presented a picture of the world he described as "one great house of freedom," in his address to the graduates.

Greetings from the Board of Regents were brought to the group by Grover Poole, Manhattan. Alumni graduated from the College 40 years or more ago were introduced by President Emeritus F. D. Farrell. Miss Hilda Grossmann, accompanied by Miss Marion Pelton sang "Dost thou know that fair land?" by Thomas. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Arthur M. Reed, minister of the United Presbyterian Church.

Vet, Man In Uniform Win Degrees

President Milton S. Eisenhower (left) presents Lt. Robert O. Yungmans of Piper, his diploma as Charles Clark of Paxico, first World War II veteran to be graduated from K-State looks on. Lt. Yungmans, a navigator stationed at Sioux City, Iowa, was one of five men now in the armed forces to receive degrees from the College. Both Yungmans and Clark received bachelor of science degrees in agriculture.

Five Service Men Awarded Diplomas

Five men in the armed forces received degrees at the commencement exercises May 20 as a result of military credit advanced to them for elective hours. Kansas State's first war veteran to graduate, Charles Clark, received his degree in agriculture at the same time.

Lt. Robert O. Yungmans, Piper, and Capt. Merle Foland, Almena, received degrees in agriculture. Yungmans is stationed at Sioux City, Iowa, and Foland is in the Pacific theatre. Ensign James Swafford, Fort Scott and Gordon Goering, Pretty Prairie, graduated in engineering. Ensign Ross Zimmerman, Abbeville, graduated in Arts and Sciences. Goering and Zimmerman are assigned to ships and Swafford is at the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Gainesville, Ga.

Hospital Closed

The College Hospital will be temporarily closed during the summer session, but students will be hospitalized in either of the city hospitals at no extra charge, Dr. R. R. Snook announced today. The measure was made necessary by the decreased enrollment.

Any illness or injury occurring after 5 p. m. on week days and after noon on Saturday should be reported to Dr. Snook at his home or the patient should be taken immediately to Parkview or St. Mary Hospital.

The College dispensary will be open from 8 a. m. until noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. The hospital will be reopened in September.

Eisenhower Is National Board Member

President Milton S. Eisenhower is one of three men added to the board of trustees of the National Committee for Economic Development, according to an announcement by Paul G. Hoffman, committee chairman.

The C. E. D. was organized by American businessmen to assist business in making its greatest possible contribution to sustain high levels of employment and production after the war.

President Eisenhower's many talks on industrial development and his insistence on sound agricultural-industrial relationships came to the attention of the Committee for Economic Development and resulted in his appointment to the board of trustees.

Appoint JoAnn Nelbarger Collegian Business Manager

JoAnn Nelbarger has been appointed Business Manager of The Collegian for the summer session by the Board of Student Publications.

Helen Clegg, editor of The Collegian, has appointed the following staff members: Rosemary Atzenweiler, copy desk editor; Wilma Lisher, assistant copy desk editor; Verona McKinley, society editor; and Dale Sorensen, sports editor.

Assembly Tuesday

The first student assembly of the summer session will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday. President Eisenhower will speak and Dean R. I. Thackrey, Director of Summer School, will preside.

Enrolment Figure 750; Slight Increase Over '44

KS Workshop Opens June 11

A two week Workshop in guidance and counseling will be held at Kansas State from June 11 to June 23. Dr. J. C. Peterson, professor of education, and Dr. M. D. Woolf, newly-appointed director of student personnel and adviser of war veterans, will be the leaders.

Although the Workshop is designed primarily for teachers, most of the sessions apply directly to the needs of workers in community counseling centers and other counseling agencies outside the schools.

Programs of interest to workers are: sources of occupational information, filing occupational materials, placement and follow-up, qualifications of counselors, techniques of the interview, techniques of counseling in personal adjustment, labor-employee relationships, and vocational education legislation.

The meetings will be held in G101. Most of the reference materials required will be assembled in that room.

This is the third year that a summer Workshop has been held at Kansas State. It is being sponsored by the department of education and the summer school.

Hoover Schedules Try-Outs For Play

The Kansas State Players will continue dramatics productions through the summer this year. Dr. H. T. Hill, head of the Department of Speech, has announced. The summer play will be presented July 13 and 14.

Try-outs for the play will be in Education Hall, room 206, Thursday, May 31 and tomorrow. All who are interested in dramatics are invited to try out. Every student is eligible. Earl G. Hoover, assistant professor of speech and director of the Kansas State Players, will announce the play title at that time.

The play to be presented this summer will be selected from the following group: "Ladies in Retirement," "Quiet Wedding," "The Damask Cheek," "And Then It Was Summer," or "The Imaginary Invalid."

Dr. Hill also announced that two new courses in dramatics are being offered the first eight weeks of summer school. The courses, elementary stage craft and lighting and acting and rehearsing II, are in line with the expanded dramatics program on the campus.

Dr. A. A. Holtz has been appointed by Dean Thackrey as chairman of a committee to plan parties for students enrolled in the first eight weeks of summer school.

Manhattan And Vicinity Offer Varied Recreational Facilities To Summer School Students At Kansas State

All work and no play may make Jack a dull boy, but according to a list of recreational facilities compiled by R. I. Thackrey, director of summer school, students need not have such fears.

Summer School students are welcome to use the facilities of both the College Library and of the Manhattan City Library on Fifth Street near Poyntz Avenue.

Included in the summer school calendar are at least three lectures by outstanding speakers, two musical events, and a summer school play. President Milton S. Eisenhower will be the speaker at the first assembly program on June 5 at 11 a. m. Other events will be listed in the Calendar of the Collegian.

A weekly campus noon-hour motion picture program will be held during the first eight-week session. There are four motion picture houses in Manhattan—three downtown and one in Aggieville.

Swimming facilities are available to students at the Manhattan city swimming pool in the city park and at the college pools in Nichols Gymnasium. The city pool is open from 1 to 9 p. m. daily and from 1 p. m. until approximately 8 p. m. on Sunday. The men's swimming pool at the Gym will be opened by the custodian for use by two or more students or faculty. Because of the possibility of accidents the use of the pool by one person is not considered desirable. The women's pool will be in use by classes most of the time. There is no charge for the use of the College pools.

Students with a yen for tennis may use either the College courts on Anderson or the courts in the city park free of charge. Tennis nets may be checked out through the office of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics or through the custodian's office. There is no charge for the use of the nets, but a $5 deposit is required when the nets are checked out. Badminton nets may also be checked out from the Department of Physical Education and Athletics. Some of the north tier of courts on Anderson are for badminton.

Golf fans may find recreation at the Manhattan Country Club or at the Stag Hill Golf Club. Rates at the Country Club may be obtained by calling the clubhouse. The Stag Hill Golf Club is west of Manhattan on the Fort Riley road. It offers special rates for students. Both the Stag Hill and Manhattan Country Club have 18-hole courses.

Teams and individuals are needed for the Manhattan Softball League. Anyone interested should call Dr. W. M. McLeod, School of Veterinary Medicine, telephone 2123, or Hurst Majors, telephone 4395.

There are also numerous other sports available. There are horseshoe courts on the campus near the west end of Nichols Gymnasium, and in the south side of the city park. Popular hiking spots are Sunset Park, the Horseshoe Bend area of Wildcat Creek, and Blumont Hill. For longer hikes the "Top of the World" recreational area northwest of Manhattan and the hill area southwest afford beautiful hiking country. Fishing is popular in Wildcat Creek, in the Blue River below Rocky Ford Dam, and in Wabauensee County Lake, about 35 miles southeast. There are bowling alleys in Aggieville and in downtown Manhattan.

Officials anticipate a fairly large late enrolment, as this has been true in past years. The final figures for last year after late-comers had been counted was 850.

The highest record for a single summer session was in 1931 when 1,059 were enrolled. Last summer Army trainees on the campus boosted the total figure over the 1,000 mark. The trimester plan which is in effect at Kansas State has held the summer wartime attendance at a high mark.

Dean Russell I. Thackrey is the Director of Summer School. Dean Thackrey who was recently discharged from the Navy, succeeds Prof. E. L. Holton who served as Dean of Summer School for 33 years. Professor Holton is head of the Department of Education.

Summer school at Kansas State is offering work designed to meet the needs of teachers and educators, those seeking teaching certificates, under-graduates who want to continue their studies during the summer, candidates seeking higher degrees and high school students about to begin their college work.

Appoint New Music Head

Luther Leavengood, head of the Department of Music at Arizona State Teachers College, Tempe, Ariz., will become head of the Department of Music at Kansas State at the beginning of the new fiscal year in July. Announcement of the appointment was made by President Eisenhower.

Mr. Leavengood was formerly dean of music at Baker University, Baldwin, and at Southwestern College, Winfield, and has an impressive record of civic and state activities in the field of music.

He was graduated from the University of Kansas in 1929 and has studied at the Mozarteum Academy at Salzburg, Austria, with Bernard Paumgartner and Nicolai Malko. Mr. Leavengood has also done graduate work at the Chicago Musical College, the University of Southern California and holds the degree of master of music from the University of Michigan.

During the 1933-34 season Mr. Leavengood was a member of the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra and for seven years was manager of the Civic Music Association at Winfield. He was conductor of the Winfield Oratorio Society in the annual performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," and was conductor of the Phoenix Symphony, Phoenix, Ariz., in 1944-45.

The new head of the Kansas State music department also has been active in the Kansas Music Teachers Association and the Kansas Music Educators Association. His scholastic honorary memberships include Pi Kappa Lambda, national scholastic music fraternity, and Sinfonia, national professional music fraternity.

Prof. William Lindquist, who joined the staff in 1921 and became professor and head of the department in 1927, will become professor of voice beginning with the new fiscal year.

Veterans Choose Summer Officers

The Veterans of World War II on the Kansas State campus elected their third group of officers this month. Stanley H. Stuart is their new commander and the other officers are Hubert O. Criss, vice-commander; Leon L. Wick, adjutant; Edwin E. Chipman, finance officer; Dean R. I. Thackrey, service officer; Rex L. Eberline, historian; and Victor L. Overholt, sergeant-at-arms.

This association, which was organized last fall with 96 members, has been very active on the Kansas State campus this past year and with a large representation in school this summer it promises to continue functioning actively during the next sixteen weeks.

Support the Seventh War Loan Drive.

In The Beginning

Summer school in Manhattan began officially yesterday after two days of registration, or the signing of the 17 cards. We've been pushed, pulled and coaxed safely through the maze and now have our name on the roll books to be called six times a week.

School during the torrid months has been described by some veterans at the game as swim labs, with an occasional class for variety. Others call it a slow process of broiling.

Whichever it may be, we are glad to have you as fellow sufferers and bid you welcome. Students at summer school are a more cosmopolitan group. Teachers come to spend their vacations from school in school; 17-year-olds come in order to hurry through school before they go to war; old K-Staters stay and don't know why.

In these columns we shall attempt to sketch in technicolor a picture of life at Kansas State. To fill in the picture we need the student's views, whether they be pessimistic or optimistic. Letters to or at the editor will be welcome.

We solicit your sympathy as we launch into our initial attempt at newspapering from the editor's chair. And in the same breath we offer our sympathy to you who have paid up to and including the 8 or 16 weeks finals, which case is determined by strength alone.

See you at the swimming pool.

American Memorial

On Memorial Day, 1945, it is the bare graves halfway around the world the nation longs to decorate. A crude cross hidden in the jungle hardly seems a fitting memorial, except as the symbol of the memorial in the heart of a nation.

AD LIBS

As the name suggests this column shall include the mutterings of the staff translated into black and white. In it we shall attempt to bring you the squibs and barbs that we cannot include as factual news. At last we have a place, self-created, to be sure, to set down our lofty thoughts.

Arithmetic Lesson

We hope the number of girls who came to summer school, expecting the boy-girl ratio to be more nearly equal hasn't thrown the proportion out of balance again.

Evolution of a Suntan

The subject which we shall use for this demonstration of pure femininity began as a pink and gold blonde. Her grandmother would have carried a flowered parasol to preserve the creamy tone, but not the modern miss. The first day she lay for only two hours on the steaming tin roof.

The creamy pink turned to fiery red. But our lass is a woman of courage. Undaunted by the opposition of Mother Nature she increases the dosages of sun and suntan oil.

After an extended period of such

Smoking Rules For Kansas State Campus

Smoking on the campus in restricted areas was authorized last spring by President Eisenhower on the recommendation of the Student Council after the student body endorsed the measure.

The rule sanctions "smoking anywhere on the campus, except in buildings or areas which according to the President constitute a fire hazard." The restrictions apply to faculty members and employees of the College, as well as to students.

The following buildings, because of the type of construction or nature of use, are not in the restricted areas: Thompson Hall, Van Zile Hall, Student Hospital, Military Science Building, and the President's House. There will be no smoking in other buildings, on the steps or approaches to buildings, or in campus areas in the vicinity of frame buildings and oil storage tanks.

The common courtesies of smoking are required, both inside the buildings and on the campus. Violation of the rules will result in elimination of smoking privileges.

treatments plus a constant measuring of the degree of scorching, she pronounces the experiment a success.

She is now ready to don a brief bathing suit and sally forth to sun herself in public, perhaps on the banks of the Manhattan city pool.

Advice Department

One of the peculiar advantages of a school like Kansas State is the enormous possibilities you have to meet nice people—especially women. Here in school you will have a chance to gather lifelong friends, especially women. And in all your classes there will be just hundreds of other interesting students—especially women. Besides, if you want to meet men, why don't you go to West Point.

PWs at Kansas State

The German prisoners of war who work on the campus ate for lunch yesterday—eggs, carrots, potatoes, apple salad and oranges and then went back to tending the lawns. 'Nuff said.

19 Seniors Are Graduated With Honors

Nineteen graduates were awarded senior honors at commencement Sunday night. In each undergraduate school of the College high honors are awarded three percent of the senior class having the highest standing in scholarship during the junior and senior years. Honors are awarded to not more than an additional seven percent of the senior class.

High honors went to Dale Knight, Manhattan, School of Agriculture; Ethelinda Parrish Amos and Joanne Aubel McPeck, both of Manhattan, School of Arts and Sciences; Leora Bentley, Shields, and Alice Beardsley, Oberlin, School of Home Economics; and Arthur Roseberg, Isle, Minn., and Jacob Mosier, Hoxie, School of Veterinary Medicine.

Students graduated with honors were: Soterea Maduros, Junction City, Marion Shields, Kansas City, Mo., and Elizabeth Crandall Reed, Le Roy, School of Arts and Sciences; Robert Schrag, Burrton, School of Engineering and Architecture; Marjorie Hawkins, Kansas City, Eunice Niblo, Muscotah, Mary Frances Briles, Yates Center, Harriet Dillard, Hutchinson and Arlene Shields, Wamego, School of Home Economics; and Robert Jarrett and Joseph Holt, both of Manhattan, and James Ungles, Santa, School of Veterinary Medicine.

Senior Gift

The senior class at Kansas State had more than $55 left in its treasury when the class was graduated this spring. This money was turned over to the Kansas State College Endowment Association. The interfraternity pledge council had more than $9 left so it likewise turned over its funds to the endowment association.

YW Big Sisters

Dorothy Downey, YWCA executive secretary, has asked that any girls who are interested in being a big sister to a freshman girl, or interested in being on a YW summer cabinet please send their name to her, box 442.

★ Bars and Stripes ★

Maj. Lester L. Hermon, now serving in Italy, has recently been promoted from captain. He is chief of G-Combat Branch of the 232nd Ordnance Base Depot, an important service and supply organization for the Fifth Army and the ground forces of the Air Corps and Navy in the Mediterranean theater of operations. His wife lives in Jetmore. Major Hermon was commissioned in the Officers Reserve Corps in 1937 and has been serving overseas since December, 1942, in North Africa and Italy. Prior to assignment overseas he was in the Chief of Ordnance, Washington, D. C. He was graduated from Kansas State in 1938.

Billy J. Hutton, f. a., was recently promoted to the rank of first lieutenant, it was announced by the 15th Army Air Force headquarters. Lt. Hutton is a member of the veteran Italy-based 455th Bombardment Group.

Lt. Col. Raymond Patterson has been with the general staff corps in New Delhi, India, since May, 1943. Formerly an officer with the infantry, he is now with intelligence. He was graduated from Kansas State in 1931. Since that time he has been superintendent of schools in Washington County and taught in the high school at Coffeyville. He received his master's degree and doctor's degree from Columbia University in New York.

Lt. Emmett Breen, former Kansas State College football, basketball and track star, is en route to Mexico with the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center basketball team, of which he is coach as well as a regular guard. The Cadet Center Warhawks, champions of the San Antonio Service League, accepted the invitation of the Mexican War Department to participate in the annual Presidential Cup competition.

Word has been received that H. William Wichers has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. Lieutenant Wichers has been serving in the China-Burma-India theater for the past six months. He is a photo interpreter with the 40th Photo Reconnaissance Squadron stationed in Calcutta, India. He recently returned to Calcutta after three months in Burma.

First Lt. Leo E. Cross, a coach of athletics in civilian life, recently completed a course in coaching at the central sports school sponsored by Special Service, Mediterranean Theater of Operations. Lt. Cross is Special Service Officer with headquarters, 484th Bomb Group. Students attending the sports school will serve as instructors and coaches in a postwar athletic program for soldiers. Classes are held in the gymnasium and stadiums once used by Mussolini to train Fascist troops. Upon completion of the course men are returned to their outfits to begin expansion of the units' athletic program. Lt. Cross formerly taught at Chase County high school at Cottonwood Falls. Woolf Heads KSC Counseling

Dr. Maurice D. Woolf, formerly of the Student Counseling Bureau of the University of Minnesota, has been appointed Director of Student Personnel and Veteran's Adviser at Kansas State, President Eisenhower announced recently.

Dr. Woolf will begin his duties June 1 as director of the counseling and guidance of students at Kansas State with special responsibility for advising war veterans. He will hold professional rank in the Department of Education and Psychology.

Dr. J. C. Peterson, professor of psychology, who has headed the testing and psychological research program here for many years, will assist Dr. Woolf. He will be in charge of the testing program of the personnel service.

At Minnesota Dr. Woolf was adviser to the veteran's club, a member of the student counseling staff, and assistant professor of psychology. He was in charge of the remedial reading clinic, in addition to his other duties, and has conducted extension courses in guidance and counseling in various Minnesota cities.

Dr. Woolf has done work in counseling at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and established the guidance system at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa.

A native of Missouri, Dr. Woolf did his undergraduate work in agriculture at the Kirksville, Mo., Teachers College. His work for a master's degree and for a doctor's degree in education and psychology was done at the University of Missouri.

Golf Champions To Hold Exhibition

Betty Hicks, National Woman's golf champion, Babe Freese, West Coast champion and runner-up to Hicks, M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, Kansas State College, and S/G 3-c Gerald Smith, gunnery instructor at Klamath Falls, Oregon, will play an exhibition golf match at the Country Club course today at 1 p. m.

Following the match, Miss Hicks and Miss Freese will give a golf demonstration on the College campus. No admission will be charged at the exhibition match or at the demonstration on the campus.

16 To Estes Park From Kansas State

Sixteen Kansas State delegates will attend the YW-YM District conference at Estes Park next week.

They are: Beth Jarvis, Mary Alice Doll, Margaret Parker, Patricia McCrary, Shirley Ann Frelennuth, Dorothy Cochran, Gwenda Jane McIntosh, Jane Fagerberg, Eunice Stoltzberg, Elna Yowell, Donna Oyster, Betty Jean Yapp, David Neher, and Dean Tiemann. Dorothy Downey, YW executive secretary, will also attend this conference.

Marjorie Ann Tennant will attend the Leadership training seminar there this summer.

Frances Ewart, local president for the YW next year, will go to New York City and attend a presidents' school that is being held there.

Faculty-Employees Buy $30,000 in War Fund Drive

Faculty members and Kansas State employees had subscribed approximately $30,000 to the 7th War Loan Drive Friday, according to Dr. Mike Ahearn and Dr. W. E. Grimes, co-captains of the campus drive.

Dr. Ahearn said $20,000 to $30,000 more is expected by June 30 when the national drive ends. Seventeen faculty members make up the teams to contact personnel in each building. The committees do not contact students.

Student Vote Endorses Revised SGA Constitution

Kansas State students approved a revised constitution for the Student Governing Association at an election held at the end of the spring semester.

Merle Eystone, president of the Student Council, explained that the primary purpose in changing the constitution was to shorten it and make it more readable to the average College student. Copies of the constitution are included in the student directory and in a booklet given to new students.

One of the major changes in the constitution makes it necessary in the ratification of amendments for 50 percent of the student body to vote and 60 percent of those voting to be in favor of ratification. The old constitution merely made necessary the approval by two-thirds of those voting to constitute ratification.

Omicron Nu established a chapter at the College May 31, 1915. This is an honorary organization which recognizes scholarship, research and leadership in home economics.

Sloan and Scanlan Killed In Action

Two former Kansas State students have died in service overseas according to recent announcement by the War Department. They are 1st Lt. Billy B. Sloan, f. s. '42, who was killed in action while leading a reconnaissance patrol across the Rhine River on March 20, and Lt. Karl M. Scanlan, M. E. '37, who was in charge of a ship salvage unit that had been in action since D-Day.

Lieutenant Sloan was leader of a reconnaissance and intelligence platoon with the Ninth Army. He held the Silver Star award for gallantry in action. His activities were the subject of several Associated Press dispatches during the Von Runstedt counter offensive in Belgium.

Lieutenant Scanlan died April 18 of injuries received March 20. He was commissioned in March, 1943, and had been overseas 14 months. Prior to entering the service, he was employed by the Derby Oil Company of Wichita.

Cancel Annual 4-H Round-Up Held Here

The 1945 Kansas 4-H Club Round-up scheduled to be held June 4-9 on the Kansas State campus has been cancelled because of restrictions on wartime travel, according to President Eisenhower.

In cancelling the annual Round-up, President Eisenhower reaffirmed the determination of all branches of the College to encourage and develop club work throughout the state.

During the 22 years that Round-up has been held on the campus, approximately 25,000 Kansas club boys and girls have attended the event.

Former Student Killed In Action

Ensign Paul O. Larson, M. E. '44, has been killed in action after only a few weeks in combat. This word was received recently by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Larson of Lindaborg.

This former Wildcat football player was outstanding in College mechanical engineering activities. He was president of Steel Ring, vice-president of A. S. M. E., assistant editor of the Kansas State Engineer, and a member of the Engineering council and of Pi Tau Sigma.

At the time he joined the Navy in July, 1944, he was employed by Lockheed at Burbank, Calif. Ensign Larson received his Navy indoctrination training at the U. S. Naval Training School at the University of Arizona at Tucson. He is survived by his parents and a sister.

SOCIETY

Summer school social activities haven't begun yet but plans for several parties are already underway. With the TKE, AGR, Kappa Sig and Phi Delt houses, both annexes and the Tri Delt house open, there should be some other social activities added to the social calendar later. And in this issue of The Collegian are suggestions for private social functions in a list of recreational facilities available. There's plenty of fun to be had at Kansas State this summer.

Virginia Stoecker, Delta Delta Delta, received the chapter service ring at the senior dinner. Jean Peck, who won the ring last year, made the presentation.

Girls of Keim's Kabana received chocolates recently announcing the engagement of Miss Norma Gere to Cpl. James Kelsy.

Jo Ann Harjung, '45 and Lt. Ray N. Edwards, Jr., were married on May 17 at the Manhattan Methodist Church. They will be at home in Brady, Texas.

The engagement of Hope Elizabeth Leland to Lt. H. R. Holmes of St. George was announced on May 27. She is a junior in home economics. Lt. Holmes is stationed in Ardmore, Okla., with the Army Air Corps.

KSC Guidance Workshop Opens Monday

Teachers and workers in guidance and counseling in Kansas and Kansas State students will attend a two-week Guidance Workshop which opens Monday on the Kansas State campus. College credit is being offered students for attendance at the Workshop.

DR. M. D. WOOLF

Dr. M. D. Woolf, Student Personnel Director at Kansas State, and Dr. J. C. Peterson, head of the Kansas State Testing Bureau, are in charge of the Workshop. Dr. Woolf, formerly of the Student Counseling Bureau of the University of Minnesota, began his work in counseling and advising veterans at Kansas State June 1.

Offer Credit

Two hours credit, graduate or undergraduate, may be earned by those who desire it during the Workshop. An enrollment fee of $5, plus a matriculation fee for those who haven't paid that fee previously, will be charged.

Workers in counseling and guidance centers who do not care for credit for the Workshop are invited to attend any or all of the sessions without charge.

Meetings will be held in Room 101, Education Hall. Session programs of special interest are: sources of occupational information, filing occupational materials, placement and follow-up, qualifications of counselors, techniques of the interview, techniques of counseling in personal adjustments, labor-employee relationships, vocational education legislation.

Workshop Leaders

Off-campus leaders who will be present at various sessions of the Workshop include: W. T. Markham, State Supervisor of Vocational Information and Guidance; R. W. Brewster, Occupational Information and Guidance, U. S. Office of Education; C. M. Miller, Director of Vocational Education, State Board of Vocational Education.

H. M. Dawdy, Director of Vocational Rehabilitation, State Board of Vocational Education; Francis Gregory, Director of Guidance, Wyandotte High School; Marie Diggs, Student Counselor, Coffeyville Senior High School and Junior College.

Agnes Engstrand, Rural School Supervisor, State Department of Education, and Floyd Herr, Secretary, State Board of Education.

Dr. Woolf has headquarters in A111, the former 4-H office, for the present.

K-State Players Will Produce "Damask Cheek"

"Damask Cheek," a light comedy of manners, will be produced by the Kansas State Players, July 13, according to Earl G. Hoover, director. The cast will be announced next week.

The play has been on Broadway since 1943. It was written by John Van Druten. Another of his plays, "I Remember You" is also running on Broadway.

Annex I Elects

Annex I elected officers at a house meeting Tuesday evening. They are Betty Ann McCoy, president; Jean Hummel, vice-president; Eleanor Adamson, treasurer; and Margaret Bennett, social chairman.

Summer Collegians

The Summer School Collegian will not be distributed in the individual post office boxes but will be available to all students in the main hall of Anderson on Thursday afternoons.

Plan Refresher In Vet. Med.

Preliminary plans have been made by the School of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State to provide refresher courses for veterinary officers when they are released from the armed forces.

The College feels that a distinct service will be provided in assisting veterinarians in resuming their civilian status. Many of these veterinarians have been occupied with specialized services in the Army with little contact with clinical veterinary medicine in either the field of large or small animal practice. Many men went from school directly into the Army and have had no experience in practice.

Present plans call for a term of four weeks in length with an enrollment limited to about 25 men. Civilian veterinarians will be accepted on the same basis as those from the Army. It is expected that the course will be repeated as the requests materialize.

It is not expected that the basic fundamentals of the veterinary curriculum will be reviewed but rather that the essentials and the new developments will be stressed. Much of the subject material will be presented in the form of panel discussions.

Mid-Summer Plans For Commencement

Commencement exercises will be held the morning of July 24, at the end of the first eight weeks of summer school according to an announcement made by the Council of Deans, following a meeting Tuesday night.

The speaker will be Knox Millsaps, Pomona College, Pomona, Calif. His subject will be "Aristotle."

Dr. Millsaps received his Ph. D. from the California Institute of Technology in 1944. He has a wide background in historical philosophy, symbolic logic, and mathematical theory. On the evening of July 23, the Tollefsen string trio will give a concert to honor graduating seniors.

Teaches in Washington

Miss Alpha Latzke, head of the Department of Clothing and Textiles, is teaching at the State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash., during the first session of summer school. She will instigate a new course there.

93 Veterans Enroll For Summer Session At Kansas State; Survey Shows GI Gets What He Wants At College

Editor's Note: The results of a recent survey of veterans at Kansas State were compiled by Margaret Wunsch of the College News Bureau into an article which was printed in the May 19 issue of "Kansas Farmer."

Ninety-three veterans have enrolled for summer school, marking the fifth semester for this group on the campus. Although this is a decline from last semester's 96, there are 10 new men included on the rolls, while some of the previous members have dropped out for the summer. The School of Arts and Sciences leads in enrollment with 31 men. The School of Engineering and Architecture has 30.

Fifty-two of these are enrolled under Public Law 16, better known as the Serviceman's Readjustment Act which was passed before the enactment of the G. I. Bill. To be eligible for training under Public Law 16 a man must have a pensionable, service-connected disability which interferes with his former vocation.

The remaining 41 men are attending school under the better known G. I. Bill of Rights under which nearly all discharged servicemen are eligible for educational benefits.

Henry Brandes, Wichita, a former aviation cadet, and Elmer Akers, from Los Angeles, who saw service with an armored division, were the first veterans to enroll at K-State in the winter term of 1944. Since then men from all branches of the service and a variety of civilian voca-

810 Summer Students Enroll

Enrollment for the 1945 summer session at Kansas State is 810, according to a tabulation made Tuesday by Miss Mary Kimball, registrar. The enrollment of 830 students last year was swelled to 1060 by Army trainees. After the two-day official enrollment period, the figures totaled 748, that figure having increased 62 the past week by late enrollments.

According to an unofficial count made June 1, 452 students had enrolled for the first eight weeks and 344 for the entire 16 week period, but late enrollment has increased that figure.

Men students will outnumber women approximately 2 1/2 to 1 during the second eight-week session, despite the fact that wartime conditions would indicate the reverse. However, taking the total figure, there are 481 women and 315 men registered.

The School of Arts and Sciences, with many teachers enrolled in that department, leads the other schools with a registration of 358. Schools and their enrollments in order of size are as follows: Home Economics, 148; Veterinary Medicine, 124; Graduate School, 87; Agriculture, 19.

Anderson Hall Has First Face Lifting

Anderson Hall is having its face lifted for the first time in the 61 years it has stood at the center of the Kansas State campus.

The porches on either side of the front entrance have been razed and rooms extending out approximately nine feet are being constructed in the space. The new rooms will be used as additional space for the President's office and the Business office. The addition probably will prompt a shift in office rooms in the administration offices, C. O. Price explained.

The stone structure with its tall spire has been a never changing landmark on the campus and has become a symbol representing Kansas State College and Manhattan as the White House represents Washington.

Construction on Anderson Hall was begun in 1879 when the north wing was built. The central part with the porches was completed in 1882, and the south wing was added in 1884. At that time there were only five other buildings on the campus. Anderson Hall was used for classes in mathematics, engineering and agriculture and it also housed the library. Recreation Center was then the school auditorium.

Minor structural changes have been made on the west side. The front has remained the same for more than half a century.

Students Invite General Eisenhower to Speak Here

Students of Kansas State College have invited General Dwight D. Eisenhower, brother of President Milton S. Eisenhower, to speak at Kansas State during his visit to Kansas this month.

General Eisenhower will arrive at the family home in Abilene the afternoon of June 21. No announcement has been made as to the length of his stay in Kansas.

If General Eisenhower accepts the invitation and the weather is favorable, tentative plans are to hold a general College assembly in Memorial Stadium. Residents of Manhattan and the surrounding community would be welcome at the assembly.

Stanley Stuart, a member of the Student Council and Commander of the Veterans of World War II on the Kansas State campus, and Helen Clegg, editor of The Collegian, issued the invitation to General Eisenhower, on behalf of the student body.

Itinerary

The War Department has scheduled General Eisenhower to be in Washington, D. C., June 18 for a conference with President Harry S. Truman. He will be in New York City on June 19, which has been designated "Eisenhower Day" by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. After a visit at West Point, he will stop in Kansas City, Mo., for a general Midwestern reception, headed by the governors of Kansas and Missouri. He will then go immediately to the family home in Abilene. Mrs. Eisenhower, Capt. Harry Butcher, Naval Aide, and Mrs. Butcher will accompany him.

The people of Abilene have planned a homecoming celebration in his honor and the entire Eisenhower family will have a reunion at the home of Mrs. D. J. Eisenhower, the General's 83-year-old mother.

Second Visit

If General Eisenhower comes to Manhattan, it will be his second visit here, although his first visit with President Eisenhower on January 8 and 9, 1944, was made under quite different circumstances.

The General flew from the European battlefield under the strictest secrecy to Manhattan for a reunion with his mother, President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their family, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Doud of Denver, and Arthur B. Eisenhower and his wife of Kansas City.

Announcement of the trip was not made until he had arrived safely back in England.

The secret was closely guarded. General Eisenhower's plane landed at Marshall Field at Fort Riley and he came into Manhattan in an army staff car.

11 Men Pledged By Fraternities

Kansas State fraternities have pledged 11 men since April 5, according to Harold Howe, faculty advisor.

Phi Delta Theta led the pledging with five men. Sigma Nu pledged three, Alpha Gamma Rho followed with two and Kappa Sigma with one.

The pledges are as follows:

Phi Delta Theta: Ralph Adrian Dickens, Manhattan; Oscar V. Larmer, Wichita; Max Brucks, White-water; Thornton Gehrke, White City; and Richard L. Hood, Junction City.

Sigma Nu: Lowell L. Poague, Wakeney; Edwin E. Chipman, Morland; and E. Stanley Heathman, Kansas City, Mo.

Alpha Gamma Rho: Gene Aldrich, Humboldt, S. D.; and Max Byron Miller, Onaga.

Kappa Sigma: Otis Cross, Burrton.

New K-State Veteran Holder Of 106 Points

LeRoy Allman, first Manhattan resident to be released under the Army's point system, has laid aside his G. I. equipment to take up school books at Kansas State College. Allman, who is a veteran of 42 months of service in the Army, 32 of them overseas, has enrolled in the journalism department of the College. He formerly was editor of the Bushton News.

Allman had 106 points to his credit when he received his honorable discharge at Fort Leavenworth recently. An Army corporal, he had five campaign stars and a Bronze Star. He saw service in Africa, Sicily, Italy, and England.

ISA Schedule Features Films

Students were asked to note that the ISA film next week will begin promptly at 12:20 p. m.

A series of noon-hour picture shows on current topics which began yesterday is a feature of the summer activities of the Kansas State International Security Assembly. The films are shown in W115.

"The Bridge," a film about South American people and their problems, was the first show. Next Wednesday, at 12:25, "Monroe Doctrine" will be shown. On June 27 there will be a double feature, "Watchtower Over Tomorrow" and "The People of Russia." It will begin at 12:20 p. m.

A technicolor picture about Kansas, "Fertile Frontier," will be shown July 11 at 12:20. On July 18 the feature will be "Peace Builders," which is about the various great conferences.

Various campus groups are organized into the ISA for the purpose of making a practical study of war organization. Thirty-one campus groups, representing different countries, will meet in the fall to make a student plan for peacetime government. Chairmen representing the countries will petition for committees to be set up. At committee meetings major problems will be discussed.

At two final plenary sessions, resolutions will be passed by the entire body, made up of the committees and country representatives.

The organization is based on the potential outcome of the San Francisco conference. Regulations which are not decided upon there will be drawn up here by the ISA.

On Wednesdays at 1:05 p. m. and Fridays at 12:30, beginning tomorrow, ISA radio programs will be presented over KSAC. Mrs. Zella Barber is in charge of these programs.

Bulletin board displays of the countries will be shown in Recreation Center this summer. The YWCA lounge has been turned into a reading room where books and pamphlets are available to students.

Faculty advisors for the ISA are Mrs. Kathleen Schmitt, Mrs. Dorothy Downey, and Dean R. I. Thackrey.

A/C Dwight M. Mason is in basic pilot school at Perrin, Texas. He was studying journalism at KSC before entering the Army in 1943.

K-State Is Good Host To Veterans

With 93 veterans of World War II enrolled for summer school, Kansas State has the largest veteran attendance of any school in Kansas.

Realization of this fact should make the students and faculty of the College even more conscious of their responsibilities to men just out of uniform.

The results of a survey made recently by the College News Bureau show that the veterans at Kansas State are making their individual adjustments from war to peace, but not without certain difficulties.

One of those difficulties is for the married men, and 50 percent of the veterans here are married, to find places to live. Although there is a shortage of available apartments, Dr. A. A. Holtz, who is in charge of men's housing, has indicated the situation is improving.

But on the whole, the opinion among the veterans seems to be that Kansas State is a good host.

In a recent issue of "Stars and Stripes" one Yank pretty well summarized the feeling of veterans themselves when he wrote the following:

"Every screwball with thick lenses and a long haircut is setting up shop as an expert on returning vets. We will be happy to sit in front of our fireplaces and let our wives and sweethearts fetch us Old-Fashioneds and fried chicken, but not, please God, with the look of a trapped and frightened doe, waiting for the blow to fall."

Kansas State has welcomed returned veterans without unnecessary ballyhoo. Both faculty and students have "fetched" what the veterans seem to need and want, in everything from revised courses to weekend entertainment.

A good start has been made on a big postwar job for colleges.

Students Support Seventh War Loan

No student campaign is being made in connection with the national 7th War Loan Drive, but college students should be doubly appreciative of the things other Americans are doing with the money we put into bonds.

The college student's contribution to world peace will be made after the war. Now he is encouraged to stay in school and prepare for future usefulness.

To many young people this seems a rather passive way to help. Buying bonds is an ideal way for students to get an immediate finger in the pie. No salesmanship should be necessary.

AD LIBS

It serves us right for being so emphatic in our warnings of Manhattan heat, that an all-time low temperature record was established this week when the mercury dropped to 45 degrees. But we still defend our dire predictions of last week.

The long cool spring has kept the campus at its freshest and greenest.

The campus is a picture painted in green against grey stone that is certainly not appreciated by students scuffling along staring at the sidewalk, engrossed in mixed thoughts of last night's date and next hour's test.

A new fellow at Kansas State just hasn't a chance. He is met at the gates by a delegation of rush chairmen and from then on his life isn't his own. In one case things moved so fast a pledge went active before his frat even got around to announcing his pledging.

Pan America Union started out in 1890 as the International Bureau of American Republics.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

We've given the vets (take your pick of variety) a week to sharpen their fangs and stalk their prey. Now we're ready with a few jabs we hope will uncurl somebody's hair. You'd be mad if we didn't print them and you'll be mad that we did. We do this to keep everybody pleasantly mad.

The third keg had just gone dry at Slim's Saturday night when Doris Johnson and Jill Broberg popped their feather cuts in the door. "We've lost our friends," they pouted, but didn't claim any of the friends they found under the tables.

Lou Jean Fletcher went home for vacation with a gleaming set of Chi O tactics and came back with a Phi Delt pin. 'Tis said she met the wearer of the sword and shield about mid-week.

The AGRs have mimeographed a new version of line 60451 to be passed out with pledge pins. The old one, in use for 10 years or so, was wearing thin along about Date III.

Can one blonde mustache, hardly visible to the naked eye, break up romance or will Muriel Becker win her fight to get TKE Prexy Doyal Kern to put his razor to drastic use?

Nina Anderson, the gal who kisses all the boys at graduation, wears her frat pins to match her dresses. She keeps them side by side pinned on the wall when she wears the diamond.

Statement to the press by Stuesser — "E-v-e-r-y-body lives at the Tri Delt house," which seems to be the general male opinion. The line forms down the east driveway. Box office opens at 7 p. m.

Jackie Staley ended her career with this column with a trip to the altar. She has yielded her position as the gal who never missed a column to Nina Anderson, just to keep it all in the big happy Chi O family.

Jim Shively is the newest pledge of the most exclusive club on the hill, membership limited to men with cars. They gave him a pink card that gives him dating priorities.

The Phyl Wells-Harvey Haas situation isn't quite clear, but it looks like the battle is over. Phyl is quitting school and we hear wedding bells.

Ella Mae Stinson, Shirley Gillan, Ethyl Wilson, and Rosemary Atzenweller wish to inform all that their men are out-of-town, and they are now available. Phone 2-8164.—Paid Adv.

AST Vets Mustered Out Of Army Year Ago

A year ago the Veterinary Medicine A. S. T. P. training at the College was discontinued by the War Department, except for the 25 seniors who were candidates for degrees at the end of the summer semester.

There were 123 students affected by the new order. The men were given an option of remaining in College as civilian students and by doing so, they would give up their pay, their uniforms, their housing and their free mess and be subject to military service under Selective Service, or they might remain in the Army and be ordered to other stations.

Selective Service deferred the men training in School of Veterinary Medicine. The present enrolment in the School of Veterinary Medicine is 124 although all of those students are not former ASTP veterinarians.

Immediately after the discontinuation of the Veterinary Medicine A. S. T. P. training, 146 A. S. T. R. P. students arrived on the campus. They were almost all 17-year-olds. The government furnished only the quarters, food, and uniforms used by the students. They received no regular Army pay. The boys came from Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wyoming, and Oklahoma and were enrolled in engineering.

Matthews Is Friendly Prof

By Ralph NeSmith

Editor's Note: Among the faculty of Kansas State are members whose personalities and classroom procedures lift their courses above the ordinary academic routine. The purpose of these sketches is to acquaint students who have not had the privilege of personal contact with these instructors and to give credit where it is due.

Have you ever seen one of Nigel Bruce's many screen portrayals of tweedy, comfortable, good humored, English gentlemen? Such might be the initial impression of Charles W. Matthews, professor of English. Closer contact, however, would alter the first concept to one of a man well read, cosmopolitan, and possessing a dry humor often attributed to Kansans.

Professor Matthews' classes often take unpredictable turns and cover the variety of subjects which might be expected from a man whose activities have ranged from social work for the Princeton Foundation to herding sheep in Colorado. However, confusion has no place although hilarity has its moments.

The air of informality and friendly relationship between teacher and student make the study of English and literature easy to take. Rather than too rigid adherence to details of composition the student is encouraged to develop initiative and individual style in his writing. In class and out, Professor Matthews displays patience and a willing helpfulness at all times.

Professor Matthews began his college career at Pittsburg State Teachers College, majoring in English and history which he later taught in high schools. After graduation during the war year of 1918 he entered the Army and rose from private to second lieutenant. He received his M. A. degree from Chicago University, specializing in 16th century English literature, and also studied medieval literature at Harvard.

During pre-war years, Professor Matthews traveled through Mexico, combining pleasure with the study of Mayan, Aztec, and Toltec cultures.

His hobbies are collecting modern paintings and lithographs, and medieval chronicles. Other pleasures are horseback riding and tennis.

The average Kansas high school graduate lacks thorough instruction in the fundamentals of English and mathematics, Professor Matthews believes, but compensates for this in individual initiative and resourcefulness.

Dr. S. A. Nock Returns From Month's Vacation

Dr. S. A. Nock has recently returned from a month's vacation spent in Pennsylvania and surrounding territories.

While spending a couple of days in Washington, D. C., he saw three faculty men of Kansas State who are now on leave at the Applied Physics Laboratory at Silver Spring, Maryland.

They are Associate Professor Harner Selvidge, of Electrical Engineering, Associate Professor Daniel Tell Sigley, of Mathematics, and Associate Professor Donald Farnham Munro, also of Mathematics.

A press release from New York lists Keith E. Mead, f. s., as one of a group of 1065 men commissioned as ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve. The group was the 23rd class to be graduated from the Naval Reserve Officer Training School with ceremonies held in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City.

Capt. Neal E. Worley, former student at Kansas State and now a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter-bomber pilot, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for making positive identification of a concentration of German tanks during the battle of the bulge on December 25 and then leading a dive-bomb attack on the enemy vehicles although his Thunderbolt had been damaged by flak. In addition to the DFC, Captain Worley, who has flown more than 100 dive-bombing and strafing missions with the 365th "Hell Hawk" group, wears the Air Medal with four Silver Oak Leaf Clusters and the Blue Ribbon signifying that his group has been awarded a Unit Presidential Citation.

Lt. (jg) Albert N. Nelson, Jr., f. s. '42, is returning to the United States after 22 months' duty with a Navy aviation squadron in the Atlantic.

During his tour of duty with the squadron, Lieutenant Nelson flew 80 combat patrols.

Hal A. Lund, former K-Stater who is now a communications officer with the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces in Italy, has been promoted to the rank of captain.

Captain Lund has served in North Africa, Italy and Southern France since he went overseas in January, 1943. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon while at Kansas State.

Lt. Stewart D. Reed was liberated from a prison camp in Germany May 19, according to word received by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Reed of Lindsborg. Lieutenant Reed was a B-17 pilot. While at Kansas State he was a member of Beta Theta Pi.

Lt. (jg) W. G. Speer, Jr., Kansas State football letterman in 1937 and 1938, has been a participant in every operation in the Pacific area since Guadalcanal except for Iwo Jima, 11 engagements in all.

Lieutenant Speer flew to Kansas from the West Coast last week to visit briefly in Manhattan. For the past 15 months he has been radar officer on a battleship and in that capacity has helped with the planning of major operations.

At Kansas State Speer was outstanding in athletics and belonged to Phi Epsilon Kappa, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the K-Fraternity. He was graduated in 1939. He is the son of W. G. Speer, Sr., former K-State football star who is now living in Manhattan.

Robert Gene Tribble, f. s., was recently commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and designated a Naval Aviator at the Naval Air Training Bases, Pensacola, Fla., it has been announced by the office of Public Relations there.

Ens. Wayne H. Wickstrum, '41, is at the amphibious training base, Little Creek, Va., training to serve as gunnery officer of an LSM.

Lt. Ray H. Walker is stationed in India as a pilot of a C-46. He flies from India to China. Before enlisting in the Air Corps in 1942 he was a sophomore in engineering.

Smith-Freese Take Match

Gerald Smith, former Country Club Golf Champion, posted a blistering sub-par 34 while on leave from the Navy as he teamed up with Babe Freese, west coast Women's Champion, to win over Mike Ahearn, dean of Manhattan golfers and Betty Hicks, National Women's Golf Champion, in a nine hole exhibition match at the Country Club.

At the end of the nine hole exhibition, Gerald Smith and Miss Freese were six up on Mike Ahearn and Miss Hicks.

Locals Have Advantage

Both Mike Ahearn and Gerald Smith had an advantage over their women partners as they knew every inch of the course, having played the course for years. However, Smith was especially brilliant as he had only played a couple of practice rounds in the last two years he has served in the Navy.

"That man is terrific!" said Miss Hicks in commenting on Smith's play.

Sand Greens Are Tough

Playing on sand greens for the first time, Miss Hicks and Miss Freese played slightly above par for the nine holes. Miss Freese overcame the handicap, however, and finished with a 39.

Following the exhibition Miss Hicks gave a short golf demonstration to the large gallery that had followed the foursome.

Haylett Declines War Dept. Offer

Ward Haylett, of international fame as a track and field coach and coach of the 1936 Olympic team, was invited by the Special Service Division of the War Department to go to Rome, Italy, to set up a track and field program.

This program was designed to be part of a great athletics system for service men in Europe. However, due to the fact that the dates of this program would run into the football season next fall Coach Haylett declined the invitation.

Kansas State Grads Edit Prize-Winning Newspaper

The Belleville Telescope was awarded third place for the best editorial page in a national contest conducted by the National Editorial Association, in session at Chicago, according to an announcement made by the N. E. A. contest committee.

Merle Miller, former Kansas State College journalism student, is editor and general manager of the Telescope. Mary Ann Montgomery, 1944 K-State journalism graduate, is news editor. Luman Miller, also a K-State graduate, was editor of the Telescope in recent years but is on leave with the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Last year the Telescope placed first in circulation in the N. E. A. contest and second on the best editorial in the Herick Award classification.

Parris to Dallas

Fred M. Parris, instructor in the Department of Industrial Journalism, has been granted leave of absence from the College for the summer. He will spend three months in Dallas, Texas, in internship at radio station WFAA.

Extensive postwar job opportunities for veterans in the Federal Civil Service were forecast today by Charles R. Anderson, of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

4-H Organization Meeting Tonight

The Collegiate 4-H Club will be active this summer. An organization meeting will be held tonight in Recreation Center at 8 p. m. for the election of officers.

Activities of the club this summer are to be mainly social, although a few service projects may be carried out, including the weekly Collegiate 4-H radio program.

A "hop-off" picnic in the City Park Tuesday evening opened the membership drive. Anyone interested in joining should attend the meeting tonight.

Evelyn Manson is in charge of the executive committee of the membership drive. Others on the committee are Jim Shively, Dorcas Wilson, Bob King, Jean Christiansen, Betty Larson, and Marcus Haggard.

Plans for the summer were outlined Tuesday by Evelyn Manson, Phyllis Hurty Eystone, Marjorie Ward, Mary Louise Markley, Darlene Reed, Eugene Spratt, and Donald Swartz.

Rice Brothers, Philippine Vets, To Enroll Here

Veterans of the Japanese occupation of Manila and of the American capture of the city this spring, Charles and Henry Rice, have arrived in Manhattan. They are living with their aunt, Miss Ada Rice, K-State English teacher, and plan to enter Kansas State College next fall.

Carl E. Rice, father of the boys, was sent to the Philippines during the Spanish-American War, and has lived there since. He, his wife, and two sisters and a brother of the boys are returning to the states soon.

When asked about the Japanese warfare, Charles and Henry said "their strength depends on numbers, not on strategy. They are fanatical and will hold out in numbers no matter what the cost, but they are not much good on tactics. They're just like rats, and even a rat is hard to kill." They both admire the Japanese machine gun and knee mortar, but say that their tanks are no good and that their .25 caliber rifles will not compare to the American .30 caliber.

American Red Cross food packages were distributed to Japanese officers, Charles and Henry said. "The prisoners of war were beaten, tortured and kicked around like dogs." They were given no clothes, no meat, no corn—just a little rice, the two continued.

Since Charles and Henry were freshmen in high school when Pearl Harbor was bombed and they have not attended school since, they are catching up by going to summer school at the high school. They hope to enter Kansas State College as soon as possible.

The boys say they do not see how they got through it all but are very happy to be in the United States and "intend to remain here forever."

All men see the same objects, but do not equally understand them. Intelligence is the tongue that discerns and tastes them.—Thomas Traherne.

Prof. Sayre Returns To KSC Faculty

Edwin Sayre, associate professor of voice, has returned to Kansas State after being on a sabbatical leave for a year. He received a scholarship to Westminster Choir College, where he served on the faculty part time.

A member of the Westminster Choir of 40 voices, under the direction of Dr. John Findley Williamson, Mr. Sayre was in the group when it went on a concert tour of the Great Lakes region for three weeks.

Mr. Sayre was also with the Choir College's large choir, which is made up of 220 students and faculty members, when it was presented at Carnegie Hall, with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and for some radio broadcasts.

During the year away from the College, Mr. Sayre worked with musical leaders such as Stokowski, Rodzinski, Ormandy, and Bruno Walter. He has made recordings for Columbia with the Philadelphia Orchestra. He made a movie with Marion Anderson and Leopold Stokowski. This movie was shown to servicemen all over the world.

Mr. Sayre did solo work and sang with St. Thomas's choir, Fifth Avenue, New York City. The past semester he has been working on a Doctorate at the Teachers' College at Columbia University.

Eisenhower Discusses Food Weapon

"Before the war, two-thirds of the people of the world were engaged in producing food, and two-thirds of the world's people were underfed. Surplus is economical, not physical. We really produced more than we could sell profitably; therefore, there was no food surplus in the 30's as people believed there was," said President Milton S. Eisenhower, who was the principal speaker Tuesday morning at the first assembly of the summer session.

In his talk, "Food as a Weapon of War and Peace," the President pointed out that 88 percent of all American-produced food is being consumed by Americans. The agricultural income, both gross and net, is higher now than at any time in the history of the United States. The average American is eating about 200 more calories daily, because people are financially able to buy correct food for the first time.

In conclusion, Mr. Eisenhower said, "There will be more starvation in Europe in the next 12 months than there was during the five years of German occupation. Twelve to fifteen million tons of food will be needed in Europe alone. There is not that much surplus food in the world, and if there were, there are not adequate transportation facilities to move it."

The speakers of the assembly were introduced by R. I. Thackrey, director of summer school. The Rev. W. E. Drury, minister of the Baptist Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Margaret Parker, secretary of the International Security Assembly, told of the organization's summer activities and of plans that are being made for fall. She announced the noon-hour moving pictures which the ISA is sponsoring, and called attention to radio programs on KSAC.

Anderson To Talk At Chapel Tuesday

Russell H. Anderson, curator of the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry at Chicago, Ill., will speak at the assembly to be held on Monday in the Auditorium at 11:00 a. m. His subject will be "Some of the Lessons of History."

Mr. Anderson made a name for himself after graduation from college in historical museum work. As a curator of a museum, he has become celebrated in the field of cultural history and is widely known as a teacher, research man, and writer.

Dr. J. W. Lumb, extension veterinarian, and Dr. R. A. Leeper, of the School of Veterinary Medicine, attended a conference of veterinarians in Topeka Friday.

SOCIETY

In keeping with June traditions the calendar of Kansas State social events is filled with weddings this week.

Dorothy Hoodet, Chi Omega, and Melvin Scoby, A. G. R., will be married Sunday at Freeport, R. I. Both were graduated from Kansas State in 1944. Dorothy in home ec and Melvin in vet medicine.

Edith Willis, Kappa, who graduated with the class of 1945 and Lt. Don Depew were married May 27 at Orlando, Fla. Mrs. Depew, a prominent K-Stater, was a member of Mortar Board and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Lt. Depew was a student here in architectural engineering in 1943, but finished at Yale. They will make their home in Orlando.

Jackie Staley, Gen. '45, became the bride of Lt. Dexter L. Benson at El Dorado Saturday.

Lou Jean Fletcher, Chi O pledge, is now wearing the Phi Delta pin of Ens. Edward L. Sealy of Pratt, Kans. Emogene Martin, f. s., and Ray Walker, VM '45, are being married June 17 at Dodge City.

Women at Hill's Heights, had a get-acquainted party Tuesday.

Christine Teagarden, '45, and Ensign Don Findley were recently married at Newton, Mass.

Twenty were present at the TKE Chapter dinner, held at the Wareham Sunday evening, in the Gold Room. Dr. Judd Wolfgram, a TKE alumnus, gave a short after-dinner talk.

Alpha Xi Delta gave a luncheon Saturday at the Wareham hotel complimenting Mrs. John H. Parker, who is leaving to make her home in Milwaukee, Wis. Mrs. Parker has been alumna financial adviser for the sorority for the past few years and recently was elected national secretary of Alpha Xi Delta.

Veterans' Wives Organize Club

Sister organization to the Veterans' Association is the K-State Veterans' Auxiliary composed of wives of the veterans attending K. S. C. Primarily a social club, the group of 20 meets monthly at the homes of members.

The Auxiliary got its start at a meeting for the wives at the home of Mrs. Milton Eisenhower in December, 1944. The following month it was organized with Mrs. Delbert Longfellow as president; Mrs. V. C. Webb, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. S. C. McCully and Mrs. T. L. Langford, committee-chairmen. Because the group will have a constantly changing membership Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. D. C. Warren were elected sponsors to help maintain stability among the organization.

Grades . . .

Grades for the spring semester are being read in the registrar's office upon request. They are also being mailed to students not enrolled for the summer session, Miss Mary Kimball, registrar said today.

Lunch Managers Meet On Campus

A School Lunchroom Management Workshop, under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, Head of the Department of Institutional Management, opened at Kansas State Monday to continue for two weeks through June 15. Lunchroom managers from over the state are attending.

Members of the staff of the Department of Institutional Management have organized the Workshop, the first held here, to present the overall picture of lunchroom management, Mrs. West explained.

Work is being offered in the study of food costs, organization, administration, food buying, preparation, equipment, food laws, sanitation, and menu planning. About 48 hours will be spent in the laboratory and 16 hours in classroom recitation and discussion.

"Stockman" Features Kansas State

The June issue of the "Kansas Stockman" is devoted to animal husbandry experiments conducted during the past year by Kansas State College and its branch experiment station.

The annual Feeders' Day programs held at Manhattan, Fort Hays, and Garden City were postponed for 1945 in cooperation with ODT travel restrictions. The "Kansas Stockman" devoted the issue to a discussion of the work that would have been presented to stockmen of Kansas at the three meetings.

H. E. Floyd, editor of the "Stockman," said, "The 'Stockman' columns were offered for services and most graciously accepted by the College. This is just one more valuable service the Kansas Livestock Association, through the Stockman, is able to render the industry."

The associate editor of the "Kansas Stockman" is Roy Freeland, who graduated from Kansas State in 1937 in agriculture and journalism.

Kansas State personnel who contributed to the June issue were A. D. Weber, R. F. Cox, C. W. McCampbell, C. E. Aubel, Phil Ljungdahl, C. G. Elling, F. W. Bell, L. E. Call, A. G. Pickett, H. L. Ibsen, and President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Loan Fund Honors Dr. E. C. Miller

A loan fund of $200 for graduate students has been established at Kansas State College by the children of Dr. Edwin C. Miller, professor of plant pathology at the College. Announcement of the new fund was made recently at a dinner at which Dr. Miller was a guest.

The fund was established in honor of Dr. Miller by his son, M/S Jordan Y. Miller, his daughter, Mrs. Phillip A. Henderson, and her husband, Dr. Henderson, Superior, Neb. Sergeant Miller is a former Kansas State student and Mrs. Henderson graduated in 1936.

The donors have designated that graduate students in plant physiology are to be given first preference to the loan fund, botany students, second preference and agronomy students will be considered third.

This new student loan fund, which will be handled as a unit of the alumni loan fund, is to be known as the Dr. Edwin C. Miller Fund. Dr. Miller has been a member of the Kansas State faculty since 1910.

Sixteen YW-YM Delegates To Estes For Conference

Sixteen representatives of the K-State YWCA and YMCA are in Estes Park, Colo., this week attending a YW-YM district conference.

The group left Saturday on a special bus which left Southwestern College at Winfield and went from Manhattan to Lincoln, Neb., where delegates from the University of Nebraska joined the group.

Dorothy Cochran and David Neher are on the district executive committee which will meet at Estes Park, Saturday, with the Regional Council.

Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the Poultry Department, and Prof. O. D. Hunt, of the School of Engineering, visited several commercial hatcheries Friday to study the use of Sterilamps.

Summer Party Tomorrow Opens Series

A summer school frolic, at 7:15 p. m. tomorrow, will be the first in a series of summer parties planned by the College Recreation Committee headed by Dr. A. A. Holtz.

Parties are also scheduled for June 26 and July 6, with a farewell party on July 20, by the planning committee. Others on the committee are Prof. Merton Otto, Prof. Edwin Sayre, Doris Compton, Frank L. Myers, Mrs. Jean Hughes Dunnigan, Vera Peterson, and Stanley Stewart.

The program is divided into three parts. The first will be a Burlesque Track Meet from 7:15 until 8:15 in front of Anderson Hall. Frank Myers will have charge of the contest between groups representing Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and Fordham.

As 8:15 Doris Compton, Vera Peterson and Prof. Merton Otto will conduct a program of comedy, humor, and music in Rec Center. Glen Vail and his granddaughter will provide singing comedy. A mystic stargazer will entertain and C. C. Kilker, accompanied by Mrs. Orpha Stewart, will play a group of saxophone selections. Prof. Edwin Sayre will lead in group singing.

The rest of the evening will be spent in dancing. Stanley Stuart, commander of the World War II Veterans, will be in charge.

K-State Apiary Is War Industry

Kansas State College has a buzzing war program that is helping to win the victory. Northeast of the campus is the College bee farm or apiary. Here new experiments in the bee industry are continually tried out. Beeswax from these 23 hives is sold to the Army and is then used as a water repellent on guns and bullets.

The apiary, under the direction of Dr. Ralph L. Parker and Dr. Roger C. Smith, entomologists, is one of the most important bee farms in the United States because of the experimental work done there.

Dr. Smith says the chief disease problem of the beekeeper is American and European foul brood diseases. Apiarists are working to produce strains of bees which are more resistant to these diseases. A good resistant strain of bees is one with bees which prove to be the best housekeepers. As the disease appears the good bee will clean the hive out. Beekeepers also want strains of bees that do not swarm easily, and produce as much honey as possible.

It is hard to say which is more important, the honey or value of the bees in pollinating fruits and vegetables. Beeswax is used for the basis of lipsticks, shoe polishes, and floor waxes, as well as in making big field artillery guns. The use of honey is well known to every school boy and girl since one-third of market honey goes into cookies and candy.

The bees of Kansas State seem to realize there is a war on because they increased to June strength six weeks ahead of schedule and are out in force every warm, bright day.

Starting June 9, censorship of motion pictures, including news reels, will be voluntary, Byron Price, director of censorship announced today.

Weekly Veterans' Program On KSAC

A regular radio program explaining to the ex-serviceman the rights and privileges of existing legislation enacted for his benefit and the advantages of education at Kansas State is now being broadcast at 1:30 p. m. Fridays over KSAC.

The program, under supervision of Dr. A. A. Holtz began May 4, 1945 when Dr. Holtz presented a preview of the purposes and objectives of the presentation.

Tomorrow, Dr. S. A. Nock will explain the admission requirements for Kansas State and how credits from other schools may be transferred.

After a further discussion this week by Dr. Holtz and representatives of the Veterans Association, it was decided to continue the program with both veterans and faculty members participating. Subjects in the near future will deal with social life at the college, financial problems, refresher courses, and the veterans' wives' auxiliary organization.

Any veteran interested in appearing on the programs or in preparing script for broadcast should contact Dr. Holtz.

Professor Of Art Dies Suddenly

Miss Rose Marie Darst, assistant professor of art at Kansas State, died unexpectedly Saturday at her home in Radnor, Ohio. According to College authorities, the cause of her death is not known.

Miss Darst joined the College staff in 1933. Her work at Kansas State in the art department was in the field of interior decoration and historic textile design. At the time of her death she was on a leave of absence.

It takes a tank car of gasoline, 8,000 gallons, to fill a B-29 Superfortress.

'Soc' Socolofsky Resigns K-State Coaching Post

Charles "Soc" Socolofsky, assistant football coach since 1942, has accepted the position of head football coach at Alameda, Calif., High School. According to Mike Ahearn, athletic director, this is one of the best schools in the Bay region. His duties will begin September 11 when the fall term opens.

The resignation of Coach Socolofsky has been accepted by the Athletics Council at a special meeting last Saturday. It has now been sent to the Board of Regents for their action on it.

Former Wildcat Star

"Big Soc" as he was known by the football gridders, was graduated from Kansas State in 1938. During his college career "Soc" was outstanding on the track and gridiron. He set two varsity track records, the discus throw which still stands and the shot put record which was later broken by Elmer Hackney. During his last two years "Soc" played a bang up game of football.

"Soc" Has Fine Record

Upon graduation, Socolofsky accepted the position of track and football coach at Hiawatha High School. In his first year at that school his gridders tied for the Big Six high school league title and his thin clads won the conference track crown.

"Soc" continued his fine record as a coach at Manhattan High School. He tutored the Indians to a league football championship, with the loss of only one game for the season. His track team took the Central Kansas League Championship.

Ahearn Commends Him

In 1942, Socolofsky took over the assistant coaching duties at Kansas State. Mike Ahearn, director of athletics, says, "Soc" has been doing a fine job as assistant football coach and we deeply appreciate the splendid job he has done with the man power available. And we wish him every success in his new position and congratulate Alameda High School on obtaining the services of a fine coach and instructor."

Home Economists To Study Here

A House Maintenance Workshop will be conducted at Kansas State daily from June 18 to 29 for the benefit of Kansas home economics teachers and home demonstration agents by members of the staffs of the Departments of Art and Household Economics and members of the extension group. Miss Georgiana Smurthwaite, State Home Demonstration Leader, is in charge.

The Workshop will instruct the home economists in ways to make a house attractive, comfortable, and convenient at a time when supplies of civilian goods are limited.

The staff of specialists will teach the women to make shelves, slip covers, and to tie box springs. Workshop courses will also deal with the study of the care of furniture and of home safety measures.

Receives Award

Thornton Gehrke, a freshman, has been chosen to receive the $100 Good Citizenship Award, sponsored by the Yellow Cab Company.

No Word About Ike's Visit Here

Speculation over a possible visit by General Dwight D. Eisenhower to Manhattan still runs high this week, but no confirmation has been received here.

Last week a committee representing the student body invited the general to make a speech in Memorial Stadium if he comes to Manhattan to visit his brother, President Milton S. Eisenhower.

General Eisenhower will arrive in Kansas City June 21 for a celebration in his honor. The general's mother, Mrs. Ida S. Eisenhower, will attend the celebration.

The entire family will meet in Abilene the afternoon of June 21 for a reunion. Lloyd Eisenhower, the general's nephew who is enrolled at Kansas State, will attend the family reunion.

Hoover Chooses Cast For Play 'Damask Cheek'

The cast has been chosen for the Kansas State Players production, "Damask Cheek" that is to be given on July 13.

In order of appearance, the cast includes Patt Fairman as Rhoda Mel-drum; Donna Faye McVay as Miss Pinner; Carolyn T. Myers as Mrs. Randall; Helen Childers as Nora; Lois Alene Cravens as Daphne Randall; Wendell Kerr as Jimmy Randall; Nina Jean Heberer, Calla Long-streth; Philip Kiser, Michael Randall; and Craig Bracken as Neil Hamilton.

"Damask Cheek" has a setting of mid-December, 1909. It is a costume comedy that deals with a high social set in New York City.

Elect Cochran To Regional YWCA Office

Dorothy Cochran, Kansas State student, and Bill Miller, University of Nebraska representative, were elected regional co-chairmen of the Rocky Mountain Region last week at the YWCA-YMCA conference at Estes Park, Colo. They will attend the National Intercollegiate Christian Council meeting in New York City this summer.

The two will represent seven states in the mid-western area at the New York meeting. Attendance there has been limited to 50 because of the ban on travel.

Eleven other Kansas State students and Mrs. Dorothy Downey, YW secretary, attended the Estes Park conference.

Marjorie Tennant will represent Kansas State at the final conference in Estes Park and will remain there to attend a leadership seminar during July and August.

K-State Grad Writes Eisenhower's Biography

A biography of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower which appears in the July issue of the American Magazine, was written by Kenneth S. Davis, a graduate in 1934 in agriculture and journalism.

During the months that Mr. Davis was overseas collecting material for a book that probably will be published in the fall, he secured the information for the article from General Eisenhower and the general's aides.

Offer Helm's Etchings As Prizes In Bond Contest

The three women having the highest bond sales in the Riley County drive will be awarded etchings made by John F. Helm, Jr., professor of architecture. To be eligible for the prizes the women must sell bonds to at least 10 different individuals.

Applications for war bonds have been placed in the Manhattan public library for the convenience of purchasers during the hours in which the banks are closed.

Swim Tickets

Veterans may now purchase swimming pool tickets at servicemen's rates if they are enrolled under either the G. I. Bill or Public Law 16. The tickets are being sold at the U. S. O.

Counsellors, Students Meet For Workshop

The two-week Workshop in Guidance and Counseling is under way on the Kansas State campus, with 15 people enrolled for college credit. Meetings are held in the morning from 10 to 12, and in the afternoon from 2 to 4.

Forty-two guidance workers and students attended the Tuesday meeting. Dr. J. C. Peterson and Dr. M. D. Woolf, who are in charge of the workshop, expect the attendance to increase as the meeting progresses.

Markham Speaks

W. T. Markham, State Supervisor of Vocational Information and Guidance, spoke at the first meeting Monday. Problems and plans of the Workshop were discussed.

Monday afternoon Miss Agnes Engstrand, Rural School Supervisor, told of the eighth grade testing program. The program's purpose, values, and difficulties were considered, as well as plans for improvement.

Mr. Markham spoke Tuesday morning. Some of the committees which will investigate and report on various subjects were announced. They include vocational guidance material files, guidance plans for schools, community occupational surveys, and educational opportunity surveys.

Dr. J. C. Peterson, Kansas State professor of psychology, discussed the values of testing programs at the Tuesday afternoon session. He reviewed programs in operation in Kansas, including eighth grade testing program, and the acceleration program for high school seniors.

Enroll for Credit

Of the 15 enrolled for college credit in the Workshop, 12 are graduate students, and three are undergraduates. Several summer school classes have attended various meetings of special interest to them.

Yesterday and this morning R. W. Brewster, Occupational Information and Guidance, and W. T. Markham spoke on school techniques. They will speak on the same subject tomorrow morning.

Dr. M. D. Woolf, Student Personnel Director at Kansas State, spoke yesterday on measures of interest and personality. Dr. M. C. Moggie, professor of education, speaks this afternoon on interpretation and presentation of data.

Speakers next week include Dr. Harold Pepinsky of the University of Kansas, Tuesday afternoon and Capt. J. W. Nagge of Ft. Riley who is a former professor of psychology at Emporia State Teachers College. Thursday afternoon Francis Gregory of the Wyandotte High School and H. M. Dawdy will speak Thursday and Friday mornings respectively. O. W. Alm will discuss "Understanding and Adjusting the Exceptional Child" tomorrow afternoon. V. L. Strickland will speak Monday afternoon and Dr. Woolf Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Russell Anderson Speaks At Assembly

Russell H. Anderson, curator of the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, spoke on the subject "Some of the Lessons of History" at assembly Monday.

Mr. Anderson attributed the United States' success in democracy to our democratic experience and pointed out that America has had nearly 100 years of experience, both in the United States and in England.

"If we are going to have success with our occupational governments," said Mr. Anderson, "we must apply our experience."

Prof. Fred L. Parrish of the history department introduced Mr. Anderson.

Bhear and Swift Awarded LaVerne Noyes Scholarships

Betty Lou Bhear and Margaret Adelaide Swift, both of Holton, have been awarded LaVerne Noyes scholarships for the summer trimester. L. E. Conrad, chairman of the Noyes scholarship committee, has announced.

The Noyes scholarships of $35 each are made available to blood descendants of veterans of World War I on the basis of scholarship and need.

Coming Events . . .

July 4, Wednesday—National holiday.

July 13, Friday—8:15 p. m. Summer School Play.

July 24, Tuesday—Commencement convocation, Auditorium. Knox Millsaps, speaker.

ISA Brings San Francisco Representative

The Rev. John B. Hanna, D. D., who attended the San Francisco Conference as a representative of the Council for Social Action, will speak in Recreation Center, at 4 p. m. Wednesday. His appearance here is sponsored by the International Security Assembly.

A series of radio programs over KSAC is another feature of the ISA summer program. The second in the radio series will be heard at 1:15 p. m. Friday. Thereafter, they are scheduled for the rest of the summer at 1:05 p. m. on Wednesday and 1:15 p. m. on Fridays.

Each week will be devoted to a particular country represented in the ISA. Polish music will be featured on Wednesday and a brief sketch of "Poland Today" will be made on Friday, June 22. Poland is represented in the International Security Assembly by Kappa Delta.

A movie, "Monroe Doctrine," will be shown in Willard 115 at 12:25 p. m. Wednesday sponsored by the ISA.

Swartz Elected 4-H Club President

Donald Swartz was elected president of the summer Collegiate 4-H Club at a meeting Thursday. Other officers are Phyllis Eyestone, vice-president; Evelyn Manson, secretary-treasurer; Darlene Reed, reporter and Eugene Spratt, marshal.

Members of the radio committee are Eugene Spratt, chairman; June Tucker, Yvonne Sturgeon, Gloria Schmidt, Marjorie Rezac, and Richard Cederberg.

Chairman of the Who's Who committee is Mary Alice Streater. Reva June Thurlow, Darlene Reed, Yvonne Sturgeon, Opal Mae Dent, and Gloria Schmidt are also on the committee.

The program committee consists of Phyllis Eyestone, Lila Olson, and Margaret Bayer.

Opal Mae Dent, Thelma Sexton, Marjorie Rezac, Luella Fehlman, and Glinda Hughes head the membership committee.

Lila Olson, Gloria Schmidt and Eugene Spratt make up the publicity committee.

Specialists Inspect College Experiment Station

Dr. S. C. Salmon, formerly of the agriculture department faculty, and Dr. Karl Quisenberry, Ag graduate in 1921, will spend several days of this week in Manhattan, inspecting the work of the Kansas State College Experiment Station.

Doctor Salmon is Chief of the Agricultural Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. Doctor Quisenberry is chief agronomist in charge of wheat investigations for the Bureau of Plant Industry in Lincoln, Neb.

They have been conducting a tour of the southern wheat belt, including central and western Kansas.

James Price Appointed Dean at Denver University

James F. Price, son of Prof. R. R. Price of the history department, has been appointed dean of the School of Law at the University of Denver. He was formerly president of Kansas State Teachers' College at Emporia.

In addition to his duties as dean of law, he will be dean of commerce and public administration.

Mr. Price received his B. S. degree in Rural Commerce at Kansas State in 1927. He received his LL. B. in 1930 and his LL. M. in 1937 from Stanford University.

Cokes in Anderson

A self-service Coca-Cola machine has been set up in Recreation Center for students' use. Dr. A. A. Holtz says that at first the machine will be an experiment to determine whether or not there is demand among the student body for the service.

USDA Seeks Eisenhower

Announcement has come from Washington that President Milton S. Eisenhower has been asked by Clinton P. Anderson, the new Secretary of Agriculture, to help Anderson reorganize the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

President Eisenhower has made no announcement of his answer to the request. The reorganization would take several weeks.

Distinguished Record

The Kansas State President has made a distinguished record with the Department of Agriculture and in other governmental service.

In May, 1926, he entered the career service of the federal government and two months later became Assistant to Secretary of Agriculture, William M. Jardine. He became director of information of the Department of Agriculture in December, 1928.

In 1938, at the request of Secretary Henry A. Wallace, Mr. Eisenhower became coordinator of the land-use programs of the Department of Agriculture, continuing as Director of Information.

Directs Relocation

He was appointed by President Roosevelt to direct and organize the relocation, of Japanese Americans evacuated from the Pacific coast. As soon as the evacuation was under way, the President appointed Mr. Eisenhower associate director of the Office of War Information.

In December, 1942, shortly after the Allied invasion of North Africa, President Roosevelt sent Mr. Eisenhower on a special mission to study refugee relief and relocation problems in Algeria and Morocco.

After 17 years in the government service, Mr. Eisenhower resigned his position as associate director of the O. W. I. on June 30, 1943, and became president of Kansas State College in September of that year.

Home Ec Teachers To National Meet

Miss Tessie Agan, associate professor of Household Economics and Miss Dorothy Barfoot, professor and head of the Art department, are attending a conference of the American Home Economics Assembly in Evanston, Ill., this week.

Miss Agan is the chairman-elect of the housing division of the American Home Economics Association and Miss Barfoot is the chairman of the Art Division. While there, they will help plan the work of the association for next year.

Mrs. Lucile Rust, professor of home economics, spent last week in Chicago attending a conference on high school home economics clubs. The meeting was called for the purpose of perfecting and completing the founding of the new national organization of High School Home Economics Clubs.

Graduate Killed In Prison Camp

Lt. Harold L. Nonamaker, '33, was killed during an air raid April 5 in a German prisoner of war camp.

While serving with the infantry, Lieutenant Nonamaker was reported missing in action December 19, 1944. Later he was listed as a prisoner of war.

Since he entered the Army in February, 1942, Lieutenant Nonamaker has served in the African campaign and the European theater of operations. He was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon at Kansas State and received his bachelor of science degree in 1932 and a master of science degree in 1933. He later was associated with the Farm Security Association. His wife and two daughters live in Manhattan.

Discover Insect Here

A new insect infesting tomato plants has been discovered in the Kansas State College greenhouses, reports Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the horticulture department. Psyllid, the name applied to the insect, is common in Colorado but as far as is known this is the first appearance in Kansas.

Dr. Pickett said several control measures are being tried.

Too The Horn For Kansas State

Kansas State is too modest. She needs to blow her own horn louder, especially in a campaign to bring the College before high school students. There is need for a definite well-organized program to accomplish this purpose. The job is one for students as well as officials and faculty members. In several schools a committee of the student governing association or some other prominent organization has tackled the job.

In one program volunteer student correspondents send news items to their local newspapers in order to keep the home folks informed of Kansas State activities.

The individual press agent can also help. A good word from a student about the social life at Kansas State might be much more impressive than pages of words about the educational opportunities offered by Kansas State College in Manhattan.

Every K-Stater knows why prospective students should come to Kansas State and has excellent opportunity to expound his theories.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Mugs Monroe has returned a Beta pin and fallen off into the deep all over again. She has all the names but the S's out of her little black book. S is for Smith, the Smith they call Bucky.

Did Jill Broberg pay the bills at Meadow Acres Sunday night, or did Sorensen ask her for the date?

It's an old story. Dick Dodderidge goes to war. Phyl Gfeller stays home, at least one night a month.

B. B. Burton and Millie Heter got tangled up the other night, with one tan convertible and one large cop. But when they told the nice sergeant they didn't steal the car and proved they could walk the chalk line he let them go home.

Mary Alice Durr got caught with beer in her hair. She uses it for shampoo, or so the story goes.

Advertise in the Cat's Meow. Atzenweller, Gillan, Stinson and Wilson did. They answer the phone in shifts. Their number is still 2-8164. (Reduced prices on second ad.)

Did Dick Olson take his pin up north with him or did he leave it chained to a key in Manhattan? We refer you to Miriam Hobbs.

It must have been quite a party at Meadow Acres Sunday night. All we know is that Nina (Anderson, who else?) went blind and Ross Schimmel went stag. The question is, how did they all make it home.

Bob Underwood and military escort followed Doris Johnson and Mary Lou Scarborough as far as the second floor of the Tri-Delt house one night last week before they ran into a bouncer.

Independent, Sorority, And Frat Houses Open

A large number of women's organized houses are remaining open for the summer session. They include: Aloha Cottage, Arcadia, Chatterbox, Clark's Gables, Cood Court, Hill's Heights, Keim's Kabana, La Piel, Maison-elle, Moore th' Merrier, Pal-O-Mie and the Shanty. Annex I and the Delta Delta Delta house are also being occupied.

Several fraternity houses have remained open. They are Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Sigma, TKE and the AGR's. Dr. A. A. Holtz, who is in charge of men's housing, stated that there had been some difficulty in finding rooms for independent men.

Sugar, transformed into industrial alcohol, is used extensively in the manufacture of explosives.

John Helm A Favorite Prof. With Students

By Ralph Nesmith

Interesting is the studio where K-State students learn to draw and paint and interesting is the man over their shoulder, John F. Helm, Jr., associate professor of freehand drawing and painting. By these signs you shall know him—a mustache and a battered brown hat.

All of his students seem to like him; many swear by him. Mr. Helm's outstanding attribute is an air of easy familiarity. His manner is one of treating the student as a personal friend, offering advice. One girl remarked that she especially liked the interest Professor Helm shows in each individual rather than treating the class like a group of carbon copies.

It has been said Mr. Helm signs his letters, "with kindest regards." All this was fine until an elderly lady in reply expressed appreciation for the fine sentiment shown.

A native New Yorker, Mr. Helm was born in Syracuse and received his bachelor's degree in design and interior decoration from Syracuse University in 1924. Later he studied under Dr. F. Birger Sandzen and Montague Charnan. His favorite media in his own work are water color, etching, aquatint, and wood engraving.

Many of Mr. Helm's works are now on exhibit throughout Kansas schools and some are part of the collection on display in the California State Library. In 1937 he won second prize for graphic arts in the Midwestern Artists Exhibition at Kansas City Art Institute. Mr. Helm was state director of the Federal Art Project for Kansas in 1935-36. He is director of the Kansas State Federation of Art and art editor for Kansas Magazine.

Showing the artist's touch in his favorite hobby, Professor Helm has one of the finest flower gardens in Manhattan.

Although he is a member of the staff in the School of Engineering and Architecture, Mr. Helm's classes include a cross-section of college students. In them may be found architects, home economics students, journalists, nuns, special students, professors, and housewives.

Professor Helm met his wife at Kansas State where she was teaching French. He says that later, while he studied art in France, her command of the language proved invaluable when his own French reached the arm-waving stage.

Mr. Helm believes Kansans show a greater interest and appreciation of art than easterners as shown by the larger number of pictures of good quality in their homes. He also believes that Kansas artists compare favorably with those of other regions.

Of the widely and unfavorably discussed extreme forms of art (such as that practiced by Salvador Dali) Professor Helm says he thinks they have definite value and points out that they were already being used in commercial art.

Revise Rules For Rushing

New rush rules for Women's Panhellenic have been drawn up at Kansas State College and will become effective this fall. Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt, assistant dean of women, promoted the revisions, which have been developed and prepared during the past school year.

No oral bidding is the new rule that most abruptly changes the old method of rushing. This rule is becoming more widely used in colleges and universities. It is designed primarily to stop any "hot-boxing" that may have been possible under other rules.

Under the new system each sorority has a quota that its house will hold, and it can have only the number of pledges to meet this quota. This rule should prevent any overcrowding in the houses and the usual race to see who can pledge the largest number of girls.

An extra day has been added to rush week, making it four days. No other major changes have been made other than in a few details for the various events.

Grow Orchids Here

There are two dozen orchid plants growing in the College greenhouse. They were sent to President Eisenhower from Lt. M. C. Redman, of the Coast Guard in Panama. According to Dr. William F. Pickett, head of the horticulture department, orchids had not been grown here for several years, but they have grown successfully in the past.

Canada's steel production has been doubled since the outbreak of World War II.

Need Costumes for Production Of "The Damask Cheek"

Costumes of the era of 1909 are needed for the production of "The Damask Cheek" which is to be presented July 13 by the Kansas State Players.

For the women, the high-necked, long-sleeved blouse, the instep skirts, plume laden hats, long gloves and gay fans are needed. The production's staff is particularly interested in women's tailored suits and evening dresses (not black).

High stiff collars, single-breasted striped suits and gay ties are needed for the men.

Anyone having such costumes is asked to call Dr. H. T. Hill at 2402 or Marian Kirkpatrick at 37205.

Eisenhower Speaks To Kansas City Group

Americans must unite in common purpose and sustained effort to work for overall national welfare, Milton S. Eisenhower, Kansas State College president, told the Kansas City Women's Chamber of Commerce in an address Thursday. President Eisenhower pointed out that in many instances special interest groups are forcing policies detrimental to the best interests of the country.

The President listed five fundamental difficulties which he said were causing discord among the American people. These difficulties were: the speed of economic and social change, the trend to extreme specialization in vocational pursuits, sound long-range policies which may momentarily hurt individual interests, ideological and philosophical differences, and passive policies in working toward a goal.

Mr. Eisenhower emphasized the need for all educational agencies to fully inform the public on every issue to assist them in forming constructive opinions and realize their own interdependence. He said America's greatness lies not in economics or politics but in its moral spirit which enables everyone to be different and still work side by side toward common ends.

Locker Association Aids In Research

A $200 research fund has been given Kansas State College by the Kansas Frozen Food Locker Association, it has been announced by President Eisenhower. The money will be used by the College agricultural experiment station in the study of some of the factors which affect the quality of snap beans preserved by freezing.

Dr. G. A. Flinger, of the horticulture department, is secretary-treasurer of the Kansas Frozen Food Locker Association.

Will Conduct Fall Airport Meeting Here

The College early next fall will conduct a two or three-day conference devoted to problems of postwar airport development, according to a recent announcement by President Eisenhower.

This conference is being designed to assist officials, individuals, and civic groups interested in or connected with postwar airport planning, construction, maintenance or management.

R. A. Seaton, dean of the School of Engineering and Architecture, has been asked to arrange the program. In addition to participation by several departments of the School of Engineering and Architecture at the College, the Kansas City regional office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and other agencies will cooperate with the conference.

Non-technical sessions will be devoted to broad phases of airport management and financing and the relationship of the airport to the municipality served. Technical sessions will cover problems of airport field design and construction, including bituminous, concrete and turf surfaces and problems involving design and construction of hangar and service buildings.

SOCIETY

With all the fraternity and sorority parties off for summer school, soc news is nil! But romance is never-ending, so here goes...

Libby Raymond, Chi O. passed chocolates recently to her sorority sisters, announcing her engagement to Sgt. Bob Yapp of Manhattan.

Jim Burr, AGR, and Virginia Fortune of Covington, Va., were married May 25. Jim is a senior in veterinary medicine.

Another vet, Harold Kinard, has told AGR fraternity brothers of his engagement to Ruth Hutto of Smokes, S. C.

Mary Jagger, f. s., and Lt. Wesley Beuchle, AE, '43, were married Tuesday in Minneapolis.

Wedding bells also rang for Eleanor Allison, Kappa Delta, HE, '45, and Lt. Carl J. Dye, jr., who were married June 1 at El Dorado. Lieutenant Dye was in air corps training here last year.

Billie Beth Davis, Pi Phi, f. s., was married to T/Sgt. Martin Herick in the post chapel at the Topeka Army Air Base June 7.

Kappa Sigma held formal initiation for John Chitwood Sunday morning.

Women at Annex I are having an hour dance from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Tuesday for all college men. Tonight is the date set by the women at Annex I for their first houseparty.

Library Packed With Student Entertainment

To fill their leisure time, students at Kansas State this summer will have a wide selection of new books to choose from at the College Library.

A few of the books of special interest include "The Soviet Far East and Central Asia," by Mandel; "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again," by Wecker in which Mr. Wecker tells of the soldiers' interests and what they expect when they come home; "D-Day," by John Gunther, is the story of a small group of soldiers and their experiences on D-Day and "The Control of Germany and Japan," by Harold G. Moulton and Louis Marlio.

Robert Benchley's "My Ten Years in a Quandary" is a highly entertaining book in which Mr. Benchley gives some invaluable information on how to treat people who greet you on the telephone with, "One moment, please." He also tells about some of his friends, one of whom is a dachshund.

"Journey in the Dark," Harper Prize Novel in 1943-44, by Martin Plavin, and "Great Son" by Edna Ferber are also found among the fiction books on the shelves.

The play, "Oklahoma," by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II is now in book form.

These are just a few of the books that are to be found in the Library for students and residents of Manhattan to enjoy. Other books are added from time to time, making a large collection of the best American writings.

Inspects Work Here

H. C. Diehl of the Refrigeration Research Foundation in Berkeley, Calif., spent Monday inspecting work being carried out by Prof. G. E. Vail, food economist at Kansas State College.

Professor Vail is studying the freezing of meats in a project that is financed by the refrigeration foundation. Mr. Diehl also consulted with Dr. G. A. Filling, professor in the horticulture department.

SUMMER SCHOOL CALENDAR (First Eight-Week Session)

June 15, Friday—4-H party at Manhattan roller rink from 10-12 p. m.
June 18-30—House Maintenance Workshop.

June 20, Wednesday—Noon hour motion picture program, 12:25 p. m. W115 (Willard Hall). Film: The Bridge. (International Security Assembly sponsorship.)

June 22, Friday—Summer School Dance, Recreation Center, 8:30-11:30.

June 23, Saturday—Examinations to remove conditions.

June 23, Saturday—Mid-term scholarship deficiency reports to students and deans are due.

School Frolic Big Success

More than 350 students attended the first all school party held on the campus this summer. Dr. A. A. Holtz said, and called the summer frolic a success.

The winner of the track meet contest was the "Yale" group headed by Father Davies of the Episcopal Church. The "Harvard" team, coached by the Rev. H. B. Cockerill, of the Methodist Church, was second. Participants in the races and relays were volunteers from the audience.

Prof. H. M. Heberer, of the speech department, posed as a mindreader. Prof. Edwin L. Sayre sang several numbers and C. C. Kilker played several saxophone solos.

At the close of the program, records were played for dancing. The next party in the series will be a free dance on June 22.

Cafeteria Serves Typical Lunch

The cafeteria will serve a typical school lunch Saturday noon, Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, head of the Department of Institutional Management, has announced.

Planning and food preparation will be done by women who are taking the course in school lunchroom service. The meal will cost 20 cents, and will be the only food offered that noon.

This meal will be used partly as a final for women who have been taking training in the two-week workshop in school lunchroom management. Prepared under conditions as nearly like those a teacher would find in the average small school, no electrical equipment will be used.

Ten women will participate in the project. The class is planning to serve approximately 200 people during the lunch hour.

M.S. Eisenhower Named Special USDA Assistant

Will Divide Time Between Kansas State College and Department of Agriculture

Appointment of Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College and brother of the Allied commander in chief, as special assistant to the secretary of agriculture, was announced last night by Clinton P. Anderson, the new secretary.

Mr. Anderson said in his announcement that Mr. Eisenhower would serve without pay and would divide his time between Manhattan and Washington. But he made clear that Mr. Eisenhower would have a free hand in reorganizing the Department of Agriculture, especially in drawing the War Food Administration within the activities of the department. Until now, the War Food Administration, dealing with war-time production of food, has been a separate agency.

Granted Leave by Regents

Mr. Eisenhower made clear he had been granted leave to go to Washington by the Kansas board of regents and had no intention of returning permanently to Washington. He will continue to direct Kansas State College, too.

His first Washington experience was under William M. Jardine, now president of the University of Wichita, when Jardine was secretary of agriculture. Later Eisenhower, who was graduated from Kansas State in 1924, became director of information for the Department of Agriculture, and after serving in that post, became chairman of the department's committee on land use. He was delegated later by President Roosevelt to put together the scattered information services during the war under OWI. Then Kansas reached in to take him back to Manhattan.

A Dollar-a-Year Man

Mr. Eisenhower will continue as full-fledged president of Kansas State College, drawing his pay from Kansas. He will get a dollar a year from Washington to get the scattered agricultural services together in a smooth-working organization and then return to Kansas. He turned down a permanent government offer. "Mr. Eisenhower had nineteen years of service with the Department of Agriculture before going to Kansas State," Mr. Anderson said. "He knows the department from top to bottom. Personally, I believe him to be the best equipped man in the country to carry out the policies I have in mind for the producer of food and the consumer."

Veterinarians Hold Degrees From 19 Schools

Nearly one fourth of the students in the School of Veterinary Medicine at Kansas State College hold degrees from other colleges, including 19 American universities and one foreign college.

Thirty-six students of the 165 in veterinary medicine had degrees from other schools before enrolling. Fourteen have bachelor of science degrees in agriculture and one student has a bachelor of science degree in agronomy. Two men have bachelor of arts degrees, one a bachelor of science in education and a bachelor of science in agriculture and 17 have bachelor of science degrees in other fields.

The senior class leads in the number with degrees by a margin of six. It has 21 students with degrees, while the sophomore class has 15 prospective veterinary doctors with previous degrees.

Colleges that are represented here are headed by Oklahoma A & M with five graduates in school, second is South Dakota State College with three alumni, Iowa State College, University of Georgia, College of the City of New York, New Mexico State College, Rutgers University and the University of Illinois each have two graduates.

Eisenhower Day . . .

Tomorrow Kansas honors General Dwight D. Eisenhower of Abilene. Governor Andrew Schoepel has proclaimed Eisenhower Day. Kansas State College will be well represented at the Homecoming celebration in Abilene and will also pay tribute to General Eisenhower when he passes through Manhattan this evening on his way home.

The students and faculty of Kansas State College are proud to claim General Eisenhower as a fellow Kansan. They share in an intensified and personal manner, the feeling of admiration and respect for General Eisenhower which is felt by all the people of all the United Nations of the world.

Guidance Meet Ends Saturday

The Workshop in Guidance and Counseling which has been under way at Kansas State since June 11 will end Saturday. There has been a large attendance at each session, according to Dr. J. C. Peterson, who, with Dr. M. D. Woolf, is in charge of the Workshop.

Francis Gregory of the Wyandotte High School in Kansas City spoke Monday morning. She replaced Mrs. Marie Diggs, who was unable to attend. His subject was "Teaching of Occupations". He spoke Tuesday afternoon on "Labor-Employer Relationships".

Monday afternoon V. L. Strickland of the education department was the speaker and Dr. Woolf spoke Tuesday afternoon.

Yesterday W. T. Markham discussed committee work and in the afternoon Dr. Woolf talked on techniques of counseling.

Mr. Markham was on the program this morning. This afternoon Capt. J. W. Nagge of Ft. Riley will speak on psychiatric problems. Tomorrow morning committee reports will be read, as well as an examination for guidance and counselling workers.

Tomorrow afternoon Dr. Woolf will speak on "Coordination of Guidance Activities". At the final session at 10 a. m. Saturday, Mr. Markham will speak again on "Vocational Education Acts".

Grimes to Washington, D. C.

Dr. W. E. Grimes, head of the department of economics at K-State has been called to Washington, D. C., this week to act as consultant on the farm labor problem in this area. The meeting was called by the Extension service of the United States department of Agriculture.

Grade School Principal Has Lead In Play

Wendell Kerr, a grade school principal, will play one of the leads in the current production of the Kansas State Players, "The Damask Cheek"

Mr. Kerr is the principal of the Belleville, Kans., elementary school, and has directed several school plays at Mahaska, Kans., where he taught.

Patt Fairman, a junior in Arts and Sciences, will play the feminine lead. During her free hours Patt works in Dr. H. T. Hill's office. She is a member of a trio called the "Melodians", which has won local fame.

Carolyn Myers, another member of the cast is enrolled here as a sophomore in engineering and architecture. She hails from Springfield, Mass.

Nina Jean Heberer started her acting career early in life when she played the part of Little Eva in a production of Uncle Tom's Cabin. She is a junior in Arts and Sciences.

Hear Frisco Representative

The Rev. John B. Hanna, D. D. of New York, yesterday discussed several phases of the San Francisco Conference at which he was a representative of the Congregational Christian churches. His appearance here was sponsored by the K-State International Security Assembly.

He spoke yesterday in Rec Center and last night at a Fellowship supper at the Congregational Church.

As Church Counsellor for the Council for Social Action, Dr. Hanna is visiting local churches, in an effort to increase the number and effectiveness of Social Action groups in the Congregational churches.

Having worked as a teacher, pastor and specialist in Religious Education for over 25 years, Dr. Hanna has spent much of the time in the Greater New York Area where he taught in the German Polytechnical Preparatory School of Brooklyn. He was assistant director and pastor of Religious Education in the Flatbush Congregational Church.

Dr. Hanna has served the Congregational church in Rockville Center, Long Island, the First Congregational Church of Appleton, Wisconsin, and the Trinity Congregational Church of East Orange, New Jersey. For four years he was the interchurch pastor at Massachusetts State College in Amherst, Mass.

Dr. Hanna holds his master's degree in sociology from Amherst College and an honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Lawrence College. He has also studied at the University of Marburg and Teachers College, Columbia.

No Caps and Gowns At Graduation

No caps and gowns will be worn at the mid-summer commencement to be held on the morning of July 24. The announcement was made by the Council of Deans.

It has not been voted as to whether or not there will be a commencement in September. No caps and gowns were worn at the mid-semester graduation last year or at the September exercises in 1944.

Students Plan Rally To Honor General Eisenhower

Stuart, Petterson, And Fairman To Represent Kansas State Students When Special Train Makes Brief Stop At Manhattan Station

Hundreds of Kansas State students are expected to attend a rally honoring General Dwight D. Eisenhower, brother of President Milton S. Eisenhower, when the General's train makes a brief stop in Manhattan tonight.

Appoint Howe Graduate Dean

The appointment of Dr. Harold Howe, professor of agricultural economics, to be dean of the Graduate School, beginning July 1, was announced today by President Milton S. Eisenhower. Dr. Howe succeeds Dr. James E. Ackert, who has been dean of the Graduate School since 1931.

In accordance with the state's policy of relieving officers of their administrative duties at the age of 65, Dr. Ackert also is giving up the headship of the Department of Zoology which he has held during the past year. Dr. Donald J. Ameel, who has been promoted to a professor in that department, has been appointed acting head of zoology.

Dr. Ackert, one of the foremost parasitologists in America, joined the College staff in 1913 as assistant professor of zoology. He has been parasitologist of the College's agricultural experiment station since 1913. During the years Dr. Ackert has been a member of the College staff he has contributed much to the field of parasitology. He has been granted the title of dean emeritus of the Graduate School. He continues as a full time professor of zoology. More than 1,400 men and women have received advanced degrees from Kansas State during the time Dr. Ackert has headed the Graduate School.

Dr. Howe, who succeeds him as Graduate School dean, was graduated from Kansas State in 1922. He was granted his M. S. degree from the University of Maryland in 1923 and received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1937. Dr. Howe is chairman of the North Central Regional Committee on Land Tenure Research. He has done special research in the field of land economics and farm taxation.

Professor Ameel has been at the College since 1937. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Wayne University in 1928; his master of arts from the University of Michigan in 1930 and his doctor of science degree from Michigan in 1933. He is an authority on the fluke parasite of man and domestic animals and has collaborated with Dr. Ackert in working on certain factors of resistance of domestic animals to parasitism.

Grad Awarded Ph. D.

I. M. Atkins, '28, received his Ph. D. degree in agronomy from the University of Minnesota last week.

Mr. Atkins received his M. S. degree here in 1936. He was a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.

Atkins is an assistant superintendent and agronomist at the Texas State Experiment Station.

The special 11-car train will arrive at the Union Pacific station sometime between 7:30 and 8:15 p. m. tonight en route from Kansas City to the Eisenhower family home in Abilene. President and Mrs. Eisenhower went to Kansas City yesterday for the celebration there and will be aboard the General's train when it stops here. President Eisenhower will appear on the train platform with General and Mrs. Eisenhower and their mother Mrs. D. J. Eisenhower.

College Representatives

Stanley Stuart, commander of the Associated Veterans of World War II at Kansas State and member of the Student Council, will represent the College along with Kathleen Petterson, Royal Purple beauty queen and Patt Fairman, prominent student in campus activities. On behalf of the student body, General and Mrs. Eisenhower will be invited to visit the Kansas State campus.

Lt. Col. J. A. Chase, liaison officer for the General's Kansas City reception, notified Mayor R. E. Busenbark Tuesday of the plan for the stop here. General Eisenhower and his party are scheduled to leave Union Station in Kansas City at 5 p. m. With the General will be numerous members of his family who have gathered for the homecoming and several staff officers. Lloyd Eisenhower, a student at Kansas State and nephew of the General, will go to Abilene Thursday for the family reunion. President and Mrs. Eisenhower's two children will go to Abilene by automobile.

Brief Stop

Original plans were for the General to go by plane from Kansas City to Fort Riley, but a change in schedule has permitted the stop here.

Colonel Chase said that the train will come to a standstill for a very few minutes. Time will not permit General Eisenhower to make a speech. The train will operate under Eisenhower's orders and will go slowly through cities en route with scheduled stops at Lawrence, Topeka, Manhattan, Fort Riley and Junction City.

The Municipal band will be at the station to play as the train pulls in and during the short stop. Mayor Busenbark said the War Department has asked spectators to keep off the train and away from the tracks.

M. D. Woolf Speaks Before War Veterans

The problems of the returning veteran are much the same as those of the civilian populace as a whole, Dr. M. D. Woolf told members of the Veterans Association in an informal talk at their regular meeting this week. The new student counselor expressed belief that the veterans do not want to form a separate pressure group of their own or live apart from the rest of society unless forced to do so because of mismanagement of social welfare in the postwar period.

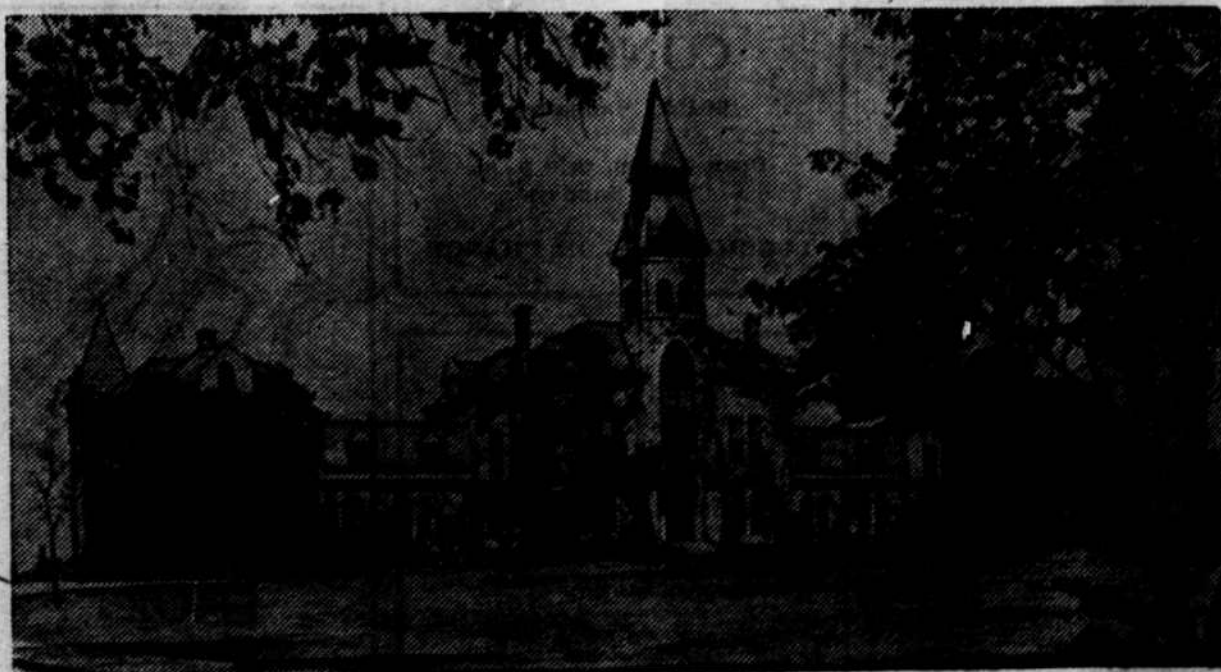

Dr. Woolf said a frequent question asked by the returning veteran is, "What are we fighting for and is it being accomplished?" In relation to this he stressed the necessity of being well informed about current affairs since "the degree to which we are informed is the degree to which we are influential."

Problems such as high rents, housing shortages, inflated prices, and age differences which have confronted veterans attending Kansas State are prevalent also at the University of Minnesota according to Dr. Woolf.

In connection with the individual veteran and an organization, Dr. Woolf believes that the benefit the individual will derive from the organization is in direct ratio to the work and interest the veteran shows towards the group.

McDougal on Leave

Lt. Clyde R. McDougal has gone to Ft. Leavenworth for six weeks of temporary duty. He will return to Kansas State as soon as he finishes this assignment.

To strengthen present walls which have cracked in places, to provide additional office space, and to improve the exterior appearance, the wooden porches on the East side of Anderson Hall at Kansas State College are to be enclosed with stone as shown in the sketch above. Present facing-stones under the roofs will be used for the new outside walls. Hence, all exterior stonework will be of the same age and color. Later, major repairs will have to be made to strengthen the central tower, but this will not involve exterior work.

Roast Professor

Medium Well-Done

An inhabitant of this terra-queous globe who engages himself in pedagogic pursuits is a professor.

That, in his own language, is the formula for a professor. But don't let his $99.44 pure words deceive you. Translate him into English and a prof is just an educated telephone pole.

A professor is a poker-backed individual who usually wears a hat and never forgets to tip it at you if you happen to fall within his radius of vision.

This tyrant of the textbook is the spectacles behind the desk who asks the class a question, glares at you if you don't answer and laughs if you do.

"How many legs does the chinch bug have?" asks Professor Pole with an I-bet-you-can't-answer-that-one hitch of his tie. "Krud," you think bitterly. There comes a feeble voice from the back row. Some beaver is attempting to answer. His own voice gives him courage and louder and louder he says "six, six, six." On the fourth "six" Dear Professor breaks in with some cutting remarks about the passive imbecility of college students, without the slightest recognition of the repeated "sixes." Thus begins the attitude talk for the day.

Which brings us to another point on pedagogues. Why should a class which enrolled to hear the teacher dissertate on green grasshoppers in the middle ages be subjected to repeated lectures on "The life and loves of Miss Spoonfangle" or "Why I am still Miss Spoonfangle?"

A professor is the keeper of the grade book who picks the morning after the night Glen Gray plays at Meadow Acres for a test. He is the guy who locks you in the lab and goes to play golf. He is the bird who thought up the idea of vet clinic on Saturday night.

And what's more professors are a menace to the health of young America. They keep you up late. Today Prof decides that tomorrow a 5,000 word theme is due and tomorrow he forgets to call for the paper. Three weeks from tomorrow he can't find the papers to grade them, or has slapped a grade on them without even reading the first page.

Professors ask you on examinations to "discuss the rise and fall of the housefly as briefly as possible." He grades your answer by its length.

Miss Professor is devoted to two-hour lectures on grooming, delivered with her slip showing.

Professors are smart, brilliant and most of them have lots of brain-power, but—they deliver A's to the brightest smiles, but—how would you make any if they didn't?

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Hearing rumors via the grapevine (Tri-Delt house) that K-State's summer night life now centers around that den of iniquity known among the hot polo as Slims, your roving reporters decided to drop in at said night spot and record its activities for posterity and Dean (My girls are well-behaved) Moore.

Entering by way of the back door, in time to duck a misdirected beer bottle, we were invited by a couple of characters named Clark and Cornish, who claim to have some connection with the College, to join them in their permanent pew for a little polite elbow-bending. After pledging the "Drown Your Sorrow Club" (limited to men who have just been jilted, stood up, or plain without a woman for the evening), we observed the Pl Phis and other assorted females holding open-house at the corner table. At H-Hour plus 1, Bill (Three drinks is my limit) Schultz and Shorty Linn established a beachhead at the table with the aid of numerous full bottles and a well-worn line. After the usual debate and arm twisting, Atzenweiller, Schultz, Gillan, Linn, and another unidentified couple left for greener pastures with Gillan protesting she looked a frightful mess. (No one disagreed with her) Last reported they were seen having a tete-a-tete at Club 40.

We were listening to Mary the barmaid inviting the boys over for fried chicken after closing hours, and watching Pat Beck and escort plaster labels on the ceiling, when Gene Spratt decided to go skating, fell flat on his face and crawled out to the traffic hazard he wishfully calls a car. Niebarger, Snair, and Kloeffer were peddling vitamin pills in lieu of potato chips when Jo suddenly remembered something about a bus or something that she was supposed to meet sometime, somewhere, and the trio wandered out leaving the stage once again in command of the situation.

Acting on a hot tip that there were lonesome popties at the Tea Room we went out to look things over but the only living present were a couple of well fed helpers grazing on the premises so after chasing the waitresses three times around the table we staggered home.

Senor's Line Is Smoother Says Senorita Valiente

By Spratt & Nesmith

A new face and figure has appeared on the K-State campus. The Collegian, in the spirit of true scientific research, determined to look into the matter and report the facts as given.

The name, gentlemen, is Awilda Rose Valiente (Ah-weel-dah Va-lee-en-tay) and she hails from Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. Vital statistics—she's 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, is 19 years old, speaks with an intriguing accent and has beautiful, dark, flashing eyes. Pardon us! You've probably already noticed.

Here is what you've probably been wondering. Yes, we asked her what she thought of American men. The senorita says American men are nice and likes them very much, but there's a catch. She thinks Latin senor has a smoother line.

If you would rate young man, you had better start polishing up on your rumba, conga, and particularly the bolero, Awilda's favorite dance. In all fairness we should mention that Awilda's mother lives with her and in Puerto Rico no nice girl goes dancing unchaperoned.

Awilda confesses that at first the styles of American women were somewhat disconcerting, especially that campus stand-by, the "Sloppy Joe" sweater. She added hastily though, that she meant no offense to the tastes of the American coed, and after two years at Paola Junior College she had adopted the same styles of dress. Awilda thinks the American women are far more independent and enjoy greater freedom than her South American cousins. The Latin, it seems, still believes firmly in the theory that "woman's place is in the home."

When asked about the Crosby versus Sinatra question, Miss Valiente said she very definitely preferred the crooning of Bing.

Someone always asks this one. "What's her telephone number?" Well, there is no telephone, but after getting a five minute head start we'll shout back that the address is 922 N. Manhattan.

Magazines Buy Students' Articles

An article by George Fisher, senior in Specialized horticulture, was published in the June issue of Sports Afield, national sports magazine.

The article "Your Post War Log Cabin" explains how to construct for $2000 a log cabin that can be used all year. He also made a booklet including the floor plans. Mr. Fisher, a veteran, is a consultant forester.

Eugene Spratt, junior in agriculture, has sold two articles which await publication. One is about the Hessian Fly, which he sold to the Successful Farming, and the other article was bought by the Poultry Journal.

The articles were projects in Mrs. Jane Koefod's class, news and magazine writing.

Capt. F. C. McDonald, G. S., '38 has been reassigned as a transport officer and is in charge of men en route to the war zone and returning troops from the European War. For the past two and a half years Captain McDonald has been serving with the Infantry in the Southwest Pacific. He received his masters degree in entomology at Kansas State.

Pvt. Earl Elliot, who attended Kansas State College in 1944, was a visitor on the campus last week. He is en route from Chanute Field, Ill., to the McCook Army Air Base. While attending Kansas State Private Elliot was active in basketball and football and was enrolled in mechanical engineering.

Staff Sgt. John T. Kennedy has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic service in connection with military operations against the enemy near Cobbel, Germany. When his battery was subjected to intense enemy artillery fire, Sergeant Kennedy, realizing the importance of obtaining an accurate shell report, left the security of his foxhole and coolly remained in the open until he had secured the necessary data, reporting his findings to higher headquarters before the enemy shelling had ceased. Kennedy attended Kansas State in 1941 and was a student in agriculture administration.

Two former Kansas State students, Lt. H. W. Wichers and Pfc. Richard Medlin, met recently in Calcutta, India. Lt. Wichers is a photo intelligence officer with the 40th Reconnaissance Squadron. Private Medlin is a radar mechanic and weatherman. They are both stationed in Calcutta. Medlin is the son of C. J. Medlin, graduate manager of student publications at the College and Wichers is the husband of Mrs. Jean Wichers, a student here.

Capt. B. L. Hostinsky is an operations section chief, stationed with the 12th Air Force in Italy. He has been in the army three years, and has been overseas 24 months. He flew tactical support for the Allied ground forces in the battles of North Africa, Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica, the Balkans, Southern France, and Italy. Captain Hostinsky graduated from Kansas State with a degree in music.

Tech. Sgt. James Paustian, '41, has been transferred from Camp Howie, Texas, to Ft. Meade, Md. He has spent four years in the Army and was stationed in Hawaii for 16 months.

S/Sgt. Roger C. Medlin, f. s., has arrived home for a 30-day recuperation furlough after completing 48 flying missions. He is a member of the 12th Air Force. He wears the European and Asiatic campaign ribbons and the Unit Presidential Citation for work in the Burma area carrying supplies to General Stilwell.

Haylett Heads NAAU Track

Ward Haylett of Kansas State, internationally famous track figure, will leave Friday for New York City to take charge of the mens track and field meet for the National Amateur Athletic Union.

Coach Haylett plans to be in New York about a week. He will stop in Kansas City Friday for a short meeting in connection with the track and field meet and then he plans to continue on to New York in time to make preparations for the meet.

The N. A. A. U. meet is scheduled to be held June 29-30. The junior division will be run off on the 29th and the senior division, the second day. The meet will be held at Randall's Island Stadium.

On July 1 Coach Haylett will attend a meeting of the Executive and Foreign Relations Committee at the New York Athletic Club, representing the N. A. A. U.

As soon as the business of the meet is finished, Coach Haylett plans to return to Manhattan to resume his duties as head football and track coach.

Former Coach Only Stubbed His Toe

Expected tragic news turned out to be on the humorous side for John Cordts, president of Manhattan's Union National Bank.

Hearing that Lt. Jack Gardner, former Kansas State basketball coach now on leave from the College at the Naval Air Base at San Diego, Calif. had been critically injured in an automobile accident, Mr. Cordts wrote to Gus Holmes, Gardner's roommate, for details. Holmes, former Washburn coach, wired back the following reply.

"Gardner stubbed toe on gang-plank Coronado ferry. Heart fluttering but still eats, sleeps, crawls, is mentally questionable. Don't close out account, body still warm. Letter follows. Gus Holmes."

Cancel ISA Show Friday For Eisenhower Broadcast

KSAC will go off the air Friday for the Eisenhower broadcast. The ISA broadcast regularly scheduled for 12:30 p. m. will be canceled.

ISA programs next week will be about Great Britain. Music of Great Britain will be heard at 1:05 p. m. on Wednesday. The discussion of England will be heard at 12:30 p. m. on Friday.

Jim Miller Home After Months In Prison Camp

"I feel I owe my life to the Red Cross," said Tech. Sgt. Jim Miller, former Collegian editor who is visiting in Manhattan after two months in a German prison camp.

Prisoners were sometimes fed as little as one-twelfth of a loaf of bread a day, the average daily diet including one-seventh loaf with a little soup and coffee for breakfast. It was the Red Cross food packages that saved Miller's life and the lives of other prisoners, he believes.

Miller arrived Sunday to spend a 60-day furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Miller. He wears two battle participation stars for service as a platoon sergeant with the 87th Infantry division of Patton's Third Army and the combat infantry badge.

Miller had been overseas eight months when he was liberated on V-E day. He was captured by the Nazis in the battle of the Belgian Bulge and was reported missing in action February 6. In a letter written eight days later he told his parents he was a prisoner. Miller was held in several camps during his imprisonment.

Lt. Max Weeks, who graduated from Kansas State with Miller in the class of 1943, was also a prisoner in one of those German prison camps. Lieutenant Weeks is on leave at his home in Topeka. Another 1943 graduate, Lt. Bob Anderson, came to New York on the ship with Miller, after a period of internment. He plans to visit in Manhattan this weekend.

Sergeant Miller will report at Ft. Sam Houston for reassignment after his 60-day leave here. While at Kansas State he was a member of Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, and Scabbard and Blade, honorary military organization. He was editor of The Collegian during the summer of 1943.

Stadium To Be Battlefield For Infantry Show

Memorial Stadium will be the setting of the Army Ground Forces free show, "Here's Your Infantry" at 8:30 p. m. Monday. The demonstration will be the climax of the local 7th War Loan Drive.

Through the effectiveness of suggestion, the field becomes an area in the Pacific. The audience in transported to the battle front by the sight of the infantrymen tangling with the enemy. Blank cartridges, tracers, dynamite charges, and smoke grenades add to the conception of battle. All the maneuvers and weapons used in actual combat will be used by 82 veterans to show spectators how to "take" a Jap pillbox.

The appeal of this demonstration is so dramatic that war veterans are amazed at its effectiveness. For the first time, Americans can see what the troops, who take and hold the ground, have to do.

Eisenhower, Throckmorton, Lashbrook Decline Army Posts

President Milton S. Eisenhower, R. I. Throckmorton, head of the Department of Agronomy, and Ralph Lashbrook, head of the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing at the College, have recently been invited to go to Europe to aid in the task of reconstruction and to assist in the Army's education program. Due to the pressure of duties at the College each of the three had to decline.

Dr. Martha Kramer, of the department of Food and Nutrition, left Monday on vacation. She will spend her vacation at her cottage near Twin Lakes, Colo.

United Organization Is Film Subject

The film, "Watchtower Over Tomorrow," will be shown at 12:25 p. m. Wednesday in W115. The film deals almost exclusively with the United Nations plan as outlined at Dumbarton Oaks.

It will help to explain how the four main bodies of the proposed United Organization will function. The background for the film is based on fictitious characters and a hypothetical United Nations Center. It presents a simplified view of the working of an international organization.

Another film, "The People of Russia," will be presented following the "Watchtower Over Tomorrow."

The average passenger trip by airplane in 1943 was 537 miles, according to the Air Transport Association, while the average trip by rail was less than fifty miles in length.

On the left sleeve of the uniform worn by passenger conductors, brakemen and flagmen are the insignia indicating length of service; a star for twenty-five years, a bar for each five years.

The proud possessors of "stars and bars" help to form the solid foundation of a railroad's personnel. Because of their intimate knowledge of operating rules, equipment and facilities...the many situations and problems they have met and solved...they are of tremendous assistance to younger men.

Among the 65,000 Union Pacific employees there are approximately 7,000 "old timers"—representing all departments—with twenty or more years of service. These experienced employees have, in a large measure, been responsible for the enviable record maintained by Union Pacific in the face of wartime conditions.

The transportation of many thousand trainloads of troops and materials over the Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the West Coast, calls for the wisdom and cool judgment of maturity coupled with the ambition and tireless energy of younger employees.

Union Pacific is proud of all its employees, regardless of length of service, for the job they are doing to help speed the hour of victory.

SOCIETY

After another gay week—well, a week anyway—here's the latest society events.

Dottie Parsons, f. s., has told her Delta Delta Delta sorority sisters of her marriage to Lt. Allen Kelly of the Army Air Corps. The wedding took place June 1 at the post chapel at Great Bend, Kan.

Another wedding was that of Emogene Martin, Chi Omega, to Dr. Raymond Walker, AGR, '45 on June 17 at the First Presbyterian Church in Dodge City.

Aloha Cottage received chocolates last week announcing the engagement of DeLores Schwarz and Cpl. Dan Moscone. Cpl. Moscone is stationed at Pratt, Kan.

Chi Omegas in town this summer entertained their mothers and mothers of Chi Omega alumna in town last Thursday with a picnic at the B. H. Ulrich farm north of Manhattan.

Mrs. Tena Griswold was appointed to be in charge of organizing a mothers club next fall.

Dance Tomorrow Is Second In Summer Series

A dance tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in Recreation Center will be the second in a series of parties planned for summer school students. Dr. A. A. Holtz, YMCA secretary, is in charge of the dance.

There will be a third dance July 6 and the summer series will be climaxed by a farewell party July 22.

Workshop for School Lunchroom Managers Ends

The two-week School Lunchroom Management Workshop, held here under the direction of Mrs. Bessie Brooks West, Head of the Department of Institutional Management, will end tomorrow.

The four women who attended the workshop participated in several activities including work in the quantitative cookery laboratory. They planned, menus, studied buying and equipment, and made plans and charts in a job analysis.

Special diet studies were directed by Miss Ella Jane Meiller, of the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition. This is the first year such a workshop has been held at Kansas State. Mrs. West expressed the hope that it will be made an annual affair.

Consumer Buying Class On Field Trip to Kansas City

Miss Myrtle Gunselman's class in consumer buying will leave Monday morning for a two-day field trip to Kansas City. The trip will give the students a picture of retailing of different types of goods from the time it comes to the city until it reaches the consumer by the different ways of retailing management.

Kansas City Power and Light Company, The Consumer's Co-operative, Kansas City Board of Trade, E. T. Keith Furniture Store and T. M. James and Son China Company will be among the firms visited.

Kenney Ford to Texas, California Alumni Meetings

Kenney Ford, alumni secretary, left Tuesday for Amarillo, Texas to attend a Kansas State alumni meeting there June 20.

He plans to go on to Los Angeles, Calif., for a meeting on the 30. It will be held in Pasadena. Short speeches by four very well known southland leaders, all Kansas State College graduates, will reveal what is planned in their fields for the post-war period.

During his stay in California, Mr. Ford plans to visit with several alumni in San Francisco.

Smith and Dean Inspect In Northwestern Kansas

Dr. R. C. Smith and Dr. G. A. Dean of the department of entomology at Kansas State College left Tuesday to do some Entomological Commission work in northcentral Kansas.

They will inspect various nursery's stock for insect pests and plant diseases. They will also visit the G. W. Caldwell ranch at Smith Center to see the D. D. T. treatment that is being used for cattle.

Vernon Daniel Is "Tiny" Foltz's Forgotten Name

By Ralph Nesmith

Almost before the first of this series of articles had been in print someone asked, "Why don't you do a sketch of 'Tiny' Foltz?" I asked a number of veterinarians pertinent questions, and the unanimous decision seemed to be, "Tiny is a swell Joe."

Directed by a secretary through the heretofore unexplored Veterinary Hall, I came upon Tiny, whose almost forgotten name is Vernon Daniel. He was giving instructions to his assistants about putting glucose in a blue liquid.

My first impression was of deep set eyes, heavy eyebrows, a blur of a mustache, and an easy smile. The mustache, I learned later, was the result of a bet in 1927 with Dr. E. E. Leasure, and Dr. C. A. Brandly. The first one to shave his upper lip was to buy the other two $10 hats. All three still retain their mustaches.

After I'd introduced myself, Tiny ushered me into an office filled with a maze of bottles, test tubes, and other paraphernalia peculiar to the profession, apologizing for its appearance.

It was then I discovered the intense curiosity which characterizes Mr. Foltz. For the first time your reporter was interviewed. After satisfying himself that I apparently was a normal person with good intentions, Tiny leaned back and told me to "fire away."

If the facts which followed are unexciting, then so are the stories of most small town Kansas men who go to college, meet their wives there, stay on to raise a family, and help to mold the minds of the next generation. The facts seem to add up to this. Tiny Foltz is indeed one of those easy going people who simply do the best job they are capable of and in doing so endear themselves to everyone around them.

Tiny received his bachelor's degree from Kansas State in 1927 and received Gamma Sigma Delta and Sigma Xi honors while doing so. Staying on with the help of a fellowship he received his M. S. in 1929. As he put it, he has been on the State's payroll ever since, dividing his time between teaching veterinary and medical technician students and in research for the Agricultural Experiment Station. He has also been a commissioner of the State Board of Health for many years.

Professor Foltz listed gardening and fishing among his favorite recreations saying that he would devote all of his time to the latter if left with no responsibilities.

Asked about the nickname Tiny, Mr. Foltz accredited it to a pint-sized roommate who rechristened him as a freshman at K-State.

The veterinary students say Tiny's method of teaching bacteriology makes it more than a series of lectures and awakens a real interest in the subject. The lectures, interspersed with witticisms, forestall any desire for sleeping and outside of the classroom the student finds an interesting companion, eager as an undergraduate to participate in a "bull-session."

Tiny tells this one on himself. While walking along the streets of his home town, Belle Plaine, he noticed a small boy staring intently at him. He stopped and asked, "Young man, do you know me?" "Oh yes," the lad replied, "You're the new preacher."

John Law, one of the greatest gamblers of all time, invented the poker chip.

Appoint First New Teacher Of Comprehensive

President Milton S. Eisenhower, today announced the appointment of Cecil H. Miller as associate professor of philosophy in the Department of History and Government. The President indicated this was the first of several appointments of staff members who will help in the teaching of the new comprehensive course in the humanities which will be offered for the first time this fall.

Mr. Miller, who has been with the Department of Philosophy at the University of Missouri for the past six years, will lecture in the comprehensive course on the humanities and offer a course in elementary logic and one in the philosophy of science for the fall semester.

Present staff members who will lecture in the humanities group are: Charles Matthews, literature; Charles Stratton, music; Rosamond Kedzie, arts and crafts; and F. L. Parrish, history. It is tentatively planned that John Helm, Jr., and Mrs. Jen Deyoe of the Department of Architecture will lecture on architecture, sculpture and painting. Matthews, Stratton, Miller, Parrish and Miss Kedzie also will have recitation sections in the humanities. Miss Helen Elcock and H. W. Davis, both of the Department of English, may be assigned recitation sections.

"Comprehensive courses at Kansas State are part of a new college-wide program designed to assure sound training for citizenship and life in general while keeping to a high standard of scientific and professional training," President Eisenhower declared.

He pointed out that although the changes affect every curriculum in every school in the College and are more sweeping than any in its modern history, they do not involve entry into new fields of study.

Basic to the new program are four new eight-hour comprehensive or integrating courses in each of the four great areas of knowledge: the physical sciences, biological sciences, social sciences and the humanities.

Grant Emeritus Status To Six Faculty Members

Six faculty members who have served for 30 or more years on the Kansas State College staff have been granted emeritus status, according to President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Holding the longest record of service of the group is B. L. Remick, who has been with the College for 45 years and now becomes professor emeritus of mathematics. Professor Remick was head of the mathematics department from 1900 to 1937.

Prof. George A. Dean, who began his work at Kansas State in 1902, and served as head of the entomology department from 1913 until 1943, becomes professor emeritus of entomology.

C. O. Swanson, internationally known as a cereal chemist, has been with the College since 1906 and headed the Department of Milling Industry from 1923 to 1939. He becomes professor emeritus of milling industry.

Two men who came to Kansas State in 1910 and who have been granted emeritus status are Dr. E. C. Miller and Dr. E. L. Holton. Dr. Miller becomes professor emeritus of plant physiology and Dr. Holton dean emeritus of the Summer School.

Dr. James E. Ackert, dean of the Graduate School since 1939, was given the title of dean emeritus of the Graduate School. He joined the College staff in 1913.

G. R. Pauling, maintenance superintendent since 1913, will retire from that position and will be succeeded by R. F. Gingrich, who has been assistant maintenance superintendent. Mr. Pauling will continue part time in the department.

Roderick to Committee

The Kansas Livestock Sanitation Committee of Kansas has asked Dr. L. M. Roderick of the Veterinary School at Kansas State to help in formulating new regulations for the control of Bang's abortion disease of cattle in Kansas. The committee will meet in Topeka all during this week.

16-Year-Old Sophomore Cops 2.9 Average

A K-Stater observed a birthday yesterday. Not unusual—except that it was Bonnie Volesky's 16th birthday. A sophomore at 16, Bonnie has succeeded in holding a job and making a grade average of 2.9.

She came to Kansas State last fall. One official observed that he believed she was the youngest person ever to enroll here. She is a student in industrial chemistry and last year was employed 22 hours a week by the Department of Psychology.

Bonnie's academic career is represented by a long line of achievements. She began her school career at 5, and at the age of 9 was graduated from grade school with approximately a 98 average. Her comment on doing her last three years work in one year was "I'd read all the books the summer before, and the teacher thought I would just be wasting my time".

She entered Marysville High School the next year. With the class of '43 Bonnie, then 13 years of age, was graduated with honors. She then entered Brown Mackie Business College in Salina for a six-month course. Upon completion she worked for six months. Then, at 15, Bonnie came to Kansas State.

Tall, with brown hair and eyes, Bonnie has lived most of her life on a farm near Oketo, Kansas. Her first interests in her school work are mathematics and chemistry. Although she is carrying 8 hours of class work this summer, and is employed from 10 to 20 hours weekly, Bonnie still finds time for two other favorites—playing the piano and dancing.

Dr. E. C. Miller Resigns K. S. C. Professorship

Changes in the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology at Kansas State made necessary by the retirement of Prof. E. C. Miller have been announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower. Professor Miller will become professor emeritus September 1. His work will be assumed by Dr. J. C. Frazier, who has been promoted to associate professor. Dr. Stuart M. Pady is being employed to succeed Dr. Frazier.

Dr. Miller has been with the College since 1910 when he joined the staff as an assistant in botany. Here he entered upon a distinguished career as a teacher, investigator and author. His reputation as a plant physiologist is world-wide and his textbook is more widely used than any other book in that field. Dr. Miller has made a lifelong study of the life of Abraham Lincoln, has written a book on Lincoln and has spoken to many school, club and civic groups about Lincoln's life.

When September comes, Dr. Miller will close his text books and go back to his home in Baltimore, Ohio, to the farm where he was born in 1878. Dr. Miller recently was honored by his children when they established an E. C. Miller unit to the alumni student loan fund.

Field House Plans Near Completion

A committee from Kansas State College consulted the state architect in Topeka recently about the plans for the College's new $750,000 gymnasium and field house. Prof. Paul Weigel of the department of architecture, Prof. M. F. Ahearn and Prof. L. P. Washburn of the athletics department, and George Pauling, maintenance superintendent, represented the College.

Boring to determine subsoil conditions at the proposed site will begin soon. If the tests are satisfactory the plans will be virtually completed.

Actual building operations will have to be postponed until materials needed for construction are released and the present labor shortage eased.

Weber Speaks

A. D. Weber, professor and head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at the College, will speak to the Kansas City Farmers Club today. On July 7 Dr. Weber will be in Winfield to attend a cattlemen's meeting.

25 Teachers Get Promotions

Promotions in academic rank for 25 faculty members, effective July 1, were announced this week by President Milton S. Eisenhower. Three new people will be added to the staff.

Those promoted from associate professor to professor: George H. Wise, dairy husbandry; Reed F. Morse, civil engineering; M. C. Mogie, education; M. J. Harbaugh, zoology; J. Harold Johnson and John M. Ferguson, both of extension.

Donald J. Ameal, assistant professor of zoology, was advanced to professor and was made acting head of the Department of Zoology.

Assistant professor to associate professor: A. E. Hostetter, shop practice; J. C. Frazier, botany and plant pathology; Nellie Aberle, English; R. C. Lind and E. R. Halbrook, both of extension.

Instructors to assistant professors: Joseph C. Diding, architecture; William H. Honstead, chemical engineering; M. L. McDowell, chemistry; Hazel Howe and Doris Lois Gilmore, both clothing and textiles; Jane Wilson Barnes, household economics; Jean Dunnigan, institutional management; Harold Shankland, A. G. Pickett, Earl Means and Elmer H. Smith, all of extension.

Promotions from assistants to instructors include: J. A. Johnson and E. C. Swanson, both milling industry.

New staff members announced by the president include Jacob E. Mosier, instructor in the School of Veterinary Medicine. Miss Abby Marlatt will be a new associate professor in the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition. Miss June Kniskern will be a part-time graduate assistant in that department.

Ballad Singer Gets Ovation

Traditional American and English ballads were featured by Earle Spicer, baritone, in the assembly Tuesday morning. Mr. Spicer also entertained the audience with stories and histories of the ballads.

The first group of songs which he sang were English ballads. Included in this group were "The Cornish Dance," arranged by Ross; "Lord Randel," arranged by Cyril Scott; "The Bashful Lover," arranged by Johnston; "Barbara Allen," arranged by Roger Quilter; and "Up from Somerset," arranged by Sanderson.

Before singing the American ballads, Mr. Spicer conducted a Shakespeare Quiz, which gave the audience an opportunity to participate in the program.

The American ballads were from different sections of the United States. He sang "The Little Mawhee," arranged by Bartholomew and "The Tune the Old Cow Died On," arranged by Helen Norfleet. Mr. Spicer concluded the program by playing and singing "The Warrant Deed." Accompanying him on his other numbers was Charles Stratton, associate professor of music.

Army Show Ends 7th Bond Drive

A far grimmer struggle was enacted in the stadium Monday night than has ever been enacted during a football game, when the army's "Here's Your Infantry Show" was witnessed by approximately 4,500 people. This show, emphasizing the use to which war bonds are put, is one of the events ending the 7th War Loan Drive.

The searing fire of flame throwers, the staccato rattle of machine guns, and the "whump" of high explosives brought the tempo of war home to civilians. The men participating in the show said that it was as realistic a picture of fighting as one can see away from the actual battlefield.

The 38 GI's who participated in the show have had battle experience in some theater. For many it is the last tour of duty before being discharged.

Sgt. Nathan Jones, the announcer of the infantry show, was formerly an announcer for a Hutchinson radio station. His home town is Salina.

Infantry Show Brings K-Stater Back To College

War brought Staff Sgt. John Greene, former Kansas State engineering student, back to the scene of his college days in the garb of an infantryman.

Sergeant Greene was one of the infantrymen who appeared in the 7th War Loan show, "Here's Your Infantry" in Memorial Stadium Monday night.

Winner of the Silver Star, Bronze Star, European Theater Ribbon and the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon, Sergeant Greene is now a grave, retiring, man, sobered by the hardships of a German prison camp.

Landing with troops in the North African campaign, he fought his way through it and went on to participate in the invasion of Italy. Captured 21 days after landing, Sergeant Greene was interned in a German prison camp. For the next year he existed on the following diet which never varied from day to day and month to month. Breakfast was one-third cup of parched barley and oats coffee, dinner 100 grams of bread, about the size of a roll; and for supper the "big meal," three-fourths quart of watery rice. He said the only thing which kept many of them alive was the Red Cross packages of food.

Sneaking through German lines in September, 1943, it took Greene until June, 1944, to get back to American armies. Where or how he did it is still a secret for fear of possible reprisals upon the people who aided him.

Sergeant Greene is a quiet man, unaffected by his decorations or the plaudits of people who see him. His one ambition is to get back to work as a civilian and establish a home for his bride of 10 days.

Student Tribute To General Ike Eisenhower

Students Present Flowers And Letter To Leader

Last week the students of Kansas State College added their tribute to the honors heaped by the world on General Dwight D. Eisenhower, brother of President Milton Eisenhower. Representatives of the student body gave Mrs. Eisenhower a huge basket of flowers when their special train made an 8-minute stop in Manhattan, Thursday, and many students were on hand to cheer the General.

The College had a special reason for their tribute as indicated in the postscript on the letter which was included with the gift of flowers. "General Eisenhower," it said, "we think your younger brother is a great guy too. For our money he's the best college president in the United States."

Students' Letter

The students' letter to the General and Mrs. Eisenhower, signed by Stanley Stuart, commander of the Associated Veterans of World War II and Ruth Hodgson, Secretary of the Student Council, read:

"We students of Kansas State College are proud to welcome you to our college community. We consider it a privilege to call you fellow Kansans, and we are thrilled by the demonstrations of admiration and respect by the peoples of Allied Nations throughout the world.

"We would like to have you visit Kansas State College as soon as you can, as often as you can, and stay as long as possible."

A huge crowd of townspeople and students estimated at more than 5,000 gathered at the Union Pacific station to catch a glimpse of the man who led the Allies to victory in Europe.

Friendly General

They heard him say "The last time I was in Manhattan, I sneaked in and sneaked out, but this time I want to see all of you." He was referring to a secret visit here last year with President Eisenhower and his family. The General good-naturedly shook hands with several children and signed autographs. As he gave one small boy his signature, Ike said, "And what are you going to do about getting a good football team here?"

The General won the hearts of Manhattanites with his genuine humor and kindness, as he has done in many of the capitals of the world. Upon a request from the crowd he pointed out the medals awarded him by the Russian and English governments, among the many he wore on his summer uniform.

When Stanley Stuart hoisted the huge basket of flowers to the train platform the General said "Oh, my gosh," and gave a helping hand. Kathleen Petterson, Royal Purple queen and Patt Fairman, prominent Kansas State student, accompanied Stuart and carried two bouquets of roses for Mrs. Eisenhower and the General's mother, which were presented by Mayor Ross Busenbark. The Mayor also presented an orchid for the General's mother, although she did not appear on the platform.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower appeared on the platform with General and Mrs. Eisenhower, along with several other relatives. The Manhattan Eisenhower family seemed to thoroughly enjoy the General's brief visit with their fellow townspeople.

The General's special 11-car train went from here to Abilene for the home town celebration welcoming Abilene's greatest hero home. President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their two children and Lloyd Eisenhower, a nephew of the General who is a student at Kansas State attended the celebration and family reunion in Abilene.

Comprehensive Courses Give Students Broadened Education In College

C. E. Miller, a man of many years experience in teaching philosophy, has been appointed to teach part of the comprehensive course "Man and the Cultural World."

The appointment was but one of the steps in the new program of comprehensive courses explained by President Eisenhower as courses—"not within the student's field of specialization—but as a broadening supplement to each technical field—taught to give an understanding of a whole field of knowledge."

President Eisenhower and 100 faculty members of committees and sub-committees began a study of comprehensives in December, 1943. Last January, after more than a year of study and planning, the program which will go into effect this fall was announced.

We have studied the reports and plans for the comprehensive courses in the four great fields of knowledge—social sciences, biological sciences, physical sciences and the humanities. From the students point of view, we believe the courses will do the job they are designed to do, and that they have the sanction of the majority of students. But, at the same time, we endorse the provision already made that they be subject to revision as practice brings their faults to light.

Students have too long been confused by scattered and related courses giving them small bites into broad highly technical fields. One course in geology, a course designed primarily for majors in that field, can give the student only a vague smattering of the subject, leaving it unrelated to common usage.

President Eisenhower defines the purposes of the comprehensives as follows:

1. To provide sound technical or professional education.
2. To help each student obtain a working understanding of each of the great fields of knowledge.
3. The fostering of cool, clear, discriminating judgment.
4. To give the student an understanding, deep and abiding faith in democracy and a willingness to work for democracy.

The President further explains, "We are in danger of losing democracy because not enough minds have been trained to reason broadly, freely and accurately in all the complex fields that concern a modern democracy. We must therefore give as much attention to the development of judgment as we do to the mastering of a given field of subject matter. You cannot expect humans to develop judgment automatically, any more than you can learn to play bridge without playing. In curricular and extra-curricular activities, we should encourage at least a broad understanding of all the basic fields of human knowledge, give genuine practice in arriving at sound conclusions on a multitude of important problems, and encourage constant participation in democratic procedures."

In order to get full benefit from the new courses, the student must be informed of their aims. Although most schools of the College have included at least one comprehensive course in their curriculums, the student will, in some cases, make a choice between a comprehensive and regular course in a field unrelated to his major field of study. He needs to have a knowledge of what they include. A series of articles in the Collegian will seek to explain the new over-all program and the four comprehensives to students.

Infantrymen Urge War Bond Purchases

Veteran Combat infantrymen gave a spectacular demonstration of war as "Private Somebody" sees it from the ground Monday night in Memorial Stadium on behalf of the 7th War Loan drive.

A masterpiece of showmanship, the simulated capture of a Jap pillbox, was the most realistic war demonstration we have seen. The audience felt in part the tension and suspense the soldier feels as he crawls through the jungles of a South Pacific island, never knowing when death may strike.

The huge audience, with a generous proportion of students, was asked to share the infantrymen's experience, and was constantly reminded of the dollar cost of supporting even a small section of the United States Army.

It was a spectacular free show which townspeople and students enjoyed. It was a new and different place to take your date, but it was also an appeal to buy War Bonds.

The Riley County sales have already passed the total quota, but the E bond sales are short of the quota by about $242,831, according to John Cordts, county chairman. E bonds are those bonds which sell for $18.75 with a maturity value of $25. No special student drive has been made, but students can help in meeting this last quota before the end of the drive June 30. The faculty and employees of Kansas State College have already bought over $150,000 worth of bonds in the 7th War Loan. If it were for a new dress or trip to Kansas City, every student could scrape up $18.75.

During the past two years 900 students have been enrolled in the War Training program at the College. Nine special courses, all of college level, were offered. The courses ranged in length from 8 to 16 weeks.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Good afternoon Mr. and Miss College and all the souls at sea, this is Walter Whoosit, your unidentified gossipist bringing to you the spicier, the sillier, the truly cruddy side of the news. Let's go to press—

HIGHspot of the social drunks last weekend was the Phi Delt-Sig Alph clambake. Milo Johnson was decked out in a suave, long-tailed shirt and the duckiest swimming trunks imaginable. Scarborough decided to stay on after festivities officially closed to brew coffee for the boys. That gal sh' gets around don't she?

Scoop of the Week: The A. G. R.'s pledge a man without a car. Must have been an inheritance.

Speaking of the same fraternity, we notice Van Walleghe pursuing that favorite A. G. R. sport of what's yours, brother, is mine—the mine or thine in this case being Brother Brown's late and lamented Sarah Ulrich.

It is reliably reported here that wedding bells will ring in the near future for Max Sutter and Jerry Smythe. Smythe went home with Max last week to get acquainted with mama.

The Tekes managed to get out of town this weekend for a mild sort of brawl at Wabunsee. Survivors say there is nothing to report except that one Junior Hubbs got rolled for his wad by one of the local belles. Sorenson's Note: Only the Tekes go to Wabunsee.

"Darling I am getting no younger fast" department: Nina just claimed she wanted to get away from it all when seen out with the girls Friday night. Of course after she was stood up and took another 10 p. m. date bid Saturday night we believe her.

Interviewing Phyl Gfeller about the desirability of shavetails for boy-friends, we were informed that they definitely rate, especially when they go home on furlough and leave baby with the car.

Weekly quote: Sorenson—"Jill and I are only friends. When I have no one to go out with I call her and when she has no one she calls me." What happens when Johnson gets lonesome?

And so until next week at this same time dear friends I remain disrespectfully yours.

Kansas State Instructor Writes for Home Ec Magazine

Mrs. Jean Dunnigan, instructor in institutional management at Kansas State College, has written an article on the school food service courses offered at the College for the magazine, "What's New in Home Economics?". The course, which has been offered at Kansas State for several years, is now a required course in foods for all home economics students who plan to teach giving them training in managing school lunchrooms.

"For meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy during the period of July 28, 1944, to January 30, 1945, in France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany."

Cpl. Robert E. Stewart, f. s., was graduated as a radar mechanic, specializing in navigation, from an advanced communication course May 26 at Boca Raton Army Air Field.

Lt. Hale A. Dodge, f. s., was recently awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while participating in medium bombardment missions. As a bomber pilot, he has completed 45 missions over enemy-held territory in Burma.

First Lt. Maynard L. Abrahams, veteran combat navigator in the European theater, has been sent to Ellington Field, Texas, where he is attending a school in advanced navigational techniques. He received his commission in the Infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga. After transferring to the Air Force, he became a navigation student officer and was awarded his wings at the advanced navigation school, San Marcos, Texas. He spent nine months in the European theater and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak-leaf Clusters and the Theater ribbon with two Battle Stars.

From base headquarters in Italy comes word that Maj. Martin O. Pattison, '38, was recently awarded the Silver Star Medal for gallantry in action while serving with the 473rd Infantry Regiment. This unit was attached to the 92nd Division and saw action on the Ligurian coast during April. Major Pattison was a civil engineer prior to entering military service in March, 1941. He has been overseas since April, 1943, and wears the American Defense Ribbon and the Mediterranean Theater Ribbon with four service stars.

Beverly David Stagg, Ag. '40, is a radar operator aboard one of the nation's newest destroyers. Prior to his entrance into the armed forces, he was employed as a county agent by the Kansas Extension Service.

Lt. John R. Moore, Jr., B. A. '41, has completed his third action-packed year of amphibious warfare. He enlisted in the Navy shortly before Pearl Harbor and has seen action on the African beaches and in the Southwest Pacific.

Lt. George H. Bain, '38, is now attached to the Naval Training Center, Miami, Fla. Before his entry into the Navy he taught chemistry at Moberly Junior College, Moberly, Mo.

Norton W. Sanders, f. s., was recently promoted to the rank of major, it has been announced by Maj. F. S. Sylvester, his commanding officer. Major Sanders has served in the ATC Base Unit in China since 1944. He is a pilot and operations officer.

No Rest For Coach, Even In Summer

At the close of the spring semester, Head Basketball Coach Fritz Knorr, found himself with no courtsters or gridsters on whom to pour out his wise council.

Coach Knorr isn't, however, leading the life of Reilly that many people think coaches lead in the summer. Besides having physical education classes in basketball, swimming, and gym work, Fritz teaches first aid two nights a week to the Civil Air Patrol students. Coach Knorr also is in charge of the American Legion Baseball team which practices three nights a week and plays a weekly scheduled game.

Dorf Is Modest, But Popular Prof

It's a tough job to interview a man whose modesty prevents him from realizing his own importance, but it speaks well for his character. Carl Dorf is another of the professors at Kansas State who teaches because to him his job is the most satisfying of any career imaginable.

Certainly this spirit must be instilled into his students for Professor Dorf is probably as well-liked as any instructor in the College.

When you can't find out too much about a man from himself you ask his friends. Their opinion is that Mr. Dorf is one of the most "human" individuals they know. The word human is rather intangible but there seems to be another adjective which fits so well. A characteristic which stands him in good stead in the laboratory is that of unending patience.

Professor Dorf was attending Bethany College when the United States entered the first World War. After a period of duty in the Army he returned to Bethany to graduate with a degree in chemistry in 1920.

Following graduation Professor Dorf worked as a chemist for Midwestern Sugar Company and then was a teacher in Kansas and Wyoming high schools. Returning to Kansas he received his M. S. from Kansas State in 1932. Later work on a Ph. D. was interrupted when fire destroyed the old chemistry building and his thesis materials. He has begun that work again.

Mr. Dorf's favorite recreations are golf, bridge, and woodworking. In bridge he plays a cautious hand, winning his share of prizes. If you attend the city band concerts this summer you'll see him playing the cornet.

The two persons most important to Professor Dorf are his daughters, Charlotte and Dorraine, students at Kansas State.

Probably this sketch doesn't do justice to a man so well-liked and pleasant to be around. The best way to appreciate such a person is to know him intimately and in that way realize his true worth.

Retain Dean, Department Heads Another Year

One dean and four department heads who have reached the age of 65 at which time they normally would be relieved of administrative duties, will continue to hold their positions another year at Kansas State.

President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced that Dean R. R. Dykstra of the School of Veterinary Medicine; E. L. Holton of the Department of Education; M. F. "Mike" Ahearn, head of the Department of Physical Education and director of athletics; L. E. Conrad, head of the Department of Civil Engineering; and W. W. Carlson, head of the Department of Shop Practice, are to continue in their present posts for another year.

All five men have been prominently identified with the growth and progress of the College for more than 30 years and are known to thousands of Kansas State College alumni throughout the world.

Dr. Dykstra, a graduate of Iowa State College in 1905, joined the Kansas State staff in 1911 as a professor of surgery and in 1919 became dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine and veterinarian of the agricultural experiment station.

"Mike" Ahearn came to Kansas State in 1904, following graduation from Massachusetts State, taught horticulture and coached some of the early K-State football and baseball teams, and in 1920 gave up the teaching of landscape gardening to become director of athletics.

Mr. Conrad, who has degrees from Cornell College and Lehigh University, came to Kansas State College in 1908 and a year later became head of the Department of Civil Engineering. He has been civil engineer of the experiment station since 1913.

Mr. Carlson was graduated from Kansas State College in 1908, joined the staff in 1912, and became head of the department five years later. He has been industrial engineer of the experiment station since 1913.

Dr. Holton, head of the Department of Education since 1913, came to the College in 1910 as professor of rural education. From 1917 until 1944 he also was dean of the summer school. He is a graduate of Indiana University and received his doctorate from Columbia.

New Music Dept. Head To Arrive Next Week

Luther Leavengood, new head of the Department of Music, is expected at Kansas State College to begin his duties about July 2. He will succeed Prof. William Lindquist, who has been with the department since 1925 and became head of the department in 1927. Mr. Lindquist will become professor of voice at the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1.

Mr. Leavengood was formerly head of the Department of Music at Arizona State Teachers College, Tempe, Ariz., and has an impressive record of music activities.

The Very Thought of You

SOCIETY

Former K-Staters are making society news with announcement of their marriages and engagements.

First on the list is the marriage of Lynn Schmedemann, fs., to Lt. William Ellinger at the post chapel, Fort Riley, last Saturday. Lynn is a member of Chi Omega.

Robert Hazel Brown of Wamego was married to Marshall A. Brewer of Ulysses. Mrs. Brewer attended Kansas State College and also Emporia State Teachers College. Mr. Brewer attended Fort Hays State College and is now a senior in the University of Kansas School of Medicine. The marriage took place on Friday at the Wamego Presbyterian Church.

Mary Setter of Manhattan has announced her engagement to Lt. Edwin J. Feddill of Worcester, Mass. Mary is a student at Kansas State. Lieutenant Feddill was a senior at Massachusetts State College and is now stationed at the Cavalry Replacement Training Center at Fort Riley.

The marriage of Jean Jessop of Lyndon to S/Sgt. Hobart D. Neill, fs., of Vassar will take place July 15 in Lyndon. Miss Jessop attended Washburn University.

Patt Fairman Heads College Play Cast

In the College play, "The Damask Cheek," to be produced July 13, Patt Fairman as Rhoda Meldrum, a woman on the brink of old-maidhood, comes to America in the last hope of finding a man. Her search and the results combine to make the play a hilarious comedy.

Wendell Kerr, Nina Jean Heberer, and Carolyn Myers play leading supporting roles.

Other players include: Donna Faye McVay from Sterling, a freshman in Home Economics; Helen Childers, a junior in physical education, who has taught for five years in the Cawker City grade school; Lois Alene Cravens, Randolph, who is enrolled in Arts and Sciences, and plans to teach Montclair school near Leonardville, this winter; and Philip Kiser, Manhattan, who has played in the previous production, "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

Craig Bracken, president of K-State Players during 1944-45 and secretary of the National Collegiate Players, is another member of the cast. Other productions at Kansas State in which he has played include "Heaven Can Wait," "The Man Who Came To Dinner," "Incognito," and "Over 21." His home is in Phillipsburg.

KSAC Features England On Friday

Great Britain will be featured on the ISA radio program at 12:30 p. m. Friday.

The material was prepared by a committee consisting of Margaret Parker, Nancy Bramwell and Pat Collister. They represent the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The program will be presented by Margaret Parker, Pat Collister and Lloyd Eisenhower.

Next week the programs will feature the United States. No ISA program will be presented on Wednesday, July 4. The regular discussion program is scheduled for Friday.

Dale of the Canteen Buys Crooke Drug Store

Dale Simons, well-known host at the College Canteen, has recently entered into a partnership with Louis Jorgensen, and purchased the Crooke Rexall Drug Store at Third and Poyntz here.

Dale stated that there would be no change at the Canteen as he will manage it. Mr. Jorgensen will handle the downtown store, which they will occupy on July 1.

When asked if this was a move to avoid losing business when the new Student Union building opened, Dale said that he believed that with the return of normal times the College would have enough students that there would be more business than either place could handle.

Professor Agan Is Chairman Of Housing Groups

Miss Tessie Agan, associate professor of household economics, was elected chairman of the housing division of the American Home Economics Association at a council meeting and workshop at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., recently. Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department and retiring chairman of the art division of the association, also attended the meeting.

They studied housing and visited a public housing project with Carl Bohnen who executed the project in Evanston before the war. Mr. Bohnen was in charge of housing projects in Wichita recently and soon will begin work on 175 houses for paper mill workers in Menoka, Wis.

The new chairman of the art division is Miss Helen Allen, chairman of the art department, University of Wisconsin, and the outgoing chairman of the housing division is Miss Mary Matthews, Purdue University.

Study House Maintenance At Workshop

Repair of household equipment, efficient use of storage and safety in the home, are being emphasized in the two-week House Maintenance Workshop being held on the Kansas State campus. Teachers and home demonstration agents are attending the workshop which ends Saturday.

Miss Tessie Agan, associate professor of household economics, Miss Vera Ellithorpe, college extension, and Elmer Smith, agricultural engineer in extension, are teaching soldering, straightening of aluminum ware, electric wiring, cleaning and repairing of sewing machines, storage, and other arts useful in the home. A class in job methods training teaches the home economists how to improve their own efficiency, while another in job instruction training prepares them to teach others how to save time and effort at work.

Last week Miss Naomi Johnson, clothing specialist in the extension service, taught slip covering of several types of chairs, and Miss Vida Harris of the art department gave pointers on interior decoration.

The workshop is being held this week in the Agricultural Engineering Shops, Margaret Ahlborn Lodge, and various classrooms on the campus.

Dietetics Students Manage Tearoom

Seven senior dietetics majors are managing the College Tearoom this summer under the supervision of Merna B. Miller, tearoom manager. Through this work the women get a complete picture of the operation, organization, and management of a tearoom under the same conditions as a commercial establishment.

Each week the women alternate among jobs, including manager, dining room supervisor, waitress, salad girl, cost accountant, kitchen supervisor, and kitchen assistant. By this plan, each gets a chance to do each job in the operation of a tearoom.

The dietetics majors work from 4 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. week days. They receive three credit hours and their evening meal. "They work hard," said Miss Miller, "but they gain a great deal of experience."

Campus Repairs

A new roof is being put on Education Hall and minor repairs are being made on the inside.

The east side of Anderson Hall is being remodeled, and several other buildings are being repaired and painted.

1,622 Degrees Conferred By Graduate School

An all-time list of graduate students of Kansas State College has recently been compiled by Dean J. E. Ackert and recent secretaries in his office. The list covers the period from 1868 to 1945.

Since 1932, when the College was first authorized to confer doctor's degrees, there have been 17 Ph. D. degrees granted, and 1,605 master's degrees have been conferred since the beginning of the Graduate school, making a total of 1,622 graduate degrees.

Graduate students are working in all fields for which the College was established to offer training and there are also specialized workers. Specialized training has been offered in agriculture, engineering and architecture, home economics, veterinary medicine, arts and sciences, armed forces, and industry. Such positions as deans, professors, directors, and college presidents have also been filled by graduate students.

Dean Ackert has been head of Graduate Study for 22 years and Dean of the Graduate School since its establishment in 1931. Since that time there have been 8,613 graduate students, 1,404 of whom received the master's degree.

Craft Students Teach Soldiers At Junction

Soldiers at the USO in Junction City are given a chance to participate in craftwork every Sunday afternoon by Home Economics and Art students from Kansas State.

The young women, some of whom are interested in occupational therapy, take turns going to Junction City to teach the men how to handle craft tools and to do the work. Usually six or eight soldiers participate.

Most of the projects carried out are in leathercraft or weaving. The students, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Barfoot, head of the art department, leave at 1:30 on Sunday afternoon and stay until 5:30. Barbara Defenbaugh and Joan Godfrey made the trip last Sunday.

Sometimes the pupils reverse the teaching process. One Sunday the girls were visited by a man who had made saddles for nine years. Another time they discovered that a soldier who was interested in card weaving and knotting had worked in a hosiery knitting mill for 18 years.

Paper Goes To War

Waste paper from Kansas State is going to war.

An average of six barrels of waste paper is collected each day on campus. It is taken to a room, which was formerly used as a coal bin, where it is baled. Each bale weighs 110 to 122 pounds.

For the most part these bales of waste paper are turned over to the army, and are used in the manufacture of vital war materials. Shell cases, explosives, and gun wadding are all made from such things as old test papers and crib sheets.

Dr. Knox Millsaps Will Be Speaker At Commencement

Knox Millsaps, who at 23 years of age holds a doctor of philosophy degree from California Institute of Technology, will speak at the summer school commencement assembly at Kansas State College July 24 at 11 a. m.

Approximately 30 students will be granted degrees by President Milton S. Eisenhower. This number is in addition to 227 men and women who already have been granted degrees this year.

Dr. Millsaps is a research mathematician working on a secret government war project. He has quite a background of historical philosophy and symbolic logic. He will speak on "Aristotle."

His education has been wide and varied. A member of an old Southern family, he attended a military academy in the South. He received his B. S. degree in psychology from Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Later he attended the Juillard School of Music, following which he attended California Institute of Technology, from which he received his doctorate in 1944.

Sponsor 25th Annual Authorship Contest

All residents of Kansas are eligible to enter the 25th Annual Authorship contest which began June 1 to continue through November 1, 1945.

A $50 War Bond will be the first prize for the best short story of 3,000 to 5,000 words. Additional prizes will be given for short-short stories not over 1,500 words, for editorials from 300 to 400 words, for poems of no more than 28 lines, and for a juvenile short story of not over 2,500 words.

Contestants may compete in all classifications, one entry in each. Manuscripts should be typed on 8 1/2 x 11 paper, double spaced. Names of the contestants should not appear on the manuscripts. A registration fee of 50 cents is required for each manuscript entered by a non-member of the Kansas Author's Club.

All entries should be sent to Josephine McIntire, contest manager, 128 N. Emporia St., El Dorado. No manuscripts will be returned unless accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

A complete list of prizes and rules has been posted on the bulletin board in Kedzie Hall.

Kansas is divided into 105 counties represented in the state legislature by 125 representatives and 40 senators. The legislature convenes biennially in odd numbered years at Topeka, the state capital.—K. I. D. C.

Platter Chatter

By Spratt

What is more romantic than a soft balmy summer's eve with moonlight and roses and a dance band playing soft music in the background.

In Manhattan the only thing missing is the dance band. However, if some of the new platters are used that are being produced the same effect may be had.

Now that the ban is off recordings the new influx of crispy orchestrated discs should perk up that pre-war portable nad make it jump for joy.

To really start the evening off these starry nights you might place the latest Perry Como platter on the turntable and give the armful an earful of "Temptation" which is an all time ballad favorite. Then to keep in the mood Perry's romantic baritone continues on the reverse side with "I'll Always Be With You."

If you are more the jitter bug type then a must for your session of swing on-the-back porch is Artie Shaw's riff instrumental tune "Little Jazz." The flipover is a solid rendition of the old show tune "September Song."

For the admirer's of "The Horn" his latest record "The More I See of You" is a solid bit of ballad. Upon turning over the platter James gives with a smooth version of "I Wish I Knew."

Whether you like jazz or ballad the coming summer recordings look plenty solid.

Summer Glee Club Plans Appearances

The girls glee club, under the direction of Prof. Edwin Sayre, will appear twice during the remainder of the first eight weeks of summer school. They will sing several numbers at the last assembly and at the farewell party in July.

Members of the ensemble are: First soprano: Joyce Crippen, Mary Budden, Josephine Whitaker, Phyllis Flear, Patricia Collister. Second soprano: Carol Ulenhop, Thelma Sexton, June Tucker, Mary Collister, Phyllis Wheatley. Alto: Ruth Hinkle, Jeann Hummel, Vivian Herr, and Ruth Smith.

C. J. Medlin Overseas With Army Program

C. J. Medlin, assistant professor of journalism and graduate manager of Student Publications at Kansas State, has been appointed by the War Department to aid in the Army Education Program for troops in the European Theater of Operations, according to announcement by the Army Service Forces headquarters in Washington.

Army School

Mr. Medlin has been selected by the War Department to serve on the faculty of one of the University Study

C. J. Medlin

Centers in the Army program and will go overseas as a war correspondent. He will have charge of the journalism laboratory newspaper at a university in Fontainebleau, France, and will teach advertising. He left Monday to join the staff which assembled in New York for the overseas trip and will be overseas about seven months.

The first of the two Army University Centers is scheduled to open the latter part of this month in Shrivensham, England. With an enrollment of about 4,000 the center will offer courses in agriculture, commerce, education, engineering, fine arts, journalism, science and liberal arts. The courses will be patterned on the average American University summer session and will be eight weeks in length.

Collegian Advisor

As graduate manager of student publications, Medlin has been faculty advisor for The Collegian and The Royal Purple for the past 11 years. During that time the year book has won nine All American awards and The Collegian has been awarded several similar honors.

Medlin was graduated from Kansas State in 1920 and took the College position with Student Publications in 1934. He received his master's degree from Kansas State, and in 1943 became assistant professor in the journalism department.

Life Shows "Ike" in Manhattan

Life Magazine of July 2 pictures General Dwight D. Eisenhower being greeted by Kansas State students as he stands on the train platform at the Union Pacific station. The picture was taken just after Pat Fairman and Kathleen Petterson had presented him with a basket of flowers from K-Staters. They are shown among front-row admirers. Behind the general, on the left, is Mrs. Milton Eisenhower. She is mistakenly identified as Mrs. Stack by Life writers.

Play Tickets . . .

Summer school students can secure reserved seats for the summer school play, The Damask Check, by presenting their activity fee receipt stubs at the auditorium box office. If you have lost this receipt, you can secure another from the business office.

The box office will be open daily, beginning July 9, from 3 to 5, and 7 to 9 p. m. Attention was called to the fact that curtain time has been changed from 8:15 to 8:30 for this production.

Professor H. E. Myers Returns To KSC After Visiting Palace Of Ibn Saud

The conclusion of the war in Europe that is bringing many Kansas State students back to this country is also returning some of the professors who used to teach those students.

One of the first and one of the more popular professors in the school of Agriculture returned Monday. He is Professor H. E. Myers in the department of Agronomy.

Professor Myers left K-State in August, 1943, to join the Department of State as agriculture advisor being one of a group of six assigned to the Middle East supply center. This was a joint Anglo-American civilian supply agency for the Middle Eastern countries.

In addition to the six Americans sent on this project there was also a group of British men working on the project. Professor Myers was the last to return of the entire group.

The purpose of the organization was to encourage local production of food crops in the Middle East and to reduce shipping space where ever possible. Also part of their duties were to approve the bringing in of any farm machinery or farm supplies.

The most interesting thing to Professor Myers was a trip that he made at the request of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia. The purpose of the trip was to inspect the agriculture experiment plots. People who are invited by the king to his palace are required to wear the native Arab clothes all during their trip through the country stated Professor Myers. The King presented Professor Myers with a complete Arab outfit and a watch with a native inscription on it for his trouble in coming to the palace.

Grant Leaves To Instructors

Several Kansas State College faculty members have been granted sabbatical leaves for portions of the new fiscal year which begins July 1, Milton S. Eisenhower, Kansas State president, has announced.

Prof. Katharine Roy, head of the Department of Child Welfare and Euthenics, will be on leave to take advanced study at the University of Chicago. Miss Eva McMillan, associate professor of food economics and nutrition, has been granted a leave for travel in South America. Mrs. Jane Wilson Barnes, instructor of household economics, has been granted an extension of her leave until August 31. Since February, Mrs. Barnes has been studying at Oregon State College and Purdue University. She is visiting government housing projects on the West coast this summer.

Six faculty members will return from leaves for study, service in the armed forces or special work. O. D. Hunt, associate professor of electrical engineering, will return January 1, 1946. Professor Hunt has been working with the engineering department of Sylvania Electric, Salem, Mass. Wilson Tripp, associate professor of mechanical engineering, returns September 1. He has been engaged in war work with the Ryan Aircraft Company, San Diego, Calif.

Returning for the 1945 summer school was Miss Helen Elcock, associate professor in the Department of English, who has been taking advanced study at the University of Chicago. Miss Myra Scott, assistant professor of English, will return September 1 from a leave for advanced study at Columbia University. Asst. Prof. Florence McKinney of the Department of Household Economics, returns to the campus September 1 from a leave for advanced study at Ohio State University. Edwin Sayre, associate professor in the Department of Music, returned at the beginning of this year's summer school from a leave granted for advanced study at Westminster Choir College.

Professor Arrives

Dr. Abby Marlatt has arrived in Manhattan to assume her duties as associate professor in the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition. Miss Marlatt has been doing advanced study at the University of California at Berkeley.

To South America

Miss Eva McMillan, Asst. Dean of Home Economics, will leave sometime in July for Porto Alegre, Brazil, where she will assist in setting up home economics in the Colegio Americano, a school for girls. During her year's sabbatical leave she will travel also in other parts of South America.

Cut Privileges To 44 Juniors

Voluntary class attendance has been granted to 44 K-State students, who will be juniors during the 1945-46 term. Eligibility for this privilege includes a B average for each semester of the sophomore year and at least 30 grade points for each semester. The announcement was made by Miss Mary Kimball, College registrar.

The listing includes students from three of the five undergraduate schools of the College, the School of Arts and Sciences, School of Engineering and Architecture, and School of Home Economics.

The Juniors listed by schools:

School of Arts and Sciences: Mary Louise Boyd, Elizabeth Ann Button, Patricia Louise Cibolski, Thelma Kathryn Dahl, Helen Caroline Otto, Margaret Mary Sites, Beryl Aileen Wesche, Frances Mae Ewart, Helen Tipton Fields, Ruth Elizabeth Filippo, Shirley Jordon, Elizabeth Susan Kind-scher, Ruth Alta Meyn, Wanda Kathleen Nanninga, Christine Mae Perry, Helen Irene Rein, and Lois Carter Walstrom.

School of Engineering and Architecture: Henry Edward Brandes, Roger Duane Lachman, and Stanley Hendricks Stuart.

School of Home Economics: Ayla Marilyn Albertson, Hallie Marie Brodie, Mary Louise Carl, Margaret Louise Darby, Dorothy Mae Engle, Ruth Ellen Fenton, Ruth Ann Hodgson, Helen Louise Smith, Elna Arlene Yowell, Shirley Ann Frelenmuth, Jean Roberta Greenawalt, Jean Elaine Irwin, Beth Jane Jarvis, Mary Belle Jenkins, Florence Elnora Merriam, Della Kathleen Petterson, Frances Patricia Shoemaker, Alice May Tomlinson, Dorothy Marie Wilson, Betty Sue Larson, and Zella Mae Woodall.

Justin Elected Vice President Of A. A. U. W.

Dean Margaret M. Justin, of the School of Home Economics, has been elected first vice-president of the American Association of University Women. Dean Justin will serve a two-year term as one of the highest officers of the organization.

For the past eight years Dr. Justin has served as vice-president of the southwest central region of the A.A.U.W. A graduate of the College in 1909, Dean Justin has been Dean of home ec since 1923, and has been active in national home economics organizations as well as in the A.A.U.W.

K-Stater Killed On Prison Ship

Word has been received that Maj. Arlie Higgins was killed when a Japanese prison ship he was on was torpedoed by an American submarine 200 miles off the coast of China.

Major Higgins had been a Japanese prisoner since the fall of Bataan and it was believed he was being moved to another prison.

He was graduated from Kansas State with the class of 1929, and received his master's degree in 1934. He was a member of the Phi Lambda Theta fraternity and the Hamilton Literary Society.

Major Higgins entered the Army in 1941 with a commission as captain in the reserve corps. He went overseas in 1942 and was in the Philippines at the time of the Japanese invasion.

His wife is the former Vinita Schade, '31, and was employed in California. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schade live in Manhattan.

Howe Moves Office

Dr. Harold Howe, new Dean of the Graduate School at Kansas State, has moved from his office in West Ag to room 101, Fairchild Hall, which has been the office of the head of graduate study since 1928.

Eisenhower Uses Vacation For Ag Job

President Milton S. Eisenhower's work in reorganizing the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the War Food Administration will require only part of his time during the summer months, it was learned today. He will spend fully half his time during this period at the College.

"It appears to me that the President is just losing his vacation," C. O. Price, assistant to the president, said.

President Eisenhower declined to accept a position of any kind in the Department of Agriculture. The Board of Regents, however, felt that it would be of great benefit to Kansas agriculture if the President of the College accepted the opportunity to bring two large public agencies together into a single, coordinated service organization for American agriculture.

Anderson Lauds Eisenhower

Editor's Note: Under the heading "The Other Eisenhower," the following article was printed in this week's Newsweek.

Prior to 1942 and the spectacular rise of General "Ike," the name of Eisenhower in public affairs was likely to mean but one man—Milton Eisenhower, the general's youngest brother. An able organizer, he had a sound knowledge of farm problems through his work in the Department of Agriculture in the Coolidge, Hoover, and Roosevelt administrations.

To Manhattan

In June 1943, Eisenhower became president of Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science at Manhattan, Kans. Last week he was ready for another turnabout. At the urging of Clinton P. Anderson, President Truman's new Secretary of Agriculture, Eisenhower, who will be 46 next September, accepted the job as Anderson's special assistant. He will continue as president of Kansas State, drawing full salary there and $1 a year in Washington.

Praise

Anderson made it clear that Eisenhower would have a free hand in reorganizing the Agriculture Department, especially in the War Food Administration which the department will take over. Pleased with Eisenhower's acceptance, Anderson crowed: "He knows the department from top to bottom. Personally, I believe him to be the best-equipped man in the country to carry out the policies I have in mind for the producer of food and the consumer."

K-State Man With Ingraham's Crew

Ens. Lawrence R. Schmutz, Commerce, '35, was one of the heroic crew members of the destroyer Ingraham which put into drydock at San Francisco this week after surviving Jap kamikaze suicide attacks in Pacific action.

The ship came into port with the outline of a Jap suicide plane smashed through its side just above the water line. Ensign Schmutz, whose wife, Mrs. Ruth Schmutz, and their twin 7-year-old sons, Larry and Jerry, live in Manhattan was in a good position to see what was going on during the suicide attack.

Ensign Schmutz, along with Lt. Charles Thiess of Philadelphia, was directing the air defense from the bridge. It was the orders of these two, and the snappy action of the men on the guns despite a night of constant alert because of bombing attacks, that resulted in the destruction of the first six kamikaze planes that dove on the ship.

Three Hospitalized

Three students are now hospitalized, according to the Student Health Department. They are William Theobald, veterinarian, Hyman Steinmetz, veterinarian, and Gloria Schmidt, a special student.

Graduation . . .

Seniors expecting to graduate at the close of the first eight-week session, July 24, pay their commencement fees at the Business Office immediately. Miss Mary Kimball, registrar announced today.

Comprehensive Courses Shown In Catalogue

Comprehensive courses have been adopted for use next fall in all but one of the Kansas State curriculums which will be outlined in the forthcoming edition of the College Catalogue, according to Dean R. I. Thackrey, chairman of the committee to coordinate development of the courses.

At least one comprehensive is included in every curriculum except in agricultural economics. Faculty members who planned the curriculum in that department found that required specialized courses did not leave time for a comprehensive course.

The installation of comprehensives is the most sweeping change made in recent years in the College courses and will affect students of advanced classification as well as freshmen.

Broaden Knowledge

The purpose of the new over-all courses is to give the student a broad education in fields outside his own specialized field of study. No new fields of knowledge will be covered. Work is being completed this summer on the eight-hour courses in the four great fields of knowledge—social sciences, biological sciences, physical sciences and the humanities. Instructors who will teach the courses are compiling texts and syllabi outlining existing texts for use in the new courses.

In most cases the student will be enrolled in only those comprehensives outside his major field. The new courses will give him a general knowledge of those fields and thus will give training for good citizenship and for life in general.

All of the comprehensives are offered by the School of Arts and Sciences and have been adopted by the various other schools to substitute for required courses in the various fields. As dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, R. W. Babcock is in charge of all the teachers of comprehensives and of the work of the committees.

Survey Courses

Several survey courses have also been added to the College courses of study as part of the new program. Home Economics A and B will be offered to non-majors in that field to give them a background knowledge of the subject. The eight-hour course is divided into two semester courses of four hours each.

Mathematics and human affairs, an eight-hour over-all math course is also offered. Two courses in written communications and one in oral communications are offered in place of Rhetoric I and II and Public Speaking. Written Communications I is a three-hour course and the second semester course is a two-hour course. Two hours credit will be given for oral communications.

Freshmen and transfer students will be required to take a test in English upon entering college if they do not have previous credit for a course equivalent to Written Communications I. A student who fails the entrance examination must take a two-hour course, English 0, without credit.

Cochran, Ewart, To New York City

Dorothy Cochran and Frances Ewart will leave soon for New York City where they will participate in national Y. W. C. A. leadership councils.

Dorothy will leave Monday to attend the National Intercollegiate Christian Council. She was chosen as representative for the Rocky Mountain district at the YW conference at Estes Park last month.

Only fifty YW members, including the staff, will attend the meeting because of ODT regulations.

Frances will leave this week to meet with presidents of other YW organizations from over the nation. They will have their meetings at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Dorothy is a senior in industrial journalism, and Frances is a junior in general science.

Grippers Moan "Nothing To Do"

This shall be the story of the decline of Kansas State society—the reasons for the gaps in the social calendar.

In the days when 100 extra-curricular organizations vied for dates on the social calendar and had to make party arrangements six months ahead, there were probably none of the "nothing to do" gripes heard now. But the years of four Kansas State ballrooms and many fraternities were pre-war years.

In 1939, a typical Friday night schedule included three formal plus several meetings and other social activities. The calendar, sprinkled generously with varsities, was so chock full the Blue Key ball and College play competed for Friday night attendance.

Such novel activities as a Roman Twister in Rec Center, KKG Jam Session, something called the Red Dog Inn at the Kappa Sig house and the Beta Pig Dinner and Dance entertained students.

In 1942 a normal Saturday night was crammed with three dances and a College play. Dances at the independent organized houses began to appear on the social scene. As late in the war as the end of 1943, the calendar was full with AAF and AST entertainments. But when the army units left the campus a year ago, students began the "isn't it dull" griping.

This brief taste of fun from "the good old days" is not to make 1945 students sorry for themselves as "war casualties." It is to reconstruct the social decline and blame it on the war. Students attending college in peaceful Manhattan that never felt a bomb, certainly can claim no right to gripe about one of the restrictions the war has brought to their lives.

In a Collegian survey students told us they want first, a place to dance, bigger and better school activities, and entertainment places such as bowling alleys, and one student went so far as to wish for the day of the miniature golf course.

One student requested a dance hall within 100 yards of the campus. He has run himself right up against a legal barrier. In order to have a public dance in Manhattan, a chaperone appointed by the city clerk's office must be provided for each dance. The sponsor of the dance is required to pay the chaperone $3 for each dance. Thus, if the Canteen were to provide space for dancing to their nickelodeon, they would have to hire a chaperone for each dance and pay him $3 a day. Besides that there would be a city license to buy, and a steep federal cabaret tax to pay. And if those restrictions, not prohibitive except that they probably would prevent the owner from making money on his dance hall, are not sufficient reasons, there is the fact that all dances must be approved by the SGA.

As we see it, all the student entertainment gripes should be aimed at Hitler and the kamikaze Japs. Contracts have been let for the Student Union building, which student fees will build as soon as materials are available. In the Union building will be a large ballroom, a middle-sized one and space for dancing in connection with a canteen. Eventually there will even be the bowling alleys students have asked for.

And all this will be on the campus. All students have to do is wait till the Japs are licked. It will be tough. We feel awfully sorry for students who gripe because they have no place to dance through a war.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Ho Hum! K-State really went pious this weekend. We don't know whether it's the influence of the W. C. T. U. or just that a certain well-known joint which we're not allowed to mention by name was running dry early. We don't know why anyone reads this tripe anyhow. Doesn't speak well for the intellectual level of the student body.

That same joint, it seems, was host to the usual crowd of hardy tipplers Saturday night, but the Kappas and their varied escorts are no longer news. A new addition to the Stein and Hangover Club, however, was Nina (Aren't I Cute) Anderson.

John Winters has announced his decision to major in music after Saturday night. With Dean Whitney in tow he thrilled the fair damsels residing at Tri-Delt's summer annex in a resounding baritone. Things must have really been tough when Bill Troutman had to throw him out.

Complaint of the week: Since we've heard that the Independents (some of them) are bitter about the lack of meow publicity we hereby will report that Joy Talbot and Ray Sloan were last seen heading West with one orange and two blankets.

Police Bulletin: Be on the look-out for a Wabaunsee blonde who got the bankroll of the second K-State male (who prefers to remain unidentified) in as many weeks. Her favorite haunts are parked cars.

We wonder how much it cost Chitwood? That oversized hunk of ice Frenchie wears on third finger, left hand, we mean.

We don't know just what department this comes under, but Bill Pritchard threw some china out a window.

The AGR's have been howling about lack of publicity so we'll mention that their illustrious alum, Dagwood with Rachel Jacobs, et al managed to make it back to the old haunts.

The latest release of the K-State ivy-vine (Ivy being as close as we could come to grape) is that the Tri-Delt house received a visit from "The Skunk" last Sunday night.

Charity department: We are mentioning Jim Hervey's name because he stated and we quote "I drive everyone around to different places so they can make the column, but do I make the dirt column—NO!"

ISA Groups Prepare For Fall Sessions

The Kansas State International Security Assembly, which is composed of different nations each represented by organized houses and campus groups, is studying the problems of the various nations this summer.

The organization sponsors two radio programs a week, one on Wednesday at 1:05 p. m. and another on Friday at 12:30 p. m. On Wednesday the music of the country is played, and on Friday the nation itself is discussed.

Next fall the Assembly will climax its study and research with a conference to make plans for lasting peace. Resolutions concerning vital problems of the various countries will be discussed, first in committees, and then the resolutions will be presented before the Assembly for ratification.

Kansas State is one of the first colleges in the United States to bring world problems before the students in this realistic way.

Big Sister Program

Mrs. Dorothy Downey, College YWCA secretary, has announced that 400 or 500 girls are needed to participate in the YW big sister program next fall. She asked any woman wishing to act as a big sister to a freshman woman or transfer student to contact Patt Fairman, Margaret Parker, or the YW office.

YW big sisters help new students get acquainted in college by taking them to social events sponsored by the organization.

Compulsory manual labor by male students was introduced at the College in the spring of 1870, but the compulsory feature soon was abandoned.

Hal McCord, peacetime structural engineer has been promoted to the rank of full colonel in the Air Transport Command's North African Division. He has been assistant chief of staff and director of personnel at two of the Air Transport Command's largest overseas divisions during the past year. From June until October he served in the headquarters of the China-India Division. He was later transferred to North Africa. It is his exacting job to assign men wherever they are needed in a Division which covers a third of the globe, and whose mission it is to speed veterans homeward. Peak of redeployment program is expected to be reached in August when 40,000 men will funnel through Casablanca on their way to the States. Colonel McCord began his military career at Kansas State when he was a second lieutenant in the ROTC. He reported for active duty in October, 1940.

Cpl. Wilbur E. Hunter, '35, has observed his second year of overseas service. Entering the armed forces in December, 1942, he arrived overseas in June, 1943. He is currently serving as a liaison clerk with the Mediterranean Air Transport Service in Italy. He has been authorized to wear the European-African-Middle Eastern Theater Ribbon with two Bronze Battle Stars for his participation in the Naples-Foggia and the Rome-Arno campaigns. He has also been awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

From the Ninth Air Force Bomber Base in Germany comes word that Lt. Phillip R. Chappell, pilot in the 397th "Bridge Busters" Bombardment Group of Marauders recently returned to his air base in Germany after two weeks of front line duty. His trip was made under the Army's ground-air liaison plan which makes it possible for airmen to see at first hand how the infantry and tank men fight and vice versa. Lieutenant Chappell is a veteran of 20 combat missions and has been in the European Theater of Operations since December, 1944.

Delbert Macy has been promoted to the rank of full lieutenant in the Navy. He is assigned as communications officer to an admiral staff aboard a battleship in the West Pacific. He has taken part in the Iwo Jima and Okinawa campaigns. Macy entered the Navy in January, 1944. He was graduated from Kansas State and later was assistant editor with the Kansas State College Extension staff.

Cpl. Glenn H. Rice has been graduated with an advanced communications class at Boca Raton Army Air Field, Florida. The school is a technical school of the Army Air Forces Tactical Center.

Word comes from a Fifth Air Force Troop Carrier Command that Harold W. Berggren has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant. Lieutenant Berggren is serving as a pilot with a troop carrier unit of the Fifth Air Force. His unit, a member of the troop carrier force, is now operating in the Philippine campaign. These units are performing outstanding service in expediting the movement of important personnel and supplies and evacuating the wounded from the front.

Sgt. Gene York has been seriously wounded in the battle for Okinawa. The news came in a letter written by a nurse in the hospital where he was taken. The letter stated Sergeant York received wounds in his right arm and leg. He had been under fire for 80 days when wounded. York wears the Purple Heart for previous wounds received in April. His brother, Sgt. Ben York is at a B-29 training school in Amarillo, Texas, and his father is with the Army engineers in Alaska.

Seaton Reviews Veterans' Programs

Returning veterans will find three programs at Kansas State designed to help them, according to Dean R. A. Seaton of the School of Engineering. One of these is the GI Bill of Rights, which will terminate at the end of seven years after the war. Thirty-nine students are enrolled in this program at the present time.

The veterans' rehabilitation program for the vocational rehabilitation of disabled veterans will continue for six years after the war. There are 49 students enrolled under this plan.

The third plan is sponsored by the state government as well as the federal government. It applies to both veterans and non-veterans who are partially physically disabled, and who need training to overcome handicaps. Dean Seaton recommends this plan only for those veterans who are ineligible under the other two programs.

:- Outside The Ivy Walls :-

By Kelly Roberts

Editor's Note: This column is a weekly summary of events outside the confining walls of this institution.

News and opinions continue on the six Americans arrested by the F. B. I. as spies. The six included the editors of the magazine Amerasia, two State Department aides, a naval officer and a free lance writer on Far Eastern affairs. Charges were unlawful disclosure of documents "relating to national defense." In addition to being arrested at the same time, these men have other things in common. They accuse the State Department of planning to maintain Hirohito and the giant trusts' control of Japanese economy.

Amerasia exposed the official USA broadcast that Tokyo's warlords could have "a peace with honor." Amerasia pointed out that this phrase must have come as a shock to the survivors of the Bataan death march.

Other men have had something in common with the six. In Harper's last December Ernest K. Lindley and Edward Weintal printed "confidential" State Department documents. Their article defended the department's policy toward Franco. Col. Robert R. McCormick printed our secret war plans in the Chicago Tribune, just before Pearl Harbor.

Wladislaw Gomolka, deputy premier of the Warsaw Polish government, asserts that the Big Three commission on Poland will have no objection to recognizing the coalition government after its induction in office.

The case for the London Polish government seems to be no more, since the confession of 15 of the 16 Poles arrested by the USSR. The charges included the murder of at least 504 Russian officers and terrorist and propaganda activities behind Red Army lines acting on instruction of the Polish government in London.

It is time for Congress to decide either to renew the life of the Office of War Information or let it die. OWI wanted a budget of $5 million. The House, apparently by the use of higher mathematics, decided that OWI needed exactly one half of what it asked for—17 million. With a budget like this OWI would die of anemia. The Senate was more liberal toward it, so no definite appropriation will be made until both houses agree.

Opponents of OWI point out that the Associated Press doesn't even need that much money to operate. Defenders say that more money is spent advertising toilet goods each year than OWI will have according to the House appropriation.

OWI, as it sees itself in the mirror, is not a news-gathering bureau; it is an advertising bureau. Its job will be to "sell" free government to European countries.

The House of Representatives voted to renew the life of the Office of Price Administration the other day, but not before they had reduced its power. OPA has been waging a relentless war on inflation, with tremendous obstacles in its path. Just about every kind of producer has been fighting the ceiling on his products. Shortages are blamed on OPA. Meat packers claim that if they could charge prices as high as the black market's, the black market could not exist. New advertisement: "Why buy at the black market—our prices are just as high."

All three farm organizations, the Farm Bureau, the Grange and the Farmers Union, are against the proposed Wheeler amendment to OPA's setup. The amendment would put the power to regulate food ceilings in the hands of the Department of Agriculture.

"Chief" Medlin Says Goodbye To Kedsie

The "Chief" said goodbye to the journalism staff and students the other day and after much handshaking departed, only to return a few minutes later for his little black address book. You might say it was typical of C. J. Medlin to make his "hail farewell" on a note of laughter.

You could tell he was looking forward to this trip to France with the enthusiasm which might be that of a small boy in front of a candy counter with a dollar bill in his hand. Standing there in his war correspondent's uniform, receiving envious farewells, he looked younger and refreshed and not the least worried over what was ahead.

Mr. Medlin is a real favorite of journalism students and few men on the campus have as close a personal contact and friendship with undergraduates. His assistance is invaluable to Collegian and Royal Purple staff members, but he makes little effort to determine policy. The editors may be influenced in the right direction but Mr. Medlin leaves the task of making decisions up to them.

"Chief's" classes are informal and "easy to take," however, at the close of an hour the student realizes he has learned far more than a new joke. Occasional sessions are held on the campus lawn or in the Canteen with Mr. Medlin puffing an ancient black pipe.

When he was about ready to leave Mr. Medlin had such a volume of letters from former students to answer he had to print a form letter explaining the situation. This is a good illustration of the friendships he makes and maintains.

"Chief" used to have another nickname. Having grown up in Mexico, he spoke Spanish as fluently as English and was known as "Mex" when a Kansas State student.

For nine consecutive years the Royal Purple has won the All-American Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Association. The first award came one year after Mr. Medlin became graduate manager of Student Publications which is indicative of his ability.

I believe I can say this for every student and staff member in journalism. We know he's not going to be gone permanently but he'll be missed. When he comes back we'll be expecting a new stock of stories.

Contribute Costumes For 'Damask Cheek'

Faculty members and other persons have sent many costumes to the Kansas State Players in answer to the request made previously by the production cast of "The Damask Cheek."

Patt Fairman as Rhoda Meldrum will wear a rust colored satin dress trimmed in velvet that was loaned to the play cast by Mrs. Hugh Durham.

Lois Cravens, who plays the role of Daphne Randall will wear a dress belonging to Mrs. George Rathbun.

Donna Faye McVay as Miss Pinner will wear the dress cape and hat of Miss Dora Bayles' grandmother, the late Mrs. Robert Bayles of Garrison.

The negligee worn by Nina Jean Heberer during fight scene was sent to the cast by Mrs. Hinkle Guy of Topeka. Other costumes belonging to Mrs. Guy are worn by Patt Fairman and Carolyn Meyers. Carolyn also wears an afternoon dress loaned by Mrs. J. L. Fuller.

Dresses and hats worn by various members of the cast have been loaned by Mrs. Loyal Payne. High topped shoes, purses and accessories are being furnished by Mrs. John Engert.

Phil Kiser as Michael Randall, will wear a blue belted flannel coat belonging to Dr. Howard T. Hill.

Wendell Kerr, the leading man, Jimmy Randall, will wear Dr. F. D. Farrell's evening clothes of 1909. Craig Bracken as the handsome young flirt, Neil Harding, will wear his father's suit of the same year.

The women's evening clothes have been ordered from Eaves Theatrical Costume House in New York City.

Appoint New Head Household Economics Dept.

Dr. Josephine Kremer has been appointed professor and head of the Department of Household Economics. She will succeed Miss Ruth Lindquist, whose resignation became effective

Dr. Josephine Kremer

June 30. The appointment of Miss Kremer was announced by President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Miss Kremer has been on the staff of the School of Education, New York University, New York City. Prior to her appointment there, she was a lecturer in the Department of Household Science at the University of California.

The new department head was graduated with a B. A. degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1922 and received her Ph. D. from Cornell University in 1938. At Cornell, she did her major work in economics of the household.

Lt. Hemphill Killed In South Pacific

Lt. (jg) William A. Hemphill, former K-State athlete, was killed in action in the South Pacific, according to word received by his family June 27. The date of his death was not known.

Lieutenant Hemphill was the son of J. G. Hemphill of Chanute. He was graduated from Kansas State in 1938 with a degree in agriculture.

He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Sue Ellen, 3, and a son, William A. Hemphill II, 1.

While at Kansas State Hemphill lettered two years in football, three years in track, and received a letter in boxing.

Ned Thompson Studying Kansas Food Production

Ned Thompson, representative for the regional bureau of agriculture economics, is spending the week at Kansas State working on a study for the establishment of food production goals for Kansas in 1946. Prof. J. A. Hodges of the department of economics at Kansas State is cooperating on the project.

Mr. Thompson was graduated from Kansas State College in 1936, receiving a degree in Agriculture Economics. In 1939 he received his master's degree from the University of Illinois.

Upon completion of this report they will release the estimates on the amount of livestock and crops that should be grown by the Kansas producers for the coming year.

Honor Roll Pictures In Two Buildings

The journalism department and the athletics department are probably the first to set up honor rolls using pictures of men who have been killed in service. Several other departments have list honor rolls.

In the athletics department the pictures have been placed in a glass case with a flag behind them. The men, who were all physical education majors, include:

Lt. Dean T. Lill, '43, Mt. Hope; Lt. John J. Jackson, '41, Eureka; Lt. Paul Klingman, f. s., Harlan; Elvis McCutchen, '40, Kingman; Gerald Porter, f. s., Dellvale; Wilfred Burnham, f. s., St. Francis; Paul Larson, '44, Lindsborg; Richard Hotchkiss, '39, Manhattan; Bill Hemphill, '38, Chanute.

Lt. Green Dies In B-29 Crash

Second Lt. James M. Green, '43, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mont J. Green, 1200 Houston, was killed in a plane crash near Tucson, Ariz., last Sunday.

Lieutenant Green, a navigator on a B-29, was on a routine training flight when the ship was believed to have crashed into a mountain. Further details were lacking.

He was graduated from Kansas State with a degree in architectural engineering. He had attended Notre Dame his freshman year but transferred to Kansas State in 1940. Green was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and of the Newman Club.

In February, 1944, he married Mary Margaret Bishop, G. S. '43, and they made their home in Tucson, where Lieutenant Green was stationed.

Killed In Philippines

Mrs. Virginia Wyman Shaffer, Jr., received word last Friday from the Navy Department that her husband Lt. (jg) Kenneth Shaffer, Jr., was killed June 24, on the Philippines. Mrs. Shaffer, Jr., attended K-State in 1943 and 1944. She was a member of Pi Beta Phi. Lieutenant Shaffer, Jr., was pilot of a B-24.

ISA Films

The ISA will sponsor a movie, "Fertile Frontiers," July 11 at 12:20 in Willard Hall room 115.

The picture is in technicolor and concerns Kansas and her frontiers and resources. It traces the development of agriculture as well as of war factories in the state. The film ends with suggestions concerning the future development of Kansas.

Lt. Don Stuewe, Former Wildcat, Tells Of Raids

Lt. Donald A. Stuewe, former chemical engineering student here who is now with the 313th Bombardment Wing of the 21st Bomber Command, tells of his experiences as navigator and special instruments operator while flying for six hours by instruments.

The experiences of Lieutenant Stuewe, as well as of others from Kansas, were given in a story by Alvin S. McCoy, war correspondent for the Kansas City Star.

The B-29 on which he is a crew member was returning to Tinian from an incendiary raid on Osaka, Japan.

Of this, his 13th mission, Lieutenant Stuewe said, "We had to break formation. Ice and sleet formed on the plane for an hour. It's quite a strain. You know Forts are all around you, but you can't see them. When we finally broke out in the clear, there they were scattered all around the sky."

"But the first raid was the toughest. It was a low-level incendiary raid on the Tokyo outskirts. The thermal drafts were terrific. After bombs were away we gained air speed at a great rate, then lost it. I don't think we ever were on our back, but we tossed about wildly. Our floorboards came out and wrenches were bouncing up and down on the floor. I felt as if I were a ball bouncing around in my flak suit."

Call on Dykstra

The Kansas State Board of Agriculture called upon the assistance of Dean R. R. Dykstra, head of the School of Veterinary Medicine, last week to help interpret a recent change in the livestock remedy law of Kansas.

Dean Dykstra, while attending this meeting in Topeka, also helped to classify livestock remedies under the provisions of this changed law.

SOCIETY

Weddings and announcements of engagements continue to hold the spotlight in society news.

First comes the news of the marriage of Frances McFadden, former student in business administration and accounting, to Pvt. Duanne L. Burnett of the Army Air Corps. They are living in San Antonio, Texas.

Miss June Cochren of Whiting was married to Pvt. Bruce Henoch of Enterprise Saturday afternoon. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents. Private Henoch attended Kansas State before he entered the Army.

Marguerite Galloway, GS, '44, of Wakeeney was married to Maj. Lyman Sanders of the Army Air Corps. The wedding took place in Hollywood, Calif., May 15. Mrs. Sanders is a graduate of Kansas State.

Margery Lee Force HE, '43, and Staff Sgt. Harold Keating were married June 17 at St. James Parish House in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Keating is a graduate of Kansas State. Sgt. Keating recently returned from overseas. Both Sgt. and Mrs. Keating are from Wheaton.

Carol Jean Shields, a junior at Kansas State, announced her engagement to Lt. Lawrence Evans of Independence, Mo. Lieutenant Evans has been serving overseas with the Army Air Corps and is now stationed at Fort Logan, Colo. Carol Jean is from Wamego.

Students Conduct Adult Classes

A series of adult homemaking classes for Negroes are being conducted by the class in methods of adult homemaking education taught by Miss Marguerite Lofink. The classes meet at the Douglas School each Thursday from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

Pressure cooker techniques for canning meat and non-acid vegetables will be demonstrated tonight by Helen D. Jenkins and Evelyn Manson, members of the class.

A film, "Canning the Victory Garden," was shown at the first meeting last Thursday after which the 13 women present looked at exhibits of canning equipment, homemade toys for children, and a low cost wardrobe for a high school girl.

Other lessons will be a demonstration of the boiling water bath method of canning and a clinic on making over, care, and repair of clothing. The last meeting will be an open discussion and summary. Maria Friesen, Janie West, Rae Upchurch, and Wilma Toews are the other class members.

Plan Union Church Picnic for Sunday

The Kansas State Religious Federation is sponsoring an annual summer union meeting Sunday at 5:30 p. m. in Sunset Park. All students have been invited regardless of whether they are in an organized church group or not.

The group will meet just west of the singing tower in the park. A picnic lunch for 15c a plate will be served. The Baptist Youth Fellowship is in charge of the lunch arrangements.

Ens. Paul Engle, who returned recently from duty in the Pacific, will speak. Wesley Foundation is making the plans for the program, and David Neher is the chairman of the committee. The program also includes devotionals, and games are being planned by the Christian Youth Fellowship.

Vet Auxiliary

The Kansas State Veterans' Auxiliary will meet at 8 p. m. next Thursday at the home of Mrs. D. C. Warren, 721 Harris. The wife of any member of the College Veterans' organization is invited. Reservations may be made after 6 p. m. by calling 2-6439.

Platter Chatter

With the Fourth of July more or less safely passed let's turn our thoughts to what's new in the can music department.

Top turntable tidbit of the week for those of you who like solid sending dance rhythm is Mr. T. D.'s arrangement of "On the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe" with the Sentimentalists riding down the rails on the vocal. Turning the platter to the other side there is a smooth recording of "In the Valley" with Stuart Foster on vocal to soothe the shattered fire-cracker nerves.

To get that old moon glow feeling in the air Woody Herman and company have a new Columbia recording made just to order called "Laura" while on the opposite side is the musical question of the week "I Wonder."

To the dyed in the wool "gator" the man with the drums has a torrid turntable disc that is really out of this world—"Dark Eyes." With a flip of the "hot cake" Gene Krupa lets go with a peaceful little ditty called "Leave Us Leap" which really leaps.

If any squares are left who still get dizzy when "The Voice" lets go with a soft ballad on the night air they will be rushing to the nearest Columbia record shop to pick up Frankie's latest song "There's No You." Then after being placed in the proper frame of mind Sinatra gives with "Dream" which should warm the coldest heart a little.

That versatile man Benny Carter has just given out with a sample of his ability on a new Capitol record playing a solid alto sax solo on one merry-go-round of "Malibu" while turning the record Benny changes the instrument and gives with a real trumpet solo of "I Surrender Dear."

This summer you can get your favorite serving at the nearest record bar whether you like ballad or bounce.

Veterans' Program

The K-State Veterans' auxiliary will appear in a radio program Friday at 1:30 p. m. The purpose of the program will be to show how the organization is conducted, its connection with the College, and the things Manhattan can offer wives of new veterans on the campus.

The program has been built around an interview with a new member of the organization for veterans' wives. It will be given in connection with the veterans program at that hour.

Play Is Story Of English Girl In New York

The plot of "The Damask Cheek" centers around Rhoda Meldrum (Patt Fairman), a 30-year old English girl described by others as a nice, quiet girl. She comes to New York in 1909 to visit an aunt (Carolyn Meyers). Everybody, including Rhoda secretly hopes she will find a man.

Jimmy Randall (Wendell Kerr) is a cousin that she has known and gently loved for years. He is involved with a pretty actress (Nina Jean Heberer).

It is not until Rhoda takes an unconventional ride through Central Park with a handsome flirt (Craig Bracken), that Jimmy recognizes his true feelings, escapes his actress, and provides the play with a happy ending.

Gila Monster Is Museum Attraction

The current attraction at the College Museum in Fairchild is the gila monsters. These lizards are the only poisonous type of lizards in the United States. They were found in some pipe that was shipped in three or four years ago and have approximately tripled in size since that time. They are very beautifully colored but are poisonous.

Another curiosity is the Pidau, an egg that has been preserved for hundreds of years by a Chinese process. These two eggs are edible, although the egg yolk and egg white have congealed.

The latest addition to the collections are some humming bird skins. There also is an old egret tail plumage.

On the second floor of the museum, cluding a human skull. The top of there is a case of Indian relics, in the skull shows the indentation made by a heavy blow on the Indian's head.

In a year, Kansas State College replies to more than 4,000 inquiries for meteorological information, makes approximately 750 spectroscopic analyses of samples of minerals and diagnoses more than 500 cases of poultry disease for farmers in the 105 Kansas counties.

Announce Nine New Frat Pledges

Nine men have pledged fraternities since June 4 Dean Harold Howe announced today.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon heads the list with three new men. Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu each have two men while Alpha Gamma Rho and Tau Kappa Epsilon reported one pledge each.

The new pledges are: Alpha Gamma Rho, Cecil W. Ingmire, Council Grove.

Phi Delta Theta, Theodore Franklin Harris, and William R. Weaver, both from Topeka.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, James Bolton, Waterville; Bill Johnston and Tom Faulkner, both from Manhattan.

Sigma Nu, Johnny B. Pallett, Girard, and LeRoy Allmon, Manhattan. Tau Kappa Epsilon, Jack Lindberg, Madison.

ISA Features U. S. and Russia

The ISA program scheduled for tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. will be a talk given by Lloyd Eisenhower, entitled "United States Moves Toward Collective Security."

The talk was prepared by a committee of Sigma Alpha Epsilon's including: Leonard Greathouse, Dale Sorenson, Larry Watts, Bill Johnston, and Craig Bracken. That fraternity represents the U. S. in the ISA.

The ISA program scheduled for 1:05 p. m., July 11 is to be Russian music. The 12:30 p. m. program on July 13 will be an informative program about Russia.

Watts, Norby, Hofsess Elected To YMCA Cabinet

Plans are now being made for YMCA activities in the fall.

Larry Watts has been elected the YM representative on the K book, a handbook issued in the fall for new students.

Marvin Norby will be the student representative, and Prof. V. D. Foltz will be the faculty chairman of the all-college mixer. This party is the first of the social events that take place during the fall semester at Kansas State.

Bill Hofsess is a new member of the YMCA cabinet.

Exhibit Prints In Engineering Hall

Three groups of prints are on exhibition on the third floor of Engineering Hall.

One set is a group of aquatints by Doel Reed, noted instructor of architecture and light art at Oklahoma A. and M. They include figure studies and landscapes.

On display is the fourteenth annual Prairie Printmakers exhibit composed principally of landscapes by many well-known artists. The Prairie Printmakers organization was started 15 years ago by a group of 10 Kansas artists and has since expanded until its members include Canadian and English artists.

Charles M. Capps, Wichita printmaker with McCormick, Armstrong, Printing Co., rendered the third group which includes aquatints, block prints, and sketches.

The exhibit is open to the public any time of the day and many of the prints are priced for sale.

Expect Large Enrolment In New Courses

Babcock Announces Staff Teaching Comprehensive; Define Each Of Four

An estimated 1,035 students will enroll in the four new comprehensive courses next fall, according to Dean R. W. Babcock who is in charge of the teaching staff for the program.

Faculty members who will conduct recitations and lectures have been announced for the four courses—Man in the Cultural World, Biology in Relation to Man, Man's Physical World, and Man and the Social World.

The courses are designed to offer students a broadened knowledge in fields outside their specialized studies. The eight-hour courses are divided into two one-semester courses of four credits each. Two hours lecture and two hours recitation will be required each week.

At least one of the courses has been adopted in every curriculum at the College, except in agricultural education. Required courses in that curriculum did not leave time for a comprehensive course.

Social Course

Dr. W. E. Grimes, who is in charge of the course Man in the Social World, describes it as a course "to develop effective citizenship through better understanding through social life of which the student is a part." Dr. Grimes expects approximately 215 students, to enroll in the comprehensive which broadly covers the fields of economics, sociology, political science, cultural anthropology, psychology, and human geography. It will be offered preferably to freshmen and sophomores and should be preceded by the comprehensives in physical and biological sciences whenever possible.

I. V. Iles, V. S. Sweedlun, R. C. Hill, and Dr. Grimes will give the lectures for the course and A. B. Sageser, C. R. Thompson, and G. W. Long will conduct the recitations.

Biology Comprehensive

The course in Comprehensive Biology is described as a course which is designed to give the student understanding of the principles involved in natural phenomena, so that he may become an effective part of the living world. The course will be offered to freshmen and sophomores and should be preceded by the comprehensive course in Physical Science. Illustrative course materials will be drawn from the fields of bacteriology, botany, entomology, and zoology. The number of students for the first semester is approximated at 250.

Teachers for the course include: Professor Harbaugh, H. H. Haymaker, and E. J. Wimmer, who will have charge of lectures and recitations.

B. L. Werts To Be Acting Grad Manager

Mrs. Betty Lou Hancock Werts has made tentative arrangements to become acting graduate manager of Student Publications during the absence of C. J. Medlin, according to R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Journalism department.

A Kansas State graduate in Industrial Journalism in 1944, Mrs. Werts was editor of The Collegian in 1942. She received the Sigma Delta Chi reporting award and was a member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary Journalism sorority.

For the past year Mrs. Werts has been employed in the Public Relations Department at Douglas Aircraft in Tulsa, Okla. She was one of the three staff members of "Aircrew News" and was a frequent contributor to the Douglas national magazine.

Mr. Medlin, whose place Mrs. Werts is temporarily filling, is in Europe serving on the faculty of one of the University Study Centers in the Army program. He will be overseas about seven months.

Mrs. Werts will serve as faculty advisor for The Collegian and The Royal Purple.

Eleventh Wartime Graduation

By Gene Spratt

To those who remember the long line of robed graduates marching into the stadium to receive their sheep skins the summer school graduation of 1945 will seem a far cry from the usual spectacle.

For the third time in the history of Kansas State College an informal program will be held. There will be no robes or long marching line for the summer school graduating class. This decision was reached by the Council of Deans a few weeks ago. Each graduating senior will purchase his own announcements instead of buying them through the College because there are so few graduates.

Approximately 30 seniors will receive degrees Tuesday, July 24 at 11 a. m. in the College Auditorium. Present plans are to hold an informal dinner honoring the graduates.

Dr. Knox Millsaps who was to deliver the graduation address was recently inducted into the Army, and will be unable to speak at the ceremony. Also the Tollefsen string trio which was to play on Monday night July 23 has broken the contract because of a misunderstanding about the date they were to perform.

359 Enrolled For Second Summer Session

At registration in May 359 students enrolled for the last session of summer school but more will be added to that number on July 23 and 24 when new students will enroll in the office of the Registrar.

For the first time in several semesters, there will be more men than women enrolled at Kansas State, with 255 men and 104 women registered now. During the first eight weeks of summer school there were 325 men and 493 women.

Last summer during the last session of summer school there were approximately 500 students in school. About 85 percent of last summer's students enrolled for the entire 16-week period of summer school.

Kansas State has 93 World War II veterans attending summer school, which partially accounts for the increased number of men enrollees.

The second summer school session ends on September 15.

Eisenhower Back From Washington

President Milton S. Eisenhower, who was recently appointed special assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson, returned to the campus Tuesday after two weeks in Washington, D. C.

President Eisenhower is working with Anderson reorganizing the USDA and the War Food Administration. His work in Washington will require only part of the summer months, and he will spend half his time at the College. C. O. Price, assistant to the President, said last week, "It appears to me that the President is just losing his vacation."

Library . . .

The College Library will close at 5:30 each afternoon except Saturday, when it will close at 5, during the last session of summer school. The Library will not be open at night, according to William Baehr, librarian.

Give Diploma To Missing Flier's Mother

A college diploma for Marine Lt. Paul L. Clingman, who has been missing almost a year, will be presented to his mother Mrs. Emma L. Clingman, Harlem, at Kansas State graduation exercises July 24.

Upon Mrs. Clingman's request, the diploma will be awarded after the ceremonies by Rodney W. Babcock, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, who was a friend of Lieutenant Clingman. His name will be read with the list of graduates during the regular exercises. The B. S. degree is in business administration.

Pilot Clingman was reported missing August 16, 1944, when his plane crashed at an unknown place off the U. S. coast during a storm. No trace of the plane has been found.

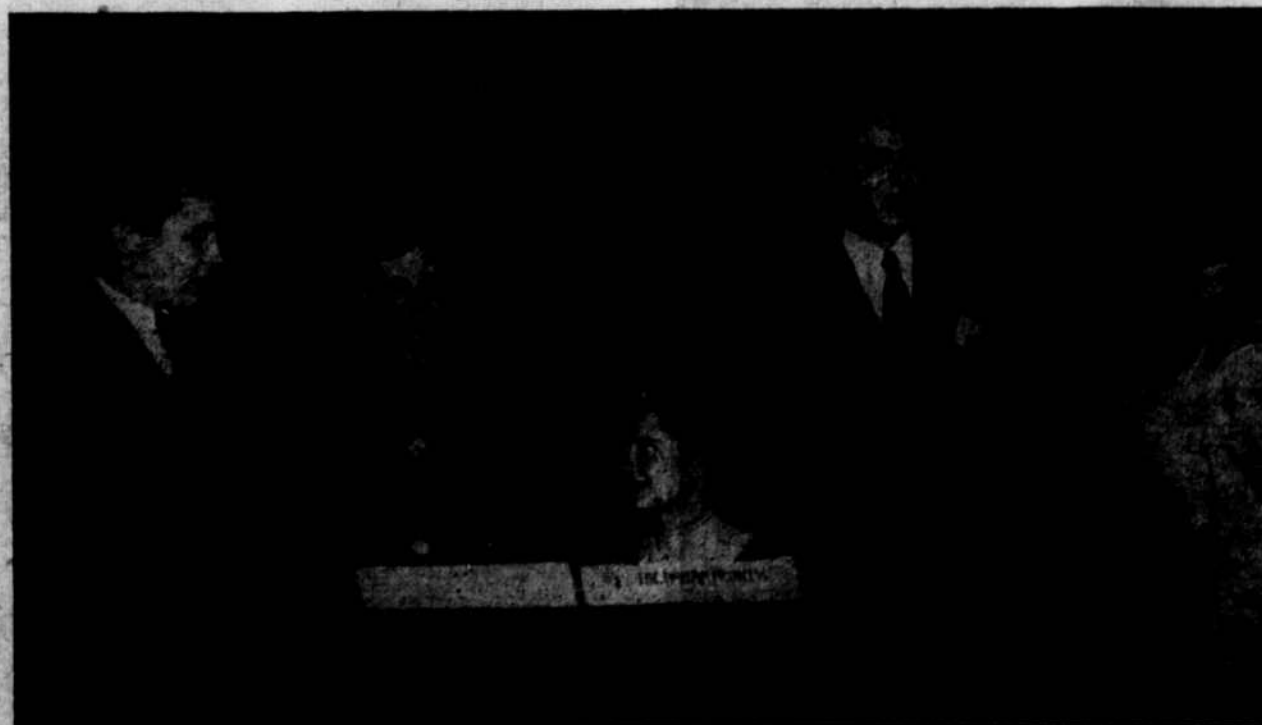

When Clingman left Kansas State to enter the Navy in 1941 he needed 12 credits to graduate. Work during his officer candidate's training has been accepted for the remaining credits. Clingman was honorably discharged from the Navy and immediately received his commission in the Marines. He worked his way at Kansas State by selling Fuller brushes.

To Give Scholarship In Vet Medicine

President Milton S. Eisenhower has accepted on behalf of the College a check for $1,500 to be used in establishing a scholarship award in veterinary medicine. The money was given the College by the Borden Company Foundation, Inc.

This award to be known as the Borden Scholarship Award in Veterinary Medicine is valued at $300 annually. It shall be presented to the senior of the School of Veterinary Medicine who has achieved the highest average grade of all other similarly eligible students in the veterinary curriculum during the three professional years preceding the senior year. If it is found to be inappropriate to make the award in any one year, the award will be deferred, but only one award shall be made in any succeeding year.

"The Damask Cheek"

Players Present Summer Production Tomorrow

Expect Large Crowd At Play, "The Damask Cheek"; Curtain Rises At 8:30 P. M. In Auditorium

A large crowd is expected to attend the Kansas State Player's production of "The Damask Cheek" at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the College Auditorium. The play is probably the outstanding activity of the summer school season.

Dodderidge Gets West Point Appointment

Pvt. Dick Dodderidge, f. s., has received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Dodderidge, who has been stationed at Sheppard Field, Texas, left Kansas State in March to become an air corps cadet. He was completing his sophomore year in industrial journalism when he left school to enter the armed forces.

While in school, Dodderidge was a member of Sigma Nu, Wampus Cats, president of the sophomore class and a member of the Royal Purple, College yearbook, staff. He was also one of the writers of the Collegian column, the Cat's Meow.

In a letter to Prof. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the Journalism department, Dodderidge said, "Kansas State has just lost a post-war journalism student—but not without a fight. When I received a War Department telegram ordering me to West Point, I found myself faced with a great decision. Journalism has always been my first love and since leaving school I have eagerly been awaiting the day that I could once again enter the portals of Kedzie Hall, books in hand and crib sheets in pocket. The idea of being a West Point cadet, however, was too great a factor to overcome. Now I must use every faculty in my power to make the grade in one of the toughest schools in the country. It's hard to picture myself as a military man, but it must be that way."

Three Hospitalized

Gloria Schmidt, Martha M. King, and Opal Mae Dent are now hospitalized. The announcement came from the Student Health Department.

Registration . . .

Registration for the second eight-week session of summer school will take place July 23 and 24, R. I. Thackrey, director of the summer school, has announced. Students enrolled for the first eight-week session may enroll prior to that time, he said. Registration will be conducted in the office of the College registrar.

The second eight-week session runs from July 25 to September 15. This session is primarily for the regular college student wishing to follow an accelerated program, but teachers and others will find many courses to meet their needs.

"The Damask Cheek" is the story of the antics of a "quiet" English girl on her first trip to America.

New York Setting

Patt Fairman stars as Rhoda Meldrum, the lady from Britain, along with Wendell Kerr as Jimmy Randall, Miss Meldrum's cousin who overcomes his indifferent attitude toward her. A buggy ride down a busy New York street is the beginning of a romance which ends Miss Meldrum's disguised search for a husband. How a maiden aunt, played by Carolyn Meyers and a beautiful actress who lives up to New York traditions figure in the plot will be explained tomorrow night.

Earl G. Hoover directs the Players in their only summer production.

Other members of the cast include: Phil Kiser as Michael Randall; Lois Cravens, Daphne Randall; Donna Faye McVay, Miss Pinner; Craig Bracken, as Nell Harding; and Helen Childers as Nora.

Production Staff

A production staff and stage crew of 17 have assisted Mr. Hoover, with the production of "The Damask Cheek".

Members of the production staff include: Marion Kirkpatrick and Mrs. H. W. Marlow, assistant directors; Craig Bracken, stage manager; Ralph Fogleman, assistant stage manager; Roy Drown, lighting; Margaret Ann Cadwell, sound; Verona McKinley and Helen Childers, properties; Felicia Bennett and Christine Budden, costumes and make-up; Pat Collister, house manager; Peg Haggman, publicity; and Del Knauer, ticket sales.

Stage Crew

Members of the stage crew are Bill Johnston, Tom Faulkner, Jim Bolton, and Guy Marlow.

Properties have been furnished by the USO, Woolworth's, Water's Hardware, Mrs. John Engert, and Mrs. Randall Hill. The oil paintings were furnished by Mrs. Alfreda Johnson Peterson, a former Kansas State art student.

Furniture was supplied by Robert's Furniture Store, Mrs. John Engert, and Home Management House.

Officers of the Kansas State Players are: Dean Tieiman, president; Pauline Flook, vice-president; Carol Heter, secretary; Marilyn Hurd, business manager; and Mary Bross, assistant business manager.

Tickets

Summer school students may secure tickets by presenting activity fee receipt stubs at the Auditorium box office. Duplicate receipts may be secured at the business office, if the first is destroyed or lost.

The box office is open from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m.

See Increase In Enrolment For Fall

Indications point to an increased enrolment for fall.

R. A. Seaton, dean of the School of Engineering, expressed confidence that more veterans will enroll for the fall term. He has received many inquiries from prospective veteran students. Dean Seaton pointed out that the 96 veterans enrolled last term and the 93 this summer have made good scholastic records.

Another indication of boosted enrolment is the fact that the College expects to rent two additional fraternity houses to house the increasing enrolment of women, according to Miss Dorothy Hamer, director of residence.

Dr. S. A. Nock, director of admissions, refused to estimate the size of the fall enrolment, saying it is too early to make a prediction, but said there will be at least as many students as last year.

Total 1812 tonnage of our fighting ships was equivalent to one of our modern Liberty ships.

PW's At College

The captured Nazis who roam the campus in their PW suits are a constant reminder of the war to Kansas State students.

But more than of war they remind us of the peace that is already won in Europe where they were taken prisoner. The unguarded presence of PW's on the campus gives us a picture of American policies as hosts to enemies, or perhaps we should call them former enemies. The Nazi hosts in German prison camps entertained Allied soldiers with an entirely different brand of amusement.

Contrast, for instance, the huge trays of food that are served to the prisoners here with the one-seventh of a loaf of bread the Nazis fed to our prisoners each day. Contrast the leisurely way they work at cutting the grass on the campus with the way the Germans worked slave laborers.

And then we read of a complaint by an American that German prisoners are being underfed. The man with that idea should have visited the Kansas State cafeteria any noon.

Student opinion in protest against the soft treatment of prisoners runs high. We hope the presence of prisoners on the campus will be a constant warning to students against the complacency which led to isolationism after the last war. Students will make the peace.

Thanks For Shows

This typographical pat on the back is for all and sundry connected with the noon movies which have been so successful. Thank you, Dean Thackrey and the International Security Assembly, for making them possible. This may be a bit irregular, but we'd especially like to thank all of you who put education above food enough to rearrange your lunch-time and attend. The attendance has been exceedingly good, filling all but the front rows of Willard 115. In fact, it has been so good that we hope the faculty will be encouraged to bring more of this sort of thing.

Dean Thackrey expressed his pleasure in saying that when the time and place was set he felt an attendance of 50 would be successful. The crowds have averaged 200.

See you Wednesday at Willard.

AD LIBS

The Eternal Ratio

Enrolment figures indicate men will outnumber women at Kansas State as in prewar days during the short eight-week second session of summer school. For a brief period the mighty males will rule again, but come fall and he will again be in the minority, surrounded by swarms of long-haired coeds. Wonder which he likes best?

It's Too Quiet

As we sit in our deserted office trying desperately to be clever in cold type, the only sound is the clanking of this ancient threshing machine of a typewriter and the singing of the birds. Outside our window the wind gently stirs the leaves and the bees have swarmed in one of our trees.

It is the peace and quiet that drives us to write such things as this. In order to write, a journalist needs an atmosphere so noisy and confused he can't possibly think.

Evil Omens

If we were superstitious we might interpret as evil omens the fact that the graduation speaker has been drafted and the Tollefsen trio which was to have entertained graduates has cancelled their engagement here. But we have no doubts the lucky students who have finished the struggle, and are ready to take their last exams will be rewarded with a sheepskin for their efforts, even if prospects don't look too good.

Beginning in September, 1942, a new 2-year course in industrial technology was offered at the College to prepare technical supervisory personnel for war industries.

Outside The Ivy Walls

By Kelly Roberts

Editor's Note: This column is a weekly summary of events outside the confining walls of this institution.

The present newspaper deliveries strike in New York City has left only two daily papers unaffected. PM and the Daily Worker have separate contracts with the Newspapers and Mail Deliverers' Union.

Mayor La Guardia, maintaining that it's not Sunday for the kiddies (parents, too) without the comics, reads them over the radio.

PM now features a summary of what's in the strike-bound papers—headlines, editorials, columns, and again the all-important comics.

Ferruccio Parri is head of the new Italian government. It faces an extremely difficult task. The people are still starving and illclothed. Many homes have been bombed.

Other countries are in the same condition, but Italy is in an unusual situation. She is not a member of the United Nations; she is no longer considered a defeated enemy. Germany may still cause trouble so she must receive special considerations. We worry about Germany and forget Italy.

This is a strange way to encourage democracy. The situation is too much for this young democracy to handle by itself. She needs outside help, and she can get it if she is allowed to become a member of the United Nations. As a member, Italy would be entitled to receive lend-lease and borrow money for reconstruction.

The new government is made up of men who actively fought the Germans. Argentina is neither a democracy nor did she fight the Nazis. If Argentina is entitled to be a member of the United Nations, what objections could there be to admitting Italy?

One of the lesser known but more dynamic diplomats who attended the San Francisco Conference was Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, chairman of the Philippine delegation. Romulo believes Lincoln's idea that a nation cannot exist half slave and half free applies to the world as well. "There cannot be world peace until all peoples of this world are considered equal and free," he writes. Furthermore, "Victory, unless we can insure it as a victory of the people, dishonors the memory of those who died to achieve it. . . . To preserve the peace, we must guard the rights of every human being on this earth; and upon this, all men on this earth must be agreed."

Our own policy toward the Philippines is exactly the same policy General Romulo is advocating for all subject peoples. He has seen first hand the results and is well-qualified to judge. Instead of subjugating and exploiting we chose to improve the standard of living and treat the Filipinos as friends, not as slaves. They were to have been independent in 1946. Compare this with the colonial records of the British, French, Dutch, Italians and the United States in the case of Puerto Rico.

Unfortunately, those individuals who were such staunch supporters of "Polish independence" from the U. S. S. R. weren't so enthusiastic about independence for the little peoples where the U. S. S. R. was not involved. As a matter of fact Romulo's chief support came from the Soviet Republic. Lovers of Polish independence became silent when the big question of world independence came up. Must have gone underground or something.

Leading the attack against the Fair Employment Practices Commission in the Senate is Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo (Dem.-Miss.). At the time of this writing Bilbo has been conducting a one man discussion against the bill. He is also probably the only one who is listening. Senator Bilbo is not new at the game of talking legislation to death. He has had plenty of practice against anti-poll tax. Both the Anti-Poll Tax Bill and the FEPC Bill would probably win if an actual vote were taken, but this filibuster prevents voting. Other important legislation piles up and the bill has to be dropped.

Briefly, the FEPC seeks to prevent discrimination by employers against employees and prospective employees because of race, color or creed. At present many Catholics, Negroes, Jews and Chinese are not receiving the advancement in position they deserve simply because many employers do not like Catholics, Negroes, Jews and Chinese. During peacetime some employers refused to hire these people at all. In addition one's political views were taken into consideration by some employers. Obviously such practices are unfair.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Things are really getting rough on the males around K-State. Friday night Norby decided to follow in the footsteps of those two Lotharios, Eslinger and Funston and inspect the merits of the Palace's waitresses. The objective was a mature little 15 year old named Midge but our hero didn't quite make the grade. OUCH!

We guess Dodderidge must have figured it was the only way. He's off to West Point for those coveted golden bars so admired by Gfeller.

Another sign of the times, or why isn't there something to do? Sorensen and Johnson sitting on the steps of Anderson debating the relative merits of the Y-Dance or a moonlit walk.

At least one person thought the Phi Delt bridge party Saturday night was okay. Flip Fletcher decided to liven things up with a scavenger hunt and wound up with pins of Phi Delt, (her own) Sig Alph, and Sigma Chi.

With serenading coming back into its own we hear that Pan-Hellenic Annex came in for its share again. Evidently Cornish carried out his desire to "sing nasty songs to pretty women."

We weren't speaking of contrasts but have you noticed Mutt Durham and Ginny Townsend? Mutt claims it saves him a lot of cab fare. Ginny just hops into his musette bag and they're off.

Another item in the revolving-door love life of Lou Fletcher was the neat way she gave Dale (just a civilian) Sorensen the brush off Monday night after one quicky at the "Aggieville Office" and returned a few minutes later with a second lieutenant.

That's all for this time but we want to remind all, That this coming weekend is your last chance to make the Meow with only one issue left. So here's to crime as we need inches.

From the Eighth Air Force Fighter Station in England comes word that Capt. Sanford K. Moats has been decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy. Captain Moats has destroyed 10 1/2 enemy planes in the air, and received the DSC, the second highest American award, for attacking the superior number of enemy planes and shooting down four of them. He also wears the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal with eight Oak Leaf Clusters. He is a member of the highest scoring squadron in the high-scoring 352nd Fighter Group. The group has destroyed almost 800 enemy aircraft. Moats attended Kansas State College for three years, and was a member of Phi Kappa and Scarab.

First Lt. Joseph G. Boyle, jr. is now in Manhattan on a 30 day leave, before reporting to a post in North Carolina. He is a member of a heavy bomber crew of the 15th Army Air Force in Italy. Lieutenant Boyle has been overseas twice, totaling two years spent abroad. Boyle attended Kansas State and was employed in the Mercury-Chronicle office before entering the service in February, 1942.

A recent addition to the officer complement at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School at Athens, Ga., is Lt. Com. Conrad Stephen Moll, who was transferred from the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, North Bend, Ore. Earlier Moll served 21 months as athletic director at William Jewell Flight Preparatory School in Liberty, Mo. and at Iowa Pre-Flight, Iowa City. In civilian life he was assistant professor of physical education at Kansas State.

Lt. Lail K. Dawley has been presented the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement while serving as a pilot on a Lancaster airplane during a bombing mission over enemy occupied Continental Europe. He has the British Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism while flying a British fighter plane. He holds the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Lt. Col. Eric T. Tebow, '26, has received a citation for the bronze star medal. He assisted in establishing the Army Pictorial Service activities in the European Theatre of Operations.

Lt. John J. Inman, f. s., is now in his 11th month of foreign service and the 8th month of duty as a fighter pilot in the "Vanguard" squadron of the "Flying Tigers" fighter group of Maj. Gen. C. L. Chennault's 14th Air Force in China.

Inman was a student at Kansas State when he entered the Army in 1942. He is a veteran of 22 combat missions against the Japanese.

July 4 the "Flying Tigers" group celebrated the third anniversary of its activation in China. It was formed virtually under the bomb bay doors of enemy planes. The "Tigers" was established in 1942 to carry on the air war in China following the disbandment of General Chennault's American Volunteer Group.

Harold V. Rathbun, E. E., '27, has sent word of his promotion to lieutenant colonel. He is stationed in the headquarters of the signal corps, New Delhi, India, and has been there for a year.

Prior to entering the service, Colonel Rathbun was an electrical engineer in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Pfc. Warren E. Gladhart, f. s., has begun training as an aviation engineer of the air forces at Geigler Field, Spokane, Wash., according to word received from the public relations office at Geigler Field.

Upon completion of his training there, he will be assigned to an aviation engineer unit.

Students Eat Kansas State Dairy Products

Students consumed 7,000 gallons of ice cream, 6,000 pounds of butter and 6,000 quarts of chocolate milk produced by the College Department of Dairy Husbandry last year, according to Prof. W. H. Martin.

Although the war has curtailed production, the department still manufactures eight dairy products, ice and last year sold 576,000 quarts of milk bearing the College label.

In addition to ice cream, butter and chocolate milk, the dairy department makes cultured buttermilk, cottage cheese, cheddar cheese, an orange drink and sweetened condensed milk for use in making ice cream. Most of these products are sold at the dairy counter in West Ag, used in the residence halls, or sold at the cafeteria. In a normal year production of all products would be much higher: for instance, the butter production would be more than four times that at present and 45 percent more ice cream would be manufactured.

The milk output is delivered by the Standard Dairy Company to townspeople or used on the campus or in residence halls. A large part of last year's production was used in feeding ASTP men on the campus. Part of that amount was brought from outside producers, but this year with decreased production most of the milk distributed is from the College dairy herd. The sale of homogenized milk was begun last September, and now every third quart is processed.

The ice used on the campus by the building and repair and chemistry departments is also manufactured in the dairy husbandry department.

and R. C. Smith, F. C. Gates, A. L. Goodrich, A. M. Guhl, and S. M. Pady, who will conduct recitations.

Physical Science

Man's Physical World covers all the non-living phases of man's environment, according to Prof. Arthur B. Sperry, who is in charge of the course. It will provide students with a brief working knowledge of the subject matter of the physical science fields of astronomy, geology, physics, and chemistry. Professor Sperry estimates 250 students will enroll in the course.

Dean R. W. Babcock, A. B. Cardwell, M. L. McDowell, and A. B. Sperry will have charge of both recitations and lectures. Madalyn Avery, J. Bower Chelkowski, C. A. Dorf, and J. T. Allen, will also conduct discussion periods.

Cultures Course

"Man in the Cultural World will teach students how to exploit past experience of mankind in the interest of a greater enjoyment of life, and to know how to get along with other people," as defined by Prof. F. L. Parrish who is in charge. The course will cover literature, history, philosophy, music and arts and architecture. The largest enrolment in this course, with a total estimated at 320.

The teaching staff for the humanities comprehensive has been previously announced and will include Prof. C. H. Herrick Collects Horns, Antlers, And Indian Skulls

The office of Dr. E. H. Herrick, professor of zoology, is one of amusement, amazement, and genuine interest to its visitors. Glassy-eyed antelope, on the wall and even under the table, prongs of horns and antlers, and the skull of an Indian make room outstanding.

Dr. Herrick says that these things are "just playthings." His collection includes 50 pairs of horns and antlers, some of the same species, but at different stages of growth. He has explained that horns and antlers are not the same thing. Horns grow throughout the lifetime of the animal, but antlers are dropped annually.

One day, Dr. Herrick says, he picked up some huge antlers of an elk in the Rockies. The next day he went back to the same place and found the antlers of the mate. He has found some of the articles of his collection, some he bought, and some were given to him.

A diamond-backed rattlesnake hangs on the wall by Dr. Herrick's desk. The skin appears to be six or seven feet long, and at least a foot and a half across.

The rarest horns in the collection are those of the okapi, who dwells in the blackest jungle of Africa, and whose horns are short, covered with skin and like those of the giraffe.

A pair of musk-ox horns, which are very rare, were purchased by Dr. Herrick, who thinks that they were one of the few pairs for sale in this country.

Dr. Herrick has mounted all of his collection himself. Most of his serious horn-collection has been done in the last five years.

He has in his collection the horns of the chamois, of the Swiss Alps. In Europe, these horns are one of the most prized trophies which collectors may have.

The hide of a fawn that was killed by dogs at Sunset zoo, a small dried-up baby alligator, and a turtle shell filled with shot are among the things on the zoology professor's desk.

Dr. Herrick believes that the most fun in horn collecting is in meeting the people connected with it. A member of the Canadian National Museum and of the American Museum have visited Dr. Herrick to see his collection.

YW Letters

Upper class women who wish to correspond with women who will enroll in Kansas State next fall should contact the YWCA office. YW members may write to the girls to give them information on enrolment, activities, and other phases of college life that the new student may wish to know.

The YW Big Sister Program will not begin until next fall. The letters written now are only to help the new students, as a part of the YW service.

Former Football Star Dies In Idaho

Bert Pearson, former football star, died in New Plymouth, Idaho, where he was an athletics coach.

Pearson played football here in 1926, 1927, and 1928. He was considered as one of the best centers that ever played here. After graduation, he played 11 years of professional football, seven of which were spent with the Chicago Bears. He was chosen all-professional center for two years. Pearson graduated in physical education in 1929.

Movie Features Peace Gatherings

The ISA is sponsoring the movie "The Peace Builders" on July 18 in Willard 115 at 12:25.

This show covers the international gatherings that have taken place in the last three years. It is composed entirely of newsreel shorts picturing actual meetings and the people taking part.

Giving a review of many aspects of international planning, military, political, and economic, it shows the whole process of peace building.

Panhellenic Publishes Sororities Booklet

Kansas State Panhellenic organization has published an illustrated booklet, "Sororities," which is being sent to girls who plan to attend rush week this fall.

Edited by Nancy Bramwell and Betty Gail Parker, the booklet explains rush week and contains a copy of the rushing rules.

Pictures of the sorority houses and of the campus buildings are included. A brief history of the College is given, as well as a list of the College organizations.

A welcome to the rushees from President Eisenhower, Dean Moore, Jeannette Putnam, president of Women's Panhellenic, and Mary T. Harman, president of City Panhellenic are included.

Open 2 Practice Houses Next Fall

Only two home management houses will be in use next fall unless enrollment in the course is large enough to make opening another house necessary, according to Dr. Josephine Kremer, new head of the household economics department.

Mrs. Jane Barnes and Miss Florence McKinney, who have been on sabbatical leave from the College, will be back next fall to teach the home management courses and to supervise the practice houses. Mrs. Barnes has been studying at Oregon State College and Purdue University, while Miss McKinney has been taking work at Ohio University.

This summer three girls are living at the Margaret Ahlborn Lodge under the supervision of Prof. Tessie Agan, and three girls are living at Ula Dow Cottage under the supervision of Miss Nell Flinn, a graduate student.

The Ellen H. Richards Lodge, formerly a home management house, was sold this spring to a private party.

Kenney Ford to Chicago To Alumni Meeting

Kenney Ford, alumni secretary, left Saturday night for Chicago. He planned to attend an alumni picnic there with President M. S. Eisenhower Sunday.

While in Chicago, Mr. Ford will attend a Board of Directors meeting of the American Alumni Council at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Mr. Ford is the Director of Regional Conferences for the Council.

Petroleum Industry Employs K-Staters

A survey at Kansas State College shows that 405 engineering graduates of the College have been or are now employed in the petroleum industry. The highest rate of entrance into the field was during the period between 1935 and 1939.

The survey also indicated that 72 students have taken one or more courses in petroleum production since the introduction of the course in 1938. These courses are offered as options for junior and senior mechanical engineers and include petroleum geology and petroleum production.

Teas, buffet suppers, and house parties share the social spotlight with romance this week.

Dr. Margaret Justin entertained members of her summer school teaching staff with a buffet supper Sunday evening at her home. Assisting Dr. Justin were Mrs. Milton Eisenhower, Mrs. Lucile Rust, Dr. Gladys Vail, and Miss Esther Cormany.

Maison-elle had chocolates last week announcing the engagement of Carol Shields to Lt. Lawrence E. Evans. Lieutenant Evans is stationed at Ft. Logan, Colo.

Phi Delt entertained dates at a house dance at the chapter house on Friday night.

Miss Theresa Frances Davison of Joplin, Mo., was married to Daniel Albert Glen, f. s., of Ogden recently. The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Catholic Church in Joplin.

Bonnie French, of Topeka, is wearing the diamond of Lt. Edward Fredrickson who is stationed at Fort Riley. Bonnie is a Tri Delt pledge.

A garden tea honoring Dr. Josephine Kremer, was given by Miss Myrtle Gunselman and Miss Tessie Agan Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Kremer is the new head of the department of household economics.

Another engagement is that of Virginia Baylies to Maj. Richard Clement Morgan of Fairfield, Conn. The wedding will take place on July 15 at St. Paul's Church.

Seniors and graduate students in the School of Home Economics and Nursing who will soon leave for internship, were entertained by Dean Margaret Justin at her home Sunday afternoon, July 8. About 50 guests were present.

Soldier Returns To K-State Campus

Pfc. Willis Alderman, f. s., and veteran of at least seven Pacific battles, was on the campus Tuesday.

When he entered the infantry in 1943, Private Alderman was a sophomore here, majoring in geology.

He returned recently to the United States as a result of wounds received in the battle of Okinawa. Other scenes of action visited by Alderman in the Pacific include Guadalcanal, New Guinea, New Caledonia, Guam, Leyte, and Iwo Jima.

Alderman was on Ie Shima fighting only a short distance from Ernie Pyle at the time he was killed. At the present time Private Alderman is on convalescent leave from Camp Carson, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Publish Fourth Estate

"The Fourth Estate," a booklet published annually by the Department of Industrial Journalism and Printing is being sent to journalism graduates, former students, and undergraduates.

This publication includes information about former students of the journalism department, and items of importance that have taken place in the last year. R. R. Lashbrook, head of the College News Bureau, and Margaret Wunsch of the News Bureau, compile the information that is included.

The College provided ground school instruction for 211 students in the national program of pilot training. This was in addition to the College War Training courses.

Ann Sheridan Okays Slack Suits For Women

Condensed from an article by Ann Sheridan in the July issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Attention, men! Hold on to your trousers—we women are going to take the slack out of them.

Save your arguments for politics or sports—what I am telling you is already an accomplished fact.

Women are wearing men's trousers. They're going to continue to wear them. Oh, I'm not talking merely about women taking men's places in jobs as a result of the war. I'm telling you about the evolution of slacks for women—an evolution that has progressed from concealed pantaloons of the nineties to the trim women's trouser suits of today. And none of the allure of femininity of the female form need be lost in the evolution, either.

Compromise

Long before the war, slacks were worn mostly in California and Florida. They were designed mostly as play and leisure garments and they came in for some well-deserved gibes. Largely they were floppy and sloppy—a sort of compromise between skirts and ankle-length bloomers. It wasn't a glamorous scene.

Slacks came into their own at the start of the war. Men stepped from factories into uniform—and women stepped into slacks and into factories.

Dresses Stay

Nobody contends—not even the slacks manufacturers—that girls' trouser suits are going to take the place of more feminine dresses. Indeed not. But any girl who has taken a long plane or train trip will realize the comfort and convenience of slacks suits. They will be worn for neighborhood shopping, walking the dog, taking the baby for an afternoon outing, picnics, strolls.

And to the first man who objects, I say, not all of you look so good in trousers. Many of you would look better in kilts.

Meat Research

A research project to test the effect of handling meats after they are removed from storage has been conducted by Miss Elsie Miller, instructor of food economics and nutrition, during the past year. The project was financed by the Refrigerator Research Foundation.

The meat was tested by braising, roasting, and broiling, and the results were tested by a tasting committee. Losses of food values were calculated at various stages.

Dr. Beulah Westerman, assistant professor of food economics and nutrition, made vitamin studies of the meat as the research was carried on.

More work on frozen meat and the effect of handling it will be done next year in the home economics department.

Platter Chatter

By Spratt

With the approach of the first eight-week finals, most of us will be spending more time beating the books. To help ease the strain a few good records on the old "phony" never fail.

One of the newer and better platters has Carmen Cavallaro playing "In Acapulco" the same way he does in the show "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe." Carmen tickles the ivories in a mellow way on the other side of the Decca disc and gives with "The More I See of You."

If you are having trouble driving yourself to study, the old king of the "lickerish stick," Artie Shaw has a neat little tune called "Bedford Drive" which might help you out. The old maestro goes way out in space on the other side of the record and lets go with Tabu.

Johnny Mercer has written two new tunes and Mr. T. D. has made a Victor recording of them that is really "Out of This World." While on the other side of the circle Tommy's vocalist, Stuart Foster makes the very positive statement that "June Comes Around Every Year."

To the record collector who likes novelty Sister Rosetta Tharpe has a new Decca plate with "Strange Things Happen Every Day" on one side and a catchy little tale about "Two Little Fishes and Five Loaves of Bread" on the other.

For a very neat sax solo by Johnny Hodges with Duke Ellington's band Victor's record "Mood to be Wooed" can be highly recommended while on the other side Joya Sherrill with the Duke presents a lesson in entomology by telling all about the "Kissing Bug."

To recess the afternoon of recorded rhythm Les Brown and company with Billy Butterfield as guest on the trumpet have a danceable little piece called "Sunday." The other side gives you an earful of a tune called "Out of Nowhere."

Second Abby Marlatt Plan Four Annexes To House Women

Miss Abby Marlatt, a member of a family of pioneers in education, has arrived in Manhattan to assume her duties as associate professor in the Department of Food Economics and Nutrition.

Miss Marlatt is the niece of Dr. Abby Marlatt, one of the early promoters of education in home economics, and a granddaughter of Washington Marlatt, the first principal of Blumont Central College, which later became Kansas State College. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Kansas State in 1938. She has been studying at the University of California at Berkeley.

Dr. Marlatt graduated from Kansas State College in 1888 with a Bachelor of Science degree. She also received her master's degree here in 1890 and an honorary doctor's degree in 1933. She was a student assistant teacher here while studying for her master's degree. Dr. Marlatt was a pioneer in Home Economics. She was the Head of Home Economics at the University of Wisconsin for 30 years previous to her death in 1939.

Inspect Experimental Farms

An inspection of the Kansas State College experimental farm in Doniphan county will be carried out next week.

The men making the trip are Dean L. E. Call, head of the School of Agriculture, Dr. R. C. Smith, head of the Department of Entomology, Dr. R. L. Parker, who has recently returned from special work in Bermuda, Dr. G. A. Dean, and Dr. W. F. Pickett, head of the Department of Horticulture.

The trip will be made to develop plans for future experimental work to be carried out by the College.

Hospital...

The College Hospital is temporarily closed during the summer session. All students are now hospitalized in either of the city hospitals at no extra charge. This was made necessary by the decreased enrollment.

Any illness or injury occurring after 5 p. m. on week days and after noon on Saturday should be reported to Dr. R. R. Snook at his home or the patient should be taken immediately to Parkview or St. Mary Hospital.

The College dispensary will be open from 8 a. m. until noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. The hospital will be reopened in September.

Players Please Audience With 'Damask Cheek'

By H. W. Davis

Kansas State players delighted a large audience at the College Auditorium on Friday evening with John Van Druten's sparkling satirical drama, The Damask Cheek, a flashing view of the Victorian era. The play was most meticulously set before the audience by Director Earl G. Hoover and his assistants, Miss Marion Kirkpatrick and Mrs. H. W. Marlow—in so far as the auditorium stage could be converted into the upstairs living room of Mrs. Randall's house in the east Sixties, New York City, mid-December, 1909. The players were only slightly less successful in recreating the Victorian atmosphere and being the pretenders of property of that not-so-long-ago day.

A "Situation"

Mr. Van Druten proceeds deliberately with his presentation of a "situation" in the Randall establishment. If he could have thrown the "London" Rhoda Meldrum and the "New York" Calla Longstreth into a hair-pulling cat-fight on the floor of Mrs. Randall's most proper living-room in the first act instead of the third, the audience would have been much more comfortable and hilarious. But he sees fit to present his problem like a college professor who has to use up a full fifty minutes or suffer a cut in salary; and the play drags.

Perhaps it is unfair to expect people who were born in 1924 and 1925 to know how folks conducted their exteriors in 1909. It is even unfair to expect professionals born prior to 1909 to remember how people wore their clothes and their false faces in those classic days. Consequently the youthful Kansas State players had a terrific task before them, a well-nigh impossible task. But the stage-set helped wonderfully, as did the costumes and the wall paper and the piano bench, which over-acted considerably during the early part of the evening.

Sketch Official Kansas State Flag

Kansas State will soon have an official flag.

Sketches are being prepared at President Eisenhower's request by Margaret Lewis McMahon, junior Arts and Science student, under the supervision of Prof. John F. Helm, Jr.

Tentative plans are for a field of purple, the school color, with the name of the College in white and the school seal surrounded by sunflower petals in gold. The flag may have a white border.

Until now the school has used the ROTC flag designed during President William Jardine's administration.

Further plans will be made after commencement when Mr. Helm will confer with the President.

Chinese Lend-Lease Students Study Agriculture At Kansas State

Three young Chinese, all graduates of the University of Nanking, China, have arrived at the College to study specialized fields of agriculture. These men, Chwang Chiao Seng, Liu Chang Lou and Chin Yang Kao, are among 600 Chinese college graduates sent to this country by their government to study under the Allied Lend-Lease Act.

Chwang and Liu are mainly interested in phases of milling industry. Kansas State is the only school in the western hemisphere to offer a degree in milling industry and the only college or university in this hemisphere to have a college-owned mill. Chin is taking special training in agricultural engineering and is primarily interested in grain storage problems.

The three will remain on the campus at least five months receiving training in their respective fields. Then they will receive five months of study at another college and two months of observation of work in their fields. When they return to China, they will work for the gov-

Mrs. Schmitt To Girl Scout Staff

Mrs. Kathleen Knittle Schmitt has resigned as Assistant Dean of Women at Kansas State College to accept a position on the national Girl Scout staff.

She will leave the College July 31 to assume duties August 20 at headquarters in Kansas City. Her work will be in the Covered Wagon Area, Region VII, which covers Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado, and Wyoming.

Beside her work as Assistant Dean of Women, Mrs. Schmitt has been faculty advisor for Senior Women's Panhellenic, P. H. O., and independent student social organizations while on the campus. Last year she worked with the planning committee for the International Security Assembly.

Mrs. Schmitt received her bachelor of science degree from Kansas State and her master's degree in Student Personnel Administration from Columbia University, New York City.

She is a member of P. H. O., National Association of Deans of Women, League of Women Voters, and Kappa Delta sorority.

Offer Home Ec Survey Courses

Home Economics A and B, a course designed to fill needs of college women, will be offered next fall to junior and senior girls enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences, according to a recent announcement. Home Economics A and Home Economics B will consist of four hours credit each, with neither section a prerequisite for the other.

Objectives in Home Economics A are to help the student understand people; the planning, selecting, making, and caring for clothing; marriage and its responsibilities; a satisfying home and family life; and children in the home.

Home Economics B will consist of discussions and study on personal and family health; planning, preparing, and serving meals; providing a place to live; personal and family finance; and managing the home.

The practical aspects of the subjects will be emphasized and will be based on real life situations as much as possible. The course should help students to develop a satisfying philosophy of personal and family living.

Current estimates of marriages in the United States indicate 90 percent involve men in uniform.

No Collegian . . .

The Collegian will not be published during the second eight weeks of the summer session, because of wartime conditions.

The Collegian will resume publication upon the opening of the fall term. The paper, edited by Jean Wainwright, will resume standard newspaper size. The paper shortage has made necessary a smaller paper during the last year.

Registration . . .

Registration for the second eight-week session will take place, Monday and Tuesday in the registrar's office, according to R. I. Thackrey, director of summer school. Students enrolled for the first eight-week session may enroll prior to that time.

The second eight week session, from July 25 to September 15, is primarily for regular college students wishing to follow the accelerated program, but teachers and others can find many courses given to meet their needs.

Eisenhower Back To Washington On USDA Job

President Milton S. Eisenhower has returned to Washington to spend a week in the Department of Agriculture as chairman of a special committee on reorganization, but will return next week for commencement exercises, according to a statement made by the President in an interview for the Kansas City Times Monday.

Eisenhower heads a committee of nine men, some former department officials in private industry, others career men in the department who are studying department operations. The committee will make recommendations to the secretary on simplifying activities of the department but will have nothing to do with administration or personnel. Its first job has been to suggest ways to integrate the War Food administration into the Department of Agriculture.

He has been dividing his time between the College and Washington, his post as advisor to Secretary Clinton P. Anderson being an unpaid one as part of his duties as president of Kansas State.

In Kansas City Eisenhower said Anderson, who was recently appointed secretary of agriculture, is applying mid-western common sense to the huge food production job.

Heberer Will Work In New York With NBC

H. Miles Heberer, professor of speech at Kansas State, has been granted a sabbatical leave to take advantage of a fellowship offered by the National Broadcasting Company in New York.

Professor Heberer will work in the public service department of NBC. He explained that NBC considers 70 percent of its programs as service programs. The fellowship will be for a 10-months period from September 1 to July 1.

Mrs. Heberer will accompany him to New York. Their daughter, Nina Jean, will remain in Manhattan to continue her college work.

Mrs. Ann Steinheimer Mall has been appointed a temporary instructor of speech, effective September 1, to take over Professor Heberer's work during his absence. Mrs. Mall was graduated from Kansas State in 1941 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial journalism. She was formerly on the staff of radio station, KSAL in Salina. Mrs. Mall is the wife of Capt. Richard M. Mall, who was graduated in industrial journalism in 1940. He is in Germany.

Stolen Purse Is Recovered

Recovery of a purse stolen from the office of Mary T. Harman, professor of zoology, was reported by the sheriff's office Saturday. The purse was found behind a radiator in a room across the corridor from Dr. Harman's office in Fairchild Hall. The purse, papers and identification were intact and only the cash, about $26, was missing.

A purse belonging to Mrs. Dorothy Johnson was stolen Saturday morning from the Animal Husbandry offices. She reported that the purse contained about $2.

There are 852,000 municipal employees in the cities and towns of the United States and they have a payroll of $122,000,000.

ISA Movies Continue Next Eight Weeks

Movies sponsored by the International Security Assembly will be continued during the second term of summer school, according to Margaret Parker, secretary of the organization. They will be shown at 12:15 p. m. each Wednesday in Willard 115.

The ISA program for the first summer school term has centered around two features. The first has been the movies which have pertained to peace problems, the study of many nations, and the home front.

The second project has been radio programs. The ISA sponsored two programs a week, one on Wednesday at 1:05 p. m. and another on Friday at 12:30 p. m. On Wednesday the music of the country represented was played, and on Friday the nation itself was discussed. These programs will be resumed in the fall. The radio series will end with this Friday's program.

The Assembly will climax its study and research next November with a conference to make plans for lasting peace. Resolutions concerning vital problems of the various countries will be discussed in committees, and then the resolutions will be presented before the Assembly for ratification.

Kansas State is one of the first colleges in the United States to bring world problems before the students in this realistic way.

Kansas State Prof To Teach In Army School

Lt. R. Boyd Cathcart, on leave as assistant professor of animal husbandry at Kansas State, will teach animal husbandry at the Army University Center at Shrivenham, England. The University is handling 4,000 Army men.

For several months Lieutenant Cathcart has been in France. He had been ordered to the Pacific, when his orders were changed unexpectedly. Cathcart is the second Kansas State faculty member to teach in the Army's Educational Program. C. J. Medlin, assistant professor of journalism and graduate manager of Student Publications is teaching in the university at Fontainebleau, France.

Ambassador Chooses Kansas State For Son

General Juan B. Ayala, Paraguayan ambassador to Brazil and delegate to the United Nations conference, has announced that he plans to send his only son to Kansas State next year. The boy is Napoleon Fernando Ayala, 16.

"What I have seen so far of this country charms me," General Ayala said. I had read a lot about the United States and what I have seen has confirmed all those wonderful things. In fact, I have been given an even better opinion of the country since I have visited it."

General Ayala owns a 10,000 acre ranch, on which he has 5,000 Shorthorn and Hereford cattle. He was chief of staff during the Bolivian-Paraguayan war.

Office Changes

Offices for some of the departments on the campus have been moved, according to H. Umberger, dean of extension.

The district agricultural agents are now located in Military Science Hall, Room 211-B. Also in the Military Science Hall are the Extension Home Economics Department in Room 211-A; the Agricultural Specialists Department in Room 210; the Department of Home Study Service in Room 11; and the Farm Labor Office in Room 211-B.

Approximately 38 degrees will be conferred at informal commencement exercises in Thompson Hall Monday night at the end of the first eight-week session of summer school, College officials announced today.

Exercises were originally scheduled for Tuesday morning, with Dr. Knox Millsaps from Pomona College, Calif., scheduled as speaker. A change in plans was made necessary when Dr. Millsaps cancelled his speaking engagement here after he was drafted.

11th Wartime

The 11th wartime graduation ceremonies at Kansas State will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday in Thompson Hall to which graduates, deans, and faculty members are invited.

At 7:30 p. m. relatives and friends of the graduating students will attend a musical recital on the second floor of Thompson Hall followed by the conferring of degrees by the deans of the schools of the College. President M. S. Eisenhower will deliver a short commencement address.

The musical portion of the program will be presented by the Department of Music. Prof. Luther Leavengood, head of the department, will play a violin solo, "Romance in F" by Beethoven. Edwin D. Sayre, associate professor of voice, will sing "A Dream" by Grieg. The girls' glee club conducted by Mr. Sayre will sing two selections, "The Clouds" by Delius and "The Swan" by Saint-Saens. Lyle Downey, associate professor of music, will play a cello obligato for "The Swan." Piano accompaniments for the entire program will be played by Richard Jenson, assistant professor of music.

The summer graduation for 1945 will be the second informal commencement exercise held at Kansas State. Forty-nine persons graduated last year in exercises held in the President's garden.

The School of Arts and Sciences leads among the schools with 16 graduates, followed by 13 for the School of Home Economics. Seven persons will receive Master of Science degrees from the Graduate School. The School of Engineering and Architecture and the School of Agriculture each have one graduate. Thirty-one bachelor of science and seven master of science degrees will be conferred.

No word has been received from Mrs. Emma L. Clingman as to whether she will be here to receive a diploma for her son, Marine Lt. Paul L. Clingman, missing in action. She had planned to come for graduation exercises originally scheduled for Tuesday. Mrs. Clingman has been notified of the change by Dean R. W. Babcock.

Those receiving degrees are as follows: School of Agriculture; Pre-

Music Students Will Present Recital

A piano recital by students of Miss Marion Felton will be given in the College Auditorium at 8 p. m. tomorrow night.

Students from Manhattan, Fort Riley, Junction City, Wamego, and St. George, who are between kindergarten and high school age, will participate.

Those who will play in the recital are Dan Hill, Margaret Wonder, Jane Compton, Dorothy Wonder, Margaret Ficke, Robert Wilbur, Kathryn Hjerpe, Barbara Ann Hjerpe, Janet Thompson, Juanita Lofgren, Richard Spitzer, Kenneth Spitzer, Betty Long, Mary Quinlan, Adrea Simmons, Prudy McCracken, Nancy Baehr, Barbara Arnold, Susan Brown, Mary Frances Moehliman, Gae Whitney, Joy Whitney, Jean Lofgren, Lu Ann Burnette, Dicky Long, and Dicky Tow.

There will be a duet by Juanita Lofgren and Margaret Ficke, a trio by Nancy McCracken, Marjorie Dunne, and Norma Jean Wells, and a duet by Barbara Hjerpe and Susan Brown.

The Old Question

The other day a student who attended an Eastern college before coming to Kansas State pointed out some new answers to questions "What's wrong with Kansas State?" and started us on a private investigation.

The subject is one students as grippers discuss with monotonous repetition, but seldom are their discussions backed up with suggestions.

There seems to be a lack of student enthusiasm and interest which should knit the College into a unit. The stand-by answer for that is "It's the war. You should have been here in '40 when things were really popping." True, there are fewer students, less gas for fewer convertibles, and fewer teachers.

But the same afflictions have hit every college. The real lack here seems to be in unity. There are few all-college affairs and not much enthusiasm for the few there are. The audience that attended the summer school play last week was not a student audience. There is a definite need for all-College activities that will bring students out of their individual groups, and get them all talking the same language.

Before the war, elections and campaigns may have served that purpose to a certain extent. The International Security Assembly may unite students in a common interest this fall. It is designed to do that by making international affairs a vital issue with every student. If it can capture the enthusiasm of all who will participate it will fill one of the biggest needs of the College. But only through the interest and cooperation of the individual student, will it accomplish its purpose.

The Last Fling

After a brief editorial fling it is time to sling the tattered covers over our typewriters and lock the door on The Office.

We suppose we should write a column or two of sobe at parting, but in order to uphold standards that have established journalists as characters with icy blood and hearts of lead type, we will say we have enjoyed eight weeks of newspapering and let it go at that. But The Collegian has been more to us than a means of getting revenge. In it we have tried to bring a digest of college life to everyone from deans to the students who kept the Cat Meowing.

We have been called all kinds of names and all kinds of adjectives have been applied to The Sheet. Our most recent accuser calls us "mumblers of sweet little Greek nothings." You will notice we have waited to bring such accusations to light until now when we are on the coward's way out. But in spite of such direct discouragements we believe we may have shed a small ray of light. If we have not succeeded, perhaps you can put The Collegian to some good use in your packing. It's a convenient size for wrapping.

Any credit must go to an able staff of assistants. Jo Neibarger, ad manager and Betty Brown Burton, her assistant, have pounded the hot summer pavements and done a good job dragging in ads. Joy Talbot came in at the halfway mark as an able assistant editor and Rosemary Atzenweller was on hand as copy desk editor, with Wilma Lisher as assistant.

The group of reporters who wrote everything from soup to nuts is headed by Gene Spratt, Ralph Nesmith, and Peg Haggman, and includes Pat Brassfield, Phyllis Werner and Mary Louise Markley. Roxanne Mickey has kept you up with society and Jean Wichers wrote the column Bars and Stripes, telling of the activities of service men.

That is the staff and this is the sign-off. War conditions prevent us from printing a second eight-weeks edition, so now we wish you a cool and lazy second session. The Collegian will roll off the press again come September.

American, British and Soviet Army leaders have found no stumbling blocks to setting up a smooth-working inter-Allied governing authority for Berlin. A friendly agreement for temporary feeding and fueling of the German capital was also made.

The American press was thus left high and dry with their wild stories attempting to prove the "impossibility" of working with the Soviet command.

India's leaders still hold out for independence. They are fed up with British domination and exploitation. Who wouldn't be? British occupation has brought nothing but misery. Millions starve each year, but nothing is done about it. The standard of living is the lowest of all civilized peoples despite long years of British rule.

That India deserves independence is not to be doubted. Certainly she could fare no worse by herself than she has under Great Britain. The big problem that presents itself is: "How can India's standard of living be raised?" India has the resources and manpower necessary to become a powerful nation. The problem resolves itself into how these resources can be exploited. There are few skilled factory workers and technicians with which to build and operate large industries. Agriculture is still primitive. The people are uneducated. Hindus and Moslems are still pitted against each other.

Perhaps it would be wise if the Indian leaders thought a little more of the future. Independence would not mean much to the average Indian if these basic problems remain unsolved.

"Filibustering" Senator Bilbo wins again. Hopes for a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission are gone for the time being. Bilbo again resorted to his favorite weapon—Hate—the same weapon which was used so successfully by Hitler. Here is some of what he had to say. He attacked not only Negroes, but all minorities.

Some more from the famous Bilbo collection of adjectives: "We are dealing with an inferior race. . . . Negro soldiers have caused the USA to lose prestige all over Europe. . . . They will not fight, they will not work. . . . They are guilty of more than half the crimes in the Army."

But the generals say otherwise. To quote General "Ike": "I do not differentiate among soldiers. I do not say white soldiers or Negro soldiers. . . . I have seen Negro soldiers in this war. . . . they have rendered very valuable contributions and some of them with the greatest enthusiasm. . . . they have done their job and they have done the job given them."

More praise comes from General Patton. "The Negro tank battalion attached to my command fought bravely in the critical Battle of Bastogne. . . . the Negro soldiers were damn good soldiers, of which the nation could be mighty proud."

"Colored soldiers were magnificent in the historic crossing of the Rhine and the devastation of the Ruhr Valley. The 35th Infantry Division and the 784th Tank Battalion were elements of the Ninth Army and the teamwork of Negro and white personnel of the units comprised an unbeatable combination," to quote Lt. Gen. William Simpson.

The Cat's M-E-O-W

Well, comes time for the finale and last appearance of a slightly battered Cat and a chance for the local sinners (including yours truly) to breathe easy for the rest of the summer. However, before closing up shop there are a few last minute slams to be dealt out to deserving individuals.

ATTENTION MEN: In view of the curtailed supply of available dates for the second eight weeks, Jules Funston and Charlie Eslinger announce the opening of the Curvaceous Dating Service. They have catalogued according to age, height, weight, and parking preferences, the pick of the local high school beauties. Rates: Introductions—25 cents, Blind dates—$1. For further information see Eslinger between 2 and 10 p. m. at Booth 1, Palace Drug Store. No character references necessary.

Seems like the gals at Tri-Delt are shouting huzzahs of relief now that Mickey Terrar is leaving for the summer. They won't be afraid to leave their dates in the parlor alone for a few minutes.

In the same vein; it seems that Mugs was slightly perturbed the other day when she found Anderson sitting with her own (Mug's) Bucky. Don't know many of the details and the name Anderson was labeled with couldn't be printed anyhow.

We don't know whether Sorensen was lost in the big crowd on the dance floor at Meadow Acres the other night or just doing a solo act with that cup of coke. Smythe and Suter really enjoyed Spivak's music. Said it sounded much better from outside.

And so the time has come to put the Cat to rest until next fall. However, before leaving I would like to thank the city for Park, Sunset and Bluemont Hill upon whose acres many nights of revelry have taken place. I thank the girls of Tri-Delt Summer Home for Displaced Girls for all the fire escapes they've climbed and after-hours parties they've attended which always make good news. Last, but not least, thanks to my two ace collaborators, Lou Fletcher and Gene Spratt for their helpful cooperation in supplying your much maligned writer with necessary statistics.

In closing I offer apologies to anyone who thinks they have been dealt with unfairly, but please remember that with a limited enrolment this summer we were hard up for copy. To those I failed to insult I have one thing to say: "You didn't get around much did you?"

So, signing off to catch the fastest train for an unrevealed destination, I hope to see you all back in the same booths again next fall. Until then—Sincerely—Ralph Nesmith.

Editor's Note: We felt that the roving reporter who writes this column might have missed one small item about "The Acres." We wouldn't think of mentioning any names but we wonder how Ralph (Man-About-Town) Nesmith liked playing second fiddle to Jim Bolton concerning a certain Alpha Xi.

Capt. Laurence A. Pratt, Com. '35, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy in Holland and Germany from January 9 to May 9, 1945. During this period Captain Pratt with complete disregard for his personal safety successfully defused, disarmed or otherwise rendered harmless bombs of American, British and German make. Captain Pratt also removed demolition charges which had been prepared by the enemy for the purpose of destroying bridges and other critical points.

Maj. Chester W. Gist is helping to strip, dismantle and destroy what is left of the beaten German Luftwaffe. The objectives of the air disarmament division established under the Ninth Air Force Service Command are to neutralize the German Air Staff and to render impotent the Nazi aeronautical industry. Previous to this work, Major Gist flew 37 missions against enemy targets in the European Theater of Operations. For his part in the tactical aerial war against the Germans he has been awarded the Air Medal and six Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters. He was a student at Kansas State before entering the armed services in March, 1941. He has been overseas since May, 1944.

First Lt. Dale A. Smith, f. s., is now stationed on Okinawa. He has been in the Army three years and has spent a year and a half overseas. He was stationed in Hawaii for fourteen months.

William A. Ljungdahl, Ag. '40, has been promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant. He is an officer of the 58th Military Police Company for the Fifth Army and the ground forces of the U. S. Air Corps and Navy in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations. Ljungdahl is entitled to wear the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Mediterranean Theater Ribbon with two battle stars for the Rome-Arno and North Apennines Campaign.

Pfc. Willis Alderson, former Kansas State student, is on a convalescent leave from Camp Carson, Colo. He has just been returned to the United States because of wounds received in the battle for Okinawa. He also fought in the campaigns for Guadalcanal, New Guinea, New Caledonia, Guam, Leyte, and Iwo Jima. Alderson was fighting on Ie Shima, only a short distance from Ernie Pyle at the time the correspondent was killed.

To Offer Art Courses Second Eight Weeks

Because of the great student demand, a full schedule of art courses will be offered during the second eight weeks of summer school, according to R. I. Thackrey, director of summer school.

Freehand drawing, painting, etching and block printing, sketching, life drawing, and commercial illustration will all be taught by Prof. John F. Helm, Jr. Some of the work done in freehand drawing and sketching will be done out of doors.

"As usual we will try to fit these courses around the needs of each student," Professor Helm said.

See Brighter Prospects For Haylett's Gridmen Next Season

Prospects in the Wildcat football camp will be considerably brighter this September 1 when head football mentor, Ward Haylett, calls his gridiron prospects together for their first practice.

In contrast with the 1944 pre-season prospects, Wildcat football mentors had only two returning lettermen and one squad member while this year there are ten returning lettermen, several squad members who gained valuable experience and some discharged service men and freshmen that showed considerable prospect in spring practice.

There is also expected an increase in the enrollment of freshmen next fall according to the college officials. Several good football prospects are enrolled in summer school and have announced their intentions to report next fall. Some of these are Richard Hood, who played center for Junction City; Bill Weaver, tackle from Topeka High and Thornton Gehrke, all conference end from Manhattan High. There also is a possibility that Ted Grimes, all state back from Manhattan High will still be here this fall. He will help solve the Wildcats backfield problem. Tom Flannely, another all conference Manhattan gridster, is enrolling in school and is expected to bolster the Wildcat forward line.

10 Returning Lettermen

The returning lettermen are Harold Kinard, Jay Payton, Russ Hardin, Marvin Norby, Harvey Haas, John Goforth, Robert King, Bob Mooney, Dale Cowan and Max Harvey. This means that Coach Haylett can start a team next fall with a letterman at every position except at the left half-back spot. The line will be particularly well fortified with five out of seven regulars back and several spring practice candidates that turned in outstanding performances.

It's the backfield that presents the biggest problem to the Wildcat coaches. Only two lettermen, Jay Payton and Bob Mooney, remain with the possibility of Max Harvey, who was lost last season with an injured knee. It's going to be hard to fill the shoes of Ronnie Webster and Dana Atkins, however several outstanding high school backs are expected to enroll here this fall to brighten up Coach Haylett's scoring machine.

"Soc's" Successor

The Athletic Council reports that a successor to Charles "Soc" Socolofsky will be chosen soon. They have several prospects but cannot disclose the successor at present.

Comparisons

Patt Fairman, as Rhoda Meldrum, if comparisons must be made, undoubtedly did the best job of feeling and living her role, and acting it with reserve in line with her feelings. Craig Bracken worked smoothly in the "smoothie" role of Neil Harding, questionably credited with being a heartbreaker de luxe. Wendell Kerr, who enacted the muck-on-the-spot Jimmy Randall, made up in vigor what he lacked in finish, and succeeded in convincing everybody that he was flesh and blood, and not a part being played with do-or-die determination. Nina Jean Heberer did a good Calla Longstreth, a New York actress in frantic search of something she called security. Lois Cravens as Daphne Randall and Phil Kiser as Michael Randall gave the audience many laughs with their adolescent roles. Carolyn Meyers did well as the forbidding Mrs. Randall, and so did Donna Faye McVay as the spinster Miss Pinner, who came in frequently to see what it was all about but never quite caught on.

But all in all, it was an unusually pleasing play. It made a lot of people glad they had not been born until after 1909 and the rest of them happy that they had lived on through to 1945.

Wounded soldiers can now be picked up by planes in flight and transported to base hospitals.

Jessup Injured In Heroic Action

Lt. Col. Ernest D. Jessup, '37, I. J., former Big Six wrestling champion, was permanently disabled on April 21, by Jap machine gun and mortar fire, in an action which was part of the campaign to capture Luzon's mountain province of Bagulo.

Although seriously wounded in the chest, right leg and left arm by machine gun bullets and hit again, almost immediately, by fragments of a Jap mortar shell, Colonel Jessup, 3rd Infantry battalion commander, continued to direct the operation and forbade his men to attempt to rescue him.

Under Jessup's continued direction—he was scarcely able to talk because of his chest wound—the Jap stronghold was successfully flanked and three machine guns, four knee mortars and quantities of ammunition were captured.

Offers Foreign Diplomat Posts To War Veterans

The State Department is now offering commissions to qualified veterans and members of the armed forces as Foreign Service Officers with the diplomatic corps. Duties of these posts will mean foreign service in one of the Department's embassies or consuls.

Minimum educational requirements are 3-4 of the work completed toward a bachelor's degree and proficiency in reading French, German, or Spanish.

If he is a veteran, a man must have been honorably discharged from the service and all applicants must be citizens of the United States for a minimum of 15 years and not married to an alien.

Applicants will take written examination from the State Department to determine their suitability. Applications are available at Dean R. A. Seaton's office.

Platter Chatter

By Spratt

As the summer heat wave proceeds to wreck most students honorable intentions to study, we turn our attention to the ever faithful record player and try to forget our cares for a short time.

As if to aid us in wishful thinking of how to pass that "tough course," Connie Boswell makes the musical answer "There Must Be A Way" on the new Decca release she has just completed. The other side of this ballad platter is Connie asking "Who'll Lend Me A Rainbow."

"Fats" Daniels singing with Glen Gray and company is on the middle of a bouncy musical fence with "It's Gotta Be This or That." The other side of the circle has Skip Nelson explaining all about "While You're Away." Both of these recordings are on a recent Decca disc.

That southern belle with the torchy voice, Dinah Shore, burns her way to your heart on a new Victor record with the statement "I Fall In Love Too Easily." After this rather promising comment she follows through on the other side with "Can't You Read Between The Lines."

Mr. Tommy D. and Duke Ellington team up on a Victor recording and give with some very solid jazz. The first little ditty features "The Duke" beating on the "88" with Tommy's band telling all about "A Minor Goes A Muggin'." To return the privilege T. D. takes his trombone and pays a visit to Ellington's band and plays a bit of slide music on a piece called "Tonight I Shall Sleep."

To the students of French, Vaughn Monroe has a quaint little tune by the title of "No More Toujours L'Amour." The reverse side of the recording has a smooth ballad all about "A Story of Two Cigarettes."

To wind up this summer session of tips on the latest turntable charms Frank Lester and the Quintet offer the song "I'll Buy That Dream" and then carry on with a neat tune "I'd Do It All Over Again."

With this list of recorded rhythms we must close the Platter Chatter column for the summer but we hope that you keep on dancing and romancing to turntable tunes until next fall when there may be some local bands to satisfy your musical cravings.

Four Hospitalized

Four students are hospitalized this week. They include Opal Mae Dent, whose condition is improving and will be released in a very few days, Martha M. King, Mary Cook and Darlene Rein.

Give Music Tests Here Tomorrow

Dr. J. C. Peterson of the department of Education and Psychology announces that the second and more advanced section of the Seashore Measures of Musical Talents will be given tomorrow from 3 to 5 p. m. in Willard 101.

These tests are the standard measures used in anthropology for comparison of natural capacities in different races and culture-levels, inheritance of talent, speech disorders, and technical auditory skills. They are based on a scientific analysis of music appreciation and performance; they deal with elements which function in all music, and they give quantitative results which may be verified to a high degree of certainty.

The second section of the tests to be given Friday covers a narrower range and is therefore more diagnostic than the first section given last Friday. Students, faculty, and townspeople are invited to attend this meeting. No special preparation or skill is needed and no equipment other than a pencil and the power of concentration. As these measures require some wisdom in their use and interpretation a short time will be spent in the discussion and application of the results obtained. This second series may be taken without the prerequisite of the section given last week.

Prof. Kloeffer Co-author Of Engineering Preview

Engineering Preview, a new comprehensive book of engineering lists Professor Royce G. Kloeffer, head of K-State's Electrical engineering department as a co-author. The book was written by a number of well known college instructors, with Professor Kloeffer doing the section on light and electricity.

The book will be primarily used as a reference book, a high school physics text, and for freshman comprehensive courses on engineering.

Party Tomorrow Will End Series

The first eight weeks social season will end with a farewell party in Rec Center at 8 p. m. tomorrow night.

A program the first part of the evening will be in charge of Prof. Edwin Sayre and Miss Doris Compton. The glee club will sing four numbers. Dorothy Brotherson will play several of her own arrangements of light popular numbers. Corporal Myrvick and a quartette from Camp Funston will also sing several numbers, and Prof. Lyle Downey will play a cello obligato.

Stanley Stuart will be in charge of the dance at the end of the program.

Dr. Kramer Is Assistant Home Economics Dean

Dr. Martha Kramer, recently appointed Assistant Dean of Home Economics, returned Monday morning from a vacation in Colorado to assume her new duties.

Dr. Kramer is replacing Miss Eva McMillan, who is on her way to Porte Alegre, Brazil, where she will assist in setting up home economics in the Colegio Americano, a school for girls. Before the war Dr. Kramer taught Home Economics in China.

Cardwell Here

A. B. Cardwell visited friends in Manhattan this weekend. Dr. Cardwell is on leave as head of the Department of Physics at Kansas State College to do confidential war work with the Clinton Engineering Works, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Payne Lectures

Three lectures on selection of poultry will be given by Prof. L. F. Payne, head of the department of poultry at Kansas State, at the University of Louisiana's annual poultry inspectors school to be held on August 7 and 8.

Kansas State Has Only Milling School

The Kansas State College mill, the only college or university owned mill in the Western Hemisphere, produces about 65 barrels or 130 sacks of flour in 24 hours, according to C. O. Swanson, professor of milling industry. Kansas State is the only college in the nation that gives a degree in milling industry.

The mill was installed in 1912 and remodeled in 1928 and equipped to do various types of experimental milling, most of which is done by students who learn to work with different kinds of wheat in this way.

Flour is milled mainly for farmers who bring their own wheat in. Although there is some sold on the retail market, the flour is usually not retailed because of the different kinds of wheat used. Flour is sold mostly to bakeries where it can be mixed with other flour.

The laboratory mills, of which there are three units, are run entirely by students. They experiment with samples of different kinds of wheat and mill five pounds of flour at a time. All the labor in these mills is done by hand, which gives the student a chance to work with all types of wheat.

Railroaders identify various types of locomotives by the number and arrangement of wheels from front to rear. The Union Pacific locomotive pictured above is known as a "4-8-8-4"... two pairs of small wheels in front, then four pairs of driving wheels followed by a similar unit, and two pairs of smaller wheels in the rear—not including the tender.

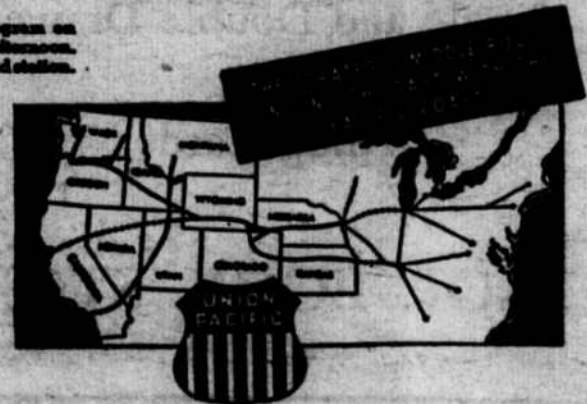

The "4-8-8-4" type is Union Pacific's largest and heaviest steam locomotive; informally christened "Big Boy" by the men who built it. This giant of the rails is 132 feet in length and weighs approximately 600 tons. Water capacity is 25,000 gallons; fuel 28 tons. A fleet of 25 "Big Boys" is now in Union Pacific service. Built primarily to haul heavy freight loads on western mountain grades, they have proved invaluable in transporting tremendous quantities of war materials over the Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the West Coast.

The "Big Boy" is a typical example of American industrial skill and labor, sparked by the spirit of individual enterprise; the spirit that 65,000 Union Pacific employees are working and fighting to keep alive, to build a bright future for your America.
